Governor of Carpatho-Russia Sees Emigration as Way Out for Jews of That Province

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Prague, Sept. 5.—The solution to the economic difficulties of the Jews of Carpatho-Russia, formerly part of Hungary, but now a Czechoslovakian province, is for a part of them to emigrate to other countries, according to a statement attributed to the governor of the province, A. Beskind, by the newspaper, Kelet Ujsag, published in the Czechoslovakian town of Uzhorod.

The governor is quoted as having said that he "views with real anxiety the critical situation of the Jews in Carpatho-Russia because the rate of Jewish increase is comparatively high while the opportunities for earning a living are decreasing. The Jews are being deprived of their opportunity to earn their daily bread because the non-Jewish inhabitants are creating their own trading organizations. There is no way out except for a part of the Jews to emigrate to other countries."

In addition to the economic difficulties of the Jews of Carpatho-Russia most of them are further handicapped by a lack of citizenship. The bulk of the Jews living in this province are either war refugees who came into what is now Czechoslovakia since 1915 or those who have been deprived of citizenship in their former countries as a result of the map-shifting that followed the World War.

Last May the Czechoslovakian government drafted a new naturalization law that would grant citizenship to all applicants born in territory now belonging to the Czechoslovakian Republic and also to those living in Czechoslovakia since 1915. If adopted this bill would make citizens of the Jewish war refugees and the Jews of Carpatho-Russia and Slovakia.

New Heimwehr Leader Maintains Silence on Anti-Semitism

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Vienna, Sept. 5.—Prince Ernst von Rudiger Stahrenberg, the new chief-tain of the Heimwehr, Austria's private nationalistic militia, maintains complete silence on the Jewish policy of the Heimwehr under his leadership in replying to a telegram from J. Lippowitz, a converted Jew and publisher of the non-political Wiener Journal, asking for a statement concerning Stahrenberg's attitude toward anti-Semitism. The Heimwehr leader merely stressed the fact that the Heimwehr is above party.

Lippowitz's telegram had demanded that the Heimwehr officially renounce anti-Semitism as one of the planks in its platform and that it assure equal rights to Austrian Jews who are loyal

Council May Not Discuss Mandates Body's Report; British Statement Delayed

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Geneva, Sept. 5.—League circles assume that no discussion will take place at the opening of the 60th session of the Council of the League of Nations today when Hjalmar J. K. Procopé, the rapporteur for the Mandates Commission, gives the Commission's report on Palestine to the Council. It is also expected that the British government will make a statement that it is unable now to submit the promised constructive program for the future policy in Palestine.

Ort to Cut Expenditures in Half for Lack of Money

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Berlin, Sept. 5.—A fifty percent cut in its expenditures for Jewish colonization, trade education, cooperative work and other relief work in East European countries will be necessary by the All-World Ort, the society for the promotion of technical trades and agriculture among the Jews of Eastern Europe, because the minimum sum promised it by the Allied Jewish Campaign has not been paid.

This announcement was made at a press conference here by Drs. Aaron Singalovsky and David Lvovitch, Ort leaders, at a conference of press representatives. In the ensuing discussion a number of speakers declared that the curtailment of the Ort's work represents a severe blow to East European Jewry. A number of the press representatives criticized the agreement between the Ort and the Joint Distribution Committee, a partner in the Allied Jewish Campaign.

The agreement between the Ort and the Joint Distribution Committee has nothing at all to do with the Allied Jewish Campaign. Of the $6,000,000 sought by the Campaign in the United States $3,500,000 is for the Joint Distribution Committee. The committee agreed to give the Ort a maximum of $200,000 if the full sum of $3,500,000 was raised. If the full sum is not raised the Ort is to get its pro rata share of what is raised, or 6 per cent. Thus far the Ort has received about $70,000 from the J. D. C.

