New Measures for Relief of Jewish Ex-Traders Adopted by Ukraina

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 25—Further measures for the relief of Jewish ex-traders, even those who employed five persons, were decided upon today by the Ukrainian cabinet. The decision has not yet been published, but the correspondence of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency possesses the text.

It declares that the industrial co-operatives, the artisans' cooperatives and the land collectives should accept the following declassified Jews who have no election rights: first, the impoverished ex-traders who employed one or two assistants; such ex-traders would be accepted on equal rights in the usual procedure.

Ex-traders who hired from two to five employees would be accepted not earlier than two years after they had given up trading providing they do not maintain relations with commercial and capitalist elements, in others if they do no illegal trading. Ex-traders or manufacturers who exploited more than five laborers would not be accepted. The grown-up children of those in the latter category would be accepted if they have severed relations with their parents and are earning an independent livelihood upon the expiration of a year after the severance.

The Ukrainian cabinet's decision emphasizes that the absolute expulsion of ex-traders as carried on hitherto was illegal. The decision further urges the institutions concerned "not to make any more mistakes and to understand the difference between real kulaks and neptmen and such ex-traders who are now actually poor."

3 RUSSIAN ANTI-SEMITES SENTENCED TO DEATH

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 25—Alexander Gaup, Nikolai Zlatomerezh and Ivan Potchupov, three prominent agronomists in the Odessa region, have been sentenced to death for driving Elena Goldman, a young Jewish agronomist, to death by suicide by their persistent anti-Semitic acts. Twenty others involved received lesser sentences. The trial lasted four days.

Communist Press of Minsk Publishes Charges Against Arrested Kehillah Leaders

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 25—While the Russian foreign office confirms the report that eleven of the fourteen leaders of the Minsk Jewish community have been released, the names of the three still under arrest have been refused. The Communist press in Minsk today prints the names of those arrested and the charges against each one, but the name of Chief Rabbi Menachem Gluskin is not included.

While the general charges are in accord with those published yesterday in the London "Times," the individual charges are as follows: Benjamin Sakowicz, "a preacher with a crooked Talmudical mind who was sentenced to be shot in 1919 because of stock speculations, but he escaped. When business was bad he began trading with God, holding sermons and preaching 'save our children from the fire that is destroying the Jewish people!'"

Jacob Mizes, the head of a rabbinical seminary, is accused of having headed a number of illegal seminaries. Simon Kabakov is charged with being a bourgeois ring leader. Krenkel, an ex-jeweler and silversmith, is said to have utilized confiscated metal for making spoons and forks.

David Shachor, "an important ex-trader, was the organizer of clerical unions and rabbinical seminaries,"

Settlement in Cleveland's Kashruth Case Favorable to Jews Laid to J. T. A.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Cleveland, Feb. 25—The publicity given the Cleveland kashruth trial by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency is credited by both sides to the controversy with being responsible for the settlement outside of court which yesterday culminated the affair that has been agitating the Jews of this and surrounding cities for several weeks. In an advertisement in the local Yiddish and English press the kashruth board expresses its thanks to the J.T.A., while the Swift & Co. officials present at the trial admitted that the J.T.A.'s handling of the news forced the Chicago office of Swift & Co. to stop the proceedings.

The tentative agreement that has been reached brings to an end the suit against the kosher board and the rabbis' union by Benjamin Cohen, agent for Swift & Co., who demanded a permanent restraining order against the interference with his and Swift's business by telling the Jews that meat from his stores was not under the supervision of accredited slaughterers. This matter has been entirely eliminated by the agreement.

The introduction into the proceedings of E. W. Phelps, manager of the Swift plant in Cleveland, made possible the settlement when he agreed to the kosher board's conditions and gave it and the rabbis full recognition. Swift

Lively Debate in House of Commons Over Vote on $620,000 for Paying Costs of Palestine Disturbances; Marcus Attacks Bury

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, Feb. 25—A lively debate on Palestine developed in the House of Commons when Drummond Shiels, under-secretary for the Colonies, moved for a supplementary vote on the excess cost of additional services in connection with the recent Palestine disturbances. Shiels asked for $620,000.

