Widened Agrojoint Activity and New Soviet Decrees to Benefit Lishentzy

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, June 7.—The activities of the Agrojoint (American Jewish Joint Agricultural Corporation), which has spent millions in the economic rehabilitation of the Jews of Russia, will be tremendously widened in the future by yesterday's Soviet decree opening wide the gates to all the Jews of the small towns to qualify as artisans and eventually become part and parcel of the Soviet industrial machine, declared Ezekiel Grower, assistant director of the Agro-joint in a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

Mr. Grower points out that this is the first ameliorative ukase issued by the Soviet cabinet that speaks plainly of the townships in Ukraina and White Russia and gives definite and sweeping instructions which enable almost everyone in the small towns to become a productive element with the prospect of becoming qualified for Soviet heavy industrial enterprises.

Equal Rights to Artisans Significant

Especially significant, declared Mr. Grower, is that part of the decree which recommends that in cooperatives comprising thirty members each the artisan member should be given the same rights as the factory worker which means that the Jewish artisans will receive fair opportunities not only legally but economically as well since the workers are considered the cream of the Soviet citizenship.

Emphasizing that the decree puts an end to the quondam practice of over-taxing the artisans and confiscating their property when they could not meet the taxes, a policy that kept the artisan in constant fear of the tax collector, Mr. Grower explained that of special importance is the fact that the decree urges the discontinuance of the enforced merging of cooperatives and the extreme policy of "cleansing" the cooperatives of undesirable elements. These mergers and cleansings greatly affected the Jewish declassed because the Jews as newcomers in the artisan industry were consequently less qualified and hence the first to be ousted when the cooperatives were merged. As former traders the Jewish declassed also suffered from the cleansings, being expelled in greater percentages after such purgings than the non-Jews.

The Agrojoint, Mr. Grower concluded, with the new decree as a basis, is now able to start on a wide plan of assisting the artisans in how best to utilize the decree.

Soul of Jews in Palestine, Bodies in Eastern Europe, Says Sir Herbert Samuel

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

London, June 7.—If the soul of the Jewish people is in Palestine their bodies are in Eastern Europe and great work is required to put them in a healthy condition, declared Sir Herbert Samuel today addressing a luncheon in the House of Commons for David Lvovitch and M. Singalowsky, members of the executive of the World Or, the society for promoting technical trades and agriculture among the Jews of Eastern Europe. Sir Herbert pointed out that the Or movement does not conflict with Zionism.

Forty members of Parliament attended the luncheon which was presided over by Lord Morley. Others present were representative of all wings of English public opinion. Messrs. Lvovitch and Singalowsky addressed the luncheon on the problems of Jewish reconstruction in Eastern Europe and discussed the activities of the Joint Distribution Committee and the Or. Members of all parties in Parliament who spoke briefly emphasized the humanitarian and non-political character of the Or.

Roumanian Deputy Asks Day to Debate Anti-Semitism

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Bucharest, June 7.—Disturbing reports have reached here of anti-Semitic agitation in the Bukowina towns of Kimpulung, Doranavtra, Vama and Surabumol, according to the Bucharest daily "Adverul" which says these reports have been received by the Czernowitz authorities. The same report says that these towns are making preparations for excesses on the occasion of the arrival of the anti-Semitic agitator, Ceyla Codreanu.

The police prefect and the commandant have ordered the gendarmerie in the region to hold their posts in readiness for any trouble. In the meantime it is reported that a number of Jews have fled from Vama and a Jewish deputation from Bukowina has called on the authorities together with Senator Ebnar.

Anti-Semitic excesses harm the country economically and financially, Professor Andrei of Jassy University declared in the parliamentary Chamber today in supporting Professor Cuza's motion to set aside a day for a debate on anti-Semitism. Professor Andrei, who is vice president of the Chamber, said that since Professor Cuza entered the Chamber parliament he had raised the anti-Semitic question constantly and it was therefore advisable to deal with the question fully and condemn it.

Says Future Policy of Great Britain in Palestine Depends on Simpson Report

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Geneva, June 7.—The future policy of Great Britain with regard to the development of the Jewish National Home in Palestine will be to a large extent based on the report of Sir John Simpson's inquiry into problems of land settlement, immigration and development, the Mandate Commission was informed yesterday by Dr. Drummond Shiels, under-secretary for the colonies. The Mandatory power will also conform to the terms of the Mandate, he said.

