Act of Famous Greek Poet Evokes
General Praise

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Salonica, Dec. 22.—The anti-Jewish agitation in this city, which was started some time ago, has been renewed. Jewish passersby were insulted in the streets and in the cars. The Salonica chamber of commerce has issued a proclamation condemning the anti-Semitic movement as "harmful for the peaceful cooperation of all citizens of the country."

An interpellation was introduced into parliament by the Jewish deputies, concerning the anti-Jewish outbreaks.

In the recent elections four Jewish deputies were elected to parliament, two are Zionists, two Communists.

A cided on the part of the famous Greek poet, Maboucas, president of the White Cross, has made a favorable impression on the population. M. Maboucas, who is a friend of the Jews, adopted two Jewish girls of Vole,

MUSICIANS FINED FOR PLAYING ANTI-SEMITIC BORKUM HYMN

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Dec. 22.—Several music directors of Emden were fined by the authorities for playing in public the anti-Semitic Borkum hymn. The authorities regarded the performance of the hymn as dangerous to the peace of the city and inciting the population against the Jews.

The Ministers of the Interior and Justice of the Prussian government have instructed that copies of the hymn be submitted to them. It is believed that the government will issue an order prohibiting the singing or playing of the hymn.

ROUMANIAN GOVERNMENT NEGOTIATES WITH STUDENT LEADERS TO CEASE EXCESSES

Promise to Prevent Recurrence of Anti-Jewish Riots; Trial of Murderer of David Falik Transferred from Czernowitz by Decision of Roumanian Supreme Court; Jerusalem Community Protests to League; Luigi Luzzatti Urges League to Intervene in Behalf of Roumanian Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Dec. 22.—The anti-Jewish excesses in Roumanian towns will not be repeated if the leaders of the anti-Semitic student movement keep their promises.

Despatches received here from Bucharest reproduce a report of the Roumanian newspaper, "Politica," according to which the Roumanian Minister of Education, Petrovici, and Octavian Goga, Minister of the Interior, negotiated with the leaders of the students concerning the governmental order to the police chiefs to take extraordinary measures to stop the excesses.

The leaders of the student movement are reported to have promised that the riots will not reoccur.

Bucharest, Dec. 22.—The trial of Nicholai Teteu, eighteen year old high school student of Jassy who murdered the Jewish student, David Falik, in the Czernowitz court, will not take place in Czernowitz. This was learned today when the decision of the Supreme Court of Bucharest was made public, granting the request of Teteu's attorney, Ilyescu, candidate for election to parliament on the ticket of the anti-Semitic Cuza party from Kimpolung, Bukovina. According to the decision of the Supreme Court, the trial will be transferred from Czernowitz and will take place in Kimpolung during January. The leaders of the anti-Semitic movement in Czernowitz moved for the transfer of the trial, charging that the judges in that city are "under the influence of the Jews."

The murder of David Falik, one of the twelve Jewish high school students charged with participating in a demonstration of national minority students against unfair examinations, started the present wave of anti-Jewish excesses in Roumania.

The chief commander of the Bucharest police, following an inspection of the police in Czernowitz, declared that he will dismiss all Jews from the Czernowitz police force.

Jerusalem, Dec. 22.—A protest to the League of Nations and to the government of Great Britain against the anti-Jewish excesses in Roumania was despatched by the Vaad Ha'ir, the Council of the Jerusalem Jewish community.

Rome, Dec. 22.—A call to the League of Nations to intervene on behalf of the persecuted Jews of Roumania, to defend them from the anti-Semitic persecution.

CONSTRUCTION OF HAIFA PORT MAY BE DELAYED; PLANS FOR JAFFA HARBOR

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Dec. 22.—Construction of the Haifa port will probably be delayed for two years, according to rumors here, notwithstanding the fact that the bill authorizing the British Exchequer to guarantee the Palestine government loan has already been passed. It is stated that the funds which will be made available through the loan will be used for the improvement of the Jaffa port.

The plans for the construction of the Haifa harbor are regarded by the government as being insufficiently elaborated. British experts will probably arrive here shortly to investigate the situation.

