FELIX WARBURG TO ATTEND BOSTON UNITED PALESTINE APPEAL CONFERENCE

Presence of Zionist Leader Seen as
First Step in Unity Between
Zionists and Non-Zionists

What is regarded as the most important outcome to date of the Non-Zionist Conference held on October 21 in New York City is the announcement made by Judge William M. Lewis, National Chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, that Felix Warburg, member of the Joint Palestine Survey Commission, and outstanding non-Zionist leader, who took a prominent part in the proceedings of the non-Zionist Conference, will be present at the National Conference on Palestine, to be held under the auspices of the United Palestine Appeal on Saturday evening, November 10 and Sunday, November 11 at the Hotel Statler in the city of Boston. Judge Lewis' announcement followed upon a meeting between Mr. Warburg and a delegation of national leaders of the United Palestine Appeal. The news that Mr. Warburg had accepted the invitation of the delegation to attend and address the United Palestine Appeal Conference was hailed with enthusiasm in Zionist circles.

In making public the fact that Mr. Warburg would attend the Boston meeting, Judge Lewis emphasized the importance of the philanthropist's presence at the Conference, as indicating the desire of the Non-Zionist group to affiliate with the effort for promoting the work of upbuilding Palestine. In his announcement, Judge Lewis said:

"It is a privilege to announce, on behalf of the United Palestine Appeal leaders who waited upon him, that Mr. Felix Warburg has accepted our invitation to be present at the United Palestine Appeal Conference to be held in Boston on Saturday evening, November 10 and Sunday, November 11. All those interested in the rebuilding of Palestine will be glad to note that Mr. Warburg will lend his prestige to the united fund-raising agency for Palestine."

"Mr. Warburg's warm interest in the reconstruction of Palestine has long

ZIONIST ORGANIZATION APPEALS TO THE LEAGUE ON WESTERN WALL ISSUE

Full Text of Zionist Executive Memorandum in Which Jewish Right of Access Is Demanded; Sets Forth Details of Incident on Yom Kippur, Describes Jewish Reverence for Holy Place Throughout Generations

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Geneva, Nov. 1.—The full text of the memorandum on the Western Wall issue addressed by Col. Frederick H. Kisch, political representative of the Jerusalem Zionist Executive, for the President of the Zionist Organization, to the Secretary General of the League of Nations for consideration by the Permanent Mandates Commission was obtained by the representative of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency here. The memorandum was addressed, in accordance with the Mandates procedure, to the Acting High Commissioner of Palestine, H. C. Luke, for transmission to the Secretary General of the League.

The document, which represents the appeal of the Jewish people to the nations of the world for the full protection of their right to their Holy Places in the land of their fathers, demands that the Mandates Commission take immediate steps to find a solution to the problem. The full text follows:

"On behalf of the Executive of the Zionist Organization, which is recognized as the Jewish Agency for Palestine in Article 4 of the Palestine Mandate, I have the honor to request that this petition may be transmitted through the proper channels to the Secretary General of the League of Nations for the information of the Permanent Mandates Commission.

"2. The petition relates to a deplorable incident which recently occurred in Jerusalem on the Jewish Day of Atonement, which has caused the most painful impression throughout the Jewish world.

"About 9 a. m. on the Jewish Day of Atonement, falling on September 24, 1928, British police, acting on orders received from the Deputy District Commissioner of Jerusalem, broke through the crowded worshippers at the Kotel-scheron, generally known as the Walling Wall, and effected the removal of a portable screen which had been set up the previous evening. The screen separated men and women at worship, in accordance with the traditional Jewish religious rite, but did not interfere with the right of way. The entreaties of the worshippers that the removal of the screen be postponed until the conclusion of the Services and the Fast of the Day of Atonement were ignored. In carrying out the order to remove the screen, the police thrust aside, and, as was perhaps inevitable for the execution of the order, knocked down several aged worshippers, men and women. One worshipper holding on to the screen was dragged along the ground.

"The identical screen had been in use in the same position ten days previously on the Feast of the Jewish New Year, without any complaint or protest having been communicated to any Jewish authority.

"3. The Government of Palestine in an official communique have justified the action taken, on the grounds that the screen and its attachment to the pavement constituted an infraction of the status quo which the Government was unable to permit, and that the boulder in charge of the arrangements for the conduct of the Services at the Wall had been instructed, on the eve of the Day of Atonement, that the screen would have to be removed before the Services on the following day.

"The Executive regret that they can not be satisfied with this explanation, and maintain that no formal departure from previous custom as regards ceremonial arrangements for religious Services at the Wall could justify the use of police for aggressive action at such a place and on such a day. Nor can the Zionist Organization admit that any error on the part of a mere caretaker,

RUSSIAN YESHIVA IN NEVEL SUBSIDIZED BY AMERICANS, CLOSED

Leaders of Orthodox Education Arrested, Report Says

The Rosta report declares that "Jewish capitalists abroad subsidized the Yeshiva." Three kehillahs, which have maintained Chedarim have been liquidated and the Houses of Study converted into Communist clubs.

BERLIN PAPER DEFENDS ITS REPORTS ON ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS IN HUNGARY

Correspondent of "Vossische Zeitung" Barred from Hungary
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Nov. 1.—A controversy over the veracity of reports sent by the correspondent of the German Ullstein news agency has developed between the "Vossische Zeitung," leading German newspaper, and the "Pester-Lloyd," leading Hungarian newspaper, published in Germany.

The "Pester-Lloyd," in a recent issue attacked the Berlin newspaper as having published what it terms "tendencious untruths" concerning the anti-Jewish disturbances in Budapest last week. The "Pester Lloyd" declared that although it is opposed to the numerous clausus policy, it is in support of the government.

In an article entitled, "May Truth be Reported?" the "Vossische Zeitung" replies to the Hungarian newspaper by advising it to better devote its energies to stopping the deeply humiliating occurrences in the Hungarian state universities. "This is a worthier task for a Hungarian newspaper, than to attack reporters who are unfortunately compelled to spend their time on such reports."

