Details of $12,500,000 Palestine Development Scheme Made Public; Includes Register of Displaced Arabs and Inquiry Into What Lands Available for Close Settlement of Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 20.—The details of the $12,500,000 Palestine land settlement and land development scheme were made public today simultaneously in London and in Jerusalem. In London the scheme was outlined to the House of Commons by Dr. Drummond Shiels, under-secretary of state for the colonies, while in Jerusalem the plan was promulgated through the publication of the scheme itself together with a covering letter from Lord Passfield, colonial secretary, to High Commissioner Chancellor.

In brief, the scheme provides for the preparation of a register of such Arabs as can be shown to have been displaced from the lands which they occupied in consequence of the land passing into the hands of the Jews, and who have not obtained other holdings on which they can establish themselves, or other equally satisfactory occupation. In preparing the register the director is to have the assistance of the legal assessor, whose duty it will be to scrutinize claims and to advise the director as to the sufficiency of evidence in each case before the claim is admitted.

On the basis of this register, the director of development is to draw up a scheme for the resettlement of the registered, displaced Arab families, together with an estimate of the cost of such resettlement, which is to be carried out as quickly as possible, after the High Commissioner of Palestine has approved the scheme.

Follows MacDonald Letter

The director of development is also empowered to investigate the methods to be adopted to give effect, within the limits of the funds available, to the British government's intention, (as promised in Premier MacDonald's letter to Dr. Chaim Weizmann on February 13, as soon as possible to ascertain inter alia what state and other lands are, or properly can be made, available for close settlement by Jews under reference to the obligation imposed upon the Mandatory by Article VI of the Mandate."

As explained by Dr. Shiels, this investigation is also to include the following items:

1. The feasibility and advisability of providing credits for Arab cultivators and Jewish settlers, and if so, the best methods to achieve this purpose.
2. Proposals for draining, irrigating and otherwise reclaiming land at present uncultivated or cultivated only to a limited extent.
3. The British government intends to authorize the High Commissioner to incur an expenditure not exceeding $250,000 in the foregoing investigations, including all necessary surveys and ex-

Commons to Debate Development Plan When Report Is Submitted

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 20.—A special bill will have to be passed by the House of Commons before the Palestine development scheme, details of which were announced today in Jerusalem and London, can be put into effect in order to guarantee the loan of $12,500,000 which will finance the scheme. This became clear today from questions and answers exchanged in the House of Commons between Ormsby Gore, M.P., and Dr. Drummond Shiels, under-secretary of state for the Colonies, after the latter had given the details of the scheme to the House of Commons.

This means that Parliament will be given an opportunity to debate the scheme. When Michael Marcus, Labor M.P., pointed out that the scheme which was to be published in Palestine on July 9 had been temporarily suspended and asked whether the government still intended to submit the scheme to Parliament before proceeding with it, Dr. Shiels at first avoided answering the latter part of the query. Later, however, it became clear that only when the director of development has submitted his report would an opportunity be given for a parliamentary debate.

Ormsby Gore further inquired whether the development scheme embodies any changes in policy other than those outlined in Premier MacDonald's letter to Dr. Weizmann. Dr. Shiels assured Gore that the statement is fairly consistent with the documents issued in that connection.

Early Visit of Sokolow To United States Possible

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BASLE, July 20.—The likelihood of an early visit to the United States by Nahum Sokolow, the newly-elected president of the World Zionist Organization, became a distinct possibility today when the American delegates to the Zionist Congress, which has just concluded, conferred with him regarding a trip to America.

At the conference it was decided that as soon as the American delegates returned to the United States they should immediately consult the administrative committee of the Zionist Organization of America in order to make the necessary preparations for the visit of Mr. Sokolow. The American delegates assured Mr. Sokolow of their energetic support of him as well as of the entire Zionist Executive.

Meanwhile Mr. Sokolow has been flooded with congratulations from all parts of the world. Today he received cabled congratulations from Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court, James de Rothschild, son of Baron Edmond de Rothschild, the nestor of Palestinian work, the Jewish National Council of Palestine, Col. Frederick Kisch, chairman of the outgoing Zionist Executive, numerous university professors and the Polish and Czecho-Slovakian governments.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 20.—Nahum Sokolow, the new president of the World Zionist Organization, is a Revisionist, the Arab paper, Palastin, declares today, adding that "only Allah knows what will happen in the next two years". The same issue of the paper prints another article declaring that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the outgoing president, remains the actual leader of the Zionist movement.