Monsignor Robinson upon his return from Jerusalem recently reported to the Pope on conditions in the country. The Jewish Telegraphic Agency learns that Monsignor Robinson expressed dissatisfaction with the general position of the country and with the position of the religious question. The Catholic church sees no friction and has no anxiety concerning her interests in Palestine. It is understood that the Pope recommended to Monsignor Robinson to work for a peaceful understanding between the various communities in Jerusalem and to act with a view to maintaining a calm atmosphere.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING LEAGUE FORMED IN BUL- GARIA; KING AT BANQUET

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Sofia, Dec. 22.—The establishment of a Bulgaro-Jewish League for the purpose of fostering fraternal relations between Jews and Bulgarians is being arranged here.

Deputy Gregor Vassilev is one of the promoters of the League.

The Bulgarian press expresses endorsement of the aims of the proposed league. Newspapers published a series of articles and have quoted the opinion of Bulgarian leaders showing its understanding and appreciation of the Jews. A banquet was held recently at the home of the Jewish leader, Albert Pipano, relative of Grand Rabbi David Pipano. The King, Princess Eudoxie, Archbishop of Sofia, Monsignor Stephan, General Lazarov, head of the Sofia garrison, and other prominent Bulgarians were present.

"La Bulgarie," the official organ of the government, commenting upon the banquet stated that it reunited the Bulgarians and Jews, proving how strong are the links between the two groups.

FRENCH STATESMAN PRAISES JEWISH RACE

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Paris, Dec. 22.—Anatole de Monzie, French statesman, paid a tribute to the Jewish race at a meeting of the Jewish Youth Organization here.

De Monzie, in speaking of the qualities of the Jewish race, mentioned Disraeli, declaring that notwithstanding his official conversion to Christianity, he remained a true Jew. France has high regard for Disraeli, recognizing that he was the first English statesman to contribute toward the French-English rapprochement.

PROHIBITION DEPT. ALLOWS IMPORT OF PALESTINE WINE FOR SACRAMENTAL USES

The United States prohibition department has permitted the importation from Palestine of kosher wine, grown, matured, bottled and packed in sealed cases in Palestine. These wines may be obtained for sacramental purposes by worshippers through the rabbis of their respective congregations, states an announcement issued by the Palestine department of the Zionist Organization of America. This announcement was issued following interviews with H. Keith Weeks, Federal Supervisor of the Wine control of the Prohibition Department in Washington and with Major Chester P. Mills, Prohibition Administrator of New York City, by Mark Shwarz, director of the Palestine Company.

The United States Customs House bonded warehouse in New York has a stock of Palestine kosher wine for this purpose, the announcement states. All wines must be obtained by a rabbi, direct from the wine manufacturer or importer. Each rabbi may procure not more than one gallon per year for each adult member of his congregation who needs the wine for religious use.

The announcement urged Zionists to give preference to Palestine imported wine for sacramental use.

DIGEST OF PUBLIC OPINION ON JEWISH MATTERS

[The purpose of the Digest is informative. Preference is given to papers not generally accessible to our readers. Quotation does not indicate approval.—Editor.]

The "Index" as Seen by the Baltimore "Sun"

An extensive comment on the "Jewish Daily Bulletin" Index is contained in the Baltimore "Sun" of Dec. 21, from the pen of Felix Morley, who finds that the Index has the virtues of an encyclopedia without its faults. The article observes:

"The publishers of the 'Jewish Daily Bulletin' are therefore the more heartily to be congratulated on the publication of a bound Index to that New York paper which serves the purpose of an encyclopedia without its failings. An encyclopedia, that is, confined to Jewish events in the year covered by the Index, with each of its 10,000 items compressed to minimum size, yet so cleverly summarized as to make superfluous reference to the news items thus recorded. Judging from its initial volume covering 1925, this Index fulfills the editorial boast that 'at a moment's glance anyone interested in contemporary Jewish events will be able to find all data regarding any Jewish subject, which until now he had to spend hours to locate.'"

