Chief Rabbi Comments on Jewish Conditions in Russia and Italy

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, July 17—Some of the problems which occupy Jewish public opinion throughout the world were presented for dicussion at a conference of Anglo-Jewish preachers which opened here today. The proceedings will last three days.

The keynote was sounded by Dr. Joseph H. Hertz, Chief Rabbi of the British Empire, in which he reviewed Jewish conditions throughout the world. Russia and Italy occupied prominent space in the presentation. Russian Jewry continues to suffer agony. Synagogues are being desecrated, rabbis degraded, the Hebrew culture throttled and Zionists imprisoned, the Chief Rabbi stated. In Italy the State schools are permeated with Catholicism and Jewish children are exposed to the danger of conversion. The problem that is now being created in Italy is of a serious nature and it is necessary that the situation be met by proper steps, he said.

Hopeful notes were struck by Dr. Hertz when he described the development of the Jewish Agency and the growth of Jewish communal life in South America. He rejoices to see the rise of a new Jewry in the heart of Latin America, with Jewish congregations and Jewish schools, he said.

To Investigate Whether Local Soviets Execute Government's Orders to Ameliorate Condition of Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, July 17—The Commissariat of the Interior yesterday issued an order to all local Soviets in the Ukraine to assign free government land to the declassed Jews in order to enable them to become dairymen or vegetable farmers.

The Comzet, governmental department for settling Jews on the land has for a long time requested such an action on the part of the Ukainian Government. It maintains now that the order has come too late to be able to develop the project this year. It urges the Jews, however, to immediately present claims for free land in order to assure themselves of a field for future activity.

An important decision, which it is believed will have an important bearing on the improvement of conditions in the small towns has just been adopted by the Ukrainian Inspection Commissariat, the highest body, controlling the activities of Government Institutions. The Commissariat has ordered an investigation to discover whether local Soviets fully execute Government orders aiming to improving conditions of the Jews in the towns.

The investigation, which will begin next week, is the result of the suspicion that, due to anti Semitic prejudice, a number of Soviet officials have declined to undertake reconstruction of the towns. The investigators, it is stated, will consult with Jewish organizations functioning in the towns which are the subject of the inquiry.

The autumn term will begin October 1, 1929.

The extension courses heretofore given in the evening mainly for the benefit of the students of Graz College have been discontinued in view of the increase of the faculty of that college.

In the library there are recorded a total of 36,658 volumes.

The library now includes about 450 fragments from the Cairo Genizah, in Hebrew and Arabic; 169 Oriental manuscripts (in Arabic, Ethiopic, Hebrew, Samaritan, Coptic, Persian, Sanscrit and Turkish); a few fragments of Coptic Papyri; 30 Incunabula; and 257 sixteenth century books.

who have arrived in Russia to investigate the colonization possibilities in Bira Bidjan. The delegates including Pinchos Katz, editor of the "Presse Schlieffer, Buenos Aires Yiddish daily, Miss Epstein and Mr. Rechovitsky were greeted by Merezhin, Chasin, and Litvakoff, who will accompany them on a tour of the colonies.

Moscow, July 17—An investigation carried on in ten villages with a Jewish population of seventy thousand and a non Jewish populace of 19,000 revealed a situation regarded as characteristic of the Jewish economic conditions in the small towns. It established that the position of the Jewish youth is very difficult, with the declassed numbers swelling and unemployment on the increase due to the growth of the cooperative movement and the elimination of the private trader. The Jewish artisans fare badly due to a dearth of raw material. The Commission demands that help be despatched to these villages immediately, the villages under investigation being, Baranovke, Romanov, Mariupol, Korostichev, Voldarusk, Chernikiov, Kodnie, Sokolov and Polin.

WARSAW JEWISH ENGINEER AIDED FLIGHT TO NEW YORK

A prominent part in the preparations for the transatlantic flight of the Marzalec Pilsudski, which ended in disaster at the Azores, was played by Edward Weisblat, Polish Jewish engineer of Warsaw, who arrived in New York shortly before the expected date of the Polish fliers' arrival.

He was overcome when the first news of the disaster reached New York. He refused to believe that his personal friend, Major Idzikowski, was dead, basing his confidence on a cablegram received from Major Kubala despatched early and delayed in transit.

