GUILTY OF FRAUD, ROUMANIAN STUDENT LEADERS ARE SUS- PENDED FROM UNIVERSITY

Action Follows Complaint of Roumanian
Legation in Rome
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Bucharest, Jan. 24.—Four Roumanian student leaders, accused of fraud, were suspended from the University of Bucharest for one year by an order of the University Senate.

The four constituted the delegation representing Roumanian student organizations at the International Student Congress which was recently held in Rome. According to a report of the "Dreptatea" it was established that the delegation, although it received a subsidy of 240,000 lei from the government, did not pay its hotel bills in Rome. One of the delegation was accused of stealing a diamond from a Roman jeweller and was arrested on the basis of this charge.

The action against the students was taken at the complaint of the Roumanian legation at Rome, which stated that their behavior harmed the good name of Roumania.

SUPPRESS RABBI'S SERMON ON DESECRATED HOLY SCROLLS

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Bucharest, Jan. 24.—The publication of a sermon by Chief Rabbi Keskemethy of Oradea on the desecration of the Holy Scrolls was prevented by the Roumanian authorities.

The Chief Rabbi, who delivered an address at the burial exercises of the desecrated Holy Scrolls on December 29, was urged by members of the Kehillah who were prevented from attending, to print his sermon in pamphlet form. The manuscript was submitted to the censor who refused permission for publication. The Chief Rabbi then appealed to Minister Tatarescu who asked the Rabbi to refrain from publishing this address.

The recommendation was made by the French Academy in accordance with a request submitted to it by the Nobel Prize Committee.

COMZET PROPOSES LARGE SIBERIAN AREA TO BE USED FOR JEWISH COLONIZATION

Tract of 2½ Million Hectares Asked for Settling 1,000,000 Jews
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Jan. 24.—A request that the regions of Bir and Birdschan, Siberia, be set aside for the purposes of Jewish colonization work was directed by the Comzet, governmental department for settling Jews on the land, to the All Russian Committee for Transmigrants. The Committee has charge over the unsettled areas which are to be allocated for colonization work.

Commenting upon this decision of the Comzet, "Der Emess," Communist Yiddish daily, heralds it as a new page in the history of the Jewish working masses. The Birdschan region has a great future for Jewish land settlement, the paper states. The area consists of two and a half million hectares, the present population consisting mainly of Russians and Koreans, numbers 27,000. The project, when realized will include the concentration of one million Jews in an area which has an excellent climate and soil capable of the cultivation of wheat, rice, grapes and is only several hours journey from Charabowsk and 940 kilometers from Vladivostok.

MACHPELA NOT ACCESSIBLE TO NON-MOSLEMS, MOSLEM SUPREME COUNCIL DECLARES

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Jan. 24.—The bar against non-Moslems entering the Machpela, the Cave of the Patriarchs, has not been lifted, the Moslem Supreme Council declared in a statement to the representative of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency here.

According to a report current here ten days ago the prohibition had been lifted by the Moslem Supreme Council. The cave is located near Hebron and is one of Palestine's Holy Sites held by the Moslems. In the twelfth century the cave of the Machpela began to attract visitors and pilgrims. It is concealed by a mosque which was formerly a church built by the crusaders in the twelfth century and restored by the Arabs.

AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGICAL EXPEDITION WILL LEAVE FOR PALESTINE FEBRUARY 1

Dr. Grant and Associates Seek Traces of Philistine History
(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Haverford, Pa., Jan. 24. — Elihu Grant, professor of Biblical literature at Haverford College and noted authority on Palestinian peoples, announced the formation of an archeological expedition under the auspices of the college.

The expedition will seek to uncover the ruins of the ancient Philistine city of Beth Shamesh, about twenty miles west of Jerusalem and near the modern village of Ain Shems. It is situated on the railroad line between Jerusalem and Jaffa and is in the valley of the Sorek River.

According to Dr. Grant, the work to be carried out there should prove of considerable value in solving the Philistine problem that has long baffled archeologists and historians. Little is known of the origin or culture of the Philistine people. What is known, says Dr. Grant, is largely contained in the Old Testament, and has the disadvantage of having been written by their enemies and eventual conquerors, the ancient Hebrews.

