Problem of Jewish Artisans in Small Towns Near Collectives Becoming Serious in Ukraine

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 13—Worried over what is to become of the thousands of Jewish artisans in the small towns near the collectivized regions, the All-Ukrainian Central Executive Committee today urged the Soviet cabinet to outline concrete plans for solving this new and serious problem which endangers the existence of every resident of the small towns.

It is foreseen that the small towns as such will be entirely uprooted by the present collectivization of villages and no one will have any work there. This is due to the fact that the collectivized villages accepted as a full-fledged member of the collective one or two artisans from the town, leaving the rest entirely without prospects because the artisans who are members of the collectives serve the collective in their profession, thus a few do the work of dozens of Jewish artisans who served the same peasants individually before they were collectivized.

Because of this concentration of labor and also because the collectives are unable to absorb the complete small town, those Jewish artisans who have not been accepted into the collectives are facing starvation, having nothing to do. The same is true of the Jewish youth in the small towns who are losing interest in being trained as artisans because they cannot in the future apply their training.

A similar problem has also faced the

Arab Delegation Leaving for London February 20

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 13—The Arab delegation to London will leave February 20. In the meantime the Arab Executive is strenuously trying to dampen the opposition by asking the Arabic newspapers to refrain from criticism in order that the delegation may be able to speak on behalf of all Arabs. Nevertheless, such important towns as Nablus and Tulkarem are ignoring their quota of expenses for the delegation.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Others who will attend are Victor Colchen, Pica manager, and De Leon, adviser of silk culture for the Palestine government as the latter's official representative.

Communist Party Intends to Liquidate Yevsekstzia

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 13—The Central Committee of the Communist Party intends to dissolve the Yevsekstzia, Jewish section of the Communist Party, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency learns from reliable sources. The liquidation is expected to take place this week. According to the decision Communist work among the Jews will henceforth be conducted by the Central Committee itself through a special instructor appointed for that purpose.

The decision to liquidate the Yevsekstzia will be a tremendous relief for the Jewish economic position for the Central Committee's decision says clearly that a demarcation is to be established between the orders of the Communist Party and the orders of the Soviet government, whereby the Communist instructor will be authorized to deal with matters concerning the party only, but not to interfere with the orders of the Union Central Executive Committee of the Soviet cabinet as was done by the Yevsekstzia when representing Jewish interests. The liquidating decision has not been published in the Communist press.

Report Anti-Jewish Excesses Again from Kishinev

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Vienna, Feb. 13—Widespread anti-Jewish excesses have occurred in Kishinev, according to reports in yesterday's afternoon Vienna papers. Theological students are reported to have demolished a number of Jewish shops, destroyed property and thrashed a number of Jewish visitors in the Cafe Venezia. The anti-Semites then proceeded to stage a demonstration in the streets. While the police are said to have done their best to prevent the trouble from spreading and arrested a number of the students the Jewish population is panic-stricken.

Further reports in the Austrian papers say that a meeting of the Jewish council in Kishinev was called to consider measures of protection.

Seek to Protect Jewesses from Polish White Slave Traffic

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Warsaw, Feb. 13—The committee to combat the white slave traffic has asked the Rabbinate to exercise the greatest care in the marriage of girls going abroad, particularly where the husbands are foreigners. Simultaneously the committee has asked the authorities to increase their control over women going abroad because there has recently been an increase in the white slave traffic which has been responsible for the misleading of a number of Jewish girls.

Kosher Meat Controversy Stirs Jews of Cleveland and Neighboring Towns

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Cleveland, Feb. 13—Hope for peaceful settlement of the controversy between Benjamin Cohen for Swift & Company, on one hand, and the kosher board and rabbis' union on the other, vanished when a conference called by Judge David Thomas of Common Pleas Court ended without the desired results. The trouble arose from a demand by Cohen for a permanent injunction against the rabbis, who a few weeks ago banned two Jewish slaughterers. A temporary injunction enjoined the rabbis and the kosher board from interfering with the business of Swift & Company and Cohen, and forbade the kosher board from advising the Jewish community that meat coming from Swift was not under its supervision, that it was not kosher and that Swift's slaughterers were under the ban.