"The publishers have shown herein that brevity is not incompatible with the interest we have already attributed to large encyclopedias. That the world at the present time contains, by closest estimates, only about 15,000,000 Jews is the sort of item that lingers in the mind. This, it is pointed out, is about one per cent of the population of the globe. All Russia, we learn, does not exceed its pro rata share nearly as much as Baltimore, the 2,800,000 Jews in Soviet territory being only two per cent of the total population, while the 60,000 of that religion said to live in this city would be seven and one-half per cent. The 'Baltimore Evening Sun' is named sponsor for these local figures.

"Equally interesting is the recollection that a German Jew, Prof. Albert Mosse, was co-author of the Japanese Constitution. And with this item one naturally groups the references to that curious Jewish community at Kaiheng, in Central China, whose origin, except as another phase of the 'Lost Tribes' legend, seems irrevocably draped by mystery. Wherever they came from, in Honan Province their descendants still remain, a cause of more debate than the issue of whether or not Columbus had Jewish blood, which story the Index chronicles without indorsement.

"So far as this Index is concerned the race has not created but solved problems. A more accurate, comprehensive and informative handbook on Jewish life in every land cannot be visualized."

ORT MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN MEETING WIDE RESPONSE

The initial effort of the American Ort, the Society for the promotion of Trades and Agriculture among Jews in Central and Eastern Europe, to build a permanent membership organization in America, is meeting with encouraging results, according to a report made public by the Ort from its national office in New York City. A response has come not only from leaders of the Ort, but also from among the masses of the people, including branches and followers of the Workmen's Circle, the Independent Order Brith Abraham, the Independent Order Brith Shalom and kindred organizations.

The appeal of the Ort is for "a permanent membership body responsive to the constructive program of the Ort." The appeal stresses the fact that the Ort is not building a money-gathering machine, but seeks the adherence of men and women who, through the Ort, will establish closer contact with those institutions which are devoting themselves to a constructive, rather than palliative, program for the re-establishment of the Jewish people of Europe.

Among those who have recently become affiliated with the Ort are: J. P. Adler, Davenport; Louis Bamberger, Newark; James H. Becker, Chicago; Benjamin Benson, New York; H. G. Ellis, Watertown; Ben Davidson, Sioux City; Felix Fuld, Newark; Miss Hetty Goldman, New York; Mrs. Julius Goldman, New York; Dr. Julius Goldman, New York; Mrs. Paul Gotthel, New York; Rabbi Israel L. Kaplan, Jacksonville; J. Lester Levine, New York; Rabbi Eugene Mannheimer, Des Moines; Simon Lyon, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, Croton-on-Hudson; S. J. Rosenblatt, Chicago; Dr. Herman E. S. Chayes, New York; Morris White, New York and Morris Weinberg, Brooklyn.

RATHENAU FAMILY DONATES CASTLE FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Dec. 22.—A castle in Riesen Park, Freienwalde, the property of the family of the late Walter Rathenau, German Jewish statesman, was donated by the family for public use.

The castle, which is valued at a large sum, was at one time the property of the royal family. The Reichstag has sent an address of thanks to the Rathenau family for the gift.

A testimonial dinner was given for Assistant District Attorney Rose Rothenberg at the Hotel Astor, Maximilian W. Goldstein at the Independent Ladies' Aid Society of the Hebrew Children's Home for Temporary Shelter. About 200 persons were present. Nathan Burkart, Henry M. Goldglie, Leopold Prince and Judge Samuel D. Levy were among the speakers.

Miss Rothenberg was instrumental in obtaining a State charter for the society.

Mrs. Rachel A. Bernstein, who has been President of the Ladies' Aid Society since its foundation, announced that a plot at the corner of Grand Concourse and 205th Street, in the Bronx, had been purchased as the site for a new building for the Shelter. A campaign to raise money for the undertaking is to be started immediately.

