KING HUSSEIN TO BE PROCLAIMED CALIPH

London "Times" Warns Britain Against Interfering With Caliphate

Jerusalem, January 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency). The Arab press in Transjordan has issued a call for the proclamation of King Hussein of Hedjas as Caliph.

King Hussein is expected to arrive tomorrow (Saturday) in Amman. Great preparations have been made for his reception. A torchlight procession will meet him, carrying flags which hail Hussein as liberator of the Arab race. King Hussein will be accompanied by his Foreign Minister Fuad el Khatib Bey, Major John Philby the British ~~xxxx~~ adviser to Transjordan, his son Emir Abdullah, ruler of Transjordan, and a number of leading Transjordanian sheikhs.

King Hussein has pardoned the Transjordanian rebels now imprisoned in Hedjas, while Emir Abdullah has granted amnesty to the whole Adwan tribe which had engaged in warfare against Transjordan.

The reports about the purpose of the Conference in Amman are still conflicting. While according to one version the object of the conference is the discussion of the proposed Anglo-Arab Treaty, according to other reports the setting up of a federated Arab State to include Mesopotamia, Hedjas, Transjordan and Palestine is the aim of the conference. The conference is considered but a preliminary conference to the Pan-Arab Congress to be held at the end of this month in Jeddah. There is much excitement throughout the Arab world over the pending conferences. The Arab press expects as a result of these conferences a closer knitting of Arab interests, and a greater consideration of the demands of the Arab nation.

London, January 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency). The London Times in an editorial published today declares the proclamation of King Hussein as Caliph a tactless step. The Times demands, if the report be correct, that the British Government instruct Sir Herbert Samuel and his Secretary M. Clayton not to proceed to the Conference of Amman: Great Britain must not create the impression that it wants to interfere in the question of the Caliphate. Great Britain would make a serious mistake should it interfere in the selection of the Caliph which is a purely Moslem affair, the paper says.

The Times expresses the opinion that the real purpose of the conference is unclear, but it believes that King Hussein's visit to Amman is of a purely personal nature, in order to meet his son.
