Britain to Publish Details Of $12,500,000 Development Scheme for Palestine July 16

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 9—Promulgation of the details of the $12,500,000 Palestine development scheme, scheduled to be made effective today in Palestine, was postponed at the last moment by the British Colonial Office for one week. The scheme will become operative with its announcement in the Official Gazette in Palestine on July 16, according to the latest announcement here today.

The eleventh hour delay is understood to be due to an urgent communication received by the Colonial Office from Dr. Chaim Weizmann in Basle, privately intimating that the sudden decision of the Colonial Office to publish the details of the scheme in the midst of the Zionist Congress, where the fate of Dr. Weizmann's policies is being considered, would merely aggravate the situation.

The development scheme has been the subject of negotiations between the Jewish Agency and the British government for some time. At the last session of the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations, Dr. Drummond Shiels, under-secretary for the Colonies, announced that the general outlines of the scheme would be made public shortly and that it would be placed in the hands of an officer appointed as director of development. He also pointed out that the basis of the recommendations for carrying the scheme into effect will be an entirely new set of figures to be determined by a new inquiry.

No Change in Substance

It is believed that in response to the message Dr. Weizmann is understood to have sent, the Colonial Office agreed to withhold publication for one

100 Jewish Immigrants to Be Settled in Valparaiso

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, July 9—A group of 100 Jewish immigrants are soon to be settled in Valparaiso, the second largest city of the Republic of Chile, as a result of the efforts of Dr. M. Aronstam, representative of Hias-Ica-Emigdirekt, who, together with a committee representing the Jewish community of Santiago is directing the work of settling Jewish immigrants in Chile. The Santiago Jewish Committee is presided over by Dr. Weinstein.

The Chilean government has issued permits for a certain number of Jewish immigrants to come in every month. The committee together with Dr. Aronstam is seeking to attract Jewish skilled workers, for whom there is a need in Chile.

Russia Acts to Raze Ancient Jewish Ghetto in Derbent

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

MOSCOW, July 9—The Soviet government today instructed the city administration of Derbent, a fortified seaport in the Soviet republic of Dagestan (Caucasus) to abolish the Jewish ghetto there which dates from medieval times and to let the 500 Jews living in this ghetto to find better quarters. The destruction of the ghetto will be a further step in the emancipation of the Jews of Derbent.

The city of Derbent was founded by the Persian king Kohbad at the beginning of the sixth century to protect Persian territory against the raids of the Chazars who were later converted to Judaism. In 733 the entire city was converted to Islam. The Jewish population is descended from the military colony established between 530 and 578 A. D.

When Derbent was one of the leading cities of the Chazar empire, the Jewish population was an important element. The number of Jews decreased when the Tartar raids began and later when Shah Nadir forced the Jews to accept Islam on the pain of death. In 1813 Derbent came into the possession of Russia.

Until recently Derbent was the religious and cultural center of the Caucasian mountain Jews. A century ago Derbent boasted of 435 Jews and this number was tripled by 1886. During the Russian Revolution the residents of many neighboring villages fled to Derbent, thus further increasing the Jewish population.

Moves to Dismiss Complaints On Michigan Registration Law

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

DETROIT, July 9—Kit F. Clardy, who was the sole defender of the alien registration bill for the office of the attorney-general of Michigan, at the hearings before Judges Arthur C. Dennison, Ernest A. O'Brien and Charles C. Simons, on July 1, today carried out his threat to insist on the 15-day period to which he is legally entitled for an answer on the last two bills of complaint in behalf of Francesco Dimelgio and John Petrowski.

Mr. Clardy served notice on Theodore Levin, chief counsel for the opposition, to appear in court and to argue on the motion to dismiss these two bills of complaint. Mr. Levin did appear, but Mr. Clardy did not. Judge O'Brien stated from the bench that Mr. Clardy's motion is automatically being taken under advisement, and in the event the judges will desire additional testimony they will then call for another hearing.

