HUNGARIAN ANTI-SEMITES OPPOSE THE DISSOLUTION OF SECRET SOCIETIES

Prime Minister Bethlen, Supporting
Move Against Secret Organizations,
Charged with "Ingratitude"

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Budapest, April 10.—Measures contemplated by the Hungarian Government to clear the political atmosphere in Hungary by dissolving the existing secret societies has brought the government into conflict with the dominant anti-Semitic organizations.

The plan is supported by Prime Minister, Count Bethlen.

Count Bethlen, however, met strong opposition from the Fascisti and anti-Semitic bodies. Deputy Julius Goemboes, one of the outstanding leaders in the anti-Semitic movement, compromised in the counterfeiting plot, boldly challenged the Prime Minister, charging him with ingratitude. "Count Bethlen has forgotten that the same societies which he now seeks to dissolve raised him to power years ago," Goemboes declared.

CENSUS SHOWS DECREASE OF JEWS IN GERMANY

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Apr. 10.—The numerical strength of the Jewish population in Germany has decreased considerably during the last fifteen years, according to the first returns of the national census taken during 1925.

The figures show that the Jewish population, in comparison with the situation in 1910, has decreased considerably, particularly in the smaller states. For instance, the Jewish population in the state of Wurtemberg was 1115 less in 1925 than in 1910; in Hessen, the Jewish population was 3662 less in 1925 than in 1910, or a decrease of 15.2%; in Baden the population has decreased 2,000, or 7.7% since 1910.

PALESTINE BORDER FORCE KEEPS WATCH AS SYRIAN WARFARE IS RENEWED

Weizmann Confers with Plumer;
Jewish Participation in Frontier
Force Among Topics Discussed

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Apr. 10.—The renewed warfare between the French and the Druze forces in Syria has made it necessary for the Palestine frontier force to be on constant watch to guarantee the safety of the frontier.

The frontier force is busily engaged in disarming groups of Druzes who flee to Palestine. It was stated that special barracks will be constructed on the Palestine side for the internment of the fleeing rebels and many of the deserting soldiers of the French Foreign Legion who surrendered to the Palestine authorities.

Jerusalem, Apr. 10.—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, conferred today with Field Marshall Lord Herbert C. Plumer, High Commissioner of Palestine.

It was learned that during the conference questions concerning the reorganization of the Palestine frontier force and the participation of Jews in it, the enactment of the Palestine Communities Ordinance and other questions vitally affecting the development of the Jewish Homeland in Palestine were discussed.

Progress of Colony Stimulated Through
Aid of Mrs. Mary Fels

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Zichron-Jacob, Palestine, Apr. 10.—Two events of great importance in the life of the colony have just taken place. One hundred thousand grapevines have been planted by the local branch of the B'nai Benjamin, an organization of the sons of the first Jewish colonists in Palestine.

Four new filters have been sunk in the already existing water spring and an abundant additional water supply has thus been obtained. The community will now be able to increase its vegetable production. Both these events were made possible through the moral and financial support of Mrs. Mary Fels, president of the Fels Foundation, who has done much for the development of the old colonies in Palestine.

FREE SYNAGOGUE SPONSORS EXCAVATION OF OLDEST OF KNOWN SYNAGOGUES

What promises to be one of the most important and interesting archaeological finds of recent years will be made by an expedition to excavate the synagogue of Chorazin, the oldest synagogue in Palestine of which there is any knowledge, according to an announcement made today by the Free Synagogue, under whose auspices the work will be conducted.

The city of Chorazin, now known as Kerazeh, located in Upper Galilee, only two miles from Capernaum, contains one of the most famous synagogues existing in Palestine immediately after 135, Christian era, when Roman persecution drove the rabbis to the province of Galilee, when Hadrian turned Jerusalem into a Roman colony and built a temple of Jupiter on the site of the Jewish temple.

The Free Synagogue, whose leader is Dr. Stephen S. Wise, is financing the expedition at the instance of Dr. J. L. Magnes, Chancellor of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. Professor Garstand, Curator of the British Archaeological Museum in Palestine, will supervise the work, with the assistance of Dr. Leo Mayer, of the Department of Antiquities of the Oriental School in Jerusalem.

The synagogue at Chorazin is supposed to conform to the general specifications of similar synagogues erected at that time, that is, rectangular with the door to the south, and two rows of columns forming aisles east and west. The architecture is a peculiar imitation of classic style attributed by architects to the early part of the second century of the Christian era.