On the other hand the Jewish settlements in the Jordan Valley today cabled Dr. Weizmann on the occasion of his retirement that "your glory is undiminished. Your fate is our fate. We have been and remain with you".

Palestine Revisionists to Hold Conference July 27

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 20.—The Revisionist organization of Palestine today announced that it has called an extraordinary conference for the evening of July 27 in Tel Aviv in order to consider the results of the Zionist Congress, especially in view of Vladimir Jabotinsky's withdrawal from the leadership of the party for six months, the relationship of the Revisionists to the World Zionist Organization and the world conference of Revisionists in December.

Roumanian Jewry Anxious at Appointment of 2 Anti-Semites

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BUCHAREST, July 20.—The appointment of Nichifor Robu, anti-Semitic member of parliament, as the government investigator of peasant conditions in Bukovina, and the naming of the anti-Semitic Deputy Valeriu Popp as minister for Transylvania, today created considerable anxiety in Jewish circles throughout Roumania.

The Jewish press voices anxiety lest Robu utilize his position for spreading anti-Jewish agitation while the same fear is manifested with regard to Popp since conditions in both Bukovina and Transylvania, centers of large Jewish populations, are especially unsettled.

Rabbi Noah ZaludowskiNoted Cantor and Scholar, Dead

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

DETROIT, July 20—Rabbi Noah "Lider" Zaludowski, famous cantor, Talmudist and for more than 40 years chief cantor of the main synagogue at Kalisz, Poland, is dead at the home of his son here at the age of 72. Born in Dvoretz, Grodno district, Lithuania (formerly Russia) Rabbi Zaludowski was the son and grandson of rabbis.

At the age of 13 he received his rabbinical degree from the Volozhin rabbinical seminary. Gifted with a marvelous voice he turned his attention to hazonoth (liturgical singing). Not only is he known as one of the greatest of cantors but he was also the teacher of scores of other cantors and choir leaders. Hundreds of his compositions are now sung in the greatest Orthodox synagogues of Europe and America.

Rabbi Zaludowski's entire family is intimately connected with the synagogue. His widow is the only daughter of Rabbi Joseph Moshe of Metshet, the last of fourteen consecutive generations of rabbis. His eldest son, Elijah Zaludowski, is the chief cantor of Temple Shaarey Zedek, Detroit. Two other sons, Joseph and Jacob, are cantors in London and Liverpool.

The name "Lider" came to Rabbi Zaludowski as a result of his having been cantor in the town of Lida. He was also cantor in the leading synagogues of Vilna, Brest-Litovsk and Wolkowsk.

Hebrew Teachers ProtestAppointment of Berkson

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 20—The Hebrew Teachers' Union of Palestine today cabled to Nahum Sokolow, president of the World Zionist Organization, and Menachem Mendel Ussishkin, president of the Jewish National Fund, in Basle, protesting against the appointment of Isaac B. Berkson, an American non-Zionist, as the member of the new Executive of the Jewish Agency in charge of education.

Former Supreme Court Judge
Newburger Dies at 78

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 20—Former Supreme Court Justice Joseph E. Newburger died here yesterday in his seventieth-eighty year. His death was due to heart disease, for which he had been undergoing treatment in a local hospital during the past month.

Justice Newburger was born on the East Side of New York, the son of Emanuel and Lottia Newburger. He was graduated from the Columbia Law School in 1874, was admitted to the bar the same year and practiced in New York until 1890. After joining Tammany Hall and running unsuccessfully for the assembly, he was elected to the city court in 1890. From then on he served on the bench without interruption until 1924, when he retired on reaching the 70-year old age limit.

In 1895 Justice Newburger was elected for a ten-year term as Judge of the court of general sessions, being subsequently nominated by three parties and elected Supreme Court Justice. His first term as Supreme Court Justice ran until 1919.

At the conclusion of that term, Justice Newburger found himself at odds with Charles F. Murphy, then leader of Tammany Hall, which refused to give him a renomination, nominating Irwin Untermyer instead. This aroused protests from Justice Newburger's friends, from the Bar Association and from the newspapers. He was then nominated by an independent group and by the Republicans and was re-elected Supreme Court Justice, getting 80,000 more votes than his Democratic rival.