Plenary Session of Zionist Congress to Vote on Important Committee Resolutions Today

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BASLE, July 9—After a brief session this morning at which one resolution was adopted, the Zionist Congress adjourned its plenary session until tomorrow morning in order to give the various commissions more time to complete their labors. It is expected that all committees will have their resolutions and reports ready for submission at tomorrow's session.

In the meantime everything points to the creation of a coalition administration without Dr. Chaim Weizmann and with the Revisionists excluded. The political commission, which has been in continuous session since yesterday, when it held a joint meeting with the steering committee, is expected to adopt a compromise resolution on the issue of a Jewish majority in Palestine saying that the Congress hopes that British policy will act in accordance with the ultimate aim of Zionism for a Jewish majority in Palestine.

It appears likely that the Revisionists will vote for such a resolution but they will not join the Executive, although they may support it after it is elected. The American group headed by Judge Julian W. Mack, the Mizrahi and a great number of the General Zionists are endeavoring to break the deadlock in this direction. The Laborites have not yet definitely committed themselves as to their attitude.

Last night the Laborites received telegraphic instructions from the Jewish Labor Federation in Palestine calling on them to continue their support of Dr. Weizmann. If, however, a situation is created which makes support of Dr. Weizmann impossible the 80 Laborite delegates are then empowered to vote for a coalition administration without the Revisionists. In the meantime the Laborites have decided not to support the demand for a Jewish majority in Palestine on which the Revisionists and

Water Supply for Lloyd George Colony Nearing Completion

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 9—The installation of a water supply at Ramat David, the colony named for Lloyd George, is proceeding so rapidly that it will be finished within three months, according to an announcement today by the Jewish National Fund. The work, which is being done by the settlers themselves, is costing about $10,000.

Several of the more recently founded settlements in the Emek Jezreel on land of the Jewish National Fund will also be provided with water systems shortly. Such colonies are Nachlat Pittsburgh, established with funds from Pittsburgh Zionists, Ain Harod and Tel Joseph.

Orthodox Rabbis Condemn Birth Control; Conservative Groups Refer Issue to Committee

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 9.—Resolutions favoring the five-day working week, condemning discrimination against Jews in employment and in educational institutions, commending President Hoover's accomplishment of international debt suspension, endorsing world disarmament and condemning the Michigan alien registration law as "incompatible with the spirit of the American Constitution," were passed at the closing session of the Rabbinical Assembly of America yesterday.

Rabbi Israel H. Levinthal of the Brooklyn Jewish Center was re-elected president of the Rabbinical Assembly. Other officers elected were Rabbi Jacob Kohn of New York, vice-president; Rabbi Benjamin Birnbaum of Chicago, treasurer; Rabbi Leon S. Lang of Newark, recording secretary, and Rabbi Simon Greenberg of Philadelphia, corresponding secretary.

The question of birth control roused a controversy at the rabbinical convention, and after a discussion it was referred to the committee on the interpretation of the Jewish law, which is to study the question and report at next year's convention.

A resolution was also adopted to appoint a committee to define the attitude of Conservative Judaism towards the fundamental problems of Judaism. Dr. Cyrus Adler's suggestion to make the last day of Succoth a Seminary Day was also adopted. It was also decided to maintain a rabbinical summer school and to publish a Jewish scientific journal.

Rabbi A. M. Heller of Brooklyn introduced resolutions pledging support to Palestine and European relief funds and to cable greetings to the Zionist Congress in Basle. These resolutions were adopted.

Endorse Debt Moratorium

Rabbi Moses Abels introduced resolutions endorsing a debt moratorium as furthering international good will, a five-day working week as just and helpful to Sabbath observance and protesting against groups and religions in industry and colleges as un-American. The rabbis petitioned both employers and the government to take immediate and adequate steps to relieve the present distress. On motion of Rabbi Morris Silverman of Hartford the convention went on record as being opposed to any calendar change which might endanger the Sabbath.