Bruno Heilig, Budapest correspondent of the "Vossische Zeitung" and the Ullstein Agency, was expelled from Hungary on the charge of sending exaggerated reports abroad of the recent anti-Semitic student excesses.

McGILL 'COUNCIL' APOLOGIZES FOR SLUR ON JEWISH GIRLS

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Montreal, Nov. 1.—An official apology for the slur against Jewish girl students at McGill University was made by the Executive of the Students' Council, the body which has complete jurisdiction over male student activities at McGill and over the "McGill Daily," in which appeared the offensive editorial against Jewish girl students.

The apology, printed in the "Daily," pointed out that the editorial, which did not represent student opinion at McGill, was due to the negligence of the executive editor, who did not see it before it appeared in print and was characterized as the narrow-minded and biased personal opinion of the editorial writer. The apology goes on to say that above all, McGill University does not want to provoke any racial animosity. The writer of the editorial, a girl student in the last year Arts, has had to resign from the "Daily," of which she was women's editor.

referred to above as the badge, could justify the action taken by the District Authorities without giving previous notification to any responsible Jewish authority.

"4. The Executive remind the Permanent Mandates Commission that this is not the first occasion upon which the Palestine Government have found it necessary to make aggressive use of the police at the Kothel-Maaravi. The previous incident also occurred on the Day of Atonement when, in 1925, police were sent by the District Authorities to remove seats and benches placed at the Kothel-Maaravi for the use of aged and infirm worshippers during the Fast, as reported in paragraph 9 of the letter dated May 3, 1926 addressed by Dr. Weizmann on behalf of the Zionist Organization to the High Commissioner for Palestine, for transmission to the Secretary General of the League of Nations. On that, as on the present occasion, the order for police action was given by the Administrative Officer concerned, as a result of representations received from the Moslem authorities in regard to arrangements made for the conduct of Jewish religious services.

"5. The Executive feel confident that it was the desire both of the Permanent Mandates Commission, and of the Mandatory Government to prevent any repetition of such an incident as occurred on the Day of Atonement in 1925. The fact that recurrence has not been prevented is evidence of the impossibility of prolonging the present state of affairs.

"6. In order that the Permanent Mandates Commission may appreciate what such an incident means to the Jewish people it is necessary to explain that the Day of Atonement is the most sacred day of the Jewish calendar. The Shmoneh Esrei prayer during which the incident occurred and the police broke in among the worshippers, is the most important prayer of the whole day of worship. The Kothel-Maaravi has ever been the most holy spot for the Jewish nation since the destruction of the Temple.

"7. On the other hand, the Jewish place of prayer at the Wall is not holy to any other nation or community, and while the Jews have for generations past undertaken the most arduous journeys in order to be able to pray at the Wall if only for a few moments, the Moslem neighbors have never used the site for prayer, and have not hesitated to desecrate it in the most offensive manner.

The Executive wish emphatically to repudiate as false and libelous the rumors which have been circulated that it is the intention of the Jewish people to menace the inviolability of the Moslem Holy Place which encloses the Mosque of Aksa and the Mosque of Omar.

"8. The demand of the Jewish people is that they shall be given freedom to pray according to their religious rites without external interference. The land in front of the Wall is a place of prayer for Jews, and an end must be put to a situation under which an institution belonging to another community, in this case the Moslem Supreme Council, can interfere with the manner in which the Jews arrange their religious Services at their most Holy Place.

"9. Similarly, the Jewish people believe that the Permanent Mandates Commission will recognize that it is inconsistent with the spirit and the letter of the Mandate, that Jewish worshippers before the Wall should be confined to a narrow alley-way (thirty-two metres long by five metres wide), through the fact that on the adjacent land there are a few hutments, the property of the Wakf (Moslem Ecclesiastical Foundation), but having no religious significance. These dwellings are occupied by members of the Moroccan community, who pass to and from through the praying place of the Jews, often carrying loads and sometimes driving laden donkeys before them.

"10. The situation thus explained is painful and humiliating to the whole Jewish world, and the Executive venture to think that it is unworthy both of the League of Nations and of the Mandatory Power, under whose joint auspices the administration of Palestine is conducted.

"11. The Jewish people have always been anxious to secure for themselves proper conditions for free and undisturbed worship at the Kothel-Maaravi by direct arrangement with the Moslem authorities, with fair compensation for any proprietary rights affected. The Executive submit that the provision of such conditions for Jewish worship at the most sacred place of prayer for all Jewry, is an essential condition of civilized government in Palestine. That real freedom of worship is impossible under existing conditions is demonstrated by reason and confirmed by experience. The Executive therefore submit that the Mandatory Government should take all necessary steps to ensure that an arrangement eliminating the present obstacles to the free exercise of worship at this Holy Place shall be effected within the very near future.

"The Jewish Agency appeals to the Permanent Mandates Commission and to the Mandatory Power to secure this end."

LEADERS THROUGHOUT NATION HAIL PACT ON JEWISH AGENCY FOR PALESTINE REBUILDING

First Returns on Jewish Daily Bulletin Inquiry Directed Mainly to Non-Zionists; Emphasize Concurrence on United Action; Unity of Zionists and Non-Zionists, Disregarding Theoretical Differences, Will Aid in Solution of Other World Problems; New Era Predicted; Marshall and Weizmann Are Lauded

Enthusiastic concurrence in the decisions of the Non-Zionist Conference Concerning Palestine, held under the chairmanship of Louis Marshall in New York City on October 21, that American Jews join in the extended Jewish Agency for the upbuilding of Palestine disregarding theoretical differences of opinion between Zionists and non-Zionists, is evidenced in the first replies to the inquiry directed by the "Jewish Daily Bulletin" to leaders of the Jewish communities throughout the country. The inquiry was directed mainly to those leaders, not affiliated with the Zionist Organization of America, prominent in welfare, educational and civic work.