When Cohen, testifying on his own behalf, pretended to be an authority on Jewish ecclesiastical law and attempted to tell the court what can and cannot be done under the kashruth laws, Jews in the court burst into tears at the spectacle of a Jew dragging Jewish law in the mud. Cohen claimed that the rabbis and the kosher board

Inquiry Commission's Report Expected at End of Month

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, Feb. 13—While demands for a statement of the expected date of the issuance of the report of the Inquiry Commission were coming from all sides in the House of Commons, the "Daily Mail" learned that the report will be in the hands of Lord Passfield, Colonial Minister, by the end of February.

Replying to the questions in the House of Commons, Drummond Sheils, Under-Secretary for the Colonies, said that he had made inquiries but that he was not yet in a position to state when it would be ready. He told the House that the Commission was working very hard. It is known here that the Commission is meeting in London twice a week.

South African Quota Bill Passes Second Reading

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Capetown, Feb. 13.—The new South African immigration quota bill limiting the number of immigrants to be admitted annually from all countries except 12 Nordic ones in Europe, the British Commonwealth and the United States to 50 was overwhelmingly passed at its second reading, with the majority voting for it being composed of all parties.

An amendment suggested by a Labor member to refer the bill to a select committee was defeated with only eleven votes in favor of it. Minister Malan and other speakers vigorously denied that the bill discriminates against the Jews, while admitting that the Jews form the bulk of immigrants from certain of the countries restricted under the bill.

A significant feature of the debate was the almost complete absence of speeches on the government side. Even the premier was silent. No direct attack on the Jews was made; on the contrary, all speakers gave vent to expressions of friendship. The one exception was Mr. MacCullum of the South African Party, from Capetown, who directed his attack on the business morality of the Jews.

Police Prepare to Guard Bucharest Jewish Centers

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Bucharest, Feb. 13.—Students here are planning to organize a demonstration. As measures of protection the authorities have placed a police guard on all synagogues and Jewish community buildings. To facilitate the maintaining of order, chairman Berkowitz has ordered the postponement of the festivities in connection with the inauguration of the Jewish seminary.

Gruenbaum Quits Presidency of Jewish Deputies Club

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Warsaw, Feb. 13.—Deputy Isaac Gruenbaum resigned yesterday as president of the "Kolo," or Jewish Parliament Club. Gruenbaum resigned because a meeting of the "Kolo" had refused his proposal to vote as a body in parliament against the government budget. Only three other deputies, Hartglass, Davidsohn and Koerner, supported Gruenbaum, who claimed that the changes which the government had made in the budget in favor of Jewish needs were too insignificant for the Jewish deputies to support the budget as a whole. Deputy Szabad did not vote on the Gruenbaum proposal.

The majority of the "Kolo" members took the attitude that though they couldn't vote for the budget, because of the government's attitude towards minorities, the government of Premier Bartel had, however, shown good will, and that they must therefore refrain from voting in order to give the government time to realize its good intentions.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency learns that the Mizrahi deputies will ask the "Kolo" not to accept Gruenbaum's resignation.

In an interview with the Jewish Telegraphic Agency correspondent, the Galician deputy Schreiber declared that the Galician deputies are not prepared to take over the leadership of the "Kolo," for when they were at one time the leaders there were complaints that they represented only a minority of the Jews in Poland and that they weren't therefore entitled to formulate policies for all the Jews of Poland.

Meanwhile Deputies Gruenbaum and Farbshten have left for Berlin at the request of Dr. Weizmann.