Speakers at the press conference declared that the reconstruction work of the Ort is of such great importance that it should receive more than 6 per cent of the monies raised by the J. D. C. through the Allied Jewish Campaign. All were agreed that the J. D. C. should

Soviet Yiddish Communist Press Renews Anti-Religious Drive as Jewish High Holidays Approach

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Moscow, Sept. 5.—With the approach of the Jewish High Holidays, the Yiddish Communist press, hitherto quiescent on the subject for some time, is again starting an ardent anti-religious campaign. The Emes, organ of the Moscow Yiddish Communists, devotes a recent issue almost entirely to the question of religion, and launches a fierce attack upon rabbis who, the paper says "are no better than the clericals of the Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Lutheran or churches, doing everything they can to exploit the difficulties of the Soviet regime."

Zionists, Jewish Socialists, and two of the most famous rabbis of Europe, the Chofetz Chaim and the Gerer Rebbe, are linked by the Emes with the Roman Catholics in an alleged attempt to overthrow the proletarian dictatorship. After calling this "dark conspiracy" to the attention of its readers, the Emes remarks "no wonder then that the Jewish masses have turned from religion with disgust. The Jewish working masses have converted many synagogues into clubs and workshops. They will see to it that those synagogues which have been converted also be turned into useful institutions."

Nevertheless the Emes finds that religion is not yet exterminated, and that

Bentwich Confirms Report of Proposed Legislative Council

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Sept. 5.—Norman Bentwich, the Jewish attorney-general of Palestine, speaking before the Brith Shalom Society which seeks peace between the Jews and the Arabs on the basis of its own program, confirmed the report that the government intends to establish a legislative council in Palestine. He also said that the government is planning to enlarge the jurisdiction of the various Palestinian municipalities.

Acquitted Anti-Semitic Leaders Injure Jewish Merchant

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Vienna, Sept. 5.—Carol Danila, Nicolai Totu and M. Erema, the trio of Roumanian anti-Semitic agitators, who were only recently acquitted of charges of inciting to riot, today attacked Jewish passengers on a train going from Jassy to Pascani. As a result of the attack, which railroad officials and police witnessed without interfering, Jancu Goldenberg, a Jewish merchant from Pascani, was badly injured. When taken to the station after being injured he was beaten a

Proposal for Separate Jewish Jerusalem Municipality Gains

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Sept. 5.—The proposed plan for the creation of a separate Jewish municipality within the Jerusalem municipality appears to be gaining ground. A delegation of the Jewish community which will call upon the Acting High Commissioner to discuss the status of the Jerusalem municipality, which has had no Jewish councilors since the Jewish members resigned last April as a protest against the treatment of the Jews, will raise the question of a separate Jewish municipality after the fashion of Tel Aviv.

A society calling itself Hatashav has been organized to take legal steps necessary to separate the Jewish community in Jerusalem from the rest of the population and to obtain autonomy for it. The founders of the movement, chiefly lawyers, have announced that the Hatashav now has 1,000 members.

Some weeks ago the Jewish town council of Jerusalem declared that it was opposed to the Hatashav movement which it termed irresponsible and likely to undermine discipline. The town council demanded that the Hatashav leaders desist from further activity.

Schinasi Leaves $50,000To Sydenham Hospital

A bequest of $50,000 to the Sydenham Hospital is made in the will of Leon Schinasi, wealthy American-Jewish cigarette manufacturer, who died in France on August 16 and who left an estate whose value is estimated at several million dollars. He had contributed $100,000 for a site for the hospital several years ago. A trust fund of several million dollars for the benefit of various New York hospitals was founded by Mr. Schinasi's father, Solomon Schinasi, who founded the tobacco concern of Schinasi Brothers.

2 Philadelphia Universities to Avoid Conflicts Between Registration, Rosh Hashonah

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—The University of Pennsylvania as well as Temple University will see to it that Jewish students are not required to register or to attend classes on the High Holidays, according to assurances received by Rabbi Mortimer J. Cohen. According to the original schedule of both of these institutions of learning a number of functions were scheduled to take place on Rosh Hashonah. When the matter was brought to the attention of Rabbi Cohen he immediately communicated with the authorities of both institutions. In a letter to Rabbi Cohen Vice-Provost George Wm. McClelland of the University of Pennsylvania, wrote:

"We are, of course, sympathetic with the attitude that a man should have definite religious principles and abide by them to the best of his ability. On the other hand it is very difficult in an institution of this size to make special arrangements for a considerable group whose days of religious observance do not coincide with those of the majority of our students. The best we can do is to permit orthodox Jewish students to be absent on their holidays but hold them responsible for what they miss because of absence.

