German-Jewish Vereins To Announce Stand on German Day Sunday

The Federation of German Jewish Societies, meeting at the Central Synagogue, Tuesday night decided to announce their stand on Sunday with regard to the German Jewish attitude toward the projected celebration of German Day on December 6 in Madison Square Garden.

The pronouncement, which, if unfavorable, is expected to presage a series of protests against the celebration, will be made by Robert Rosenbaum, president of the Federation, and B. B. Bendixen, an address before the memorial celebration of the Deutsche Israelitische Landwir Verein und Damenbund meeting in the McKinley Temple, Sunday afternoon.

"We are making no decision on the support the German Jewish Vereins will lend to the German Day celebration until the Steuben Society, which is sponsoring the plans for German Day, announces definitely who will speak and what the decorations will be," Mr. Rosenbaum said to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency."We shall await further developments before taking a definite stand."

Inquiries among other members of the federation, however, indicated that the sentiment of the organization will definitely oppose the German Day celebration should the swastika banner be displayed at the affair. In accordance with a resolution adopted by the federation a few weeks ago, no member of the German Jewish will take part in an affair at which the swastika constitutes part of the decorations.

Definite Plans for Fete

Definite plans for the celebration were to be made public by the Steuben Society last night. The body was to meet at Teutonia Hall with representatives of other German organizations where cooperation was asked to make the affair a success. It is understood that although some friction exists between the Steuben Society and other factions of the German-American Conference, few difficulties will be put in the way of that organization in its effort to muster a united German front for the celebration.

Mr. President Roosevelt and high American Army and Navy officials have been invited to address the German Day celebrants, interest is concentrated upon the acceptance or rejection of the bid extended to Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States. It has been announced that in accordance with the custom of many decades, the ambassador would make man tory the display of the swastika banner.

"According to Hitler's autobiography, the swastika is the symbol of anti-Semitism," one leader of German Jewish women's organizations said Tuesday night. "We Jews would not be welcome in Germany in places where the swastika is displayed. In America we should not care to celebrate under the swastika.

Practically every German Jewish Verein in New York was represented at the meeting, which was held behind closed doors. Reporters were not admitted.

Soft-Pedal Issues

In final discussions undertaken by various Brooklyn German-American Vereins, according to the reports of attendants at the meetings, efforts have been made to keep political and religious issues out of plans for cooperation with the Steuben Society in making a success of the celebration at Madison Square Garden as well as to insure success for a similar demonstration to be held on Sunday in the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum.

An appeal was made before a meeting of the United German Societies of Brooklyn by Theodor Schmidt, chairman of the meeting, for the soft pedaling of all political and religious issues incumbent on the celebration of German Day.

While the meeting was concerned with the Brooklyn festival the specter of the Madison Square Garden continually crept into discussions. It is understood that Brooklyn Vereins are seeking the support of Manhattan groups for their celebration, with promise of reciprocal support having been made for the Madison Square Garden affair.

Rothenberg Makes Plea

For Jews of Germany

(Jewish Daily Bulletin)

SCHENECTADY, Nov. 22—Two hundred thousand Jews are faced with the necessity of leaving Germany as an alternative to sheer starvation, Morris Rothenberg, president of the Zionist Organization of America, told 350 Jewish residents of Schenectady at a mass meeting here opening a week's intensive drive to raise funds for removing refugees to Palestine.

A large sum of money was donated during the meeting and Hyman J. Sacharoff, chairman of the drive, announced every Jewish home in the city would be visited.

"There is no prospect of any improvement in the situation of the German Jews taking place in the near future," Mr. Rothenberg said.

"On the contrary, well informed opinion holds that the gravity of the situation is likely to be intensified."

Two Children Support Stavsky's Claim to Alihi; Acheimeir Reserves Defense

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JAFFA, Palestine, Nov. 22—The fight which Abraham Stavsky is making for his life in defense of charges that he is one of the murderers of Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff, assassinated Zionist labor leader, made considerable headway at today's hearing.

Two children testified they had seen the 28-year-old Revisionist in a Jerusalem restaurant on the night of June 16. Rosa Bichorov, twelve years old, said she had seen Stavsky from that evening and had later identified him without having been shown photographs of the defendant.

Chaim Bichorov, sixteen years old, born in London and for the last nine-and-a-half years a resident of Palestine, testified that on the evening of June 16, he had noticed a stranger among the group of persons with whom he was familiar in the Jerusalem restaurant. Later he identified Stavsky as the stranger.

In company with his mother and sister, Chaim had brought this evidence to police some time ago, he declared. The police refused to consider the evidence, the court was informed.

Aba Acheimeir, extreme Revisionist, also one of the defendants, reserved defense. He denied complicity in the murder. He insisted that the political party of which he is a member, is in no way implicated. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

Jewish Lawyers Barred

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, Nov. 22—Over six hundred Jewish lawyers lost their practice in Berlin by October 20, today's press reveals, indicating also that further expulsions of Jewish lawyers are imminent. The authorities are apparently determined to reduce the number of Jewish lawyers to the proportion of the Jews in the general population, namely less than one per cent.