Dr. Grant says old Testament writers were extremely biased in their views of Philistines, inasmuch as these people were a constant menace to the stability of the weak and struggling Hebrew State first established in the

Lynn and Pittsfield Jewish Communities Have Fine Record of Activities (Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Lynn, Mass.—Jan. 24.—With the erection of the Temple Beth El the Jewish community of Lynn has five Orthodox synagogues and one Reform Temple. The Congregation Anshe Sfard is one of the oldest synagogues in Lynn. It has secured a new rabbi from Paterson, N. J. The other synagogues are Congregation Ahabat Sholem, Congregation Argudas Achim, Congregation Agudas Israel, Congregation Bnai Jacob and the Temple Beth El. Its spiritual leaders are: Rabbi Osur Wolf, Werner, Rabbi Essrog, Rabbi Wolf Gam and Rabbi Raphael Goldstein.

Of the city's population of 110,000 about 5 per cent is Jewish, and in every profession and business these 3,000 are well represented.

Five Jewish organizations receive support from the Community Fund. They are the Y.M.H.A., Orphan's Relief, Ladies Aid Society, Ladies Sheltering Hand and Associated Charities.

The Lynn Y.M.H.A. is the community center which houses practically every Jewish organization. Philip Smith is president of the organization. The Young Women's Hebrew Association has grown under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Feinstein.

Plans are under way for the erection of a $50,000 auditorium for the Hebrew school. The land was bought by the Ladies Hebrew School auxiliary of which Mrs. Louis Ravin is president.

The Jews of Lynn have nearly raised their quota of $25,000 for the United Jewish Campaign and the drive for $15,000 for the United Palestine Appeal will be held soon.

Charles Goldman, vice-president of the Y.M.H.A. and Temple Beth El, is the recognized leader of the Jewish community and one of the largest contributors to national and local funds. Associated with him is Henry Yozell, chairman of the Jewish Relief Drive; Michael Zack, chairman of the license commission, and vice-president of the Y.M.H.A.; Gabriel Mendelsohn of the Zionist Organization; Jacob Finkle, chairman of the Newsboys scholarship board; Joseph Butman, president of the

The Jewish associations in Lynn are: Young Men's Hebrew Association, Young Women's Hebrew Association, Junior Haddassah, Senior Haddassah, Bud Haddassah, Young Girls' Hebrew Association, Primroses' Girls, Orphan Relief, Jewish Relief, Zionists, Boy Scouts, Jecomen Club, Congregation Anshe Sfard Daughters of Israel, Ladies Hebrew School Auxiliary, Ladies Helping Hand Society, Ladies Aid Society, Young Men's Hebrew Aid Association, Menorah Club, Sisterhood of Temple Beth.

Pittsfield, Jan. 24.—Pittsfield, located in the heart of the beautiful Berkshire Hills, has one of the oldest Jewish settlements in Massachusetts. Jewish life in Pittsfield traces its origins to the arrival of three of its pioneers, Joseph R. Newman, Moses England and Louis England in the year 1857. This small group was later augmented by the arrival of other Jews of German origin who soon numbered eighteen or more families and who founded the first Jewish congregation of Pittsfield, the Society of Anshe Anonim, in the year 1869. For some years the members of this group met in each others homes for religious observance until the year 1882, when the society occupied rooms at the corner of North and Fenn Sts. The congregation continued to worship in various halls, which they had furnished as a synagogue until February of 1927, at which time the growth of the congregation made possible the establishment of its own synagogue building. The services of the society were conducted in Hebrew but since 1904, the Union Prayer Book has been used. Rabbi Harry Kaplan is the spiritual leader of the congregation.

This original settlement later grew with the coming of the successive waves of Russian-Jewish immigration. The new arrivals organized the Orthodox congregation, Keneseth Israel, in the year 1894 and occupied their present house of worship in 1906. Another Orthodox congregation Ahavath Sholem, was founded in 1911 and established its synagogue in 1915. Rabbi Morris Fuhrman ministers to both of the Orthodox congregations.

The present Jewish population of Pittsfield is estimated as 1500. The Jewish citizens are active in all phases of civic and communal life and are numbered among the city's leading men. Simon England is prominent in the Pittsfield Community Chest, is a member of the City High School Commission, a member of the board of the Y.M.C.A. and is also treasurer and one of the organizers of the Jewish Community Chest. George A. Newman, the present president of the Society Anshe Anonim, is also active in the work of

ADVOCATES AMALGAMATION OF NEW YORK AND BROOKLYN FEDERATIONS

East River New Demarkation Line for Social Service Leagues, James J. Brooke Urges in Statement; Outlines Plan for Greater Effectiveness Throughout City Boroughs

The amalgamation of the Brooklyn and New York Federations into one Jewish community chest for Greater New York, including the five boroughs without distinction as to geographic location, was advocated by James J. Brooke, member of the Board of Directors of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities and prominent communal worker in the borough of Brooklyn, in an interview with a representative of the Jewish Daily Bulletin.