This inquiry was sent to a large number of members of the National Committee of the United Jewish Campaign, to the members of the Executive Board of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, to the members of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and the United Synagogue of America, to the officers and members of the Board of Directors of the Federations of Jewish Charities, to some members of the Union of Orthodox Rabbis in the United States and Canada, and the Corporate Members of the American Jewish Committee.

The pact concluded between the Zionists and non-Zionists is hailed in these responses as a great step forward toward Jewish unity. United action on Palestine will benefit not only the rebuilding work in Palestine, but also other Jewish causes, since it is expected that it will result in greater harmony within the Jewish community.

Louis Marshall and Dr. Chaim Weizmann were lauded as the prime movers in this event of historic importance.

ROGER W. STRAUS, New York City, President, National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods—"The conference held on October 22 at which the Non-Zionists decided to cooperate wholeheartedly for Palestine Reconstruction through the Jewish Agency marks a great advance for the Jews throughout the world.

"United the people of Jewish faith can increase their contribution to the rest of the civilized world so that besides insuring the success of Palestine Reconstruction, which in itself is a world service, it augurs well for unity in connection with other world problems, to the solution of which a united Jewish can contribute constructive thought and action."

DAVID A. BROWN, Detroit, Mich., National Chairman, United Jewish Campaign—"There were many conflicting emotions within me during the entire period of the Non-Zionist conference. I had felt, and it was so expressed previously to the conference, that we were on the verge of making history, and now that the conference is over, it is my firm conviction that history has been made.

"Five years of intensive work has been brought to fruition during three sessions of the Conference, lasting less than six actual hours.

"There was gathered at this Conference a cross-section of American Jewry from many parts of the country, who listened attentively to the entire presentation during which time there was not even one controversial voice heard. When the votes were taken which meant added responsibilities, and an association with a group whose idealogy they were not altogether in harmony with, the response was a unanimous decision followed by great applause, an evidence that their action was more than a mere gesture.

"Credit for the successful culmination of this five years' of effort is due in my judgment to two great men. Louis Marshall and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, who during this entire time have labored under great difficulties, especially during the highly controversial period of 1925, 1926, and 1927.

"To Louis Marshall must go almost entirely the credit for creating a receptive attitude of mind on the part of the Non-Zionists of America towards associating themselves with the Agency. To him there was evidenced during the entire conference that respect and admiration bordering on deep affection, which in a large measure was responsible for the fine attitude which resulted in one of the best conferences that it has ever been my pleasure to attend.

"With the appointment of the Committee of Seven, and through them the selection of those American representatives of the Agency, only the preliminary work will have been accomplished. There will be much yet to be done both on the part of the Non-Zionists and the Zionists of this and other countries if the completed Agency is to function successfully.

"The work about to be done is of such a permanent nature that the foundations must not be laid carelessly nor hurriedly. The desire for rapid accomplishment must not over-shadow the need for careful planning.

"What little part I have played in this effort I consider a great privilege. Whatever else I may be permitted to do, I will do with the full understanding of the great responsibility that is attached to service of this nature.

"To Louis Marshall and to Dr. Chaim Weizmann I extend not only my congratulations, but a deep sense of appreciation for the wonderful service which they have both rendered to world Jewry.

MAX J. KOHLER, New York City—"Although I continue to be as strongly opposed as ever to Political Zionism, I found myself prepared to vote unhesitatingly in favor of the two sets of resolutions unanimously adopted at the Non-Zionist Conference on October 21. The very able report of the 'Joint Palestine Survey Commission,' signed by all four Commissioners and approved by Louis Marshall and Chaim Weizmann, is a most statesmanlike document, prepared with no other design than to set forth the truth, as disclosed in the 741 page report of the Experts, and the personal investigations of the very efficient Commissioners. The resolution approving the Commissioners' report calls for the best-advised possible action 'conducive to the economic, spiritual and cultural development of Palestine,' and the 'Agency' resolution, in providing that the members constituting the Jewish Agency to advise and cooperate with the Palestinian Government under the Mandate, shall consist of 50% Non-Zionists, and 50% appointees of the World Zionist Organization, with 40% of the former residents of the United States, ensures the selection of the ablest and most efficient persons to carry out the former resolution. Jewish immigration to Palestine will be limited by considerations of maintaining 'a reasonable balance between the number of immigrants admitted and the economic needs of the country,' and instead of having the Zionist Agency serve as an unintended 'will-of-the-wisp,' leading immigrants to misery, they will have before them a plain, clear, statesmanlike survey of the conditions actually confronting them, and probable prospects, if the necessary ways and means are placed in the hands of the ablest obtainable directors of such a scheme. The land portrayed is not one 'flowing with milk and honey.' Many other wise, statesmanlike recommendations are made, to govern the conduct of the Jewish promoters of the plan and of the mandatory power, frequently taking the form of proposed restrictions on subsidizing unwisely or unjust conditions. Given a Jewish population of 148,000 out of a total Palestinian population of 785,000, and some millions of Jews outside of Palestine, whose fervent daily prayer is 'Next Year may we be in Jerusalem!', Zionists and Non-Zionists can, and should unite, on a plan ensuring the greatest happiness for all the inhabitants of the land, present and prospective!

"If, as I believe, there are still some political Zionists, I want to continue to count myself as an 'anti-political-Zionist.' I remain true to the traditions of my grandfather, David Einhorn, (whom Dr. Schulman well characterized as the 'other David,' in contradistinction to David Lloyd George), who not merely eliminated from his prayer-book 75 years ago, the prayer for the return to Palestine, but turned the 'Tishbeav' service of mourning into one of rejoicing, that a Jewish nationalistic political ideal was superseded by a purely universal Jewish religious ideal. On that

GOVERNOR SMITH MAKES CLEAR HIS STAND ON IMMIGRATION LAW

Is Not for Letting Down Bars, He Says in Newark Address

Governor Alfred E. Smith, in his address in Newark Wednesday evening, made clear his stand on the question of immigration, in the following words:

"Another attempt on the part of the Republican managers is to try to fool the American people on my attitude to the present restrictions in the immigration law. They whisper around: 'Smith will open up the flood gates. If elected, he will let Europe run all over the United States.'