Howard Bury, noted anti-Zionist, moved to reduce this sum by $500 as a protest because he strongly objected to the spending of so large an amount "in order to put an alien race into an alien land." He declared that this sum was merely a beginning and that the expenditures next year might be more. Bury asked Shiels to consider the "repercussions on the countries around Palestine. For the present they are our allies but they can become potential enemies if the present policy regarding Palestine continues."

Michael Marcus, Jewish M.P., protested against Bury's remarks saying "that at least 13,000,000 people voted at the last election in favor of the present Palestine policy. It is necessary to insure that the defenseless Jewish people in Palestine be protected against further outrages by hoodlums. A crime has been committed against the Jewish people in Palestine." Speaking as a Jew, he said, he protested against it and hoped that the money allotted would go a long way to restore confidence in Palestine.

Supporting Shiels' figures, James Rothschild said that if the estimate came before the House "there was certainly one person guilty of it, namely Howard Bury, because all through his career in the House of Commons he advocated an imaginary plan of one section of the population. He listened to every wind that was blown from the desert and excited feelings of discontent which gave rise to the disturbances. If there had been more police in Palestine the disturbances would not have occurred."

Borah Communicated With Moscow Through Soviet's Information Bureau in U.S.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 25.—Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, did not attempt any direct intervention in his inquiry to the Soviet government concerning the fate of the Minsk rabbis arrested on a charge of counter-revolutionary activity, the correspondent of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency learned tonight.

No direct communication from Senator Borah was received by the Soviet's foreign office nor did the Soviet's information that eleven of the fourteen who had been arrested were released, come directly to Senator Borah. Senator Borah's inquiry was directed to M. Skirvsky, director of the Soviet Bureau of Information in Washington, who forwarded it to Moscow. Similarly Moscow's reply from Maxim Litvinoff, acting-commissar of foreign affairs, was sent to M. Skirvsky who then communicated the information to Senator Borah.

Soviet to Move Library and Museum of "Ope" to Kiev

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 25.—The Soviet commissariat of education has decided to transfer the library and museum of the Ope, the Society for Spreading Culture Among the Jews, to the Kiev Institute for Jewish Culture and has assigned 3,000 roubles for shipping it from Leningrad to Kiev.

On December 30 the Ope, which had been in existence for more than 70 years, was liquidated by the Soviet government. The library contains over 10,000 valuable books and its archives are rich in old manuscripts.

Jews Prevented from Taking Possession of Land Bought and Paid for by J. N. F.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 25.—Somebody is apparently interested in preventing the Jews from possessing land that they have already bought. An instance of this is the Wadi Hawareth land, bought with funds subscribed by the Canadian Zionists, which Arab tenants have ploughed and planted despite the court's decision confirming the Jewish National Fund's title to the land.

After fully compensating the tenants, the Jewish National Fund made them an offer which the central government considered extremely generous. Despite this, the Jews have been unable to take possession. The Arab papers in the meantime report that "somebody" promised the tenants about $200,000 to enable them to purchase the land already sold to the Jewish National Fund. While this is probably inaccurate, it is possible that the Arab Executive or the Moslem Supreme Council have been encouraging the resistance of the squatters and promising them money which will almost certainly not be forthcoming.

The Jewish National Fund is nevertheless undismayed and is gradually acquiring further stretches south of Wadi Hawareth with the $375,000 pledged by the South African Jews for 15,000 dunams of land in the orange belt, where, of the 2,000 dunams already bought, 500 have been allotted for workers' settlement on the estate of Lord Melchett.

