

RELATIONS BETWEEN SIR SAMUEL AND ARABS STRAINED.

JERUSALEM, March 26, (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) A possible change in the policy of Sir Herbert Samuel, High Commissioner of Palestine, towards the Arab Executive is seen by Zionist leaders in the denial yesterday by the High Commissioner of two demands of the Executive.

The Arabs asked that those arrested in the demonstration of March 14th to celebrate the success of the Arab boycott of the Legislative Council elections be released and that the Jerusalem chief of police be placed on trial for causing their arrest.

Sir Samuel categorically denied both of the demands and went to the length of intimating to the Executive that unless they cooperate in the maintenance of order, "he would not be responsible for the developments."

Hitherto Jewish leaders in Palestine have complained that the High Commissioner's policy towards the section of the Arabs opposing the Jewish Homeland plan was to conciliatory. Jews charged that all requests of the Jewish element were denied, and those of the Arabs were consistently favored.

ROUMANIAN JEWS DISPLEASED WITH PARTS OF NEW CONSTITUTION.

BUCHAREST, March 26, (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) The new constitution for Roumania which has been finally ratified does not show the improvement as regards Jewish rights which had been hoped for. The fight of the Jews for the substitution of the word "citizen" for "Roumanian" was lost.

This means that officials will have greater latitude in denying the vote to Roumanian Jewish residents, who they may decide may be citizens but not Roumanians and therefore not entitled to all governmental privileges.

The new constitution, too does not contain the clause recognizing the legality of the Jewish language for which Roumanian Jews contended.

"KOSHER LAW" IS HELD CONSTITUTIONAL BY JUDGE MANTON.

NEW YORK, March 25, (Jewish Correspondence Bureau) The state law punishing the fraudulent labeling of products not in conformity with the Jewish law as "Kosher" was held constitutional by the U.S. District Court. In the decision, which was rendered by Judge Manton, the suit of a group of provision merchants to have the law declared invalid was dismissed.

The provision dealers who fought the "Kosher Act" contended that the Jewish religious authorities differ among themselves as to the precise meaning of the term "Kosher" and that it is therefore so speculative as to be incapable of practical application. Furthermore, they contended, the whole legislation was an illegal interference by the State in Interstate Commerce.

Judge Manton pointed out in denying the suit that the complainants themselves admit that they have built up a large business in the sale of food products as "Kosher" and that they therefore must have found the standards sufficiently definite to be followed in practice. As to the contention that the "Kosher" law is an illegal interference with Interstate Commerce, the court held that a state police regulation is not unconstitutional simply because it may indirectly affect interstate commerce.

The state, which defended the constitutionality of the "Kosher" Act was represented by Deputy Attorney General Samuel H. Hofstadter.