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Pittsburgh, Feb. 13.—Albert C. Lehman, industrialist, and director of Montefiore Hospital, has been elected a member of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh. The election carries with it membership on the board of trustees of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

60 Hebronites Return to Tombs of Riot Victims

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 13.—About sixty Hebronites, mostly yeshiva students, visited Hebron yesterday for the dedication of the tombstones of the victims of the massacre and also for the burial of the clothing and other blood-soaked effects left in houses since the massacre. The visitors were not allowed to visit the Cave of Machpelah because police superintendent Lamont was unable to communicate with headquarters in Jerusalem regarding a police escort.

Dressmakers' Strike Ends Due to Lehman's Mediation

The strike of the New York dress makers which had been going on for more than a week was officially ended on Wednesday when representatives of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, the manufacturers, contractors and jobbers met at City Hall and signed an agreement to maintain peace in the industry for the next two years. The settlement of the strike was accomplished through the mediation of Lieutenant-Governor Lehman. Both the Lieutenant-Governor and Acting Mayor McKee acted as witnesses when the agreement was signed at City Hall.

As a result of the settlement about 22,000 workers were expected to return to work within the next few days. The agreement which is considered a victory for the workers will virtually do away with the sweatshop and will result in the formation of an impartial commission which will henceforth settle disputes which may arise in the dress industry. This commission will be appointed by Governor Roosevelt and will be composed of representatives of the unions, of the three employers' associations and of three other disinterested persons. The commission will be appointed for a period of three months, but if it is successful, it will be made into a permanent body.

Besides the abolition of sweat shops and the formation of the impartial committee, the settlement also gives the workers a 40-hour 5-day week. No increase in wages was asked, that matter having by agreement been postponed for a year.

Two thousand cutters and sample men went back to work Wednesday after their agreement had been ratified. It is expected that the full 22,000 will be back at work by Monday. An additional 10,000 will still be out, pending the settlement of their differences with independent shops not members of either of the three employers' associations.

New Orleans, Feb. 13.—Plans are being made here to organize a council of Jews and Christians to discuss inter-related problems and to seek to mould an understanding between the various sects. The plans for the council followed an address by Everett Clinchy, secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and director of the National Conference of Jews and Christians.

I.O.B.B. Covenant Lodge Marks Silver Jubilee

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Duluth, Feb. 13.—The Jewish jubilee of Covenant Lodge, Independent Order B'nai B'rith, was held here last Sunday with more than four hundred guests attending. Alfred M. Cohen, of Cincinnati, international president of I.O.B.B. and Dr. I. M. Rubinow, executive secretary of the constitutional grand lodge, also of Cincinnati, were guests of honor. A banquet, held in the evening, concluded the ceremonies. In the afternoon a class of candidates from seven lodges in various cities was initiated as the Alfred M. Cohen class. Mr. Cohen was the principal speaker at the banquet. Others who participated included: Rabbi Harvey E. Wessel, J. E. Segal, president of the Covenant Lodge; A. B. Kapplin, and Charles D. Oreckovsky.

Notable Collection of Jewish Books Acquired by Harvard

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

New Orleans, Feb. 13.—Harvard University has acquired the library of Ephraim Deinard, father-in-law of Rabbi Mendel Silber, both of New Orleans. One of the largest, most complete and most valuable collections of Hebrew books and manuscripts to be found in private possession anywhere in the world, Mr. Deinard's library was much sought after. On many occasions a duplicate volume supplied an urgent request from the British Museum in London.

All health and loss of eyesight caused Mr. Deinard, now in his eighties, to give up the 12,000 volumes he had collected through years of travel in Europe and the Orient. At Harvard the books will constitute the "Deinard Collection," just as does the section on Semitic literature in the Library of Congress in Washington.

Included in the collection are 65 volumes by Mr. Deinard, himself, incunabula of which the first Hebrew book printed—Tur Hoshen Mishpat—is one, and 21 volumes published in Pieve di Sacco in 1475 are others; 25 volumes of half-incunabula; 500 volumes of First Editions and exceedingly rare prints, Talmud, Lexica and thousands of others as valuable.