Jewish Labor Office in Berlin to Fight Economic Boycott

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Feb. 25.—The formation of a labor office in cooperation with the Jewish community was decided upon at a conference of Jewish economic leaders called into consultation to aid in fighting the hitherto non-extant boycott against Jewish employees. M. Kareski, president of the Jewish Community and Deputy Georges Bernhard described the situation which has recently become obvious in large organizations, even in Jewish firms. Suggestions were offered on enlightening activities among those now declining to employ Jews.

Birthplace of Lewinsohn To Be Made Jewish National Museum

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Warsaw, Feb. 25.—On the occasion of the seventieth anniversary of the death of Isaac Baer Lewinsohn, famous Hebrew scholar and writer of Russia, one of the founders of the movement for "Haskalah," or enlightenment among Russian Jewry a century ago, a committee was organized yesterday in Lewinsohn's birthplace, Kremenetz, now in Poland, for the purpose of converting the house in which he lived into a Jewish National Museum.

Copeland Attacks Religious Ban and Alien Registration at Brith Sholom's Silver Jubilee Dinner

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—Characterizing religious persecution in Russia as "absurd, unthinkable and unpardonable," and comparing the immigration legislation now pending in Congress with the old Czaristic days, United States Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, speaking at the silver jubilee dinner of the Independent Order of Brith Sholom, made it clear that the governments of the world must give serious consideration to the former and the American people must not permit the latter to be enacted into law.

Though offering no definite solution, Senator Copeland said a peaceful way must be found to put an end to anti-religious practices now in vogue in Russia. "Sometimes when one thinks of the intolerance abroad in the land and the efforts of those who would enact such laws as registration bills, we get a little blue about America. The entire American people should oppose such measures."

The dinner was attended by 500 members of the Brith Sholom, representing lodges in various parts of the country. Judge William M. Lewis, grand master, presided. After reviewing the work of the order during a quarter of a century, he told of the forthcoming Allied Campaign, calling upon Brith Sholom lodges throughout the country to respond generously to this latest appeal.

16 Arabs Committed for Murder, Theft and Looting

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 25.—Of the twenty Arabs charged with looting and attacking Selim Cohen's house in Safed during the riots, sixteen have been committed for premeditated murder, arson, theft and loot. Four were discharged.

Judge Plunkett in Haifa discharged three Arabs accused of burning the Klinger house in Safed. They were discharged without hearing the defense because expert testimony showed that the witnesses could not have seen the accused setting the fire.

Complains Anti-Rutenberg Boycott in Jaffa Fails

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Feb. 25.—"El Jamal Arabia," the organ of the Moslem Supreme Council, complains that the streets of Jaffa are electrically lighted despite the municipality's resolution to substitute lux lamps in pursuance with the boycott against the Rutenberg electric plant. It is understood, however, that Jaffa does not intend to carry out the resolution, owing to the excessive cost of lux lamps and especially since the municipal revenue has been greatly reduced on account of the removal of many Jews from Jaffa.

Quebec Government Planning to Offer Bill for Separate Montreal Jewish Schools

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Quebec City, Feb. 25.—Hon. Louis Alexandre Taschereau, Premier of the Province of Quebec, has announced that the government will make certain changes in the bill for a separate Jewish school panel recently introduced in the provincial legislature by Peter Bercovitch, M.L.A., and will then itself introduce it in the legislature, for the purpose of solving the Jewish school problem of Montreal.

This government bill would give the Jews of Montreal an opportunity to come to an understanding with the Protestants about the education of their children. Should it be impossible for the Jews to come to an agreement with the Protestants, separate Jewish schools would be established.

The Bercovitch bill, which will soon come up for a second reading before the legislature, calls for the creation of a Jewish section of the "Council of Public Instruction" and Jewish school boards in the municipalities of the province. These bodies would have the right to create separate Jewish schools, in case of failure to agree with the Protestants.

The Premier stated that the government bill will lay the foundation of the apparatus for creating the new school system. The further work necessary will be done by the government itself, through "Orders in Council." It is understood that the time when such a separate Jewish school panel will be created will also be determined by an "Order in Council."