"Well, of course, that again, to my way of thinking, is a kind of insult to the intelligence of the American people. The Democratic platform that I was nominated on clearly said that we will not let down the bars one inch on the restrictive measures in the immigration law. I said that in my speech of acceptance, and that ought to settle it. But it is awfully hard to settle a man or a party who starts out deliberately to misrepresent and deliberately to fool the people."

The Southern Region of the United Palestine Appeal will from now on be under the supervision of Samuel Blitz, as Regional Director, according to an announcement made by Dr. I. M. Rubinow, Executive Director of the United Palestine Appeal. Mr. Blitz will take the place of Dr. Leo L. Frachtenberg, who will be the Regional Director of the Chicago territory.

Mr. Blitz has been affiliated with the Zionist Organization for many years, acting, during that time, as Director of the Organization Department. During the last year, he was Director of the New York City United Palestine Appeal Campaign.

SUPPORT FOR LEHMAN AS LT.-GOVERNOR URGED IN NEW STATEMENTS

Further endorsements on the candidacy of Col. Herbert H. Lehman for the Lieutenant-Governorship of New York State were made by prominent Jews and non-Jews in statements made public yesterday.

Prof. Lindsay Rogers, Professor of Public Law, Columbia University: "The eminent place which Herbert H. Lehman has made for himself in the business world shows that he is one of the ablest Americans of his time. This index of his ability, however, does not disclose a much rarer distinction that is his. Mr. Lehman is a socially-minded business man, who believes that the acquisitive instinct in modern life should be tempered by a concern for the common good, and who is always ready to make sacrifices in order to perform public service."

"Many citizens of New York are qualified to speak of Mr. Lehman's philanthropies, of his eminence, success and reputation in his chosen profession. My association with him during the last four years, however, has enabled me to know something of the abilities which he can devote to the public service and which are now to have a wider field of usefulness in the Lieutenant-Governorship. During recent years the people of New York have been extremely fortunate in the men they have chosen to take charge of the State administration. When on Tuesday they elect Herbert Lehman as Lieutenant-Governor, they will greatly increase their good fortune, for the qualities of mind and heart which I have tried to describe will for two years be devoted to the public welfare."

Morgan J. O'Brien, New York City: "I have known Colonel Lehman as one of the finest types of gentleman to be found in New York City. His generous spirit, which has brought him to be generally regarded as one of the most philanthropic contributors, is just one of the many attributes that have earned for him the respect of the entire community."

"His business record as head member of the great banking firm is so conspicuous that it needs no comment from me."

James T. Shotwell, Director, Division of Economics and History, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace: "I have known Colonel Herbert Lehman since the heart of the World War, when he was in the service of the United States Government and performed work of great importance at Washington. Since those days I have often come in contact with him and have learned to admire his sane and constructive judgment, his tolerant and generous outlook, and his critical and thorough-going mind. The election of Colonel Lehman as Lieutenant-Governor of New York State would bring to this office a man of rare capacity and unshaken integrity."

been known, and he has proved it on numerous occasions. For a number of reasons, the United Palestine Appeal has never had the opportunity of having Mr. Warburg attend any of its national gatherings. His willingness to be present at Boston must be attributed to the successful results of the Non-Zionist Conference held in New York last week.

"The United Palestine Appeal Conference in Boston will be the first opportunity for American Jewry to display to the world its unity on the subject of Palestine. Zionists and non-Zionists are being invited equally to attend the important sessions of the Conference. Because of the numerous problems affecting the future of Palestine that will be considered at Boston it is exceedingly important that every Jew and Jewess concerned with the development of the Jewish Homeland should add the benefit of his or her experience and counsel to the proceedings. I am certain that Mr. Warburg will show the way to an overwhelmingly successful meeting in Boston which will inaugurate a period of great activity for Palestine among American Jews."

The news that Mr. Warburg would attend the Boston conference came as a complete surprise to Zionists in New York. This will be the first time since the United Palestine Appeal was founded four years ago that Mr. Warburg will take part in any of its gatherings. Though Mr. Warburg has made large contributions to a number of Palestinian enterprises on various occasions, he has never affiliated himself with the official Zionist fund-raising agencies, except that he gave $50,000 last year to the United Palestine Appeal, for the relief of unemployment in Palestine.

It is expected that in addition to other non-Zionists will follow Mr. Warburg's example. National headquarters of the United Palestine Appeal report that the attendance at the Boston Conference, as indicated by acceptances of the invitation, will be the largest in the history of national gatherings sponsored by the organization.

Phi Epsilon Pi: "Franklin D. Roosevelt has established a reputation in New York State as one who mixes idealism with practical sense, which has been evidenced in the corporation he has directed as well as in many civic affairs."

"Colonel Lehman is able, competent, with large vision, and excellent judgment. He has an extraordinary grasp on administrative affairs, as his report on finance of the plan of the City of New York has proved. As an American citizen, I do not favor the election of any candidate because of his religion. However, I particularly appreciate Colonel Lehman's contribution to the welfare of his people because it is in that part of his benevolent work that I have had the greatest opportunity to observe his manifold interest in all meritorious Jewish causes."

GERMANY PLANNED JEWISH HOME IN PALESTINE IF VICARIOUS, SAYS BERNSDORF

Negotiations Carried on During Last Year of War with Grand Vizier
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The establishment of a Jewish National Home in Palestine was the intention of the German Imperial government if the war had ended differently, declared Count von Bernsdorf, former German Ambassador to the United States, in an address he made at a public meeting held under the auspices of the German Keren Hayesod last night.

During the last year of the World War, negotiations were carried on in Constantinople with the Grand Vizier concerning this subject. He had always objected to the plan because of the contention that the Arabs would massacre the Jews, said Bernsdorf, who was German Ambassador to Constantinople at that time. Count von Bernsdorf further stated that he was now devoted entirely to the propagation of the ideals of the League of Nations, being the representative of the German government to the League, but so long as his strength and ability will allow him, he will devote himself to further the Palestine work.