Justice Newburger was active in Jewish philanthropic work, having served for many years as a director and later as president of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum. During his presidency the Hebrew Orphan Asylum purchased a 193-acre site at 233rd Street and Baychester Road, the Bronx, to replace the home at Amsterdam Avenue and 137th Street, which then cared for more than 1,000 children. He was also active in Masonic and Odd Fellow circles.

Sunderland Jews PermittedTo Make Burials on Sunday

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 20—After a good deal of protest on the part of members of the city council, the Jews of Sunderland, a city in northern England, were today granted permission to make burials on Sundays. Although the city council's cemetery committee had recommended that the request be granted some members of the council objected on the ground that it was an attack on Christian principles.

When the question finally came to a vote in the city council it was approved by a vote of 37 to 13 with eight members not voting. In other parts of England Jews have long been permitted to bury their dead on Sundays.

Vienna Anti-Jewish Student
Attacks Raised in Commons

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 20—Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, today told the House of Commons that he has no reason to suppose that the question of attacks on Jewish students in the University of Vienna will be brought before the League of Nations. The matter was raised by Commander J. M. Kenworthy, Laborite, who asked whether the question had been called to the attention of the minorities section of the League of Nations.

Mr. Henderson said that he had seen a report on the disorders but so far as he was aware they had not been repeated and the authorities had been successful in putting an end to them.

Morris Sigman, Jewish LaborLeader, Dies Suddenly at 51

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

STORM LAKE, Iowa, July 20—Morris Sigman, former president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, died suddenly of heart disease at his home here yesterday. Mr. Sigman was 51 years old.

Mr. Sigman was one of the leading figures in the development of the Jewish labor movement in this country, having played a prominent part in the organization of the Jewish needle workers in trade unions. He came to America in 1903 and started his career as a presser in East Side sweat shops. After a few years he became active in the Cloakmakers' Union and in 1910 he was one of the leaders of the cloakmakers' strike, being chairman of the picketing committee.

After occupying various important offices in the Cloakmakers' Union, Mr. Sigman became president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, which includes the cloakmakers. For six years he was president of the I. L. G. W. U. During that time he was the storm center of the fight between "rights" and "lefts", or Socialists and Communists, for the control of the Union. He sided with the "rights" and finally succeeded in having the Communist element ousted from the Union. In 1928 he resigned as president of the Union, retiring to his farm in Iowa.

Move to Naturalize AllTwin Cities Jewish Residents

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

ST. PAUL, July 20—A drive to secure the naturalization of all Jewish residents in St. Paul and Minneapolis was launched today by the St. Paul B'nai Brith. In view of the tightening of federal regulations towards un-naturalized aliens the B'nai Brith council at its executive meeting decided to act to prevent the deportation of un-naturalized Jewish residents here.

Jesse B. Calmenson has been appointed chairman of the committee which is conducting the campaign. An appeal has been made to those not previously naturalized to report to B'nai Brith headquarters here where arrangements for naturalization will be made.

periments, such expenditure being met from Palestine funds.

Jewish, Arab Comments Invited

4. The High Commissioner will take the report into consideration and before submitting recommendations to the government will invite the observations of the Jewish Agency and the Arab Executive upon the practical proposals of the scheme and will afford them an opportunity to make representations regarding such proposals as have not yet received a concurrence of the Jewish and Arab advisors.

5. The development director is to submit estimates of the cost and works proposed and intimate their order of preference and he must submit his report not later than December, 1931.

In outlining the scheme, Dr. Shiels declared that the directors' report will be transmitted by the High Commissioner, along with any representations of the Jewish Agency or the Arab Executive, to the British government which will decide whether effect is to be given to the report and its recommendations, or to which of them and in what manner. The bill for the guarantee of the $12,500,000 development loan will not be settled until the director's report is received and considered together with the representations.

Dr. Shiels further stated that the development director will be subordinate to the High Commissioner but independent of the existing Palestine government departments, though in carrying out the development work he will be in liaison with them. The Jewish Agency and the Arab Executive will be invited to nominate one member each to assist the director in an advisory capacity, Dr. Shiels declared.