"In this particular case we will excuse them from attendance at the meeting on Wednesday, September 24th which is arranged for the guidance of new students. If they are also scheduled to register on Tuesday or Wednesday, we will permit them to do so on Monday or Thursday at times that may be convenient for the registration offices. I hope that this arrangement will prove satisfactory."

Similarly, Dr. E. H. Homan, Registrar of Temple University, wrote: "The dates which have been set aside for registration are September 22 and 23. The 24th is the opening date of the Fall Session. We believe that students of the Jewish faith will have ample opportunity for registration on September 22.

"Of course these dates are for the registration of upper classmen. Freshmen will register beginning September 18 to 20 inclusive. There will be no conflict with the Jewish Holidays in that case."

Michigan City Gets First Reform Congregation

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 5.—The new synagogue of the reform congregation Temple Sinai of the city was dedicated with Rabbi Tobias Schanfarber, rabbi emeritus of the K.A.M. Temple of Chicago officiating. Arthur Bonnheim of Chicago, who has been in charge of Temple Sinai's religious work for the past year, spoke. The congregation's new building is a former Baptist church that has been remodelled at a cost of $10,000. The congregation has a membership of about 30. There is also an orthodox congregation in Michigan City.

Mrs. Friedlaender to Direct
Work of United Synagogue's
Committee of One Thousand

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Mrs. David Friedlaender, well known in the field of social service in this country, and for the past four years secretary of the United Jewish Campaign for Foreign Relief for Eastern Pennsylvania, has accepted the position of Director of the United Synagogue of America Committee of One Thousand, according to an announcement made by A. B. Cohen, national chairman of the committee.

The purpose of this Committee of One Thousand will be to study religious needs of the Jewish communities throughout the country, with special emphasis upon the smaller communities, most of whom have no organized activity. Mrs. Samuel Spiegel, national president of the Women's League of the United Synagogue of America, is associate chairman of the Committee of One Thousand.

Mrs. Friedlaender has a long record of service in the various fields of Jewish endeavor in this country. Since 1917 she has been with the Central Relief Committee, a constituency of the Joint Distribution Committee, devoting the major portion of her time in the middle west, stimulating interest in the religious and cultural needs of the Jewish communities in Eastern Europe. A descendant of one of the oldest rabbinical families in Palestine, Mrs. Friedlaender has been active on behalf of the cultural and religious development of that country.

Talmud Torah Holds Classes in Newark Public School

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Newark, Sept. 5.—A notable precedent has been set by the local Board of Education in granting permission to a Talmud Torah to conduct its classes in a public school building. The religious school of the Tifereth Zion Congregation, Orthodox, is undergoing alterations, and the officers applied to the Board for permission to conduct classes in a nearby school building for one month.

Contrary to expectations, the request entailed little discussion, several board members taking the view that if political meetings are permitted in school auditoriums, the request for use for religious instruction was not out of place. There is only one Jewish member of the board, former Judge Edward Schoen.

Palestine Health Chief to Act for British Colonies

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Jerusalem, Sept. 5.—Col. George Wyckham Heron, director of the Palestine health department, was today named as the representative of the British colonies at the meeting of the International Health Committee in Paris this October. He will also represent the British colonies at the meeting of the International Pilgrimage Commission.

Ex-Governor of Michigan Favors Mosaic Laws for U. S.

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Detroit, Sept. 5.—The Mosaic laws are an advance over existing rules. This is the opinion of former Governor S. Osborn of Michigan, who opposes Senator James Couzens for the seat in the United States Senate.

Addressing the Turover Mutual Aid Society, Mr. Osborn paid tribute to Jewish ethics. "Have the present laws as clear cut as the Talmudic laws and you will see an advance in modern society," he said. "The Mosaic laws are just. They provide a reapportionment of property every 50 years."

