EDUCATORS URGE CURTAILING OF PUBLIC SCHOOL HOURS FOR RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION

Activities Should Reflect Jewish
Values, Dr. Soltes Tells Centers
(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Atlantic City, N. J., June 2.—A resolution urging public school authorities to shorten school hours so as to make room for religious training was referred to the Executive Committee at a joint meeting of the National Council for Jewish Education and the National Association of Jewish Community Center Secretaries held at the Ritz Carlton Hotel here.

The resolution was offered by Dr. Emanuel Gamoran of Chicago, well known American Jewish educator and director of school extension of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. The resolution expressed opposition to "any form of religious instruction within the public school building during school hours."

Dr. Mordecai Soltes, director of Jewish Extension Education of the Jewish Welfare Board, who spoke on the subject of Jewish Extension Education for the Youth and Adult, listed thirty different types of smaller group and mass activities of a Jewish nature included in the Center program. He indicated that the most popular activities are mass celebration of Jewish holidays, lectures on Jewish topics and concerts of Jewish music, conduct of classes in Jewish subjects.

Concerning the place of the Jewish element in the Center program, Dr. Soltes said: "Some organizations have found it more efficient from the point

TURKISH JEWS DIVIDED ON MIXED CHOIR ISSUE

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Constantinople, June 2.—The modernization of Turkey has had its reaction on the religious life of the Jewish community, calling forth an issue which a century ago troubled Jewish congregations in Western Europe. The issue was whether or not a mixed choir should be permitted in the synagogue.

The Council of the Jewish Community of Haidar Pasha decided to establish a mixed choir for the religious service in the synagogue. The Rabbinical Council of Turkey, consulted on this question, pronounced itself against a mixed choir on the ground that the Jewish religion does not permit it.

The Communal Council persisted in its project and the choir was formed in spite of the prohibition of the religious tribunal. On the evening of the inauguration of the choir, the Chief Rabbi of the community, who is a member of the religious tribunal, retired from the Synagogue as a sign of protest.

FORD AGAIN SUED FOR LIBEL BY DETROIT JEW

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Detroit, Mich., June 2.—Joseph Miller, Jewish real estate dealer of Detroit, filed a suit for $200,000 damages against Henry Ford and the "Dearborn Independent," as a result of the $1,000,000 suit brought by Aaron Sapiro, which was declared a mistrial.

Miller charges Ford and others with having attempted "maliciously and wilfully" to injure his good name and bring him "into public scandal by causing him to be suspected of having attempted to corrupt a jury" in the Ford-Sapiro suit.

Charges that Miller was seen talking to Mrs. Cora Hoffman, one of the jurors in the Sapiro suit, were made the basis of a motion for a mistrial in the case.

Statements concerning his conversation with Mrs. Hoffman were made by Ford agents, Miller declares and were published in Detroit, Chicago and New York newspapers. These statements, Miller alleges, accused him of having had secret conferences with Sapiro and accused him also of having invited Mrs. Hoffman to dinner "to talk things over."

COMMUNIST M. P. CHARGES
PALESTINE GOVERNMENT
REPRISALS AGAINST LABOR

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, June 2.—Charges against the Palestine police for reprisals against labor on May Day were formulated in the House of Commons yesterday by the Communist member of the House, S. Saklatvala.

Replying to a question raised by Mr. Saklatvala, who charged that a number of Palestine workers were arrested, wounded and imprisoned, Col. Amery stated that the police took action to prevent illegal demonstrations which would have been embarrassing to the government. The result was that no demonstration was held in Haifa and only minor incidents occurred in Jerusalem. The charge concerning Tel Aviv, where 12 were said to have been injured and a number arrested, is unknown to him, the secretary stated.

Mr. Saklatvala then asked why a proceeding which is legitimate in Britain is not permissible in Palestine. The Colonial Secretary replied that conditions in Palestine are different.

Saklatvala further asked what charge was brought against Arie Kart, who was sentenced to 50 days imprisonment and recommended for deportation. Amery replied that Kart was tried for participation in an illegal assembly, interfering with the police and for membership in an illegal organization.

Johannesburg, May 4.—A Jewish Community Chest for local and foreign charities is planned by South African Jewry.

The Board, having been asked by one of its Constituent Bodies to organize these collections in a satisfactory manner, decided to refer the matter to the Executive Committee for further consideration.

Roumania's Apologia

Roumania's attempt to justify herself in the reported memorandum to the League against the charges of anti-Jewish excesses and continuous mistreatment of the Jewish population in that country, is viewed by the Jewish press as merely a repetition of her previous attempts at evasion and self-vindication.

Nevertheless the very fact that Roumania has found it necessary to submit a memorandum on the subject to the League is regarded by the "Day" as an indication that the Roumanian government has begun to feel the pressure of Jewish public opinion.