Forthcoming Meeting of Einstein and Michelson Awaited with Interest By Scientists

(By Our Chicago Correspondent, Morris Bernstein)

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Following the recent world-wide stir caused by the report of Dr. Albert Michelson on his researches regarding the speed of light, the scientists of Europe and America are looking forward with keen interest to the visit which Dr. Albert Einstein will pay Dr. Michelson during the next spring at the latter's laboratory on Mount Wilson. Since Einstein's celebrated theory of Relativity is based on the results obtained years ago by the researches of Michelson, the meeting of these two famous Jewish scientists is regarded as of great importance. Since Michelson is repeating two experiments that touch on Einstein's Relativity theory, it is assumed that they will discuss the manner in which these experiments bear out the Einstein theory.

In a few days Dr. Michelson, who is now in Chicago, will leave for his Mount Wilson laboratory in California where he will resume his work on the speed of light.

In anticipation of this, experts have been working for several months to perfect the mechanical features of the interferometer. Prof. Michelson's invention by which he measures the speed of a beam of light flashed from one mountain peak to another. He will use the interferometer when he once more conducts the world famous experiment which involves the measuring of the speed of the earth, and with it, the whole solar system through space.

There are two other noted experiments which Prof. Michelson will repeat. The first of these is the Michelson-Morley experiment of 1883, upon the negative results of which Einstein based his celebrated theory. This experiment brought Prof. Michelson to the attention of physicists throughout the world.

He will also repeat the ether drift experiment of 1924-25 which studied the effect of the rotation of the earth on the velocity of light, confirming on completion certain parts of the Einstein theory.

Professor Michelson resigned in 1925, the chairmanship of the Department of Physics, to become the first Distinguished Service Professor of the University of Chicago, remaining consulting head of the department. He was the first American scientist to win the Noble prize in Physics, which was awarded him in 1907, and the first of three famous Jews to so distinguish themselves in Physics as to be awarded this outstanding prize. He is a member of many of the learned societies of Europe and America, and is now President of the National Academy of Sciences.

Despite his age, Prof. Michelson has continued active work. During the past year he has lectured at the University of Chicago, supervised the work of advanced students, and has published a new book "Studies in Optics."

The conference will plan a year's work, the aim of which will be the expansion of the Hadassah medical social service in Palestine and the spread of education in Zionist aims among Jews in America. One of the important items on the agenda will be Hadassah's participation in the United Palestine Appeal for $7,500,000.

Hadassah plans to raise $600,000 in 1927 for its work in Palestine.

sections which are spreading throughout the country, was sounded today by Luigi Luzzatti, the venerable Italian Jewish statesman, former prime minister of Italy, in a statement issued to the representative of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency here.

The death of the Jewish student David Falik in Czernowitz, the anti-Jewish excesses in Kalarash, Kishineff and in Bucharest calls for action. The Roumanian government is endeavoring only half heartedly to counteract the anti-Semitic agitation, Luzzatti declared.

Speaking of Alexander Cuza, leader of the anti-Semitic movement, the former prime minister declared that if he were to follow the example of many Roumanians who regard Cuza merely as a lunatic, he would be showing the anti-Semitic leader too much tolerance.

BREVITIES

An experiment in religious education was tried in El Paso, Texas, on December 12, when two classes composed of High School boys attending the First Presbyterian Church of that city, Rev. Floyd P. Lee, pastor, came over to Temple Mt. Sinai of which Rabbi Martin Zielonka is the rabbi, to join the Bible class of that synagogue for instruction on that Sunday. Before the presentation, Miss Loeb spoke at the Temple B'nai Israel in the Temple Club, McKeesport, on "A Home for Every Child."

URGE GREEK GOVERNMENT TO HALT ANTI-JEWISH OUTBREAKS IN SALONICA

whose parents were killed in a battle in Asia Minor.

The correspondent of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency in Salonica recently explained the result of the parliamentary elections in the following manner: "How did the Communists achieve their unexpected victory? How is it that of 10,000 Jewish electors, 4,000 were carried away by the Communists? The answer is quite simply this—that the bloc of the Jewish political union was not a bloc. Divisions in the camp, Zionists and Mizrachists on the one hand, the supports of the Alliance assimilators on the other, together with the indifference of the bourgeoisie, made possible the 'Communist surprise.' It has caused consternation among the Jews and indignation rose spontaneously in all classes of the Jewish population who at bottom are an element of law and order."
