ZIONIST ORGAN
DISCUSSES IDEA-OF
SEVENTH DOMINION

Pros and Cons Must Be Considered
Before Stand Taken

The pros and cons concerning the Seventh Dominion idea are discussed at length in an article by Abe Goldberg in the current issue of "Dos Yiddische Folk," fortnightly organ of the Zionist Organization of America.

The quid pro quod proposal embodied in the Wedgwood plan of a Seventh Dominion has both advantages and disadvantages, the writer states. It has a strong theoretical basis, it is of interest not only to the English but also to the Jews and has in it the element of give and take. It also has the effect that the main motive which has brought together the Jews and Great Britain in relation to Palestine is brought into public discussion and is leading to its logical consequence. Until now, the idealistic motives were emphasized on the part of Great Britain. The impression was thus created that whatever the British government did for the Jews in Palestine was purely for altruistic reasons. The result was that many Englishmen were grumbling at the enterprise and the cost involved. British officials for this very reason failed to understand their proper role in Palestine.

The Seventh Dominion proposal would radically change the situation and insure the whole hearted cooperation of Great Britain in the establishment of the Jewish National Home and in the creation of a Jewish majority. It would lead to Britain's investment of capital, securing of markets, conferring the same rights enjoyed by British citizens abroad upon Palestine citizens.

The proposal, however, has disadvantages, Mr. Goldberg continues. Instead of the Zionist dream of a Jewish state, the enterprise will be reduced to a part of the British Empire. Palestine as the Seventh Dominion would involve it in the British Empire's problems. England has not only friends throughout the world, but also many enemies. "Her enemies would suddenly become our enemies as well," the article states. A concrete example can already be found in Soviet Russia. The Soviet government does not permit Zionist activities in the country, declaring them to be counter revolutionary, because Zionism is interpreted there as purposing to help English Imperialism. This is a false accusation. The Jews have nothing to do with English Imperialism. If Palestine, however, becomes the Seventh Dominion, the situation would become more complicated and in particular, during the time of a crisis or a war. Under the old Zionist plan, Palestine would be a neutral country. It would also create difficulties for the Jewish communities in those countries which might be on one side or another should a conflict arise.

"These facts must be taken into consideration before a decision is reached. The pros and cons must be weighed carefully. The prospect of securing at once the active assistance of Great Britain in the rebuilding of Palestine is a strong argument for the proposal. But

MICHELSON GETS ARTS AND SCIENCES SOCIETY
GOLD MEDAL AWARD

Presentation Made at Dinner for His Achievements in Science

Prof. Albert Abraham Michelson of the University of Chicago and Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan of the Institute of California, formerly a pupil of Dr. Michelson, were awarded gold medals by the Society of Arts and Sciences, for their achievements in science.

The awards were made at a dinner at the Biltmore Hotel, New York, Friday night. Dr. Millikan in his address spoke on "Michelson's Economic Value." To him, he said, he owed much of his own success in scientific research work. He attributed to Dr. Michelson the development of method and discoveries which are fundamental in the science of today and tomorrow. Prof. Michelson spoke briefly, declaring that he had sought the velocity of light for the "pure fun and love of it."

JACOB LANDAU, MANAGING DIRECTOR, SAILS ABROAD

Jacob Landau, Managing Director of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency and the Jewish Daily Bulletin, sailed Friday night on the S. S. Olympic for an extended tour of Europe and Palestine.

His itinerary will include visits to the principal centers in the interest of the improvement and expansion of the news service of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

Mr. Landau will be in Jerusalem during the Passover season when a meeting of the Zionist General Council will take place, and many Zionist and non-Zionist leaders will confer on further work in Palestine.

A dinner in honor of Louis Mann, well-known actor, was given by The Friars, Friday night, at their clubhouse, 110 West 148th Street, New York City.

perhaps it may also be possible that Palestine as the Seventh Dominion could secure such a status which would not compel it to go to war unless attacked. This may be possible of achievement in few of the special circumstances of Palestine as the Holy Land harboring the holy sites of half of the world. If this could be achieved, one of the strongest arguments against the Seventh Dominion idea would be removed, the article concludes.