Mr. Weisblat helped financially and was instrumental in raising additional funds both for the first and second flights of the Polish aviators. In a cablegram to Weisblat from the Azores, the surviving Polish flier, Kubala, declares that he is ready to consider a new flight if his friend Weisblat will formulate a plan.

Funeral services will be held this morning at 10.30 for Dr. Harry Freeman, New York physician, 45 years, who died yesterday at the French Hospital. The services will be conducted at the Beth Hamedrash Synagogue, 23 East 7th street. Burial will take place at the Mount Zion Cemetery. The pall bearers will be Jacob Klein, Judge Herman H. Gottlieb, Samuel Krulevitch, J. Levenson and James Southard.

Dr. Freeman, who was sixty-five years old, was for twelve years attendant physician at the Ladies' Deborah Nursery and Protectory. He served as an examiner in lunacy at the Beth Israel Hospital. He was the president of the Hamedrash Hochodeh Talmud Torah Synagogue. He is survived by his widow, a son and two daughters.

The Newark City Commission refused to enact an ordinance prohibiting the opening of all food shops on Sundays, except those where the food is served on the premises.

The ordinance which was proposed by the Retail Grocers' Association of Essex County, would have hit principally at delicatessen stores.

TO CONTEST RESULT OF UNITED STATES ZIONIST ELECTIONS AT ZURICH

The decision of the highest authority in the Zionist Organization in election matters will be invoked before the Sixteenth Zionist Congress goes into session, to settle the dispute between various Zionist groups in the United States concerning the result of the election of delegates held on June 9.

From a circular letter, issued by Jacob DeHaas prior to sailing for Europe, to the members of the Association for Z. O. A. Reorganization, it appears that both the Zionist Organization of America and the Herzl Zionist group have contested the elections. The matter will be taken up by the Congress court. The Z. O. A. has protested the Poale Zion and Zeire Zion elections. The Herzl group likewise protested. "If the protest is sustained I will be a delegate; I am leaving therefore, for Zurich and hope on my return to issue a full report. We are protesting the elections, not so much in the hope of correcting the present mix-up, but in order to prevent like occurrences in the future," Mr. DeHaas stated.

Unexpected circumstances prevented Judge Mack from attending the Congress as a delegate of the Herzl Zionists. Dr. Harry Friedenwald will attend in his stead as delegate, and Mr. DeHaas as an alternate.

"What can be done in the organization of the Agency to maintain Zionist principles will be done," the circular stated. "Frankly, we cannot be sanguine as to the prospect of our fellow Zionists standing firm at this juncture."

ORAL HYGIENE GROUP LAUDS GUGGENHEIMS

The work of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Guggenheim who have recently established a fund to provide clinics for the dental care of children was lauded in a resolution adopted by the Oral Hygiene Committee of Greater New York, the representative body of the dental profession of New York.

The resolution, after commending the interest of the Guggenheims, extended the offer to the Foundation of "the wholehearted co-operation of the organized dental profession of the city of New York in most effectively serving the children of our city in connection with the purposes of the Guggenheim Foundation."

The resolutions, signed by Dr. William McGill Burns, Chairman, and Dr. Joseph H. Kauffman, Secretary of the Committee were sent to the Guggenheims and to Dr. S. S. Goldwater, acting director for the Guggenheim Foundation.

PEACE CONCLUDED IN GARMENT INDUSTRY BY 3-YEAR AGREEMENT

Workers Union Freed from Communist Influence, Officials Say

The garment workers union was freed from Communist influence, as the shortest strike in the history of the industry was officially ended Tuesday afternoon when an agreement between the employers and workers for a three year period was signed by the principal factors involved.

The ceremonies took place in the Governor's Room at City Hall. Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Mayor Walker affixed their signatures to the documents as witnesses.

The workers union has now completely recovered from the Communist adventure of the 1926 strike, according to a statement issued by Benjamin Schlessinger, President of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. He pointed out that during the referendum held among the strikers on Monday afternoon on the question as to whether or not the strike is to be ended on the terms offered, 16,094 workers voted in favor of the peace settlement with 358 voting against. Two hundred and sixty-five blank ballots were passed. At the close of the strike of 1926, the Communist leadership of the strike refused to take a referendum vote, Mr Schlessinger pointed out.