Another resolution passed by the Rabbinical Assembly opposes military training in American colleges. Prof. M. M. Kaplan secured a unanimous declaration urging synagogues not to sacrifice educational standards and qualified Hebrew teachers for the sake of economy. Prof. Kaplan also advocated a rabbinical apprentice system for young graduates, and was supported in this by Rabbis Hillel Kaewar of Denver and Charles Hoffman of Newark.

Jewish Population of Chita Drops 75 Percent in Decade

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

CHITA, Siberia, July 9.—The number of Jews in Chita, one of the important trading centers of Siberia, has been reduced from 6,000 to 1,500 since the end of the World War. The falling off in the Jewish population is laid to two factors, the most important being the fact that the capital of the Soviet Far Eastern Republic has been moved from Chita to Chabarovsk.

Another factor responsible for the reduction of Chita's Jewish populace is the concentration of Soviet reconstruction activities in such cities as Vladivostok and Nikolaievsk.

What Jews there in Chita are the descendants of exiles sent to Siberia by the Czarist governments. The first Jews came here in the 1860's and 1870's. The construction of the Baikal railroad and the Russo-Japanese war led to an influx of Jewish population.

Hebrew Orphan Home Gets Ezekiel's Studio Register

An autograph album which was the studio register of the late Sir Moses Ezekiel, sculptor, of Rome, Italy, has just been presented to the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, by the estate of the sculptor, one of whose best known groups, the Jesse Seligman Memorial, stands in the entrance hall of the Orphanage.

The memorial was unveiled on April 23, 1896. Prior to that time, visitors of distinction viewed in it the studio in Rome. Among the names registered in the notebook are those of Cardinal de Hohenlohe, a close friend of Sir Moses and of Franz Liszt; Minnie Hauk, the opera singer; Sgambati, the pianist-composer, and numerous painters, sculptors and musicians all well known at the time. There is also a registration of the officers, speakers and guests at the unveiling in New York.

Ask Removal of "Shylock" From Schools of Syracuse

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 9.—A plea for the removal of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" from the reading list in Syracuse high schools has been brought before the Board of Education by the local Good-Will Committee, an interdenominational group. In the plea it is stated that the character of Shylock, as portrayed by Shakespeare in this play, has been responsible for an unfair and malicious conception of Jews.

In answer to this Dr. G. Carl Alverson, superintendent of schools, stated yesterday that the "Merchant of Venice" is not required reading in the high-school English course. "In my many years of teaching 'The Merchant of Venice' I have never before heard a complaint about the book from either pupils or parents," said Mr. Alverson.

Says Potential Markets Create Huge Possibilities for Future Of Palestinian Industries

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 9—Because of a potential market of 16,000,000 Jews throughout the world and because Palestine's proximity to all of the Eastern countries gives them an outlet for Palestinian products, industry in Palestine has enormous possibilities for growth and expansion, M. Shenkar, president of the Manufacturers' Association of Palestine, declared today in an interview with the Palestine Daily Bulletin.

Owing to rapidity of transport and travel and relatively low shipping charges, Palestine will be able to occupy the Oriental markets, especially those of Egypt, as well as of Syria where commission agents are already distributing Palestine products, Mr. Shenkar pointed out. Palestine's output should also find ready access to Iraq and Persia while the Indian market has already shown that large quantities of Palestine products can be sold there, he declared.

The world Jewish market can be of indescribable value to Palestine industry if the proper sort of propaganda is used abroad, especially among Jewish women who should be urged to buy soap, oil, almonds, honey and wine made in Palestine, Mr. Shenkar said.

Mr. Shenkar urged the establishment of industrial banks to grant long term credits to industry, the extension of the department of trade and industry of the Jewish Agency so that it may be able to protect the interests of Palestine industry, the reopening of the government department of industry and Zionist assistance in the development of exports by giving bounties, finding new markets, and establishing agencies for the distribution of Palestine products, especially in the neighboring countries.