The Mandates Commission continued its examination yesterday into both the immediate and remote causes of last Summer's riots. It dealt chiefly with the question of immigration and the distribution of land to the Jewish settlers. Dr. Shiels gave explanations on two of the problems dealt with in the report of the Palestine Inquiry Commission.

He explained the policy that has been followed since 1922 as having restricted immigration with the country's economic capacity to absorb it. Replying to the Commission's demand for an explanation as to the variations from year to year in the number of immigrants admitted, Dr. Shiels said that was due to temporary circumstances and the conditions of the country.

Weizmann Inclined to Favor Special Zionist Congress

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, June 7.—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and of the World Zionist Organization is inclined to favor a special World Zionist Congress but before definitely committing himself will await the final action of the Jewish Agency's political commission which has been called to meet in London June 23.

This statement was made here today by Dr. Weizmann in a private consultation with leaders of the German Zionist Federation and other Zionist parties including the Zionist Revisionists and the Poale Zion. Among those present were Isaac Grunbaum, Lewin Epstein and Otto Warburg.

The Zionist leaders heard with the greatest interest Dr. Weizmann's report on the political situation. A number of those present in the informal discussion demanded that the special Zionist Congress be held in September because the Council of the League of Nations will meet then and hence the Congress' deliberations and actions will carry more weight if held at the same time.

Masefield Changed Line in Verse to Avoid Slur on Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Philadelphia, June 7—In an editorial in its current issue the "Jewish Exponent" commends heartily the change of a line in the popular ballad "London Town" by John Masefield, recently appointed Poet Laureate of England.

"Lovers of poetry," the editorial declares, "the world over heartily endorsed the appointment of John Masefield to the distinguished position of England's Poet Laureate. Indeed, it is questionable whether the choice would have been different had it been left to a group of his peers to make the selection. A man of liberal views with a fine sense of imagery he has won a permanent place for himself in the history of English letters.

"It is especially interesting to note that the questionable reference to the Jewish people originally contained in his ballad 'London Town,' has been changed in the next edition of his works. It was in this city, at a meeting of the Contemporary Club, since eight or ten years ago, that the matter was brought to the notice of the distinguished poet by David Werner Aram, our esteemed fellow townsman. The line referred to originally read:

"'And craftily fares the knave there,
and wickedly fares the Jew.'"

"In the new edition of the poet's work this has been changed to read: 'But wretchedly fare the most there and merrily fare the few.'"

"A change that is decidedly to the good, and shows that the heart of the poet is in the right place."

B'nai B'rith City Library Dedicated in Jerusalem

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Cincinnati, June 7.—A cablegram to Alfred M. Cohen, international president of B'nai B'rith, received today, announced the dedication Tuesday, June 3, of the B'nai B'rith City Library at Jerusalem and voiced the appreciation of the people of that city for the B'nai B'rith support which had made the library possible.

The B'nai B'rith Lodge in Jerusalem was founded in 1888 and four years later it established a library called "Midrash Abranel." From a modest beginning it grew through gifts until at the outbreak of the World War it contained 32,000 volumes and had outgrown the building which the Jerusalem Lodge had provided for it. Through these years it had been supported by the Hilfsverein der Deutschen Juden of Berlin, the B'nai B'rith executive committee, various B'nai B'rith lodges and private contributions.

After the end of the World War, the library became the National Library of Palestine under the joint control of the Jerusalem B'nai B'rith Lodge and the Zionist Organization. When the Hebrew University was founded in 1925, it sought to convert the National Library into a University library which change the B'nai B'rith opposed and since the country was too small to support two libraries, a compromise was effected whereby the library became the National and University Library.

With the dedication in April of this year of the new library building on Mt. Scopus, the City of Jerusalem was left without a library of its own. Many of those who had enjoyed the books of the library were too old to walk and too poor to ride the bus line to Mt. Scopus, some three miles from the city of Jerusalem.

The B'nai B'rith executive committee voted the necessary funds to make possible a separate City Library for Jerusalem proper. This library is housed in the original library building which also serves as the home for the Jerusalem B'nai B'rith Lodge. It already contains over 30,000 volumes of a general nature turned over to it by the National and University Library which retained only the scientific books from the 200,000 volumes when it moved to its new home.