The proposal to amalgamate the two Federations, periodically renewed during the last few years, was viewed by Mr. Brooke as a far sighted and progressive measure dictated by the needs of the growing city.

"It matters little from what side of the East River the cry for help emanates. As Jews, it should be our bounden duty to answer the call to furnish aid in whatever direction it is required," Mr. Brooke stated, in advocating the abolition of geographic divisions within the city. "Besides, the constant fluctuation of Jewish population groups which is being effected through migration from borough to borough, including both the prosperous and the poor, makes all geographic lines of division an absurdity. Under these conditions, it is futile to attempt to fix an obligation upon one borough which is in reality an obligation of the community at large, embracing the entire Greater New York."

Arguing on the basis of the fact alleged to be known to many observers of Jewish welfare work in the city that close to fifty percent of the welfare work which is being carried on in behalf of the Jewish population is outside the control of the supervision of either the Brooklyn or Manhattan Federation, Mr. Brooke said that "It would be a measure toward efficiency and effectiveness to provide for the progressive inclusion into the amalgamated Federation of such Jewish welfare institutions and societies as may be deemed fit both during and after the amalgamation."

"The new Federation, representing all the boroughs of Greater New York, should be constituted on a widely democratic basis so as to provide representation to all those elements who are liberally contributing towards the greater budget of the necessary institutions.

"It is time that the efforts in behalf of the needy be coordinated under systematic administration centralized under supervision of leaders of the several boroughs so that we may once and for all eliminate the possibility of some of our wealthy Jews avoiding their responsibility by claiming support in either one or the other borough and in the confusion of things, escape their just responsibility.

"Local pride and narrow provincialism are largely responsible for the great waste of energy and duplication of effort as well as the tremendous expense that results from such duplication. For years, two organizations engaged in the same charitable activities, appraising each other in the endeavor to raise funds aiming to relieve the needy of this great city, have conducted what appears to be a competitive appeals system, apparently unable to realize the crying need for cooperation.

"It is my firm belief that a truly representative directorate, embodying in its membership the leaders in Jewish endeavor, will tend to present a truly united Jewry capable of administering to the handicapped, deficient and needy in a manner that befits a community having the largest Jewish population in the country and perhaps in the world.

"With such a coordinated body, were the two principal fund raising organizations of this city to unite their efforts, it would be possible to include a number of unaffiliated societies who are now conducting independent campaigns and are continually harassing the generous minded Jews of this city. It is high time that we take cognizance of the continuous procession of drives, appeals, dinners and bazaars for one purpose or another, making their appeal to the spotted few. We can no longer sit idly by and permit unscientific disorganized hit and miss effort to exist and must either take definite steps to remedy the evil or frankly admit our impotency and inability to cope with the situation.

"We are living in an age of centralization. Cooperation is the keynote of our business enterprises and we should therefore take a leaf from the experiences of commercial enterprises as a guide for our activities in philanthropic endeavors.

"It is a well known fact that many more can be enlisted in the ranks of the givers were a more comprehensive program worked out and methods devised by which we will be able to reach those who are now avoiding their responsibility.

"We are fast approaching the stage when the leaders in Jewry must face the challenge to either unite and sustain their

PALESTINE EXPORTS MORE ORANGES DURING YEAR 1927

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jaffa, Jan. 24. — A feature of the present season of orange export was the shipment of oranges to Germany and France in appreciable quantities, according to the Commercial Bulletin of the Department of Customs, Excise and Trade. While in 1926 no oranges were exported to Germany and only 170 cases to France, the export for the past year included 19,719 cases to Germany and 2,465 to France.

An increase in the number of cases was also shown in the shipments to other countries of export. During 1926 173,835 cases were shipped to the United Kingdom. During 1927 the number was 235,748. Five thousand cases were shipped to Italy and 70 to Roumania during the past year. In 1926 no shipments were made to these two countries. Egypt received 37,287 cases in 1927 as compared with 32,303 in the previous year. The shipments to Syria fell off entirely during the past year. In 1926 678 cases were shipped.

