ENGLAND CANNOT BREAK PROMISE TO JEWS, - LONDON TIMES.

"If Arabs Refuse Help, We Must Fulfill Undertaking Ourselves."

LONDON, Oct. 15. (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) England cannot break the promise which it made respecting the establishment of the Jewish National Homeland, the London Times says in an editorial of yesterday.

The Arabs, it declares, are apparently more afraid of a possible future ascendancy of Jews than they are of the Jews' present position there.

Britain, the Times reiterates, cannot abolish the Jewish Agency, but the proposed establishment of an Arab Agency is proof of Britain's impartiality.

The paper charges that the Arabs' refusal to accede to Samuel's proposal for an Arab Agency is due to intrigues and will result in the withdrawal of the proposal.

In view of the Arab rejection, it says, the only course open is for the Palestine government to utilize the ample powers conferred by the Mandate and continue the old policy despite the opposition of the Arabs.

If the Arabs refuse to help, it concludes, "we must and will fulfill the undertaking ourselves."

JEWISH SEJM DEPUTIES COLLECT DATA TO IMPEACH EDUCATION MINISTER.

WARSAW, Oct. 15. (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) The Jewish members of the Sejm are collecting data instancing cases where the numerus clausus has been invoked to bar Jewish students. The deputies hope to use this information to bring about the impeachment of Glombinski, the Minister of Education, for violating the Polish constitution.

BRANDEIS, CARDOZA CITED BY "POST" EDITORIAL ANSWERING WORLD'S WORK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) The World's Work, which some time sponsored Burton Hendricks' articles, is now projecting a similar attack relative on Italian immigrants.

The following comment is made by the New York Evening Post relative to one of the articles:

"The World's work prints two jury lists, one with such names as Brown, Robinson, Sanford and Holmes and one with names like Karolyi, Pechitch and Angeloti asking which will decide most justly. Yet in this country justice is ably administered by judges with names like Brandeis and Cardoza and at Albany an increasing list of respected lawmakers bear similar names".

DR. SILVERMAN LEAVES FOR STUDY OF PALESTINE CONDITIONS.

NEW YORK. Oct. 15, (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) The Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, rabbi-emeritus of Temple Emanu-El, will sail on Tuesday for Palestine for the purpose of getting first hand information on conditions there.

"There has been so much discussion and controversy on the subject of Palestine that I have made up my mind to go there and satisfy myself as to the facts by close observation and study", Dr. Silverman declares.

"It is my purpose to travel by automobile through the entire country visiting all the important cities as well as the colonies that have been established there by means of Jewish labor and capital. I intend also to interview representatives of the Moslems, Jews and Christians in order to find out at first hand the exact relations between these elements to one another, and thus be in a position to answer the prejudiced reports which I know have been circulated.

"I am after the truth and I hope to bring back a report that shall be authentic and authoritative on all the facts connected with the settlement of Jews in Palestine.

"I undertake the trip to Palestine at this time because, in the course of my recent trip to the West on behalf of the Palestine Foundation Fund I became convinced that it was necessary to bring to the people not merely hearsay reports of Palestine, but authentic and first hand information."

Dr. Silverman was tendered a farewell reception Saturday evening by the Keren Hayesod at the Hotel Astor. Herman Conheim was chairman and among the speakers were Dr. Nathan Krass, Rabbi Max Drob and Morris Rothenberg.

POLITICAL ZIONISM IS DEAD, ZANGWILL TELLS CONGRESS

ZANGWILL SPEAKS TO CONGRESS NOT FOR CONGRESS, RABBI WISE SAYS

COOLIDGE SENDS MESSAGE

New York, October 15 (J. T. A.) Before an audience that filled every seat of Carnegie Hall, Israel Zangwill gave what he described as an "airplane view" of the Jewish situation.

The climax of the speech came when Mr. Zangwill contended that "political Zionism is dead. The proudest will", he said, "must sometimes acknowledge honorable defeat. When King David's child was sick he fasted and lay upon the ground, but when the child died, he arose and washed and anointed himself. I see no sadder policy for political Zionism, now finally bereaved of its hope".