Former Governor Osborn paid high tribute to Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis whom he characterized as one of the greatest jurists in the history of the nation. He eloquently outlined what he called the just decisions of Brandeis, who, he said, showed a humanizing sympathy in his interpretation of law.

Mr. Osborn is reputed to be among the best informed non-Jews in the country on matters Jewish. He has traveled widely and has visited for a considerable length of time in Palestine.

New Yiddish Theatrical Season Starts Rosh Hashonah Week

The New York Yiddish theatrical season will begin during the week of Rosh Hashonah. The theatrical circuit in other cities, which the Hebrew Actors' Union is establishing this year to relieve unemployment among its members, will also commence to function during the last week of this month.

Plans for the theatrical circuit were worked out at a meeting last week of the Hebrew Actors' Union. Companies will be sent out to present Yiddish plays in Boston, Newark, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Cleveland, St. Louis and Pittsburgh. Selection of the plays to be produced on the circuit and other details in connection with it will be attended to by the union, which will guarantee 50 per cent of the actors' salaries. Reuben Guskin, manager of the union, will also manage the Yiddish theatrical circuit.

Jewess Now Largest Policyholder in East

The distinction of being the largest policyholder in the East has now fallen to Mrs. Shoshana Persitz, Vice-Mayor of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, Palestine. The Judea Insurance Company, Ltd., of Palestine, a subsidiary of the Judea Industrial Corporation of New York, has just underwritten a policy of $50,000 on the life of this prominent and wealthy woman, the daughter of the well-known Zionist leader, Zlatopolsky, and member of the General Council of the World Zionist Organization.

Incidentally, this is the largest amount of insurance taken by any single person, man or woman, in Palestine. Mrs. Persitz is head of the Tel Aviv Educational Department.

Synagogue Question Agitating Jews of Los Angeles

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Los Angeles, Sept. 5.—Is the burden of the synagogue too hard to bear by the Los Angeles Jewish community?

That is the question that seems uppermost in the minds of Los Angeles Jewry during the past few weeks, and which has been agitating the professing Jew for several years past. On the surface the situation is a dismal one for nearly all of the congregations here, for all but a very few of them are suffering economically. And because of this economic depression there has resulted another distressing situation.

As is the case in most Jewish communities, the rabbis are expected, more or less, to be the means of obtaining sufficient financial support for the congregation. And in most cases in Los Angeles the rabbi has been a rather weak collector of funds. Naturally differences of opinion arise between the rabbis and the boards of the various congregations, and we find that within the past month or so there have been four resignations by rabbis from their respective congregations for one stated reason or another.

This, however, does not cut down the number of synagogues or congregations, on the contrary, it usually means additional institutions. A year ago, Rabbi Herman Lissauer resigned from Temple Emanu-El and organized the Jewish Institute of Los Angeles, and this week Rabbi Mayer Winkler, having resigned from Temple Sinai, is organizing the Community Synagogue of Los Angeles.

The situation congregationally in Los Angeles is one that is peculiarly distinct. It differs greatly from other cities in one respect, and that is, that in Los Angeles there has been a forced growth and development of congregations. The larger number of them arose within the past ten or fifteen years. Prior to that time there were two or at the most three well established institutions; Temple B'nai B'rith, the oldest synagogue in Southern California, was well entrenched and is to this day. There were also the Orthodox Olive Street Synagogue, old and well established, and Temple Sinai, Conservative, was well on its way to prosperity.

Then came the influx of tourists, and the growing numbers of the Jewish community. Within a short time new groups were formed, and new congregations organized. The procession of new organizations, despite the economic situation has not yet ceased, for even at this writing, a $175,000 synagogue and educational center is being planned for Rabbi Benjamin Gardner.

In Hollywood, within the past five years we find three synagogues, Temple Beth-El, Temple Israel and the Hollywood Center, where there had been only one. Los Angeles and Hollywood combined now have a total of nineteen congregations, most of them small groups, struggling to make headway in establishing themselves.

