IMMIGRATION COMMITTEE REPORTS DEPORTATION MEASURE TO THE HOUSE

Establishes Date Legalizing Aliens of Irregular Entry As July 1, 1924;
Johnson Asks Speedy Passage

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Washington, Apr. 28.—After changing its opinion several times with regard to the legalization of unlawfully entered Aliens the House Immigration Committee again reversed its previous decision. The Deportation Bill, in its final form as reported to the House, legalizes the admission of aliens who entered unlawfully up to July 1, 1924, provided however, that the government has the privilege of deporting aliens three years after their entry. After that time the government would be unable to deport any aliens who entered unlawfully prior to July 1, 1924.

Those who entered unlawfully subsequent to that date will, however, be subject to deportation without qualification, according to the bill in its present form.

Congressman Holaday, whose name the bill will bear, has completed the report to be submitted by the committee with the bill. It is understood that chairman Johnson has asked for a special rule for early action by the House on the Deportation Bill.

It had previously been expected that a separate bill for allowing the naturalization of these legalized aliens would shortly be reported but Congressman Johnson, while indicating that the committee is dealing with the matter, expressed doubt, whether final action by the House can be taken on such a bill this session. The adoption of the Deportation Bill alone will be considered as quite an accomplishment, he said.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL PROPOSED FOR JEWISH YOUTH IN POLAND

(Jewish Telegraph Agency)

Warsaw, Apr. 28.—An appeal urging the establishment in Poland of an agricultural school, farms and handicraft workshops for the Jewish youth, was made by Deputy Hartglass, President of the Club of Jewish Deputies, Deputy Hirschbaum, Deputy Dr. A. Levinson, Senator M. Koerner, Dr. Mayer Krummel and others.

"The terrible economic crisis among the Jews of Poland," the appeal states, "shows the insecurity and hopeless position of the Jewish merchant class which till now has formed the biggest section of the Jewish people, and convinces us of the necessity of radically altering the whole structure of Jewish life. The Jewish people cannot and must not restrict itself to trading, small industry and the liberal professions. It must strive to normalize its economic structure. A Jewish youth sufficiently prepared for the new economic conditions of Jewish life will give us security against the frequent economic catastrophes which we have suffered in recent years. The upbuilding of a Jewish national home in Palestine can be successfully and speedily carried out only if the Jews in the Diaspora provide new young forces prepared for productive work in accordance with the needs of Palestine. The Cholim element will prepare the road in Palestine for the Jewish masses."

It is therefore proposed, the appeal proceeds, to establish a large-scale agricultural school, farms and workshops in which to train the Jewish youth for its task. The Jewish youth organization Hashomer Hatzair has undertaken a campaign on behalf of the Keren Hachomer for the purpose of establishing such a big agricultural school for the Jewish youth, and the signatories appeal to the Jewish public to support this campaign.

A modern Hebrew school will be established in Tientsin, N. C., according to plans adopted at a mass meeting at the Temple of the Synagogue. Rabbi Benin was named chairman of the educational committee.

U. P. A. COMMENTS ON YOUNG WISE'S WITHDRAWAL FROM THE RABBINATE

James Waterman Wise who has just announced his withdrawal from preparation to become a rabbi because he could not accept the theology of Judaism, will not, in future, deliver addresses on behalf of the United Palestine Appeal, Emanuel Neumann, national director of the United Palestine Appeal, declared in a statement he issued. Mr. Wise, the son of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue, had been quoted in dispatches from Minneapolis as saying he intended to continue speaking before groups of young Jews throughout the country on behalf of the United Palestine Appeal.

Mr. Neumann's statement read:

"A report appears in today's newspapers containing a statement in which James W. Wise explains the reasons that have moved him to abandon his studies for the rabbinate. The report gives further the erroneous impression that Mr. Wise is to engage in a series of lectures on behalf of the United Palestine Appeal. With regard to Mr. Wise's renunciation of the rabbinate, he expresses, of course, his personal viewpoint, which is essentially out of accord with the spirit of the Zionist movement and its underlying principles.

"Mr. Wise volunteered to speak for the United Palestine Appeal in Minneapolis as substitute for his father, whom illness prevented from traveling to that city. It was never contemplated that Mr. Wise should deliver a series of lectures for the United Palestine Appeal, and in view of the statement that has appeared such a lecture engagement is out of the question. The officers of the United Palestine Appeal would regret any erroneous inference that the Appeal is in any way concerned with what is a purely personal matter with Mr. Wise.

Anent Judge Staley's Decision

Two different opinions on the decision of Supreme Court Justice Staley, permitting school boards to release pupils for certain periods each week for religious instruction outside of the schools, in churches to be selected by the parents, are expressed by the "Day" and the "Jewish Morning Journal."

The "Day" (Apr. 27) sees the decision as a blow to the principle of religious freedom. While it is not an actual permission to teach religion in the schools, the paper contends, "it opens the door wide for such an eventuality."

The children in the schools, we are told, will have to fill out special questionnaires asking them if they desire religious instruction and if not—why not? Moreover religious missions will spring up in the vicinity of the schools, so that—

"In effect, the decision of Judge Staley means an actual approximation between church and school, between religious and secular education, which is replete with numerous dangers. For the Jewish pupils, who form a large percentage in the New York schools, this practice would present many obnoxious possibilities. A field would be opened for various sectarian interferences and quarrels—things which everywhere in the course of centuries have caused suffering for the Jewish population."