In the earlier afternoon session, Rabbi Wise in introducing Mr. Zangwill warned that Mr. Zangwill "might say somethings which it will not be possible for this meeting to give unqualified assent. Mr. Zangwill speaks not for the American Jewish Congress but to the American Jewish Congress. He speaks not for Israel but for Israel Zangwill".

Rabbi Wise during the course of the evening also presented a message from President Coolidge expressing general sympathy with the aims of the Congress. The message follows:

"The President of the United States in the course of a visit by Rabbi Wise of the Central and Free Synagogue of New York and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Jewish Congress, in session October 14-16, New York, expressed himself as being in sympathy with the general aims and purposes of the American Jewish Congress which is to meet in New York Sunday afternoon.

"American Jews are justified in seeking to safeguard the rights of their brother Jews in all lands in which these may be in any way imperilled; and the more because the Jew in this country is secure in those religious, civil, political rights, which are Arraigning "the political mishandling of Zionism" Mr. Zangwill said that "too late the Caribad conference has voted its protest that not even the State lands and waste lands mentioned in the mandate have been allotted to the Zionists. Indeed, a colonization without a territorial charter, in which the land has to be bought literally by the square yard and every purchase puts up the price of land against yourself", he continued, "is a monstrosity unknown to history.

"National politics is the realm of might, and if, as Dr. Hertz warns us, the menace of massacre still lies over the whole Russian Jewry should the Soviet Government be overthrown, we must face the sad fact that Jewish might does not exist. We are like those children whose fate Thomas Hardy deplores in one of his novels, trailed helplessly hither and thither in the wake of drunken and improvident parents. Armed defence in the ghettos may do something to mitigate pogroms, but the only hope for the Jewish Diaspora, as for so many other racial minorities in the resurrected or parvenu countries created by the Treaty of Versailles, lies in the enforcement by the League of Nations of one of the few righteous sections of that treaty, namely, the clause providing for the protection of minorities.

"Sir Willoughby Dickinson, the President of the Minorities Commission of the League of Nations Union, says Great Britain regards the protection of the Jewish minorities as an especial aim. But this Union has only moral power: and of political power the League of Nations itself has only a spurious institution, which, as I have said, is less a League of Nations than a League of Damns-tions.

"But even if Russia and Germany were admitted to it, and America joined it, it would still be a defective institution so long as its members mutually pledged themselves to maintain the integrity of their existing territories without first inquiring whether the existing distribution of these territories was equitable, especially in relation to populations, port facilities, and free opting of nationality, and without providing for the expansion or contraction of territories in accordance with the growth or decline of populations. For, in the world of flux, the justice of day is the injustice of tomorrow. The readjustment to a changing reality has been the main factor in producing war, and any League that omitted to provide for the inevitable movement of life might produce peace, but it would not produce justice. There is only one way to world peace and that is the absolute abolition of passports, visas, frontiers, custom houses and all other devices that make of the population of our planet not a co-operating civilization, but a mutual irritation society. I present this idea to Mr. Bok, though I am sure he will not award me his peace prize. It is the overlooking, willful or foolish, of the raw realities of the case that turns so much peace idealism into hot air or spilt ink. The nations do not want peace because they are unwilling to pay the price - the surrender of sovereign rights".

"To call a world congress for Zionism exclusively, declared Mr. Zangwill was to repeat the mistake that Herzl made. "A world Congress for our world affairs, Zionism included", he added, "would leave no excuse to any Jew of remaining unrepresented in it unless his solution of the Jewish question was dissolution". A Congress representing all Jewry need not be organized centrally, he went on to say, suggesting that every country have its own Jewish Congress. Each of these congresses acting as an electoral college would then create the world concoul, "the shanhedrin so long extinct". By this Sanhedrin, he said, the spheres and finances of the various relief and other organizations could be adjusted so as not to overlap.

The Jewish problem lies between Palestine and the Diaspora, Mr. Zangwill asserted. Palestine, a little country, no larger than Wales, has already suffered diminution by "French imperialism which has lopped off a northern slice of its extensibility eastward" at the best it could shelter one-fourth of the 16,000,000 Jews of the Diaspora.