Warsaw, Nov. 1.—A national conference of Keren Hayesod workers in the Republic of Poland will be held here on November 5. Representatives from 442 cities are expected to attend. Messages to the conference were received from Lord Balfour, Emile Vandervelde, Sir Wyndham Deedes, Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Herriot, Lord Melchett, Justin Godard and Sholom Asch.

Leib Jaffe, Director of the Keren Hayesod, who is now on a visit here, in connection with the conference, was received today by the speaker of the Polish Senate, Szymanski. The speaker recalled in the conversation his visit to Palestine thirty years ago and was gratified to hear of the progress made in the country.

GERMAN OFFICIALS AGAIN CONFISCATE PAPER CIRCULATING RITUAL MURDER

Hitler Organ Seized for Anti-Semitic Drawing
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Cologne, Nov. 1.—Another attempt was made by the Hitler organ, "Westdeutscher Beobachter," to circulate a ritual murder tale in connection with the trial of the schoolboy Hussman, in Essen, for the murder of his schoolmate Daube, both non-Jews.

The newspaper published a drawing which it claimed depicted a Jewish ritual murder. The police confiscated the issue, as it did several days ago when the paper carried a similar drawing.

Hussman is a member of the nationalistic student organization. This organization, it is understood, is making efforts to bring about his acquittal.

J. D. B. NEWS LETTER

Barring the Jew from the Bar in Lithuania

(By Our Kovno Correspondent)

Kovno, Oct. 10.—Should the new law on which the Lithuanian Ministry of Justice is said to have been working for several months past become actual law, the future of the Jewish aspirants to a legal career in this republic will look very gloomy, if any future career should still be possible altogether under such conditions. There is a well-founded rumor among the law students of the Lithuanian State University in Kovno that the new law aims to restrict the number of people entering the legal profession in general, but the present writer has been able to learn that the real object of the new measure is to restrict as much as possible the quota of Jewish law students.

Under the existing law, it has been quite easy to enter the legal profession in Lithuania. In the first place, there is the fact that the curriculum at the law department of the University is much less exacting than many other curricula at the same institution of learning. After obtaining his diploma, any graduate of the law department was able to enter the profession, upon complying with a few easy formalities. After serving for seven and a half years as "Assistant Lawyer," he could at once become a full-fledged member of the Bar. Under the new scheme, however, this is to be made far more difficult. It is planned that, in addition to the diploma of the university, each applicant for membership in the profession shall be required to do practical legal work for a term of 2-3 years in some court, and this without any pecuniary compensation. The only compensation to be granted for this work shall be the reduction of the term of practice as assistant lawyer from seven and a half to some shorter term of years.

Officially, the justification of this new arrangement is the following: The curriculum of the law department of the Lithuanian State University lays far too much stress upon purely theoretical knowledge and neglects actual practice. The diploma of the graduate cannot, therefore, be regarded as sufficient proof of adequate professional preparation for work in the law courts. In Germany and France, for example, the applicant for membership in the legal profession is required to pass through a certain amount of practice before admission. In Germany, for instance, every lawyer is required not only to have done three years work at the law school, but also three years practical work in some law court, and here, too, he is expected to pass certain examinations known as "Referendar-Pruefung" and "Assessor-Pruefung." In France, too, they must do practical work in some law office and then pass examinations in the subjects practiced. Naturally enough, the Lithuanian Ministry of Justice is able to meet all objections by pointing to such examples in these two countries.

Another justification cited for the Jerusalem, Nov. 1.—A joint celebration was held at the Hebrew University yesterday marking the opening of this semester's lecture courses and the dedication of the Wattenburg building to house the Einstein Institute of Mathematics.

Dr. Judah L. Magnes, Chancellor of the University, in his address welcomed the new lecturers, Professors Roth, Dizendruck and Fekete. One hundred and six students are registered at the University and admission continues. Five Arab students worked in the chemical laboratories during the Summer. The School of Oriental Studies is being enlarged and a Moslem lecturer will be added.

A scholarship in Arabic has been established in honor of Lord Plumer, retiring High Commissioner of Palestine, the Chancellor announced.

Among the other speakers were Norman Bentwich, Palestine Attorney General, M. M. Ussishkin and Dr. Fekete.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT CONDEMNS DESECRATION OF JEWISH CEMETERIES

Federal Minister of Justice Expresses Regrets of Government
(J. T. A. Mail Service)

Berlin, Oct. 19.—"The Federal Government, in whose name I speak, joins with you in your indignation and grief that it has been possible for Germans to do such things," Dr. Koch, the Federal Minister of Justice, said in addressing the mass demonstration held here today under the auspices of the Union of German Citizens of the Jewish Faith, to protest against the repeated desecrations of Jewish cemeteries and of synagogues in Germany.

"We all, who are assembled here," the Minister said, "know that those are Germans who in language, customs, culture and community of fate belong to the German fatherland. We are at one in condemning outrages committed by German citizens against German citizens in their places of worship. But when enmity is carried on even against the dead, then it is something which exceeds the bounds of anti-Semitism. It is then no longer a conflict between Germans of the Jewish faith and anti-Semites, but a conflict between human beings and beasts. You may be convinced that the Federal Government as the guardian of public order and peace, and in the interests of Germany's good name abroad, will do its duty in regard to such outrages, for it is most deeply hurt and humiliated by these vandalistic offenses against right and decency. You have done right, therefore, to send your protest out into the world. The Government joins you in every way in this protest."

platform my sainted father also stood. But neither they nor I opposed Jewish settlement in Palestine, as far as conducive to the best interests of the settlers and that land. I have also been for nearly 23 years a trustee and honorary secretary of the Baron de Hirsch Fund, and as such may call myself for some purpose Baron de Hirsch's spokesman. As such, on the basis of his famous controversy with Herzl, and as a student pessimistic for many years of Jewish colonization projects, I welcome placing at the helm of such Palestine project the best-equipped, sanest, wisest men that can be found in the interest of Palestinian Jewry. World Jewry and the non-Jews of Palestine. How greatly even the latter have been aided by such American practical idealists as Nathan Straus, (whose noble work, through some oversight, is not adequately recognized in the reports) and the Hadassah Medical Organization, is revealed by the remarkable statistics now collated, showing almost incredible progressive decrease of disease since the Mandate. With larger resources and the ablest possible directors assured for the future by the new Agency plan, this is but one indication of the many benefits to be anticipated for the future under the new regime."