Energetic action to reorganize the union under right wing leadership followed. According to figures made public by the International, an amount of $200,000 representing one day's pay was voted by the shop chairmen in behalf of 19,000 returning strikers for the support of 11,000 workers still on strike in an effort to "crush the non union sweat shops." Ten thousand dollars were collected by the International in one day as dues from the returning workers taking out union cards, Isidore Nagler, Joint Board Manager, announced.

Five thousand workers from non union shops, including former Communists, registered with the International. Three hundred thousand dollars have been pledged by various sources in support of the strike according to David Dubinsky, Acting President of the Union.

At the City Hall ceremonies there were present, besides the Mayor and the Lieutenant Governor, Benjamin Schlessinger for the International, I. Grossman, President of the Industrial Council, Morris H. Haft, President of the American Ladies Garment Association and Joseph Schwartz, President of the American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers Association, who delivered addresses. All factors will have to cooperate to carry out the agreement so that the evils of the sub standard and sweat shops may be ended, Lieutenant Governor Lehman stated, urging the creation of strong unions and strong employers association. He urged the union leaders to help build up the employers associations so that the manufacturers or merchants who play fair,

Chicago to Have New Temple

Chicago, Ill., July 14—The new Temple Sholom is nearing completion and, it is now expected, will be ready for dedication some time in November, to be used the first time for the Holidays. The new community house, according to plans, will open about September 1. The development, which occupies a block on Sheridan Road, extending from Stratford Place on the south to Cornelia Avenue on the north, represents an investment of $1,600,000.

Rabbi Abram Hirschberg has been for more than three decades spiritual leader of Temple Sholom, the pioneer Jewish congregation of the north side.

For bringing the building project to a materialization, credit is given to Benjamin M. Engelhard, president of the congregation for more than twenty-five years.

Members of the building committee include W. B. Frankenstein, chairman; David Weber, Henry R. Levy, Max Sobel, Sidney Mandl, Milton Friend, L. L. Cohn, R. F. Lowenstein, Richard Pick, Rabbi Abram Hirschberg, and Benjamin M. Engelhard.

The exterior is of Lannon stone and tile, with mosaic inserts and designs, and a mosaic tile roof. Sixteen large stained glass windows depict symbols of the ancient Hebrew religion.

The temple auditorium, which will seat approximately 3,000 persons, has an imposing altar, directly opposite the monumental entrance, which, on occasions demanding additional seating, slides back, throwing the temple and school auditorium together.

The temple and school auditorium walls are paneled walnut and marble, with a decorated mosaic dome above the temple. The entire temple is lighted from the eye of the dome with powerful indirect lights, giving the effect of sunlight.

The policy of the temple will be extremely broad. Any organization, regardless of religious creed, engaged in civic, educational or philanthropic endeavors will be welcomed.

The community house is a memorial by W. B. Frankenstein, in memory of his parents, Morris and Jeanette Frankenstein.

Michelson to Undertake New Speed of Light Experiments

Chicago, Ill., July 18—Dr. Albert A. Michelson, world-famous physicist, was in receipt of permission from the war department to use the Ross flying field of Pasadena, Cal., for his second experiment of measuring the speed of light. The application to use the field was filed by the Mount Wilson observatory at Pasadena.

A straight path, one-half mile long, is available on the field. The light will be reflected along the course by mirrors and timed. The resultant speed figure, besides being freer from error will serve as a check on previous values. By his latest test Dr. Michelson hopes to achieve a result in which the probable error is reduced to one part in a million.

Jerusalem, July 17—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of Dr. Theodor Herzl is being marked here with an exhibition of the documents of the Zionist leader in the National Library. Included in the collection on display are many valuable documents as well as photographs. Among them are the papers relating to the Herzl delegation's interview with Kaiser Wilhelm concerning a Palestine settlement in 1898, Herzl's testament of 1901 asking that his children be cared for after his death, and originals of several speeches delivered before the Zionist Congress.

Jerusalem, July 17—The income of the Keren Hayesod, the Palestine Foundation Fund, for the month of July amounted to £31,765, approximately $158,000.