Published in Palestine

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 20—The need for more methodical agricultural development in Palestine was made apparent by the report of Sir John Hope Simpson, Lord Passfield, colonial secretary, declares in a letter to High Commissioner Chancellors, accompanying the details of the Palestine development scheme, which were made public here today in a statement issued by the Palestine government, simultaneously with a similar announcement in the House of Commons in London.

Lord Passfield's letter points out that a brief outline of the government's policy with regard to land development and land settlement, was contained in paragraphs 21 to 25 of the White Paper of October, 1930, and was further explained in paragraphs 9 to 13 of Premier MacDonald's letter to Dr. Chaim Weizmann on February 13th, in explanation of the White Paper.

The colonial secretary explains that the funds to carry out the development scheme will be found by means of a loan which Parliament will be asked to authorize with a government guarantee. "I have already been in correspondence with the Jewish Agency regarding the initial steps to be taken out by the government policy regarding agricultural development and land settlement," Lord Passfield writes.

"As a result of this correspondence, an outline of the scheme was drawn up in consultation with High Commissioner Chancellors and was communicated to representatives of both the Jewish Agency and the Arab Executive for such comments which they might desire to offer. I have since had an opportunity of discussing the question orally with the Jewish Agency and with High Commissioner Chancellors during his recent visit to England.

Jews Aroused Over False Reports of Saloniki Riots Appearing in Czech Papers

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

PRAGUE, July 20—Czecho-Slovakian Jewry has been tremendously aroused by reports in the leading Prague papers that it was the Jews who attacked the Greeks in Saloniki instead of the other way around. Ceske Slovo, the organ of Eduard Benes, foreign minister, and the Prager Presse, semi-official spokesman for the foreign office, are the papers that published the offending reports.

Under the headline "Jews Make a Pogrom Upon Christians," the Ceske Slovo declared that "in the Jewish suburb of Solun there occurred last night a clash between Jews and Christians. There were about twenty injured on both sides. Governor Gonatas of Macedonia declares that the conflict was caused by Jews and that most of the injured are Christians."

In similar vein the Prager Presse reported that "Jews in the Kalmaria quarter attacked a soldier who was forced to call for aid from his colleagues. In the Wardar quarters Jews fired upon a detachment of soldiers who were marching through the streets and a clash ensued. Among the wooden houses of the Campbell quarter, which are inhabited by about a hundred families, several were destroyed by fire."

Zionists, Arabs Not Consulted On New High Commissioner

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 20—Neither the Zionist leaders nor the Arabs were consulted by the British government before it appointed General Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, general officer commanding northern Ireland as the New High Commissioner for Palestine. Dr. Drummond Shiels, under-secretary of state for the Colonies, declared today in the House of Commons. Dr. Shiels' statement was in response to an inquiry from Michael Marcus, Labor M.P.

German Tennis Federation's Disciplinary Board Upholds Daniel Prenn's Suspension

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, July 20—The disciplinary board of the German Tennis Union today confirmed the action of the Union in suspending Daniel Prenn, Germany's outstanding net star, for six months on the charge that he had demanded money from Hammer & Co., racket manufacturers, for using their rackets. The action of the disciplinary board is considered especially surprising in view of the fact that in Prenn's libel action against Hammer & Co. the charge against him was found to be untrue.

The Democratic press and Jewish sporting circles are convinced that the disciplinary action against Prenn is based on nothing but anti-Semitic malice and is part of an effort to expel him from the ranks of tennis amateurs because he is a Polish-born Jew. Prenn claimed that the charge against him was the result of his preference for rackets other than those made by the Hammer Company.

As a result of his suspension Prenn has lost all of his titles as well as his amateur standing. He was also prevented from representing Germany in the Davis Cup tournament in which he had previously scored victories for Germany.

Details of $12,500,000 Palestine Development Scheme Made Public; Includes Register of Displaced Arabs and Inquiry Into What Lands Available for Close Settlement of Jews

After all consideration of High Commissioner Chancellors' views and the comments received from the above quarter, I have approved the revised proposals."

The details of the development scheme as announced in the House of Commons, then followed.

