Those Who Distinguished Themselves in Action Now Eligible

(Israeli Telegraph Agency)

BERLIN, Jan. 26 — Stahhaim, German veterans who distinguished themselves in action with the Nazis, will now be eligible for the pensions and social benefits which made Hitler Chancellor. Von Schroecler's statements may, therefor are heeded as representatives of the views of Nazi bankers and industrialists.

The Nazi policy of extermination of German Jews is continuing on all fronts. First came the intellec tuals, the scientists, the educators, the liberals, the pacifists. Some of them were driven from Germany. Others were forced into their posi tions, and deposed of the means of livelihood. Others saved their lives by fleeing from Germany in time.

The Jewish youth of Germany, in an effort to redress themselves to the new situation, are seeking to learn a lesson in the hope of find ning an opportunity to earn their own livelihood and to support their families. Now this hope is also being fulfilled.

The Jewish financiers and mercha nts were not interfered with in their occupation, but the Jews of the Hitler regime to the same extent as other ele ments of German Jewry. The Nazi did not allow the Jews to acquire their own businesses, to take up intellectuals, professionals, and Jew ish office holders from their posts.
These were the first to be sacrificed.
Now the Nazis are striking at the Jewish intellectuals, especially at the Jewish youth. The Jewish finan ciers and merchants, though habil

ASKS FOR PROTESTS

Will Address Meeting in San Francisco for the American Jewish Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—Action against the deportation of Jews from Japan to the United States and recommendations against the persecution of Jews and certain Christians in Germany, were announced by Senator Milward E. Tydings introduced a resolution which would have the Senate "express its profound feelings of surmise its condemnation of the evil practices" of the people of the United States, upon learning of its discrimination against Jewish and Chinese residents, and upon noting its discriminatory policy against the Jews of Peru and Cuba, and the Jews of the United States during the present war. The resolution would also have the Senate "express its earnest hope that the German and American peoples will extend their friendship and welcome to all who have been forced to leave their homes and have been victims of racial discrimination and persecution." The resolution was referred to the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

Passage Was Expected

At the time this resolution was introduced, prospects for its passage were favorable. No resolutions of protest to Germany had been presented so far, and the Senate was expected to take up the resolution on February 13. The resolution was introduced by Senator Millard E. Tydings, a member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

Death of Agitator Is Signal for Excitement

The death of Mrs. H. R. F. Leventhal, a noted philanthropist, was announced here on February 15. The death was due to a heart attack, and she had been in poor health for some time. She was 52 years old.

Maez in Buffalo Pulpit

Maez, the noted anti-Semitic speaker, made his first appearance in Buffalo on February 14. He spoke at the Buffalo Athletic Club and was well received by the audience.

McFadden Outbreak

The outbreak of a new outbreak of anti-Semitic feeling in Buffalo was reported by the Buffalo Jewish News on February 15. The outbreak was attributed to the activities of Maez in Buffalo.

WORLD'S LOWEST PRICED CAR WITH INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING

COME SEE...

The Only Low-priced Car with Individual Wheel Springing plus.. Floating Power..Safety-Steel Body.. Hydraulic Brakes

YOU'VE SEEN TWO of the leading low-priced cars. Now see the only low-priced car with Individual Wheel Springing—PLUS the three other features that are vital to real car value today!

Plymouth is the world's lowest-priced car with Individual Springing. It's on all models—even the lowest-priced.

And note this: Plymouth's Individual Wheel Springing is the strongest and simplest type known. In principle, it's exactly like the kind used on much higher-priced cars!

And you pay no price penalty to get it!

But Plymouth gives you more than one feature to insure smooth, easy riding. Every Plymouth has patented Floating Power engine mountings to end engine vibration.

These mountings are more than just rubber under the engine. They suspend the motor in balance—it absorbs its own vibration.

You can rest and relax—because with these two big features, Plymouth gives you the smoothest ride in the low-price field.

It's the Safest Low-priced Car

Everyone wants to be safe—so look at Plymouth's brakes—and Plymouth's safety-steel body. Every Plymouth has a Safety-Steel body—built of steel reinforced with steel—then welded into one permanent piece.

That means real protection. It means no joints to rot, pull loose or squeak. It means longer life with less need for "service" because of body troubles.

And the brakes are all-hydraulic. No bolts, rods, cotter pins. Sure, smooth, equal action on all four wheels at all times—because hydraulic brakes are automatically self-equalizing.

Plymouth is the only low-priced car that gives you all of these important features. In fact—no other low-priced car offers you more than one of them. Ask any Dodge, DeSoto or Chrysler dealer to prove that Plymouth is a better engineered car. Ride in one today—and see what your money ought to buy this year!