Budapest Jewish Hospital Building Great Cancer Institute

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BUDAPEST, July 9—What will be the largest and most completely equipped cancer research institute in the world is now nearing completion in the Jewish Hospital of Budapest. The Rockefeller Institute, the English Rothschilds, and Otto H. Kahn, American financier and philanthropist, contributed the funds needed for the erection of the institute which when ready will have cost several million pengoes.

Old Shaarey Zedek Offered for Special Legion Yom Kippur Rites

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

DETROIT, July 9—The use of the old Shaarey Zedek building on Willis and Brush streets was offered to the American Legion for special Yom Kippur services for visiting Jewish Legionnaires on the occasion of the forthcoming convention opening on Yom Kippur morning. The offer is made by A. Louis Gordon, president of Congregation Shaarey Zedek, to Nathaniel H. Goldstick, assistant corporation counsel, who is in charge of arranging services for visiting Jewish Legionnaires.

seemly decided to appoint permanent committees on education, social justice and ritual. The question of credit for Hebrew under board of regents auspices was referred to the executive council.

The convention heard greetings from Tamarat Emanuel, leader of the Abyssinian Falashas, and Menahem Ribalow, editor of the "Hadoar," the only Hebrew weekly published in America.

The new members of the executive council of the Rabbinical Assembly of America are Rabbi K. Matt of Philadelphia, Rabbi Mortiz Speier of Long Island, Rabbi Alexander Basel of the Bronx, Rabbi Milton Steinberg of Indianapolis, Rabbi Harry Halpern of Brooklyn and Rabbi Leon J. Liebreich of Trenton, N. J. Rabbi Moses J. Abels of Brooklyn was appointed chairman of the permanent standing committee on social justice, ritual and Jewish education.

Judaism Sanctifies Marriage

Birth control is contrary to the tenets of the Orthodox Jewish faith, according to a resolution opposing it which was adopted at the concluding session of the convention of the Assembly of Hebrew Orthodox Rabbis of the United States and Canada, or Keneseth Ho'Rabanim. The resolution declares that birth control is against natural as well as Jewish law and states that "Judaism not only sanctions marriage, but also sanctifies it."

Another resolution adopted by the Keneseth Ho'Rabanim opposes any change in the calendar which would endanger the fixity of the Sabbath. This resolution is to be submitted to the members of the different congregations, and as each congregation adopts it a notice to that effect will be sent to President Hoover and to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations.

The New York state board of regents was asked by the Orthodox rabbis in another resolution not to force students of Jewish extraction to take examinations on any of the Jewish holidays. The convention also discussed a proposal to ask officials of the Yeshiva College to be impartial to all Orthodox rabbinical organizations.

A proposal that a committee of five rabbis each from the Keneseth Ho'Rabanim and the Agudath Ho'Rabanim be appointed to settle disputes between these two rival Orthodox rabbinical organizations was also adopted.

Officers of the Keneseth Ho'Rabanim were elected as follows: Rabbi Wolf Margolies, president; Rabbis Mendelsohn, Hurwitz, Epstein, Mapaz, Posner, Margolin, Sadin and Lipschitz, vice-presidents; Rabbi Joseph Halevy, secretary and Rabbi Manasseh Margolies, treasurer.

Nazis Move for More Vigorous Anti-Semitic Agitation to Retain Hold on Populace

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, July 9—A more vigorous anti-Jewish agitation throughout Germany is the latest move of the National-Socialist leaders in a frantic effort to keep the masses with them, leaders of the Central Association of German Citizens of Jewish Faith declared tonight. It is pointed out that President Hoover's war debt moratorium has frustrated the hopes of the Nazi chieftains of keeping the populace discontented and therefore they have decided to turn the interest of the masses to Jew-hatred.