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Montreal, Feb. 25.—Commenting on Premier Taschereau's announcement that the government of Quebec will itself introduce a bill for solving the Montreal Jewish school question, the "Jewish Eagle" in an editorial points out that the Premier's bill, like the one of Mr. Bercovitch, still leaves a way open for negotiations between Jews and Protestants, which would preclude the organization of separate Jewish schools. The editorial is of the opinion that the Jews of Montreal can obtain nothing of permanent value through such negotiations. "The main question," it says, "is who will be the Jewish committee which will be appointed by the government after the bill will have been adopted, and what path this committee will choose."

Jewish Youth in Germany Ask Community Centers

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Feb. 25.—Two thousand representatives of Jewish youth unions meeting in the city hall here today adopted a resolution demanding community centers and other youth centers similar to those in vogue in the United States. The president of the Jewish community Kareski promised that the community would start a campaign for such a center.

Questions Proposed Colony for Armenians in Palestine

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, Feb. 25.—Ormsby Gore, M.P. in the House of Commons asked the Colonial Office for information regarding a proposal for the sale of 9,000 dunams of land in Palestine for the purpose of establishing a Palestine colony for distressed Armenians now in Syria. Gore also asked whether such a sale was under the control of the Palestine government and whether the scheme had the support of the League of Nations commission dealing with refugees and minorities and whether the establishment of such a colony in Palestine was considered consistent with the articles of the Mandate for Palestine.

Drummond Shiels, under-secretary for the Colonies, said he had no information regarding the sale and hence it would be difficult to state to what extent the sale was under the control of the Palestine government.

Nahum Sokolow Leaves Poland; Going to England via Berlin

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Warsaw, Feb. 25.—After staying a month in Poland, Nahum Sokolow, chairman of the Zionist World Executive, has left the country. He is going to Katowicz, where he will remain for a while, and from there to Berlin, thence to London.

At a farewell banquet given Sokolow, at which Bychowski was the toastmaster, the speakers were Deputies Farstein, Schorr, Rabbi Srebnik and Gruenbaum. Mr. Sokolow himself in his speech expressed the opinion that Polish Jewry is now going through a period of transition and hoped that better times will soon come for it. He also mildly rebuked Polish Zionists for their inner quarrels, declaring that they had weakened the Zionist forces. His call for peace in Polish Zionist ranks was much applauded by all those present at the banquet.

Dr. Gaster Tells English B'nai B'rith He Doesn't Believe Tenth of Stories from Russia

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, Feb. 25.—Declaring that he does not believe one-tenth of all the stories current about the persecution of Judaism in Russia, Dr. Moses Gaster, noted rabbi and scholar, speaking at the first conference of the B'nai B'rith of England, said that "we Jews have learned not to believe all stories circulated. The infamous blood libel made us victims of foul concocted stories. Those responsible for public opinion should take great heed of what they say. I warn our people to be careful and to remember that there are five million Jews in Russia."

Prof. Selig M. Brodetsky speaking of unified Jewry "lying at the bottom of the B'nai B'rith" said that he "refuses to give up the Bolsheviki Jews of Russia as a lost branch or the intolerant section of the Agudath Israel or the Reform section of English Jewry." He declared that the "red proletarian Jews, the black orthodox Jews and the colorless liberal Jews all form part of the Jewish people."

The conference, which coincided with the twentieth anniversary of the foundation of the B'nai B'rith in England, was attended by delegates from all parts of the country and abroad. Messages were received from Alfred M. Cohen of Cincinnati, Herbert Bentwich, first president of the first English B'nai B'rith lodge, and from B'nai B'rith lodges in Germany, Austria and Poland.

while David Salomon "is president of a society of rabbinical students which is an outspoken counter-revolutionary organization whose object is to fight the Soviet and at whose meetings anti-Soviet speeches were made and sometimes a sermon ending with "va lezion goel," a dangerous Zionist slogan."