Previous to the foundation of the "Deinard Collection" in the Library of Congress, Mr. Deinard made one of the many trips he has taken throughout the civilized world in search of Semitic books. This journey was sponsored by the United States government.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

"American Israelite" Sold by Jonah Wise and Mrs. Ochs

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Cincinnati, Feb. 13.—The "American Israelite," founded 75 years ago by Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, and now the oldest existing Anglo-Jewish weekly in the United States, was sold yesterday by its owners, Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, a son of the founder, and Mrs. Adolph S. Ochs, a daughter of the founder, and wife of the publisher of the New York "Times," to A. L. and Henry C. Segal.

Dr. Isaac Wise guided the periodical from the time he founded it in 1854 to his death in 1900. His oldest son, Leo Wise, of Cincinnati, became associated with the paper in 1875, and from 1900 to 1928 was publisher. In that year he sold it to his brother and sister. Since 1928, Rabbi Jonah B. Wise has been the editor and Norton Weil, business manager.

Henry Segal, one of the new owners, has been managing editor of the "American Israelite" since 1928 and will continue in that capacity. The paper's policies will be maintained. A. L. Segal will be publisher.

15,300 Names Now in J. N. F.'s Golden Book

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 13.—More than 15,300 names have been inscribed in the Golden Book, according to a statement made by the headquarters of the Jewish National Fund in Jerusalem, which has charge of the Golden Book, a record of service to the upbuilding of Palestine as the Jewish National Home. The third volume is now being concluded. The first two volumes have been completed and each contains 5,000 inscriptions. A special volume was compiled on the occasion of the 25th Jubilee of the Jewish National Fund and contains 2,000 names especially inscribed on that occasion. Some $462,750 have been contributed to the Jewish National Fund for the purpose of inscriptions in the Golden Book, of which $200,700 were contributed in the last two years. Of the latter sum, $72,000 were contributed by the United States.

Hinkis Overjoyed at Coming

Visit of Mother from Rovno (Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 13.—When informed today by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency's representative that his mother was coming from Rovno to see him, Hinkis, the Jewish police constable sentenced to death for the murder of five Arabs, asked when she was expected. Red-robed, chained and handcuffed, Hinkis was conducted from his cell for a two-minute interview. He rejoiced at the news from his mother, but immediately remarked that her grief would be unbearable. He appeared greatly interested in the Jewish public's reaction to his sentence and he also asked when his appeal was to be filed. He is not allowed papers or cigarettes.

Ban on Schechita Discussed By American Jewish Committee

The passage by the Bavarian Diet of a law prohibiting Schechita, the political situation of the Jews of Roumania, and the oppression of religion in Russia, were among the questions considered by the Executive Committee of the American Jewish Committee at its recent monthly meeting. Among the domestic matters taken up were proposed immigration legislation and various anti-Jewish manifestations which had been called to the Committee's attention.

In connection with the Schechita question, Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the Committee, had furnished a statement of the American attitude toward Schechita.

The immigration situation was reported on by Max J. Kohler, chairman of the Standing Committee on Immigration, who, with the secretary, Morris D. Waldman, represented the Committee at a hearing on various bills introduced by Congressman Samuel Dickstein, before the Committee on Immigration of the House of Representatives, on January 27. The Committee decided to take steps to combat the legislation proposed in two bills recently introduced in Congress, in conjunction with other organizations which are opposed to the registration of aliens.

Palestine Government to Repress Moslems' Tactics

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 13.—The Palestine government is determined to suppress before it is too late the repressive tactics that the Moslems have recently revived to annoy the Jews at the Wailing Wall, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency's correspondent learns on good authority. Such annoyances as ordering the worshippers to lower their voices, the extinguishing of candles and the renewal of the Zikhr, a ritual frequently referred to as a "jazz band" during the Inquiry Commission's hearings will get the government's attention.