According to I. Irving Lipsitch, executive director of the Federation of

Roget's Thesaurus to Eliminate Objectionable Synonyms for Jew

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Cincinnati, Sept. 5.—As a result of objections voiced by the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League to synonyms given for the word, "Jew," in Roget's International Thesaurus, the new edition which the publishers, Thomas Y. Crowell Company, of New York, have on the press will not contain the objectionable references. The Thesaurus, used extensively by authors and writers and recognized as an authority on words and their meanings, in its previous editions gave the word, "Jew," the following synonyms: "cunning, rich, usurer, extortioner, heretic."

This was first brought to the attention of the Anti-Defamation League by Simon J. Heller, of Denver, first vice-president of B'nai B'rith District No. 2, in March of this year. It was immediately taken up with the publishers who then wrote as follows: "The references were put there by Mr. Roget, not by us. You may be sure that we would have been glad to receive suggestions for changes, and now that we have had the matter brought to our attention, we shall be happy to make use of the idea."

Following a further exchange of correspondence, the Anti-Defamation League is in receipt of this expression from the publishers: "Supplementing our correspondence regarding Roget's International Thesaurus, we enclose proofs of eight pages which have been corrected in the new edition now on the press." As shown by these proofs all objectionable references to the Jews have been entirely eliminated.

Louisiana Congregation Calls Jewish Institute Graduate

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Alexandria, La., Sept. 5.—Rabbi Albert G. Baum, a graduate of the Jewish Institute of Religion of this year's class, has been elected to serve Temple Genilluth Hasodim in this city. For the past two years Rabbi Baum has been serving as Acting Rabbi of Temple Israel, Amsterdam, N. Y. Rabbi Baum was educated at the College of the City of New York, from which he received the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1923, and did graduate work at Columbia University. At the Jewish Institute of Religion, he was awarded the Philip Waldheim Prize in Social Service in 1927 and was the Free Synagogue Social Service Fellow in 1927-28. Rabbi Baum will take up his duties in Alexandria on Sept. 1.

Jewish Welfare Organizations, the majority of these congregations will pull through somehow, but their present difficulties are all centered in the fact of too rapid building programs. "The number of synagogues that have sprung up in Los Angeles during the past decade," he said, "is astounding, in comparison with the Jewish population, and it is all due principally to the influx within a short period of a large number of Jews."

Italy because of its close interest in the future of the Middle East, the anti-Zionist London Daily Mail, on the eve of the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations which will take up the Mandates Commission's report on Palestine, has renewed its campaign to get Great Britain to relinquish the Mandate. The campaign has been started with an editorial entitled "Get Out of Palestine".

Yesterday the Journal Geneve carried a story from its Rome correspondent indicating that the wide-spread comment in the Fascist press on the Mandates Commission's report showed an interest on the part of Italy in the Palestine question other than in a mere settlement of the difficulties arising from last year's disturbances.

The British delegation to the meeting of the League's Council has been reinforced by Dr. Drummond Shiels, under-secretary for the Colonies, who will leave for Palestine shortly after the conclusion of the Council's sessions. Sir John Chancellor, High Commissioner of Palestine, and Sir John Hope Simpson, whose report is based on his investigation into problems of land settlement, development and immigration in Palestine, are also attending.

The Geneva correspondent of the Morning Post says that Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, will utilize his leisure time in Geneva before the opening of the Council's sessions for making a few discreet inquiries on the spot as to what has been going on behind the scenes with respect to the drafting of the Mandates Commission's report which the British government found so distasteful.

Surveying the agenda of the Council, the Manchester Guardian points out that England has usually been in the fortunate position of receiving nothing but praise at the hands "of this expert body but this year the report on the Palestinian disorders and the British government's tardy rejoinder give an unusual significance" to the Palestine question on the agenda.

The Guardian says that "if we continue to adopt a petulant attitude we may do real damage to the League's authority by persuading other nations that we value the League of Nations' judgment only when it is favorable to us or when our own interest is not at stake".

Five Jews Candidates for Office in Detroit Primaries

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

Detroit, Sept. 5.—Five Jews are candidates for political offices at the primaries in Michigan on September 9.