M. Mutscham, a Nazi deputy and a prominent Dresden industrialist, declared at a meeting today that synagogues will burn in order that the ten year fight of the Nazis should not be in vain. The chief Nazi organ, the Voelkischer Beobachter, today charges the Jews with sponsoring "daily murders" of Nazi members. "The Jews are turning Germany into a murderous Russia, but we'll destroy the Jewish pest which is responsible for Germany's misfortune," the paper declares.

Saloniki Jews Moved by Offer Of Aid from Kin in New York

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

SALONIKI, July 9—An offer of help from Salonican Jews resident in New York, cabled through the Jewish Telegraphic Agency to the pogrom-stricken Jewish community of Saloniki, greatly moved the leaders of the community tonight. Deputy Bessantchi, with the cable in his hand, immediately called on Elie Benusiglio, president of the Jewish Communal Council, who called that body into immediate session to prepare a reply to the New York offer.

In the meantime a Greco-Jewish league has been formed to clear up the misunderstanding between the two races. The first meeting of the league will be held Saturday.

At the same time the investigation into the attack on the Campbell quarter, June 29, is proceeding slowly. Today the examining magistrate quizzed a Christian chauffeur who is alleged to have been one of the ringleaders of the attack on the Jewish quarter. Both the Jewish and Greek press are now refraining from comment on the situation at the urgent request of Governor Gonatas. The papers, however, are featuring Premier Venizelos' statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, reassuring the Jewish world.

The Jewish community today sent a message to Governor Gonatas expressing their unshakable loyalty to Greece following a newspaper allegation that part of the Jews of Saloniki are supporting Macedonian autonomy against Greece. The Jewish community recalled to the governor that Rabbi Jacob Meier of Jerusalem declared some time ago that the Salonican Jews are completely identified with a Hellenistic Macedonia.

week. During this week of grace, however, it is unlikely that there will be any question of adjustments or changes in the substance of the scheme because the Colonial Office considers the matter settled so far as it is concerned.

It is known that some weeks ago the Zionist Executive decided to request the Colonial Office, at the suggestion of the Zionist political commission, to wait with the announcement until a new Executive was elected, feeling that the retiring Executive could not at the last moment be expected to take the responsibility for such an important matter nor should the incoming Executive be placed before a fait accompli.

The Colonial Office at first hand had apparently agreed to hold off publication of the scheme's details until after the Zionist Congress and this change of mind is inexplicable to Zionist circles.

Simultaneously with the publication of the details of the development scheme in Palestine, an official announcement will be made in Parliament giving the details of the proposed plan, it was learned today. It is not expected, however, that the government will for the present ask Parliament's sanction for the $12,500,000 loan that is to finance the scheme.

This question, it is expected, will be deferred until the director of development has investigated the situation and submitted his report to the Colonial Office in London.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BASLE, July 9—Tremendous excitement was created early this morning among the delegates to the Zionist Congress when word was received that the British Colonial Office had sent a dispatch to High Commissioner Chancellor of Palestine regarding the Palestine development scheme.

Document Unfavorable

A copy of a covering letter from Lord Passfield, Colonial Secretary, which accompanies the dispatch, as well as a copy of the text of the dispatch, was received here and it resulted in a heated discussion at the political commission's all-night session. The commission considers the document unfavorable.

The principal request of the Jewish Agency, which has been carrying on negotiations with the British government regarding the development scheme, namely that it should be determined in advance that Jews and Arabs should benefit equally from the $12,500,000 fund which is to finance the scheme, is not complied with. Lord Passfield's letter merely says that the government took note of the request.