Regarding Roumania's objection to intervention by foreign Jews, the "Day" makes a proposal to the Roumanian Government that if it stops its anti-Semitic policy, the Jews of America will cease "interfering." The paper writes: "We find in the memorandum of the Roumanian Government the well-known Roumanian tactics, the old, outworn, empty Roumanian excuses. Nevertheless, the memorandum constitutes a slight sign for the better. Apparently Bucharest has begun to feel that Roumania does not profit from its unbridled anti-Semitic policy. Roumania knows well enough that her complaint that Jews in Roumania provoke social unrest will make no impression abroad. For where else is it known so well as in Roumania that these complaints are false? Let the Roumanian Government invite an impartial commission of the League of Nations to investigate this alleged Jewish propensity. The Roumanian Government will not do this because it knows that an impartial commission would disclose a different picture. Such a commission would find that the Jewish population in Roumania is thoroughly peaceful and a guiltless victim of a systematic provocation, which is supported by the Government; it would find that a systematic propaganda is going on in Roumania's high circles as well as in the universities where it finds violent expression; it would find that Roumania's whole officialdom is saturated with Jew-baiting and that anti-Semitism is the daily policy throughout the country."

"The Roumanian Government objects to protests on the part of Jewish public opinion abroad. We American Jews are prepared to drive a 'bargain' with the Roumanian Government. Let her stop her anti-Semitic policy and we will cease to interfere in her 'internal affairs.' If Roumania still retains any decency, at least a little wisdom, she will accept our proposal."

The "Jewish Daily News" observes: "Roumania holds that excesses are an internal affair concerning only herself. She feels that she can do whatever she pleases with her Jews. In this interpre-

SCIENTISTS COLLECT DATA ON JEWISH ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency Mail Service)

Berlin, June 2.—Data on the economic life of the Jews in Russia is now being compiled by a committee consisting of forty economists and statisticians formed at the end of 1926 for this purpose.

J. Zegelnitsky, representative of the Ori Central Board in Moscow, issued a statement on the progress of the work.

The Committee is dealing with the dynamics of the Jewish population in Soviet Russia, the social and professional distribution of the population, agriculture and the new Jewish settlements, trades and small industries and credit cooperation financing it, Jews in commerce, vocational training among the Jews, and the economic position of the Jews in the townships.

The Committee has collected material from various organizations and State Departments. By January data on the Jewish demography and the distribution of occupations among the Jews had been studied. The data on the movements of the Jewish population in Russia for 26 years, 1897 to 1923, are ready to go to press and it is expected that in the coming three months data in the general Russian census carried out in 1926 will be placed at the disposal of the Committee. Statistics on the occupations of the Jews in the Ukraine and White Russia will also be published shortly.

tation lies an admission that Roumania is not dealing with her Jews as she should. When someone says, you must not interfere in my affairs, it is an indication that those affairs are not in the best order. No matter what Roumania may think of intervention by Jews, the Jews feel that there is no way for them but to bring their complaint to the League of Nations. The Jews of the world are bound together with the bonds of blood and unity of faith and therefore it is natural that they should be the ones to carry the protest against the persecution of their fellow Jews to the League of Nations."

Doubt as to the truth of the report of the "Neue Freie Presse" of Vienna regarding Roumania's memorandum to the League is voiced in the "Jewish Morning Journal," by Jacob Fishman. "If, however," Mr. Fishman proceeds, "the report is true, then more importance attaches to the protest note or memorandum of the League of Nations to which Roumania answered than to Roumania's memorandum. We have not heard until now that the League of Nations had sent such a note to Roumania, although the Secretariat of the League accepted the protest which Lucien Wolf submitted in the name of the Anglo-Jewish Association and the Board of Deputies. If the League of Nations did send a note to Roumania, it would be interesting to ascertain the contents of that note. That would be more important than Roumania's answer which we could have guessed in advance."

ZIONIST OPPOSITION MARSHALS ITS FORCES FOR BASLE CONGRESS

Statement in European Press Gives Views of Minority Leaders; Charges Jewish Agency Policy Failed

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency Mail Service)

Berlin, May 21.—The views of the oppositional element within the Zionist movement, indicating the course this faction will take at the forthcoming Zionist Congress, were summarized in a statement issued here by leaders of the Zionist opposition.

The statement represents the views of what was termed a conference of Zionist opposition press. Representatives of Zionist oppositional publications in European countries and Palestine were present. Dr. M. Soloveitchik and Richard Lichtheim presided.

The statement attacks the Jewish Agency plan and criticizes sharply the attitude of the British government. It urges the Zionist leaders to present "the dangers of the situation" to the Zionist public and advocates a definite break with the policy pursued up to now.

"The failure of the Jewish Agency policy," the statement alleges, "in the organizational and financial fields, and the absence of any prospect of obtaining concrete results in the near future, as is admitted by the Executive itself, demonstrates the futility of this policy which has been for years demoralizing the Zionist Organization. In opposition to this illusory and unpromising method of bringing about the basically necessary inclusion of non-Zionist circles in the work of upbuilding Palestine, this Conference puts forward the only possible method of entering into economic cooperation with the non-Zionists in all institutions in Palestine in which they are prepared to give definite assistance, while at the same time fully safeguarding the sovereign rights of the Zionist Congress."