Chorazin stands on a rocky spur 900 feet above the Sea of Galilee, two miles north of the shore. In the middle of the ruins are the remains of the synagogue, built of black basalt.

Aeronautics and the Jewish Suffering in Europe

Criticism of Daniel and Simon Guggenheim, copper magnates, the former of whom recently established the $500,000 School for Aeronautics and the latter the $3,000,000 Scholarship Foundation, for ignoring the distressful condition of the East European Jews and the reconstruction needs of Palestine, is voiced by the "Juedische Zeitung" of Breslau.

"Everywhere an effort is being made," the paper writes, "to create better and more dignified conditions of life for Jewry. For Palestine, for instance, there was raised through heroic exertions in the last five years the sum of 2¼ million pounds sterling. The amount given by the Guggenheims in the space of a few minutes equals in round figures one-fourth of this sum.

"The philanthropy of Jews is not always Jewish philanthropy. The proud desire of others is to give the best in their power to their own people. The pride of the Jew, however, is frequently gratified by giving to others for the expected privilege of being accepted in their society. So long as this phase of the development of Jewry in the 19th century has not disappeared Jewish philanthropists will be ready enough to place the science of aeronautics above the distress of their fellow-Jews."

98 and 89

Immigration students in this country are better informed on "general information" subjects than native Americans, according to the results obtained from a questionnaire submitted by the "New Republic" to 100 students in a large American university. Commenting on this, the New York "World" of April 10 observes: "The best score, 98 per cent, was made by a student of Slavic descent; the next by an older Russian. The highest grade by a native American was 89. Possibly one reason why Europeans still beat us at many intellectual games is that, couched in a vast continent immeasurably rich, young Americans take life more easily. And possibly if the young collegians had made up a questionnaire to suit themselves they would have shown astonishing erudition about football records and the Charleston."

Mr. Ford's Ideas

Henry Ford's ideas about certain Christian churches, in connection with his observations on the question of Prohibition, have provoked the following comment from the New York "American" (Apr. 10):

PRES. COOLIDGE RECEIVES DELEGATION OF HAKOAH (Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Washington, Apr. 10. — President Coolidge received today the three delegates of the Hakoah Sport Club of Vienna, which is sending a soccer team to this country for a series of matches. The delegates who visited the President are Dr. Ignace Koerner, president and founder of the organization in 1907, Dr. Julius Krausz and Dr. Albert Mazur.

The delegates related to the President the purposes and aims of the Hakoah club, and the reason for its trip to the United States. The club was formed primarily for the physical development of the young Jews of Europe, and the fact that its representatives won European championships is only incidental, the delegates stated. The men became so proficient in their adopted sports that they won European titles in soccer, wrestling, swimming and field hockey.

Joseph McKee, president of the Board of Aldermen, has promised his whole-hearted support to the project to invite 10,000 orphans to the Polo Grounds on Sunday, April 25, to see the soccer game between the Hakoah Sport Club of Vienna, and a picked eleven from the New York State Football Association.

UNITED STATES RABBI MAY OFFICIATE AT CANADIAN MARRIAGES, COURT RULES (Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Montreal, Apr. 10. — Marriages of Jews performed by duly appointed rabbis of recognized congregations cannot be set aside solely on the ground that the officiating rabbi was not a British subject, according to a judgment handed down by Justice Declos in the Superior Court.

The question arose when Isidore Kahn sought annulment of his marriage to Dame Mildred Gordon, which was performed by Rabbi Herman Abramowitz, a citizen of the United States, and Rabbi of the largest and most influential synagogue in Montreal.

The plaintiff sought to have his marriage annulled on the ground that the officiating Rabbi, not being a British subject, was incompetent to solemnize the marriage.

During his entire business career of more than fifty years he was associated with J. W. Seligman & Co., becoming a partner in 1901.

Retiring from active business in 1921, Mr. Carlebach had since devoted himself largely to philanthropy. ### Roumania Liberating Herself from the Yoke of the "Liberals"

(By Our Bucharest Correspondent)

Bucharest, Mar. 27. — The failure of the Liberals, the present government party in Roumania, at the last municipal elections and the resignation today as a result of that of the Bratianu cabinet, will possibly inaugurate a better era for Roumanian Jewry, for it was the Bratianu government which was responsible for the long period of anti-Jewish excesses in this country.