BERNARD B. GIVEN, Syracuse, N. Y., New York State Chairman, United Jewish Campaign:—"Lord Melchett's address sounded the keynote, and I believe everyone who attended the Conference was more than repaid, with a new vision and a new ideal of the Jewish future."

"For the first time in history, a world-united Jewry will speak for Jewish solidarity, for Jewish welfare. I believe, out of this Conference will come a much better understanding and a much finer appreciation and respect for all Jews."

"Louis Marshall again reveals himself as the ideal of American Jewish leadership. I believe this Conference will be the crowning glory of his life's devotion to the House of Israel."

DR. S. J. APPELBAUM, Rochester, N. Y.:—"I believe that the results of the Non-Zionist Conference—the adoption of resolutions in favor of American Jews joining the extended Jewish Agency for the rebuilding of Palestine—is one of the finest things that has happened in recent years in Jewish life. Dogmatism, passion and prejudice have split American Jewry on a question which demands united action, whether the action be in Russia or Palestine. I hope the results of the conference will be for sincere harmony and union."

RABBI MAX ARZT, Temple Israel, Scranton, Pa.:—"The Non-Zionist Conference eloquently testifies to the higher unity of the Jewish people. Hitherto it seemed that the only bond which united universal Israel, was the bond of common suffering. The splendid achievements in the field of war relief and the united action of world Jewry on behalf of the oppressed Jewish population of Eastern Europe, led many to believe that only a crisis will cause Jews to huddle together as do sheep in a storm. The Jewish Agency will prove that Israel can unite not only for mutual protection and for universal protest but also for engaging in a positive, creative effort, namely, the rehabilitation of Palestine as a homeland for the Jewish spirit. Louis Marshall, Dr. Weizmann, Lord Melchett, Dr. Cyrus Adler and the other leaders of that historic conference have thus immortalized their names—for they have made Zion the supreme, all-embracing ideal of universal Israel."

RABBI JESSE BIENENFELD, Syracuse, N. Y.:—"The results of the Non-Zionist Conference are marvelous. It was a great moment for the Jews the world over when so large and influential a portion of the Jews of this country pledged themselves to work for the rehabilitation of Palestine."

"From personal observations in the Holy Land, I know that the Jews there need only our financial support to make their individual efforts succeed. But in the joy of great accomplishment, let us not forget that the Palestinian problem is not by any means one of money alone. Palestine must not only be a haven for Jews, Palestine must become a Jewish state."

RABBI PHILIP DAVID BOOK-STABER, Ohev Shalom Temple, Harrisburg, Pa.:—"I want to compliment you and your staff on the manner in which you reported the proceedings of the recent Non-Zionist Conference. Being unable to be present I was pleased to follow the full details of the proceedings in the Jewish Daily Bulletin. It took a very little stretch of the imagination to visualize this great drama of heart and mind only because your reports stimulated my feelings and interest in these questions. I read between your printed lines and could divine the rest of that great symphony of the pulsations of the Jewish heart."

"May the Jewish Daily Bulletin grow in strength and influence so as to continue increasing the Jewish consciousness and unity of the whole world."

RABBI JACOB BOSNIAK, Ocean Parkway Jewish Center, Brooklyn, N. Y.:—"This much is certain, that a united American Jewry with its immense resources, for the upbuilding of Palestine, is, in my opinion, a Messianic event in the life of Israel; and this Conference ushered in the great epoch."

"To me him who will try to inject a tone of discord in the present harmony which must result in the creation of a stream of gold flowing in the direction of Palestine. We now may hope that all opposition in and around Palestine will disappear, even as the walls of Jericho were caused to crumble and fall by the harmonious sound of the many shofroth of a united people."

RABBI ABRAHAM BURSTEIN, Inwood Hebrew Congregation, New York City:—"It is an abnormality for Jews to stand apart from Palestine and to ignore the efforts towards its rehabilitation. The new unified interest in that land, demonstrated in the conference of Oct. 21, is an indication of serenity and sanity in Jewish thought."

RABBI SIMON R. COHEN, Union Temple, Brooklyn, N. Y.:—"The consolidation of Zionist and non-Zionist in the great enterprise of reestablishing Palestine as a homeland for the persecuted Jew is easily the outstanding event of the last generation. To those of our people who in the past have held aloof from this great constructive movement in Israel, this Union under the inspired leadership of Dr. Weizmann and Louis Marshall is furnishing an opportunity to heartily cooperate and at the same time to hold allegiance to the principles for which they stood."

"To me, political Zionism constituted a great menace to the prophetic progress of Israel. That a happy means has been discovered to overcome the objection to political Zionism and at the same time to create a homeland for those of our people who still walk in darkness is indeed a very happy solution of a serious dilemma."

MRS. ABRAHAM J. FELDMAN, Hartford, Conn.:—"I am thrilled by the prospect of Jewish unity resulting from the Non-Zionist Conference. This unity will necessarily manifest itself not alone in the joint pro-Palestinian efforts, but in all communal endeavors."

RABBI HERBERT S. GOLDSTEIN, New York, President, Union of Orthodox Congregations and member of the Agudath Israel Executive Committee:—"The Jewish Agency is the Jewish hope for the future, providing it will continue and not break the thread of Jewish history. It will accomplish this when its foundation will be Jewish law."

"It must be remembered that in Judaism economics as well as the synagogue are regulated by law. The prophets have declared that 'from Zion shall come forth the law'."