The Jaffa orange export season started early in October. The English markets were overloaded with fruit lacking in color, some also showing waste. Prices therefore dropped. Orange exporters have since taken steps to regulate shipments in order to avoid considerable loss to the trade and as a result the demand for Jaffas' and prices have improved.

The South African orange season finishes early in November and oranges from this source do not compete with the Jaffa orange which enters the British market in October. The Empire oranges which continue to arrive on the market, together with the Jaffa oranges are the Jamaica fruit, the last shipment of which reached Avonmouth towards the end of November.

Spanish oranges continue to be the strongest competitor of the Jaffa fruit. Shipments from the Valencia district continue heavy, 906,317 half cases being imported into British ports up to the end of November. Shipments during December show an increase over the preceding month; but it is reported that packing has been interrupted for a while in the Ribera district owing to spells of rain and hail. The Ribera district supplies a large part of the early Spanish oranges.

The Hebrew prophets, horrified at the idol worship of the Philistines and in perpetual fear that their own people would forget God in a worship more pleasing to the senses also held up these people to scorn as a race despised of God.

It is known, however, that the Philistines were a trading people, possibly related to the Phoenicians, with a league of commercial cities. As Beth Shean was one of the metropolitan centres of Philistine life, Dr. Grant is of the opinion that the Haverford expedition will uncover hitherto unknown facts concerning their culture and the manners and customs of their daily lives.

Dr. Grant is preparing to sail from New York on February 1. In Jerusalem he will be joined by Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, adviser of the American School of Oriental Research, and by Neale Carlisle, an American student now engaged in archaeological research in Paris. A Palestinian and four Egyptian archaeological experts, who will assist in the direction of the field work, have been secured, and these, with the native laborers, will complete the party. Digging is expected to begin by March 1.

The mask of the Ku Klux Klan will be universally discarded Feb. 22, according to the "Sunday News" and "Age Herald" of Birmingham, Ala.

This action will be taken, the newspapers say, as the result of action taken at a meeting in Montgomery last week between Dr. Hiram W. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Order, and high State officials of the Alabama Realm.

The reasons for the action, it is said, are the opposition to the mask inside and outside the order, and the desire to forestall further State and municipal legislation against the order.

Announcement of a campaign which will start February 5 for the purpose of raising $100,000 among Hartford Jews for the construction of a new building for the Hebrew Women's Home for Children was made this Thursday at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Home.

Alfred M. Silberman is chairman of the campaign committee.

The reports submitted showed that while expenses of the fiscal year amounted to $32,631 the home used only $28,442 of the $30,965 allotted to it by the Community Chest. The remainder of the home's expenditures it was explained was provided for by outside contributions.

Rabbi Herbert Parzen, formerly of Temple Aaron, St. Paul, Minn., has been called to occupy the pulpit of Congregation Ahavai Shalom of Portland, Oregon. Rabbi Parzen has already assumed his duties at his new post.

The annual meeting of the New York Branch of the Women's League will take place on January 31, in the Vestry rooms of Congregation Sha'ar Zedek, New York City.

United Jewish Campaign and the United Palestine Appeal, the campaign for Baltimore's quota of $750,000 has been extended to January 26. It has been planned to end the campaign on Monday, January 23.

A number of contributions have been received from non-Jews, although they are not being canvassed.

Included in the half-million dollars are a large number of subscriptions obtained in the counties of Maryland, where the campaign is also being conducted.

The clearest proof that all the fine words about religious liberty in the United States are not mere words would be the nomination of Governor Minnow of New York for president, Rabbi David Philipson of the Rockdale Temple, Cincinnati, declared in his sermon Sunday.

"No man, be he Catholic, Protestant or Jew, should be discriminated against from a political standpoint. It is my hope that Government should not be nominated, if for no other reason than to demonstrate that in this country a man's religious opinion does not make him ineligible to nomination to the highest office in the land," Rabbi Philipson said.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Celia Fleisher, music and art patron, who died at her home in Philadelphia on Saturday will be held today. She was in her eightieth year.

Mrs. Fleisher sponsored recitals as a member of the first ladies' Board of Directors of the founders of the Philadelphia Orchestra. She was an Honorary Vice President of the organization. She was also a member and founder of the Civic Club, Vice President of the Philadelphia Council of Jewish Women and a member of the Women's Committee at the Columbia Exposition in 1892.