Asher Kirshtein, a rabbi, is said to be "a speculator who established loan societies that supported nepmen from ruin, is a reactionary clerical and a counter-revolutionary enemy, an enemy to the workers and an active supporter of the illegal rabbinical clique." Moses Gabrielov, "Rabbi Glsukin's right-hand man, became chairman of the Jewish community when the White Poles arrived and hung a revolutionary. He helped the latter with his death-bed confession. Gabrielov is also a prominent member of the Agudath Israel and leader in the religious community."

Iwianski, an ex-merchant, is accused of being "an industrialist in whose house during the search, correspondence was found with foreign Jewish counter-revolutionary organizations." Braude is "an ex-millionaire banker who is terribly furious at the Bolsheviks who took everything from him." Rabbi Pevsner, of whom it is said "all illegal meetings met in his bath-house. The good Jew cried and sighed at the meetings, saying that the Bolsheviks are hurting his soul and his spirit. He was the nerve center of the rabbinical anti-revolutionary organization, maintaining and receiving instructions from the Fascist Zadik, Lebbavitcher Rebbe who sent instructions as to how to conduct the counter-revolutionary campaign in the Soviet Union and how to create illegal rabbinical seminaries. Such instructions were found in Pevsner's house, signed by the Lebbavitcher Rebbe. The Fascist Zadik from Riga supplies all anti-Soviet organizations with information regarding the Soviet and his Minsk confederates transmitted the necessary material."

Charges against Rabinovitch are that he was a "well known itinerant preacher and a cunning person who camouflages his poisonous counter-revolutionary sermons with examples and stories. With his Jesuit speeches he incites villages and towns against Bolsheviks." Gordon is charged with being "a leader in the students' organization who preached that the Jewish position is no better than in Egypt or in Spain under the Inquisition and argued that it is necessary to fight unbelievers. He also travelled in the provinces and delivered inciting harangues."

Moshe Chaim Levine is accused of being "a preacher who created a rabbinical seminary in Preobranka, a suburb of Minsk, where a copy of a letter addressed abroad was found in which he said, 'I repeatedly requested your help. You must know that the Jewish

Jewish War Veterans to Meet in Providence

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Providence, Feb. 25.—Thousands of Jewish veterans of various wars from all sections of the country are expected to be here from July 3 to July 6, when the national encampment of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States will be held. The convention committee, of which Charles M. Hoffman is chairman, is now formulating the plans for the convention.

More than twenty thousand ex-service men now belong to the Jewish War Veterans. Among them are men who served in the Civil War, Spanish-American War, Boxer uprising, Philippine insurrection and the late World War.

It was the Civil War veterans who founded the organization as a protest against the charge of non-patriotism which was then hurled against the Jews by anti-Semites in this country and abroad. Many of those who are coming to the July encampment here have held high rank in various branches of the military and naval services. Jewish women who saw service either as nurses or yeomenettes will also be present at the encampment.

In agreeing to withdraw the case from court and pay all expenses Cohen declared that he will not recognize the rabbis and the kosher board. The manager of the Swift Co. expressed his regret that the company had become involved in the matter and promised to cooperate in the future.

Commons Debates Disturbance Costs

Colonization Association which he said sent 15,000 Jews to Palestine and cultivated the land, Rothschild thanked the British government for the rapidity of its decision in dealing with the disturbances. "If the government hadn't sent troops to Palestine many more lives would have been lost. The people of Palestine and of Great Britain are grateful to the government for its action."

Leopold S. Amery said that "however they might differ about the Balfour Declaration all would agree that no British government could allow its settled policy to be upset by mob violence or a population settled in the country under an international mandate to be persecuted by another section of the population."

Replying to the various speakers, Shiels said that the "government must continue to insure the protection of all subjects of a country where it is responsible for the preservation of law and order. What the government wants in respect to Palestine is operating forces that would make a vote of this kind unnecessary in the future." The vote was given.