Mrs. Dora Oltarsh of 201 West 84th Street is the chief beneficiary in the $6,000 estate left by Wolf Hertz Oltarsh, her husband, pioneer in the use of steel for building construction, who died on March 23. people. At recent conferences for world peace, the Jewish voice was adequately heard, the Jews being heart and soul for the peace movement.

Two American subjects were referred to in the address, one pertaining to the establishment in New York of the Yeshiva College, and the second to the fight conducted in the United States by Jewish organizations against the proposed calendar reform. The establishment of the Yeshiva College is a wonderful omen for the future. We see now a great state, recognizing a Yeshiva which is being placed in a position to be able to grant University degrees and to make Jewish studies and Rabbinical studies a part of the curriculum, he said.

The movement for reforming the calendar was termed by Dr. Hertz "a crazy notion" which is backed by high financial interest and American railway owners who, he said, spend large American money to mislead the public. The speaker referred with praise to the work of Congressman Solomon Bloom of New York, who is now on a visit to London, in his fight against calendar reform. He rendered a great service to Jewry, he stated.

Tribute to the memory of Moses Mendelsohn, the 200th anniversary of whose birth is to be celebrated soon, was paid by Dr. Moses Gaster and Dr. Hertz. Dr. Gaster spoke on Mendelsohn's influence on Jewry and Dr. Hertz described the philosopher as a "man who combined culture with loyal devotion to religion."

Rev. Vivian Simmons, of the Reform Synagogue, complained against the exclusion from the Conference of Anglo-Jewish Preachers of the ministers of the London Liberal Synagogue. Such exclusion was unwarranted, he said, and exhibits a spirit of "jealousy, suspicion and mistrust within a religious community." He declared that he regards the hostility towards the liberal body as a reproach to the spirit of brotherhood which has always been idealized in Jewish teachings. He urged that Orthodox and Reform rabbis work together, exchange pulpits, without expecting ministers to do the bidding of one man or a group of men. A heated discussion developed on the subject. Some of the members of the Conference demanded that steps be taken to secure a more intensive instruction in literature, philosophy and economics for students preparing for the Rabbinate.

Dr. Hertz said that he was opposed to inviting men who are in disagreement with the very foundations of traditional Judaism to sit together with the members of the Conference of Anglo-Jewish Preachers. Although the Orthodox are trying to work together with others in matters of charity and education, they cannot cooperate in matters of a strictly theological concern, he said.

cago scientist and winner of the Nobel prize are to lay down a sheet iron pipe three feet in diameter and one-half mile long. The air is to be pumped out from the long pipe and a beam of light reflected back and forth by special mirrors like a ball on a billiard table.

A rotating prism—operated by an air turbine and timed by a vibrating tuning fork—and a series of mirrors will cast the beam of light over the accurately measured course. Because the pipe will be evacuated the errors due to air resistance are expected to be eliminated.

The prismatic mirror will be eight-sided. When its rotation is such that the image of the light beam, traveling to the end of the pipe, cast back to one of the facets and over to the eye of the physicist, is stationary the ray's velocity can be calculated from the speed at which the mirror is whirling.

Two years ago, in a speed test made between Mount Wilson and Mount Old Baldy, Dr. Michelson determined that light in a vacuum traveled 186,284 miles a second. This mean value was held correct within one part in 100,000.

Maurice H. Newmark Dies

Los Angeles, July 10—Maurice H. Newmark, a member of one of the pioneer Jewish families of Los Angeles, died at his summer home in Santa Monica. Rabbi Maxwell Dubin, assistant Rabbi at Temple B'nai B'rith, officiated at the funeral.

The late Mr. Newmark was a member of one of the most prominent of the early Jewish settlers in Los Angeles, a grandson of Joseph Newmark, who founded Temple B'nai B'rith, and a son of Harris Newmark, who at one time was the officiating rabbi of this congregation. Mr. Newmark took a great interest in the development of the congregation and was a member of the building committee of the new structure on Wilshire Boulevard. He was keenly interested in Jewish matters and a contributor to Jewish philanthropy.

The United Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign here or $200,000 is concentrating every effort to close the campaign within the next ten days and reach its quota.

Irving H. Hellman, chairman of the campaign, indicated that approximately 50 per cent of the goal has been reached with many reports from chairmen of the various divisions still due. Mr. Hellman expressed the opinion that when these reports are forthcoming, the percentage would be increased considerably.