FELIX M. WARBURG

Dear James N. R.—

You ask me why I devote so much time to altruistic work, rather than follow my many hobbies, such as yachting, art and prints.

The reason is that ever since I looked into our East Side tenement house windows for the first time in 1894 and saw parents at their machines, working until midnight so that their children might have the advantage of an easier life and college education, I have learned to respect and love them. Ever since I have seen the farmers in the Russian colonies who, forgetting their former life in easier circumstances, are, without complaint, proudly tilling the soil so that their children will never know the pangs of famine nor the shame of being considered decadent, I cannot forget their faces and feel that I must help them to achieve their modest request—to enable them to bring up their families in self-respect and self-support. And, thirdly, when somewhat against my will I went to Palestine and saw with my own eyes the pioneers who would sacrifice the comforts of life and the possibilities of amassing a fortune for the sake of planting their children on the soil of their ancestors, under simple conditions and high ideals, I felt that they had the right to the little help which we are planning to give them.

In the Federation, in the Joint Distribution Committee, and in Jewish Agency work, I have been thrown with Jews of all classes, not only here but abroad, and I think I have the right to say that friendships have been established with people born in nearly every country of the globe, born under all kinds of circumstances. We have touched each other's souls. We respect each other. We have formed friendships which will enrich our lives.

Very sincerely yours,

Felix M. Warburg.

Bronx Teachers to Sponsor Course in Yiddish

The latest addition to the growing number of Yiddish courses is the one to be offered as part of its series of lectures by the Bronx Borough-Wide Association of Public and High School Teachers. It has decided to give a course in Yiddish literature in the curriculum for its members.

The Association invited the Yiddish essayist and critic, Chaim Lieberman to give this course with particular emphasis on Yiddish literature in America. Mr. Lieberman accepted the invitation and the course will begin next fall. Dr. Hirsandsky, principal of P. S. 4, Bronx, was the sponsor of the course.

Canadian Jews and Non-Jews Honor Freiman on 50th Birthday

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Ottawa, Can., June 7.—Canadian Jews, and non-Jews as well, are now paying tribute to A. J. Freiman, president of the Zionist Organization of Canada and leading Jew of the Dominion, who yesterday celebrated his fiftieth birthday. In a letter to the "Canadian Jewish Chronicle," the Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition in the Federal Parliament, says of Mr. Freiman:

"In the Far West of Canada, as well as in the East, he is known for his devotion to the cause of his people and his broadminded, generous philanthropies, which are not restricted by race or religion."

Mr. Freiman, who owns the leading department store of Ottawa, was first elected to the Canadian Zionist Executive in 1901 at the Second Convention. After the death of Clarence I. de Sola, he assumed the leadership of the Canadian Zionists and with the aid of Mrs. Freiman, who is president of the Canadian Hadassah, brought the message of Zionism to 400 cities and towns in Canada. Mr. Freiman recently in a speech declared that "there are no non-Zionists in Canada, though there may be non-givers or little givers."

Haifa Appears Likely to be Mediterranean Terminus of Mosul Oil Pipe Line

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, June 7.—Haifa seems likely to be the site of the Mediterranean terminus of the Mosul pipe line according to well informed observers here who see the Palestine port winning out over its Syrian competitors as a result of the recent return from Syria of a survey commission of engineers appointed by the Iraq Petroleum Company, owners of the Mosul oil concession, to investigate the various proposed sites. The commission has completed its survey and the fact that no statement has been issued leads informed opinion here to believe that Haifa has won out.

Sharp differences are known to exist between Great Britain and France as to the site of the Mediterranean terminus of the Mosul pipe line. The French would like it to be at one of the Syrian ports such as Tripoli or Alexandretta while the British are anxious to have it at Haifa. Since the majority of the shareholders in the Iraq Petroleum Company, which inherited the concession from the Turkish Petroleum Company, are British and American, it is believed that Haifa will finally be selected.

The problem has been studied by the British for some time and the plans for the oil terminal at Haifa have been completed on the assumption that the Mosul oil will be pumped to the Mediterranean on territory under British suzerainty.