The Warburg Library

In reference to Tuesday's despatch with regard to the Warburg Library it is learned on good authority that while it is true that an invitation from London for a three-year temporary period has been accepted, nothing definite as to the final location of the library has been decided or would be decided for some time to come. The library has never been interfered with by the German authorities.

campaign in Palestine in the interests of the Nazi party. He recently interviewed several Arabs living in France and Germany in connection with the best possible means of adapting the Nazi program to the Holy Land.

The arrested Arab leaders, Aouni Abdul Hadi, Jamal Al Husine and Izzat Darwazza, have been replaced on the Executive by el Benak, Ishac Darwish, a nephew of the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, and Omar Saleh el Barghuty, a Moslem attorney.

El Bendak is the editor of Sowt Es-Shaab and professes the Christian faith.

The Arab Executive has issued a proclamation condemning the Poles and expressing its contempt for their bravery and for their resistance to the British government by declaring a general strike. A reply is being formulated to the statement issued by the Colonial Secretary in England demanding peace.

The moderate Arab leader, Boughes Efendi Shehadeh, editor of the anti-Nazi newspaper “Mazrat Al Sherk”, has resigned from the Arab Executive because of the manner in which the “Arab Executive fled like cowards from the scene” of the rioting in the Holy City recently.

He declared that the Arabs have surrendered so readily to pressure of British government military forces.

In Czernowitz, students caused a panic in the Jewish district, when they assembled there after their demonstration outside the office of the pro-government paper was broken up by police. They reassembled in the Jewish quarter and began to annoy Jews. Shops were hurriedly closed, while the anti-Semitic students and the police engaged in a battle which lasted for several hours. A few policemen were hurt in the fight, including the major of police, Monti.

American Olympic Body
Shelves Vote on Resolution
Against Berlin Games

Olympic Association meeting in convention here today.

Acting on the motion of Murray Hubert, former president of the Amateur Athletic Union, which on Monday adopted the resolution voicing condemnation of Germany’s anti-Semitic discrimination, the A. O. A. referred the matter to a committee including among its members Gustavus Town Kirby and Brigadier General Charles S. Sherrill.

Mr. Kirby is strongly in favor of the resolution, which would boycott the German Olympic Games. According to the schedule, the games scheduled to be held in Berlin in 1936. He sponsored the motion at the Pittsburgh convention of the A. O. A.

General Sherrill, at today’s meeting of the A. O. A., sounded his belief that the resolution would do more harm than good, and that a protest would be preferable.

Charles L. Ornstein, representing the Jewish Welfare Board, demanded positive action on the matter. He declared that Germany is against Jewish athletes. He cited many instances of Nazi anti-Semitic discrimination since the meeting of the German Olympic Committee in Vienna where a pledge was issued promising justice to Jewish athletes.

A second promise of this nature was received by the committee in a cablegram directed to the American Athletic Union by the Reich body.

General Sherrill retorted to Ornstein’s address with the declaration that he is not a defender of Nazi policies. The matter should not be made an issue in this country, he said, adding that American athletes would be deprived of the opportunity of playing in the 1936 games.

One bloc of delegates, motivated apparently by the adoption of the emphatic stand against Germany by the A. O. U. on Monday, is reported to be circulating a round robin which demands that a rider be appended moving to hold the games in another country.

S.S. Washington yesterday as the American delegates to the German refugee body named by the League of Nations to solve the difficult problem of finding a haven for the unwanted citizens of Nazi Germany. James G. McDonough, High Commissioner of the body, former president of the Foreign Policy Association, is directing the proceedings in Geneva.

Dr. Chamberlain received word of his appointment from President Roosevelt Tuesday and took leave from the University immediately. He plans to return in time for the Christmas holidays.

Dr. Chamberlain said before sailing that he has a keen interest in the work ahead of him, although his knowledge of the plight of the German refugees is not exhaustive. He plans to make a thorough study of the situation upon arrival in Europe.

“T realize the importance of my job,” said Professor Chamberlain. “This is not wholly a Jewish problem. Hard work and concentrated effort are essential in dealing with the question.”

In Cleveland sixty years ago, Dr. Chamberlain studied at Harvard and the University of Southern California. He received his Ph.D. from Columbia in 1921, an LL.D. five years ago and held a chair in the School of Jurisprudence at the University of Southern California. Since 1909 he has been a member of the legislative drafting fund at Columbia and a professor of public law since 1922.
American Olympic Body Shelves Vote on Resolution Against Berlin Games

The American Olympic Association last year unanimously adopted a resolution protesting the discrimination against Jewish athletes in Germany. The resolution expressed the hope that discrimination against Jewish athletes will have been removed before the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin so that American athletes may be certified for participation.

Leaves $20,000 to Charities

Max Kops, corset manufacturer of Riverdale, N. Y., who died on May 15, 1932, left $20,000 to charitable institutions and $15,000 to his employees, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed here yesterday. The estate was valued at $686,866 gross and has a net value of $638,672.

In his will Mr. Kops bequeathed $10,000 to the Kops Foundation of Mount Sinai Hospital, and $10,000 to his executor to be distributed among whatever charities are designated by his wife, Jesse Kops.

The Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies received $4,000, Mount Sinai Hospital and the Sinai Daily Nursery received $1,000 each. The Catholic Charities, the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, and Congregation Shored Shaarey Hashomayim received $500 each.