"Outwardly, the attitude of the British Government and the Administration in Palestine is, as hitherto, most unsatisfactory. In spite of certain small concessions in individual questions the British Administration persists in its policy of passive neutrality towards the Jewish upbuilding work. The Zionist Executive has done nothing definite in order to effect a change in this attitude. On the contrary it declares itself satisfied with it and had even allowed—through the tendency apparent in leading Zionist circles to surrender the fundamental Zionist aim of forming a Jewish majority in Palestine—the endangering of the decisive political aims of the movement. In contradistinction to this, the Conference regards it as an indispensable primary condition for the speed and the dimensions of our colonization work that the British Administration in Palestine should create the necessary political and politico-economic pre-conditions for our upbuilding work."

"In place of the policy of the White Paper," the statement continues, "which retards our colonization work, there must be a policy of active support of our upbuilding work to which the British

LITHUANIAN JEWS RESENT "LE FIGARO'S" ATTACK ON SHOLOM SCHWARTZBARD

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Kovno, June 2.—The attack on Sholom Schwartzbard by "Le Figaro", which is owned by the French perfume manufacturer, Coty, called forth wide resentment in eastern Europe.

In consequence of the attack, many Jews are boycotting Coty's perfumes. Melnik, a Jewish manufacturer here, returned a flacon of perfumes to the French manufacturer. In his letter, Melnik stated that he had used Coty's preparations since he had been in business but he was giving them up and advised his friends to act similarly.

ish Government is pledged on the ground of the Mandate. It must bear joint responsibility for the reconstruction of the Jewish National Home and must provide for the active support of this principle in the Statute Book, especially in agrarian questions, taxation and customs laws, as well as in granting public concessions. In view of the unsatisfactory position of the Defence system in Palestine, we stand for the carrying out of the demand of the Vaad Leumi for the creation of a Jewish unit within the Palestine Defence Force. This Conference is convinced that by means of a systematic, determined and conscious policy in London and in other political centres, which is at present completely lacking, it will be possible to obtain important successes in this regard.

"The economic crisis and the obvious errors in the economic and financial situation in Palestine, have shown that the Executive, which has for years been propagating a diminution of the political work and a concentration on purely economic work, has now withdrawn from the economic field also. Even if there are essential reasons for the difficult position in the country, due to the lack of the political and financial conditions, the Executive still bears the responsibility for many of the mistakes which have been made. It has in particular failed to understand the important task devolving upon it of carrying on the work of colonization on the basis of a systematic plan."

"On all these grounds, this Conference regards it as essential that the dangers of the position should be made clear to Zionist public opinion, so that it should be able to realize that the policy of liquidating the political aims and activity must lead to a crippling of the Organization, by reason of the continuing policy of compromise and the weakness and the lack of co-ordination in the economic and financial work in Palestine, and thus to a continuing breakdown of the Movement and of the upbuilding work. Nothing but a decisive rejection of the methods pursued hitherto and a definite change in the Zionist leadership is able to bring about a revival of the movement and the regaining of the confidence of the Jewish people, which will lead to an increase in our financial means and an extension of our colonization work," the opposition contends.

EDUCATORS URGE PROVISION FOR RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION

of view of administration to concentrate in the hands of an educational director or director of Jewish activities, the responsibilities involved in initiating, promoting and conducting the specifically Jewish activities. While this is a step in the right direction, it should not be misinterpreted to mean that the Jewish element is to be isolated and limited to a few Jewish courses conducted independently of the rest of the program. The progressive executive attempts consciously to extract Jewish values from the entire program, for every phase of the work may be made to yield elements of Jewish educational value.

"This is comparable to the situation regarding the teaching of civics in the public schools. The old-fashioned practice was to offer a course in civics for thirty minutes or one hour a week. The subject matter usually consisted of the teaching of the forms and functions of the Municipal, State and Federal Governments. Today an entirely different point of view prevails. It is realized that the entire school activity of the pupils, including all the subjects of the curriculum as well as the extra curricular activities may, if properly stimulated, be made to yield elements of civic value. Similarly in the case of the Jewish Center. The entire gamut of activities should be made to reflect Jewish values. The Jewish element, forming an integral part of the general program, should, as far as possible, occupy a central position. It should touch, influence and grow out of all the activities conducted in the Center."

Dr. Soltes concluded with a detailed discussion of the program materials for older groups prepared by the youth organizations, and explained the policies by which the Jewish Welfare Board was guided in this work.

Tel-Aviv "On Trial"

Mr. Lerner, director of the Finance Department, stated in his report on the financial situation submitted to the Tel Aviv Municipal Council.

The future, he said, still causes anxiety and further economies are necessary. There is, however, a decided improvement. The revenue of the Municipality during the last three months was as follows: In January £4,900; in February £6,080; and in March £6,140.

There are at present 84 employees in the Municipality with a total monthly salary of £1,170, while in December there were 116 employees receiving £1,600 monthly.

A census recently taken by the police in Tel Aviv shows that 2,000 rooms are vacant out of a total of 21,000 rooms in the city.