It had originally been planned to shift the oil to the Persian Gulf completing the railway trunk between a port on the Gulf and Mosul but it was later found cheaper to pump the oil to Haifa on the Mediterranean.

tinue the Soviet's policy of aiding in the improvement of the economic status of the lishentzy, people without rights by virtue of their position before the Revolution. The majority of the lishentzy are Jews.

The first decision by the All-Soviet Artisans Association orders the reinstatement of all expelled lishentzy in the artisans' cooperatives. The decision rules that henceforth the cooperatives must not expel anyone because he is a lishentzy, that all lishentzy who were expelled must be reinstated, that all previous orders of the Artisans' Association contrary to today's decision are nullified, and that all cooperatives with constitutional by-laws calling for the expulsion of lishentzy must revise the by-laws. The decision, however, rules that all lishentzy who are members of cooperatives shall have no right to be elected to committees or offices conducting the cooperatives and shall have no voting rights at the general membership meetings.

Given Purchasing Rights in Stores

The second decision is a ruling by the All-Soviet Central Cooperative Association which admits the lishentzy to membership in the government's cooperative stores. This association controls the distribution of goods throughout the Soviet Union.

The order says that all lishentzy may now be accepted into the cooperative as a member provided he pays a special price for his share. By becoming a member, however, he is not entitled to get the so-called deficit goods from the cooperative, meaning bread, sugar, butter and other foodstuffs but he can freely obtain all kinds of non-deficit goods. The children of lishentzy are to get from the cooperative all kinds of provisions just as children of full citizens get, the order adds.

Assign Funds to Aid Deceased

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, June 7—One hundred thousand roubles were today assigned by the Kiev regional soviet to assist the deceased Jews in the region. The money will be used chiefly for organizing garden, poultry farm and dairy collectives in the vicinity of the small towns. The collectives will be one hundred percent Jewish but the soviet makes it clear that it will be organized with an eye to later internationalization.

Ozet Postpones Convention

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, June 7—Because of the government's changed attitude towards the lishentzy the Central Ozet, society for settling the Jews on the land, today announces that the second All-Soviet convention of the Ozet scheduled for July 3rd has been postponed until November. The reason for the change is that the Ozet now finds itself in the position of having prepared for its convention a project of new by-laws with extreme restrictions against the lishentzy.

St. Louis Zionists Protest to U.S. Against Palestine Ban

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

St. Louis, June 7—United States Senator Harry B. Hawes has transmitted on behalf of the Zionist Organization of St. Louis to Secretary of State Stimson in Washington a memorandum and protest against the attitude of the British Government in suspending immigration to Palestine, and for the subsequent issuance of the White Paper. In the memorandum the Government of the United States is appealed to to use its moral power to respect its obligations under the Palestine Mandate. The memorandum is signed by M. J. Slonim, president of the Zionist Organization of St. Louis; Professor Gustave Klausner, president of the Southwestern Zionist Region, and Mendel N. Fisher, executive secretary.

Los Angeles Zionists to Protest Immigration Ban

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Los Angeles, June 7—At a meeting of the Los Angeles District of the Zionist Organization, at which every Zionist organization in the district was represented, it was unanimously decided to stage a monster protest meeting against the ban on immigration in Palestine. The British resident Consul will be invited to attend.

At this meeting delegates to the forthcoming Cleveland Convention of the Z.O.A. were elected as follows: Dr. George J. Saylin, Harry Alkow, and I. Irving Lipsitch.

Propose Appointment of Committee to Reorganize American Zionists

At a meeting of the Zionist District in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, a resolution was adopted proposing that the coming Zionist Convention in Cleveland choose an Executive of nine or more persons for a period of no more than two years, with full power to re-organize the American Zionist movement. After six months the Executive is to enlarge its membership to eighteen, the additional nine to be nominated by Justice Brandeis and approved by two-thirds of the nine members chosen by the Convention.

such limitations would mean going against the government's policy. Today's announcement explains that since the Central Executive Committee of the government is sending a special commission to the small towns to investigate conditions there it is advisable to wait until the convention of the Comzet, the government department for the settling the Jews on the land, when the commission will submit its report.

It is pointed out that the Ozet will then be better able to orientate its plans.

Jewish circles here are somewhat disturbed at the official announcement that Prince Carol has returned. It is feared that internal opposition to Carol may result in disorders which will inevitably have an unfavorable effect for the Jews.