The development board is to consist of a Jew, an Arab and a Britisher, and, despite the Jewish Agency's objections, the ultimate authority will rest with the High Commissioner. One favorable feature of the dispatch for

Survey Shows Jewish College Students Know Little of Jewish History of Great Jewish Names

There seems to be no evidence of the so-called inferiority complex among Jewish college students, according to a conclusion reached by Dr. Julius B. Maller, research associate in Teachers' College of Columbia University, who presents the results of a test which he gave to 200 Jewish students in secular schools who had little or no formal Jewish education, in an article appearing in the April-June issue of "Jewish Education." The tests comprised questions covering the background, the Jewish knowledge, Jewish attitudes and personal adjustments of the students.

Other conclusions reached by Dr. Maller as a result of this test are:

1. The forms of recreation which are favorites among Jewish students are largely cultural in nature.

2. Jewish students, coming largely from Orthodox homes, tend to be in greater sympathy with Conservative and Reform Judaism.

3. Jewish students show little familiarity with the names of great Jews, and are badly misinformed in that connection.

4. Jewish students show a fair knowledge of Jewish customs and ceremonies, but extremely little knowledge of Jewish history.

5. There is little correlation between the extent of Jewish knowledge and the degree of observing Jewish practices among Jewish students.

6. The reasons given by Jewish students for observing Jewish practices are religious conviction, social pressure and national solidarity.

7. Jewish students rate themselves much more frequently to be of positive than of negative or neutral attitude toward their Jewishness. There is a marked correlation between the students' self-rating and their actual scores on a test of Jewish attitudes.

8. On tests of emotionality and temperament, the Jewish students display a reaction-pattern slightly different from that of non-Jewish college students. They show a slightly higher degree of emotionality. Their reaction to words, however, reveals more frequent positive responses of pleasing and agreeable than negative responses of displeasing and annoying.

9. Jewish students display a marked degree of introversion and self-criticism.

the Jews is the stipulation that the landless Arabs who are to be provided for by the development scheme are defined as Premier MacDonald defined them in his letter to Dr. Chaim Weizmann last February officially interpreting the White Paper of October, 1930.

According to this definition, landless Arabs are those who can be shown to have been displaced from the lands which they occupied in consequence of the lands passing into Jewish hands, and who have not obtained other holdings on which they can establish themselves.

a number of the General Zionists insist.

The resolution proposed by the Revisionists regarding the ultimate aims of Zionism is understood to have been rejected by the political commission, thus eliminating one of the four resolutions offered on this subject.

The colonization commission's chief problem is the question of the consolidation of the existing colonies in Palestine, an undertaking which requires $450,000. The commission's meeting was marked by a sharp clash between the representatives of the Jewish Labor Federation and the Orthodox Laborites. The latter alleged that the Laborites are placing obstacles in the way of the consolidation of the Orthodox Laborites' colonies.

At this morning's session the Congress adopted a resolution voicing regret that the Palestine government has not fulfilled its obligations concerning financial support of Jewish health institutions. The Congress also approved the efforts of the Hadassah Medical Organization to transfer the responsibility for a part of its institutions to the Jewish community and urged that these efforts be pursued further.

Dr. A. Coranik, an American delegate, together with a number of others, today began organizing an anti-Revisionist bloc of Zionist intellectuals.

Blames Jewish Community for Failure to Bar Passion Play

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

VICTORIA, British Columbia, July 9—Inertia on the part of the Jewish community is held responsible by Frederick Landsberg for the failure to prevent the presentation of the Passion Play in Victoria, B. C., the city which honored him a year ago by voting him as its best citizen. After single-handedly using every influence in his power to prevent it being shown in Victoria, Mr. Landsberg found that he had begun his efforts too late, due to the delay of other members in the community in coming to his aid.

As a result of his experiences, Mr. Landsberg has sounded a warning to other cities of the Pacific Coast. "I know definitely that this company is intending to present the Passion Play on other cities of the Coast, in Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco," he said. "From my experience I feel sure that they can be prevented, if action is started before full arrangements are made. In Victoria I was able to gain the sympathy and cooperation of all the city officials and clergy, but I started too late, for all arrangements had been definitely completed."