BRITISH WHITE PAPER ON COLONIAL DEVELOPMENT TRACES PALESTINE PROGRESS

Says 1920 Conditions of Disturbance and Poverty Radically Changed
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, Feb. 23.—The progress in Palestine since 1920 is pointed out in a White Paper issued by the British Colonial Office "in order to give an idea of what was done during the last four years in paving the way towards a new era of colonial development and to show the progress in the Colonial Empire."

In 1920, the White Paper states, Palestine was in a disturbed, impoverished condition, with few good means of communication, and provided practically no beneficial service to the inhabitants of the country; whereas today order prevails, there is an excellent system of main roads and large sums were spent for the direct benefit of the population, on education, health and other social services.

In a foreword by Colonial Secretary Amery, he states: The Colonial Empire comprises whole territories under the control of the Colonial Office, with fifty millions of population and 500 millions in annual trade. Although the immense diversity of forms of administration and political organization allows no uniformity, still the colonies possess a certain unity derived from the underlying basis of administration thought and method.

CONFIRM REPORT OF PLAN FOR HERZL MONUMENT

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Vienna, Feb. 23.—The previous report concerning a plan for the erection of a monument to Theodor Herzl, founder and late leader of the Zionist organization, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his death this summer was confirmed here. A committee of private citizens has undertaken the task. It is stated that the monument is to cost 30,000 Marks. A part of this sum has already been subscribed in Berlin and the rest is expected to be raised in Vienna, London and New York.

Although the place where the monument will be erected has not yet been determined upon, it is probable that it will be in Palestine. The municipality of Haifa is said to have declared its readiness to allocate a prominent site.

The situation has been relieved with flour, fodder and fuel. The sum of 5,000 roubles was sent to the colonies. The frost is decreasing. Livestock was not affected by the frost. A telegram from the colonies declared that the snow cover assures protection of the winter crops.

J. D. B. NEWS LETTER

Colonial Office Urges Economy in Palestine Administration

By J. T. A. Correspondents

Jerusalem, Feb. 10.—Economy in the Palestine administration is urged upon the High Commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Amery, in the course of an exchange of correspondence between them on the financial position of Palestine in regard to the 1929 Estimates, which has just been published here. It is necessary, Mr. Amery writes in reply to Sir John's statement of the position, to prepare a reserve program cutting the Palestine Government Services by £100,000, according to the recommendations made by the Economy Commission appointed in June 1928 by Field Marshal Lord Plumer, then High Commissioner, and to give effect to this program in 1930 if the necessity arises.

Mr. Amery gives his approval to the intention of the Palestine Government to decrease the amount of public works carried on in the country, on the ground that large extraordinary works were undertaken during the recent period solely for the purpose of relieving unemployment.

Mr. Amery suggests also an increase in the fees collected by the Immigration Department, for the purpose of making the Department self-supporting. He praises the Budget of the Railways Department, which shows an excess of revenue owing to the economizing measures undertaken by this department.

The High Commissioner, in his statement to the Colonial Office to which Mr. Amery made his reply, explained that 1928 was an abnormal year on account of the drought, the invasion of locusts and economic depression, but in 1929 the revenue would increase. The surplus balance at the end of 1928, he stated, was £360,206, as against £1,387,206 at the end of 1927, because £206,550 had been paid to cover the deficit of the Military Administration, £650,000 had been paid towards Palestine's share on the Ottoman Public Debt charges, and £84,357 for the Jerusalem water supply, etc. It was estimated that the 1929 revenue would amount to £2,540,312 and the expenditure was estimated at £2,577,336.

The construction of the Haifa Harbor and the development of orange plantations, the High Commissioner further stated, would stimulate trade and industry, which would increase the revenue.

Expenditure on the police force, it was pointed out, cannot be reduced, because of the special circumstances in Palestine, and because in the Orient disorder is apt to occur without notice in any place. There is a reference also in the statement to the Arab Agricultural School established with part of the funds bequeathed to Palestine by the late Sir Ellis Kadoorie. Instruction in the school, it is stated, will begin in the latter half of 1929.

HEIDELBERG UNIVERSITY AWARDS DR. KOLLER MEDAL FOR MEDICAL RESEARCH

Kussmaul Award Made to New York Jewish Ophthalmic Surgeon

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Feb. 23.—Dr. Carl Koller of New York City was awarded the Kussmaul Medal by the University of Heidelberg. The award, made on the anniversary of the birth of Prof. Kussmaul, famous physician, for whom the prize is named, went to Dr. Koller for his discovery of the use of cocaine as a local anesthetic of the eye.