The Jews played an important role in the last elections. Having learned from sad experience that they had nothing to expect from the so-called "Liberal" party which tolerated and in many instances actively helped the Czuz student hooligans, the Jews joined with all the other progressive elements in the country at the ballot boxes. That the importance of the Jewish vote was understood by the government is to be seen from the fact that an effort was made in a number of important cities, as in Kishineff and Czernowitz, to win the Jews over to the Liberals. In other places the government party joined forces with the anti-Semites and tried to browbeat the Jews into voting for the Liberal candidates. Knowing the sentiment of the Jews the Liberals in Focsani placarded the city with posters warning the "Christian brothers" to "protect" the country from the Jews, etc. The Czuzist band went even further and threatened the Jews to keep away from the voting booths else they would be beaten up.

These tactics were not employed only against the Jews. All the progressive elements in the country were subjected to similar treatment. In fact the entire population was terrorized during the elections. In many precincts all the votes but those for the Liberals were destroyed outright. An indication of what took place can be seen in the case of Kishineff. Out of a population of 250,000 a voting list of 17,000 was drawn up and ballots were issued to only 8,000, the remaining 9,000 ballots being manipulated by the officials.

Despite all this, however, the government party, was decisively beaten everywhere. In Bucharest where the Liberals were certain they would be victorious, the opposition received 72 per cent of all votes. Similar defeats for the government party were also registered in Jassy, Moldavia, Clousenburg, Kishineff, Czernowitz, Bukovina and many other cities, including the three chief commercial centres, Galatz, Brajila and Constance.

As a result of the outcome of the municipal elections the Liberals are making an eleventh hour attempt to pass legislation in Parliament that would institute a Fascist method of voting and make it easier for them to overcome their opponents in the coming parliamentary elections. The measure has already been passed in the Senate and has been brought before

AMERICAN ORIENTALISTS CLOSE SESSIONS IN PHILA. (Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Philadelphia, Apr. 10. — The American Oriental Society closed its three day sessions here last night. The principal feature of the closing day discussions was the paper read by Dr. Nathaniel Reich, well known Egyptologist of Dropsie College.

Some very interesting facts concerning modern civilization's debt to ancient Egypt were disclosed.

According to Dr. Reich, real estate deals, booms, foreclosures, mortgages and promissory notes, were in existence in Egypt as far back as 400 B.C. In that same period the double contract system for the sale of property was inaugurated. Discussing the double contract system Dr. Reich declared:

"The contracts were known as a document of payment and a document of renunciation. The document of payment starts out with the consent of the seller of the property to the sale while the latter begins with the renunciation of all claims to the property on the part of the former owner.

"The reason for the drawing of the two contracts probably can be traced to the institution of registry of landed property. The transactions were facilitated by methods of bookkeeping and the filing of mortgages, promissory notes and other contracts. Thus when an official looked up in the registry the name he at once knew all about the person without the need of studying the documents themselves," Dr. Reich stated.

DR. MAX KAHN, DISCOVERER OF INTARVIN, DIES SUDDENLY

Dr. Max Kahn, discoverer of intarvin as a remedy for diabetes and director of laboratories for Beth Israel Hospital, where he was chief of the department of metabolism, died unexpectedly of heart disease on Friday in his offices at the hospital. He was thirty-nine years old.

Announcement of his discovery of intarvin was made on August 1, 1923. More than fifty of the city's leading physicians and chemists attended the lecture at Beth Israel Hospital, at which Dr. Kahn reported the fruits of his experiment work, both in the hospital and at Columbia University, where he was associate in biological chemistry.

While medical authorities disputed the value of the discovery, which followed close upon the discovery of insulin, intarvin was accepted by the American Medical Association.

Dr. Kahn was born in Russia in 1887. He came to this country at an early age and obtained his M.D. at Cornell University and his Ph.D. at Columbia. He was the author of a "History of Medicine" and other scientific books and reports. His literary interests, however, led him to write in addition, treatises on Maimonides, Moliere and Shakespeare.

He was a member of numerous medical and scientific societies and was chief of the metabolism department at the United Israel-Zion Hospital in Brooklyn, as well as at the Beth Israel Hospital. Dr. Kahn is survived by his wife, two children and four brothers.

Funeral services were held on Sunday.

The Board of Directors of Beth Israel Hospital, of which Joseph H. Cohen is President and Julius Schwartz Secretary and the hospital's medical board, of which Dr. Joseph Barsky is President and L. J. Frank Acting Secretary, yesterday passed resolutions eulogizing Dr. Kahn.