The authorities whom your correspondent has consulted do not disguise their concern over the latest developments wherein they see the hand of the Grand Mufti, who owing to the growing Arab opposition on account of the distribution of the relief fund and the unrepresentative character of the London delegation, is trying as usual to divert attention to the fabricated religious issue and check dissension.

Privy Council Not Yet Ready to Hear Arab Death Appeals

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 13.—Reports from Arab sources that the Privy Council will hear appeals against Arab death sentences are declared to be premature. While no application for a hearing has yet been made in London, Abcaris, the Jewish proselyte attorney, is expected to leave for London shortly to brief the case and make the application.

White Russian Central Executive Committee where the non-Jewish collectives refuse altogether to accept Jewish members. The White Russian government is trying to have the Jews from the small towns enter the neighboring collectives as plain laborers. The collectives, however, do not need laborers and also cannot feed them.

Golendo, a member of the land commissariat, who returned to Moscow today from White Russia after studying the situation of the Jews in the collectivized regions there told the Jewish Telegraphic Agency that his recommendations to the government would be that the collectives should be compelled to accept the Jews from the neighboring small towns as farm members. The only question is about aged people and orphans who cannot be utilized for farm work.

It is understood, however, that the White Russian government does not share Golendo's opinion and although it is making an effort to solve the problem of the small town it nevertheless feels that the small towns in the collectivized regions are doomed to absolute annihilation.

The banquet was presided over by Leopold Greenberg, judge of the South African Supreme Court. Others present were Sir George Albu, Louis Marks, A. M. Abrahams, president of the African Zionist Federation, and Judah L. Landau, Chief Rabbi of South Africa. Campaign of Religious Education Urged by Rabbis

A resolution calling on American Jewry to engage in an intensive campaign of religious education was adopted Wednesday, at the closing session of the fifteenth annual convention of the Assembly of Hebrew Orthodox Rabbis of United States and Canada, held at the Chevrah Torah Ansher Chessed, Brooklyn. The convention also urged stricter observance of the Sabbath and the need of imbuing Jewish youth with a religious spirit.

Education in the tenets and traditions of Judaism was urged by Rabbi Joseph Glushack as a means of insuring observance of the Sabbath. Supervision of religious teachers as a means of assuring the desired religious training was demanded by Rabbi Aaron Kronenberg.

Rabbi G. Wolf Margolis was elected president of the assembly for his sixteenth term. Rabbi B. G. Mendelsohn of Newark, and Rabbi J. J. Margolin of Brooklyn were elected vice-presidents. Rabbi Menashe Margolis was elected treasurer and Rabbi I. T. Levy and Bernard Birstein were elected secretaries.

Lewis Strauss Heads Jewish Agricultural Society

Lewis L. Strauss was elected president of the Jewish Agricultural Society at the 30th annual meeting to succeed Percy S. Straus, who had held that office for eight years. Mr. Strauss is a member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, and has been a director of the Jewish Agricultural Society since 1920. He is a close personal friend of President Hoover, having been his private secretary when Hoover was the American Relief Administrator in Europe.

had combined with "gansters to put him and his retail butchers not under supervision but out of business."

Joseph Mellen, representing the rabbis and the kosher board, vigorously fought Cohen and his four lawyers, and his arguments did much to overcome the unfavorable impression created by Cohen's testimony. An attempt by the judge and Mellen to bring about an understanding outside of court in order to prevent Jewish law from being dragged into court failed when Cohen remained obdurate. The trial will continue.

The trial is causing the greatest excitement among the Jews of Cleveland and nearby towns and several mass meetings are being planned for the next few days. Though the general desire is to take the case out of court, not a single voice has been raised to withdraw or give way to Cohen or Swift. The great majority of Jews, whether orthodox or not, are prepared to fight the case to the limit.

Jackson, president of the Provident Hospital board. "He personally gave $220,000 to the fund, as well as a still larger gift through the Rosenwald Foundation."
