ASSIMILATION OF JEWS WRONG REMEDY SAYS HALLINAN

New York, January 18 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency). "The right of a Jew to remain a Jew--that's where we should have nailed our Christian colors to the mast" -- says Charles Thomas Hallinan, former Director of the American Union against Militarism, in The Nation for January 23rd.

Mr. Hallinan corroborates Horace M. Kallen, who said in an earlier article in the same series, that anti-Semitism is fundamentally a religious problem. He insists that liberal Gentiles have offered the wrong remedy when they urged the Jew to forsake his Jewishness through the process of assimilation. Their tolerance is meaningless unless they accept the Jew as he is. "It is our business to see that religious ~~bigotry~~ bigotry is stamped out and that great democratic masses are educated out of errors as old as Christendom. If we make room for Judaism among the religious of the modern world, we shall discover -- over-night, as it were--that we have fulfilled our pledge and made room for the Jew. Yes, a fine, serious sensitive fellow with a rich and interesting tradition, a strong passion for justice, and a stubborn history of which ~~xxxxx~~ any Irishman, if I may say so, would be proud!"

MOTHER OF PEARL INDUSTRY IN PALESTINE

Jerusalem, December 25 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency, By Mail). Bethlehem is the centre of an industry in mother-of-pearl which supplies beads, rosaries, inlaid work, carvings, and miscellaneous ornaments or souvenirs to all parts of the world. This industry is about 50 years old and supports the majority of the population in the Bethlehem district. Rosaries, composed of mother of pearl beads strung on silver wires, are the most important product of this industry.

Mother of pearl work is almost entirely a home industry? In addition to the fact that most of the population of the Bethlehem district has some direct or indirect income from the industry, there are approximately 500 people actively and closely engaged in the work. The work is all done by hand, and but a few tools of simple style are employed. The Bethlehem worker says that these beads can be as cheaply made by hand as by machinery and with a smaller percentage of breakage.

The raw material for this industry is largely waste from button factories - much of which is imported from United States - and shells imported partly from various other countries.