Henry Behrendt, for many years prominent in Michigan's political life, is candidate for sheriff of Wayne County. David Gordon is candidate for Wayne County treasurer. Benjamin D. Burdick, Allan Lichtig and Jack Langer are candidates for the State Legislature.

pointed out that anti-Semitism in the Heimwehr movement was threatening to split the united front of all those in Austria who are opposed to anti-Semitism and at the same time fighting the Socialists.

The Wiener Journal, an ardent supporter of the Heimwehr movement, also published an article in which it warned that the united front of the Austrian anti-Marxists will be broken if the Heimwehr persists in its anti-Semitic course, since it will be impossible to realize the aims of the organization without the support of loyal Austrian Jews.

Commenting on Prince Stahremberg's reply to Lippowitz's telegram, the Wiener Journal deplores the Heimwehr leader's silence on the question of anti-Semitism. On the other hand, the Christian Socialist Neugkeit Weltblatt, urges the Heimwehr chieftain to "shake off the Jewish parasites who fear a stronger anti-Semitism following his election, while previously they could exploit the movement for the benefit of the Jews."

The accession to power of Prince Stahremberg, following the resignation of the former leaders, Steidle and Pfeimer, makes the Heimwehr even more anti-Semitic and nationalistic than it has been in the past because of Stahremberg's close relations with Adolph Hitler, leader of the anti-Semitic National Socialists in Germany. Stahremberg participated in Hitler's putsch at Munich in 1923.

Rabbis Urge Concerted Effort to End Unemployment

A call to all social agencies for a "concerted effort to end unemployment is contained in the Labor Day and Rosh Hashonah message released by the Commission of Social Justice of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. The message also calls for an intelligent attitude toward birth control. The message, which will be read from Reform Jewish pulpits throughout the country, says among other things:

"Weighty is the obligation to consider the various expedients deemed helpful; for instance, the steady raising of the age below which children are kept in school and out of industry; mothers' pensions to reduce the number of women and minors seeking work; old age pensions for those no longer acceptable to a machine industry which rejects age with its fidelity for youth with its vigor; a perfected system of unemployment exchanges eliminating waste, delays and errors in the linkage of workers needing situations with situations that need workers; unemployment insurance, already tried in foreign lands and in some American industries with good results; prosperity reserves on the part of the government, and the planning of public construction in such wise as to offer a maximum of public employment when there is a slackness of private work."

"it is serving as an obstacle along the whole front of Soviet constructive work. The war against religion must be waged especially at this time when the Jewish High Holidays are approaching and the Jewish clericals are engaged in a campaign of their own. Anti-religious activity must be combined with a fight against Jewish nationalism and chauvinism."

The same issue of the Emes contains a series of reports from various towns and villages throughout the Soviet Union in which the writers complain that the local anti-religious groups have ceased to exist, except on paper, and are no longer active thus encouraging the clericals to renewed activity and "an unhindered revival of religious propaganda." A correspondent from Homel writes that the clergy there are offering to conduct services even without payment so long as they can get a congregation and a synagogue. The correspondent complains that the rabbis receive their compensation from "foreign Jewish organizations."

Similar complaints that the rabbis are again finding a response among the Jewish masses, and that even the young people, "terror-stricken" with the approach of the Jewish High Holidays, are attending synagogue, appear in the Emes from a number of other places.

Council Women to Extend Work Into 10 New States

The extension program of the National Council of Jewish Women to be pursued this Fall, according to Miss Gertrude Feibleman, national chairman of its Department of Extension and Field Service, will concentrate upon enabling states that have no Council Sections, to organize them in their principal cities. These states include Mississippi, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada and New Mexico.

In addition to this plan, the Council's Department of Extension and Field Service will be engaged in organizing Council Sections in various cities that are not yet linked with the national organization in its program of international, national and local work in the fields of education, civic work, social service and religious activities. Existing Council Sections are launching a campaign to enroll the women in their communities in the local section and to obtain their cooperation in the accomplishment of their program.