"There are none so anxious for the realization of the Jewish Agency as non-Zionists, but it is better that there be frankness and truth at the outset, than quarrels and disunity later."

RABBI ISRAEL GOLDFARB, Congregation Baith Israel Anshei Emes, Brooklyn, N. Y.:—"The result of the Non-Zionist Conference held last Sunday in New York should be hailed by every Jew the world over as the most important and epoch-making event in the life of the Jew since the Balfour Declaration."

"American Jews united for the upbuilding of Palestine! What hope, what promise, what possibilities lie in such union! Not only will Palestine benefit from this 'pact of glory,' but the Jews the world over and particularly the Jews of America will derive from it renewed strength."

OTTINGER DENOUNCES WHISPERING CAMPAIGN AGAINST GOOD JEWISHNESS

Was Brought up in Kosher Home, Attorney-General Says

Albert Ottinger, Republican candidate for the Governorship of the State of New York, took occasion to denounce what was termed a whispering campaign against his "good Jewishness," in an address he delivered Wednesday evening at the Hunts Point Palace.

Reports reached the Republican nominee that stories were being circulated on the East Side that he was not a "good Jew" and that he "attended the Presbyterian church." Leon Ottinger, the Attorney-General's brother, was on the platform when the candidate digressed from his prepared address, in which he urged support for Herbert Hoover and praised him for his tolerance, to declare:

"I resent the malicious slanders that are being made against me. We were brought up in proper surroundings in a kosher home, and I was bar mitzvah in the Central Synagogue."

Judge Otto A. Rosalsky published a statement in the "Jewish Morning Journal," in which the whispering campaign against Mr. Ottinger was attacked. Judge Rosalsky declares in his statement that the accusations directed against the Republican candidate that he had not taken an active part in Jewish communal affairs are without foundation. Mr. Ottinger took an active interest in the work of the Jewish Education Association and in Jewish welfare activities and on many occasions addressed Jewish congregations in temples and synagogues.

new measure is the apparent overproduction of lawyers in this little republic. The natural desire of any professional class to reduce competition to a minimum prevails also among the members of the legal profession in this country, and it is pointed out that about 30 per cent of the entire student body at the State University is to be found in the law department. The annual output of law graduates is about 100, and whilst about one half of this number enter some government institution other than legal, the rest of the graduates swell the ranks of the legal profession.

This influx of new lawyers would not be so serious a problem, it is said, if the distribution would be better than it has been heretofore. There is still enough room for lawyers outside of Kovno, in other parts of Lithuania. The trouble is that most of the new members of the profession prefer to remain in the capital, of course, where the highest law institutions of the country are situated and practice is more convenient for this and many other reasons easy to understand. The consequence has been, it is alleged, that harmful competition has been created in the ranks of the profession at the capital, harmful not only to the pecuniary interests of the older members of the Bar,

CHANCELLOR DISAVOWS PART IN STUDENT AGITATION FOR NUMERUS CLAUSUS

Head of Debreczin University Announces to Explain to American Public
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Budapest, Nov. 1.—A statement disavowing any connection of the authorities of the University of Debreczin with the student agitation for the numerus clausus was issued by Bishop Desider Balthazar, head of the Hungarian Calvinists and Chancellor of the University.

The Chancellor states that he is most anxious to explain to public opinion in America and the rest of the civilized world that the university authorities had nothing in common with the reactionary student movement or the numerus clausus.

but tending also to lower the prestige of the profession generally, as the lawyers of Kovno are forced to take all opportunities that may present themselves, without looking too closely at the ethics of the profession.

Such are the official and semi-official explanations of the proposed law. But there is still one other explanation, and this one, it is quite safe to say, is the most plausible and obvious one, and it fits perfectly into the general trend of recent Lithuanian measures directed against Jewish competition. This explanation is that it is proposed to eliminate all who stroke practically all laws from the study of jurisprudence at the Lithuanian State University. However the new law may affect the careers of Lithuanian law students, it is certain that it will make the study of law practically useless to Jewish students, and this is the real object of the new law.

Scanning the lists of practising lawyers in Kovno for January 1, 1928, we observe that 13 out of the 62 are Jewish, that is to say, about 20 per cent. But when we glance at the register of assistant lawyers, we find that there are more than 50 per cent Jews among them. These figures are highly instructive. This ratio between Jews and non-Jews is by no means accidental: at a time when a majority of non-Jewish lawyers are occupying responsible posts in the law courts and in the administration, the Jewish jurists, having no opportunity to enter these institutions, were forced to seek their livelihood in legal practice elsewhere. This preponderance of Jews in the profession, however, is against the tastes of their non-Jewish colleagues, and there can be no doubt whatever that this is the real motive behind the new scheme of restriction.

As it will take 7 instead of 4 years, under the new law, to reach the stage at which one may enter the legal fraternity, it is clear that no poor Jew—and that means nearly every Jew in Lithuania will be able to afford the expense of waiting so many years before earning his living in his chosen profession. In this manner we are faced with what amounts in practice to a complete, unmitigated Jewish "Numerus Clausus."

LEADERS THROUGHOUT NATION HAIL PACT ON THE JEWISH AGENCY

City—"The Non-Zionist Conference was a splendid demonstration of the fact that the House of Israel is not a house divided against itself. There are many Jews who are prone to indulge in self-disparagement on the score of unity, and who are all too ready to assert that discord and division are more pronounced among Jews than among other groups.

"The Non-Zionist Conference provides such skeptics with food for thought. Never in recent years has there been a more adequate vindication of the faith in a united Israel in America."

RABBI SIMON GREENBERG, Philadelphia, Pa.—"The Non-Zionists' Conference of October 21, whose sessions were so excellently reported in your columns, brought new pride to me as a Jew, and new hope as a Zionist. Its possibilities for good no man can estimate. If its potentialities will be realized, then a firm bond between Palestine and American Jewry will have been established, and both will be best by this union."

