Christian Democrats Seek Isolation of Jews.

KOVNO, July 10, (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) Only one Jew, Dr. Rosenbaum, has been elected to a government post, as the result of the recent elections. Dr. Rosenbaum has been named a member of the Economic Commission.

Although the Germans have only two representatives in the Sejm, they succeeded in getting their representatives on three commissions. Other minorities also fared well, with the exception of the Jews and the Social Democrats.

The anti-Semitic Christian Democrats obtained most of the "plums". Their policy is to form alliances with the other minorities and thus isolate and entirely weaken the Jewish group. The German group has already gone over to their side and the Poles are expected to follow soon.

Economic conditions, too, have become worse. The government is planning to close all private bank exchanges. As a consequence, the dollar has risen in value increasing the difficulties of the merchants.

The difficulties in the way of emigration from Lithuania have also been aggravated.

NEW B'NAI BRITH COMMITTEE TO STUDY MEXICAN IMMIGRATION.

CHICAGO, July 10, (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) The Independent Order B'nai Brith is sending another committee to Mexico to investigate the status of the Jewish immigration there. The committee will be composed of Archibald A. Marx. of New Orleans. and Rabbi Zielonka, of El Paso.

The committee will leave on July 15 and will visit all of the principal cities of Mexico, each of which now has a "baby" Jewish colony, sprung up within the last two and a half years. In the past few years, between 700 and 800 Jews have established themselves in Mexico City.

A propondering majority of these immigrants, who came to Mexico, expecting to use that country merely as a way station to enter the United States, are now said to be successfully established in the Republic. Few are said now to have any desire to leave and the I.O.B.B. officials are of the opinion that Mexico presents splendid "opportunities for commercial advancement for those immigrants who are willing to struggle in order to get a foothold."

SENATOR STRAUS URGES "BABY BONUS".

NEW YORK, July 10. (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) Passage of legislature providing for a "baby bonus" is being urged by Senator Nathan Straus of New York. Senator Straus is an authority on child welfare, having worked eighteen ydars with his father in combatting infant mortality.

"I believe it would be a good investment for the state", Senator Straus declares, "to pay a motner a cash bonus for every baby that she adds to the population of the state."

"Motherhood subsidies", Straus believes, "would assist in promoting early marriage among the best class population. At present, he holds, shiftless, thoughtless men and women are ready to undertake the responsibilities of marriage without considering what it may lead to, and many of the better class postpone or avoid marriage feeling that they are not well enough situated financially to take care of the offspring.

A baby bonus would induce this better type to undertake the responsibilities of marriage and parenthood, Straus asserts.