VATICAN PACT SATISFIES JEWISH ORTHODOX ORGAN

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Vienna, Feb. 23.—Satisfaction with the conclusion of the concordat between the Italian government and the Vatican is expressed in the current issue of the "Juedische Presse," the official organ of the Orthodox Jewish world organization, Agudath Israel. The concordat for amicable relations between the Church and State in Italy will not adversely affect the rights of the Jewish community in the country, the paper states.

Furthermore, the peace between the State and Church will lead to a greater and stronger Jewish religious life, the paper declares. The admission of the Vatican to membership in the League of Nations will make the influence of the religious point of view more strongly felt in international affairs, a condition which was hoped for in a resolution adopted at the first world congress of the Agudath Israel, the paper declares.

SEES SPLENDID FUTURE FOR PALESTINE ORANGE INDUSTRY

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 23.—An all-Palestine orange show was opened in Jaffa Friday. Sir John Chancellor, High Commissioner, delivered the opening address, in which he stated that he had studied the citrus industry in many countries, but in no country has this industry such a splendid future as in Palestine.

In order to secure a good market for the Palestine oranges at high prices, co-operation between the Jews and the Arabs is necessary. The Jews deserve credit for securing the world market for this Palestine product, the High Commissioner stated.

A $60,000 drive for the Hebrew Home for the Aged of Portland, Maine, is being conducted.

SYNAGOGUES DEDICATED IN CHICAGO AND DENVER

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Dedication of the Loop Synagogue, gift of the Midwest Branch, United Synagogue of America, to the local Jewish community, took place on Sunday, at 6 North Clark Street. The synagogue will serve those men who find it difficult to attend synagogues in their respective residential neighborhoods because of their daily business routine. Services will be conducted in the morning, late afternoon and evening.

Among the speakers were Charles Oliff, President of the Midwest Branch of the United Synagogue; Judge Harry M. Fisher, Rabbi A. L. Lassen, Max Shulman, President of the Zionist Organization of Chicago; Dr. Joseph H. Margolies, President of the Council of Conservative Rabbis of Chicago; Mrs. Benjamin Davis, President of the Midwest Branch Women's League. The invocation was offered by Rabbi Max Kadushin and the benediction by Rabbi Morris Teller.

Edward Steinberg, Chairman of the Architectural and Construction Committee of the Loop Synagogue, voluntarily rendered his services in designing and constructing the synagogue.

The lighting fixtures, of bronze and glass, specially designed for the synagogue, were contributed by William Markoff, a member of the Chicago Advisory Board of the United Synagogue. A supply of prayer books was donated by A. Z. Halpern of Chicago.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 23.—Dedication ceremonies of the $500,000 Beth Medrosh Hagadol synagogue were held Friday, Feb. 22, under the direction of Rabbi C. H. Kauvar, who has headed the congregation for the last 30 years.

Tableaux recounting the history of the synagogue, from the time when it opened its doors 40 years ago to the pioneers of the state until the present date, was one of the features of the dedication.

The synagogue now serves more than 1,000 families and has a membership of more than 2,000.

Dr. Lewis L. Miller was chairman of the committee in charge. Other members were Morris H. Robinson, Lou Cohan, Sam Feldman, Sam Flaks, C. Friedman, S. J. Heller, L. A. Hellerstein, A. B. Hirschfeld, Louis Lipson, Abe Miller, J. M. Miller, H. J. Pells, Sam Reed, H. H. Robinson, C. H. Rosenblum, L. E. Shuteran, and Philip Rossmann. Mrs. Gerson I. Segal, president of the Women's League Auxiliary of the synagogue, directed the activities in which the women participated.

Bernard M. Baruch may be designated as chairman of a commission to make a thorough study of the curative possibilities of the famous mineral springs at Saratoga. It is indicated by officials. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is known to be considering names of those eligible for posts on the commission. Mr. Baruch may be picked as chairman, it is reported.

Mr. Baruch's experience as chairman of the War Industries Board during the Wilson administration, and his conspicuous place in commercial, industrial and financial affairs, nationally and internationally, fit him for the place, it was declared.