French Named Director

Yesterday, the Colonial Office announced that Lewis French, a retired official of the Indian Civil Service and former Chief-Secretary of the Punjab, India, has been appointed director of the Palestine development scheme. The scheme, which has been the subject of long negotiations between the Jewish Agency and the British government, was supposed to become operative on July 9, a despatch to this effect having been sent to High Commissioner Chancellors on July 8 by the Colonial Office, together with a covering letter from Lord Passfield, colonial secretary. At the last minute the promulgation of the scheme was postponed.

The first announcement of the scheme was made in the House of Commons on November 17, 1930 by Dr. Shiels, in the course of the parliamentary debate on Palestine. In his statement Dr. Shiels declared that the scheme would provide for the settlement of approximately 10,000 families at an expenditure of not more than $12,500,000 for works of a productive nature, such as irrigation and drainage. He further said that the plan was intended to provide for landless Arabs who may have been dispossessed "as the result of land passing to the Jews" while the balance of the fund to be provided was to be made available for the settlement of both Jews and Arabs.

In a statement to the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations on June 16, 1931, Dr. Shiels gave further details of the development scheme, saying that "a comprehensive scheme of development is called for both in the interests of the Arab and Jewish communities and in fulfillment of the responsibilities which His Majesty's Government has for the general welfare of Palestine."

New Probe Planned

Subject to the necessary provisions for control, consultation and advice, the administration of the scheme will be placed in the hands of an officer to be appointed under the title of director of development, Dr. Shiels told the Mandates Commission. He further stated that in carrying out the policy of development the British government had no intention of governing its procedure by any assumptions based on existing estimates of facts and figures but on the basis of a new investigation to be made on the spot by the development authority whose recommendations would be framed in the light of the facts so ascertained.

The director of development, Mr. French, was for 24 years a leading official of the Indian Civil Service. In 1897 he was colonization officer of the Chenab colony. In 1906 he was director of land records and in the following year director of agriculture.

He was appointed deputy commissioner of Shahpur in 1908. In 1910 he was promoted to chief minister of Kapurthala state. After five years in this post he was named special commissioner of the Defense of India Act and later director of land records. In 1906 he was made additional secretary of the Punjab government and in 1918 was promoted to chief secretary. He resigned from the Indian Civil Service in 1921 after having been financial secretary of the Punjab government.

Two Jewish Agricultural Collectives Formed in Omsk

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

OMSK, Siberia, July 20—Two Jewish agricultural collectives have been organized near Omsk by former Jewish traders. One collective, called "Liberty and Fraternity," is located about 25 miles from Omsk. It includes some 45 Jewish families, all of them former nepten in Omsk. In 1927 they were granted a considerable tract of land.

Each family has contributed 600 roubles to the collective which now owns four tractors. The second collective, known as the "First of May," consists of twenty families.

Both collectives consist of former traders who turned to agriculture after wearying of the burdensome taxes and restrictions of the Soviet government. The Ozet, the society for settling the Jews on the land, has aided the two collectives.

First Reform Congregation Organized in South Africa

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, July 20—The first Reform Jewish congregation has been organized in South Africa, Miss Lily Montagu, secretary of the World Union for Progressive Judaism, reported to the executive committee of the Union here. About a year ago the initial Reform congregation was established in Melbourne, Australia under the ministry of Rabbi Jerome Mark, formerly of Selma, Alabama. The first confirmation in the Melbourne congregation was recently held, Miss Montagu reported.

Because of the economic depression, the next conference of the World Union for Progressive Judaism, scheduled to be held in June, 1932, has been postponed until 1933 by the executive committee. M. Levinson, of The Hague, president of the Dutch organization for Liberal Reform Judaism, reported to the committee on the progress of the Reform movement in Holland.

New Opera's Libretto Based On Leivik's "Golem" Drama

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

CHICAGO, July 20—An opera, the libretto of which is based on H. Leivik's Yiddish drama, "The Golem," will be presented by the Chicago Civic Opera Company, probably during the coming season. The opera is being written by M. Van Grove, conductor of the Chicago Opera Company. After being shown in Chicago, the opera will be presented on the stage of the New York Metropolitan Opera House.

The story of "The Golem" deals with the legend of the Frankenstein, or man-serving robot, which Rabbi Loew of Prague, who lived at the end of the 16th century, is supposed to have created. He is said to have used his "golem" as a servant on week-days, and extracted the Shem (the holy name of God written on a piece of paper) from the "golem's" mouth every Friday afternoon, so as to let it rest on the Sabbath.