The "Jewish Morning Journal" (Apr. 27), though not welcoming Judge Staley's decision, thinks it may prove to be beneficial for the Jewish as well as for non-Jewish children in giving them an opportunity to receive religious instruction. Pointing out that the religious teaching would be given in churches and synagogues chosen by the parents and only half to one hour a week would be devoted for the purpose, the paper observes: "Thousands of Jewish parents would no doubt endorse such an arrangement and many would perhaps demand more than half an hour a week."

3 p. m. instead of 3:30 as both the Hakoah and Indiana players must catch the Fall River boat at 5:30 p. m. for New England for games on Sunday. Indiana will play at Fall River, while Hakoah will go to Providence, for a Sunday game with the Providence Club of the American Soccer League at the Cyclorama.

Dr. Albert Mann, one of the United States delegates of Hakoah, will be formally received by the Governor of Rhode Island and the Mayor of Providence.

PALESTINE TRADE MAKES PROGRESS, REPORT SHOWS

chandise for home consumption was £E7,338,491, compared with £E5,266,349 in 1924; exports of Palestine produce amounted to £E1,297,559, compared with £E1,200,812 in 1924. The principal increases in imports were in cereals, flour, building materials, cotton goods, machinery, motor-ars and petroleum products.

4,794 tons of salt were sold, compared with 3,457 tons in 1924.

The steady recovery from the trade depression of 1923 which commenced in 1924, the report states, continued under the stimulus of new settlers furnished with capital.

Many of these immigrants imported considerable sums which were deposited in the banks, so facilitating the granting of credits, and the rate of interest on loans reached the lowest figure since the Occupation; but speculative purchases were made abroad in anticipation of increasing demands, particularly in the building trade, and the immobilization of capital in extensive building operations and land purchases caused a shortage of capital towards the end of the year, which led to a restriction of credit.

The cost of living index number rose by 4.4% and that of wholesale prices by 7.2%, as compared with 1924.

Exports of oranges amounted to 1,868,291 cases, compared with 1,880,783 cases in 1924; the prices realized were high. The 1925-26 crop is inferior in quality and quantity, and first sales in England realized only 12/ to 15/- per case; the prices have since improved.

The wine industry still suffers from lack of markets and exports decreased by £E7,850.

5,855 tons of soap, value £E247,725, were exported, compared with 4,809 tons, value £E205,891, in 1924. Improved methods of production are being introduced and toilet soap of better quality is being manufactured.

Seven tobacco and cigarette factories and seven tobac companies are in operation. Since May 1, 219,800 kilograms of cigarettes, 12,000 of cut tobacco and 42,000 of tobac have been produced. About 40% of the tobac used by factories is locally grown and 3,000 acres were planted with tobac and tobac during the year. Smuggling of tobac is, however, still considerable.

The Haifa cement factory commenced work in October; its product is retailed locally at P. T. 325 to P. T. 330 per ton and compares favorably with foreign brands.

At the Palestine Pavilion of the British Empire Exhibition sales, by 66 exhibitors, amounted to £E17,000. A net profit of approximately £E2,000 was made.

The total import trade for 1925 was £E7,603,923, as against £E5,889,679 in 1924 and £E5,124,945 in 1923. The total export trade for 1925 was £E1,588,57, as against £E2,120,931 in 1924 and £E1,841,118 in 1923.

LEADER OF POLISH RABBIS RECEIVED AT WHITE HOUSE

continues its great work at this time when we are again experiencing a severe financial crisis.

"The words so full of tolerance which your Excellency has spoken against universal Chauvinism and against conflict between races and creeds, have proven of great comfort to the minority groups of all peoples. We hope that with the approval of Your Excellency there will shortly be adjusted those hindrances to the entry into this great country of yours of those unfortunate wives and children who cannot come here now to join their husbands and fathers now residing here.

"And we pray to the Almighty for the continued wellbeing of your country, its great leader, Your Excellency, and its people."

Before calling on the President, the delegation was entertained at breakfast at the Legation of Poland. The delegation was photographed on the steps of the White House. Rabbi Lipshitz, on leaving Washington for New York City, expressed warm appreciation for the many courtesies extended to him and the delegation by the Polish Ambassador.

Should you accept our $200,000 one-year campaign we expect to come into that state at some future date and conduct another campaign. This decision is absolutely final and authorize you as chairman for state of Minnesota to act accordingly."

A further exchange of letters, pointing out the fact that the joint campaign was asked by the United Jewish Campaign leaders and not by the Zionists, brought a determined negative reply from Mr. Brown. In a letter to Mr. Schanfeld, Mr. Brown wrote: "We regret exceedingly that we are compelled to take this position, but we do so with the determination that if the leaders in Minnesota will not conduct a campaign in accordance with practically every other State in the Union, we shall be compelled to take such steps to raise our money in Minnesota as the circumstances may warrant. We stand ready to go to the Christians in your State with a Christian organization if absolutely necessary."