J. D. B. NEWS LETTER

The Commission appointed in June to recommend ways and means of balancing the budget was composed of Ernest Colville, District Commissioner for the North who was chairman, and F. Pudsey, Director of Public Works, and Col. W. Hudson, the Postmaster General.

Two measures were suggested: first, the cutting of administrative expenses by reduction of staff, etc., and second, an increase of taxation. It was believed that the first of these measures would result in a saving of £150,000, while the second would perhaps bring in an additional revenue of £150,000, making a total saving of £300,000.

Mr. Luke, the Chief Secretary of the Palestine Government, soon after his arrival in the country to take up his post, told press representatives that considerable economies in governmental expenditure were contemplated in the 1929 Estimates, in accordance with the recommendations of the Government Commission. No vital government services would, however, be curtailed.

Czaristic Restrictions in Poland Before Sejm Committee

Warsaw, Feb. 8.—The Ministry of Justice is not carrying out its duties as the guardian of right and justice in all spheres of State life, Deputy Dr. Rosmarin complained, when as the official reporter for the Legal Commission, he introduced today in the Sejm the budget of the Ministry of Justice. The laws regulating citizenship rights have not yet been enacted, he said, and those laws on the State Books which are in contradiction to the Constitution have not been abolished. It had been a matter of satisfaction to them to read in the press recently that the Ministry intended to proceed shortly to deal with these laws.

Deputy Jan Pilsudski, of the Government bloc, objected to the attitude adopted by Deputy Rosmarin on the Czarist restriction laws. The whole attention of the Government, he said, is needed for the purpose of enacting laws which will benefit the entire population of the country and not only the citizens of one particular nationality. In such questions as that of the Czarist restrictions against the Jewish population, the initiative, he said, must come from the Deputies concerned.

Deputy Rosmarin replied that several proposals have been presented on this question, but they have not been considered.

Deputy Cialkasz of the Polish Socialist Party interjected: "And meanwhile the session of the Sejm will come to an end."

Deputy Wygodsky, speaking for the Club of Jewish Deputies on the budget of the Ministry of Education during the same sitting, said that for the Jews, the Ministry of Public Education has been converted from a Ministry of Enlightenment into a Ministry for spreading darkness. "So far," he said, "our fight by loyal means to obtain our rights has achieved nothing, and that is why the voices which say that it

HARRY JACOBS, RICKARD OF GREAT BRITAIN, DIES

(J. T. A. Mail Service)

London, Feb. 7.—Harry Jacobs, famous boxing promoter, died in London yesterday afternoon at the age of sixty-one. Mr. Jacobs' name was known to thousands of boxing enthusiasts. He had staged in his time some of the most important boxing matches in the world and was known in the boxing world as the Rickard of Great Britain.

"Harry Jacobs' death was sudden, but not altogether unexpected," Fred Dartnell, the well known sporting writer in the "Daily News," stated. "He had been seriously ill for some time, and should have gone to Madeira, but remained in London to direct his last promotion. To the more modern boxing fan he was known merely as the arbiter of the noble art at the Albert Hall, but he gained his baptism as a promoter at the old Wonderland Hall in the East End. Like his prototype, Tex Rickard, he lived in exciting times in those days. It needed a masterful personality to sway the unruly elements which made up the boxing game then, and Harry Jacobs never failed to rise to the most exacting occasion."

Rabbi Chaim Nahum Kaufman of Jerusalem, died in Albany, N. Y., on Thursday, at the age of 44. Death was due to pneumonia. The body will be taken to Jerusalem. A widow and seven children survive.

Jacob Derelowitz, said to have been the oldest resident of Baltimore, died at the White House for incurables, at the age of 111. Mr. Derelowitz was born in Russia. His life spanned the period between Napoleon and Lindbergh.

will never achieve anything are growing in number. The Jewish people's schools still do not enjoy public rights and they receive no Government aid. The children in the Polish People's Schools are receiving instruction without fees, but the Jewish parents have to pay for the education of their children. In the secondary school the numerus clausus is still applied. The Hebrew and Yiddish secondary schools have no public rights, and the university enforces a numerus clausus. At the medical faculty, the question of Jewish corpses is brought up in such a form that it is impossible for Jews to obtain a medical training.