RABBI A. M. HELLER, Flatbush Jewish Center, Brooklyn, N. Y.—"It is most fitting at this juncture to make mention of the part played by the administration of the Zionist Organization of America in this historic event. Its consistent support to Dr. Weizmann is most praiseworthy. I pray that American Zionists, among themselves, will now forget all past differences and with renewed vigor and hope, give greater impetus to the mighty and white task facing a United Jewry."

RABBI EDWARD L. ISRAEL, Har Sinai Congregation, Baltimore, Md.—"The Jewish Agency carries with it a potential unity in Israel, such as we have not known since the time of Mendelssohn. Since those days the issues of emancipation, assimilation and nationalism have raised horrible barriers between Jew and Jew. The lack of sympathy for Zion, which was a corollary of some of these issues, went so far in some Jews as to make them Jewish anti-Semites. The recognition of the Jewish Agency puts the non-Zionistic leadership of American Israel definitely in opposition to this bitter hatred of Jewishness by Jews. There is opportunity now to consolidate our spiritual resources. Especially to us American Jews is the Agency a blessing. In an intensified Jewish consciousness we shall gain far more from its existence than ever we could give to Eretz Yisroel."

RABBI HARRY KAPLAN, Pittsfield, Mass.—"The decision made by the Non-Zionist Conference to participate in Palestine re-building, marks an epoch in American Jewish life. It will redound to the credit of both he that gives and he that receives. In America, it will mark the end of old antagonisms and misunderstandings; in Palestine it will prove an unfailing source of hope and encouragement.

This momentous gathering of unity proves again that Jewish idealism is a reality and not an idle byword."

RABBI MAX KADUSHIN, Humboldt Boulevard Temple, Chicago, Ill.—"It will inaugurate a period of harmony and achievement. Discord between Zionist and non-Zionist, Reform, Orthodox or Conservative will disappear. Factions there will remain, perhaps, but these factions will work as a unit to achieve a definite objective shared by all. And Palestine, without question, without any shadow of a doubt, will be rebuilt, restored to the Jewish people as its spiritual homeland, not by grant of the world powers but by the determined and unconquerable will of Israel itself."

DR. JACOB KOHN, Temple Ansche Chesed, New York City.—"I regard the proceedings of the recent Non-Zionist Conference as a splendid demonstration of Jewish unity and Jewish idealism. Every Zionist must exult in the fact that Palestine and the rebuilding of Jewish life in Palestine have created a bond uniting Jews throughout the world in a splendid constructive effort."

MRS. ALEXANDER KOHUT, New York City.—"It is indeed an occasion for rejoicing to learn that through the resolution adopted at the Congress that the American Jews will now join in the extended Jewish Agency for the up-building of Palestine. I believe and hope that this will make for unity among all Jews, which will strengthen and make possible not only the pioneer work done by the Zionists, but will have an everlasting effect through the inspiration received upon a united Jewry. A participation in the glorious program of the Zionists must be welcomed and appreciated wholeheartedly."

MORRIS ROSENBAUM, Philadelphia, Pa.—"Only a man with such intense feeling for the uplift of Jews, and the only man among all the Jews mentally qualified to accomplish such stupendous organization without hurting any one's feeling is, Mr. Louis Marshall. May God keep him in good health and enable him to remain that giant sentinel of Jewish rights among the nations of the earth."

NATHAN ROSENTHAL, Hartford, Conn.—"I have looked forward for a number of years to this epoch making event. I have always been one of the adherents of the policies of my good friend, Louis Marshall, and I am glad to note that two factions of Judaism, both having the interest of Jewry at heart, have at last united for the purpose of fulfilling a glorious mission."

RABBI SAMUEL SACHS, Toronto, Ont.—"The decision of the Non-Zionist Conference for the extended Jewish Agency is a momentous accomplishment for the unity of Israel and sufficient life insurance for the effort of the present generation of Zionists in behalf of Palestine and the future of the Jewish people."

RABBI NORMAN SALIT, Congregation Shaaray Tefila, Far Rockaway, N. Y.—"Large bodies move slowly, but now that what has been known as the Non-Zionist part of American Jewry has given unequivocal expression of its love for Palestine and its recognition of the paramount significance of Palestine in Jewish life we may look to a new future—one of unity in aim, of cooperation in work, and of concerted emphasis on what of all things is of greatest moment to world Israel. 'Happy is the eye that has seen this.'"

NATHAN D. SHAPIRO, Brooklyn, N. Y.—"The consolidation of these two factions will eventually bring every shade of Zionism into one group and under one management."

RABBI JULIUS SILBERFELD, Newark, N. J.—"The Non-Zionist Conference was, in my opinion, fraught with the greatest consequences, not only for Israel in America, but for Israel the world over. It was the first successful attempt to unite the heterogeneous elements comprising American Jewry into one harmonious whole, united under the banner of a common ideal."

DAVID W. SIMONS, Detroit, Mich.—"I share in the hope that the action of the new combination will be as effective and correspondent with the splendid expressions of these high-minded men that were in attendance coming, as it did, at a time when it becomes so urgent to unite our people and even strengthen the confidence of the Zionists themselves and thereby uniting all factions in the greatest cause that is so dear to our people."

DR. ELIAS L. SOLOMON, New York, honorary president, United Synagogue of America.—"No Jew worthy the name can fail to be thrilled by the establishment of peace in Israel, particularly when the welfare of Eretz Yisroel and of our people is at stake. May peace endure in our midst."

RABBI HYMAN SOLOMON, Beth Israel Congregation, Vineland, N. J.—"The outcome of the Conference signifies that American Jews can be united to solve their great national problems which are crying for solution. Thus, Jewish education, which means the very perpetuation of Jewish life in this country, can only be solved through a national body working on a national basis."

MRS. HAROLD SPIELBERG, New York City.—"To my mind the decisions reached at this conference are the most momentous and epoch-making in the history of the Jews. This is the beginning of the real up-building of Palestine, and all those responsible for this great achievement are to be heartily congratulated."