EXTRA VALUE FEATURES YOU CANNOT FIND IN ANY OTHER LOW-PRICED CAR

1. Big-X Valve Springs
   Air-cooled. Really are three springs in each.
   2. T-top Plymouth. They are made in either & between piston and cylinder.
   3. Your rings per piston.
   4. The rear end gear power lock.
   5. Electric Oil Filter for better oil circulation.
   6. All-Billet Transmission.
   7. Relaxed, easy shifting in low, second, high and reverse.
   8. Your Main Crankshaft Bearings. Instead of the usual three.
   10. Thirty Priceworthy Features. Plymouth has more bolt and cylinder bearings than any other low-priced car.

IT'S THE BEST ENGINEERED CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD!

HITLER AS THE ANGEL OF PEACE

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

The New Orient

By Dr. Hans Kohn

In our days, almost before our eyes, history has accomplished many of the changes, which would have been impossible even a few decades ago. One of these changes is the Europeanisation of the Near and Middle East and the relations between Orient and Occident are entirely different from what they were only ten years ago. This is the best symbol of a tremendous change in Turkey which, unaided by any foreign agencies, has undertaken the most picturesque Oriental Empire, backward and dependent in every respect, and to which is adds a new ambitious five-year plan of industrialisation and a modernisation of its military forces. This plan aims at becoming one of the most modern and industrialised nation in the world. The oriental structure both completely and individually with the rest of the world, and the requirement of the growing interdependence of the entire world under the general leadership of the Eastern orientation.

Panama’s Jewish Colony Is Meeting Place For Jews From Many Different Countries

Panama City, Jan. 5—The Jewish neighborhood in Panama is room for a number of Jewish immigrants, although the immigration possibilities here are not unlimited. The general economic status of the Jews who live in Panama is good. The Jewish colony is not very large and consists entirely of Jewish families.

As portrayed by a cartoonist in the Arbeiter Zeitung, Vienna.

Conclave of Jews in Toronto Today Will Battle Anti-Semitism

First Meeting in 15 Years Called to Meet Many Pressing Problems

(Special to the Jewish Daily Bulletin)
TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 26—Delegates will gather from all parts of Canada and from the United States at the first session of the second all-Canadian Jewish Congress. The pressure of current problems facing the Jewish community is the chief reason for which the recurrent wave of anti-Semitism and means of extending a helping hand to German refugees, was cited as the incentive for the meeting.

The significance of the meeting is indicated in the fact that the first conclave of an all-Canadian Jewish Congress was held fifteen years ago following Armistice when overseas brethren were clamoring for financial aid. Today leaders see a parallel in the plight of Jewry abroad with the situation which confronted Israel after the World War.

Within the borders of the Dominion the Nazi cais is making itself increasingly felt. Among these the French Canadians in Quebec, the German colonies in the west and the Ukrainian settlements there is evidence of anti-Semitism. A string feature of the current session is the presence of hitherto antagonistic groups of Jews who did not attend that session. These are the reform extremists and the orthodox.

Particularly vengeful have been the French anti-Semitic sympathizers who here hired their weapons against the Jews in broadside publications including “Le Patriote,” “Le Restaurant,” “J. Action Catholique,” “Le Journal,” “Le Devoir” and “Le National.”

The session of the Congress was attended by Dr. Morgenstern and Roger Strauss, representing the American Jewish Committee. The Second American Jewish Committee, will represent the Jews of the United States.

The inaugural session was to be opened by S. W. Jacobs, K. C., and M. F., and Lyon Cohen, president of the first Canadian Jewish Congress.

Hitter Followers Seek Dictatorship in Greece

(ITA Special Correspondence)
ATHENS, Jan. 13—Discovery has been made here of a whole Hitlerite organization, resembling that of Germany, and under the control of special Nazi organization from Berlin. This organization is cooperating with the Royalists for the establishment of a Hitlerite dictatorship in Greece under the auspices of the royal Prince Nikolaos. The membership of this organization is composed of German families living in Athens and is presided over by M. Kood conducting.

Three types of meetings are held by this association. The first is open only to Germans affiliated with the body. The second is open to Germans and Greeks and the third is intended for Germans and Greeks. The open meetings are presided over by M. Gastein, teaches at the German school, who has the title of president of the association of "Friends of Hitler."

M seas, Kooder, and Kooder, a leader of the Athens German organization "Elinnoke Tae- pridromos," constitute the triumvirate which leads the Hitlerite movement in Greece.

Panama City, Jan. 5—The new Jewish neighborhood in Panama is room for a number of Jewish immigrants, although the immigration possibilities here are not unlimited. The general economic status of the Jews who live in Panama is good. The Jewish colony is not very large and consists entirely of Jewish families.

There are also in Panama a few Jews from Jamaica and Coro- das. Most of them are engaged in commerce, many having their own factories. Others devote themselves to European, North American and Japanese importing, virtually all of which is in the hands of Jewish firms.

The Jews of Panama have no soci- al organization at all, having neither a synagogue nor a religious association. The only Jewish cemetery in the republic is in Panama City.

In Colon there are a few hundred Jewish families, which have been very well organized. The Syrian and Russian Jews have their own kehillah, a synagogue and a ritual slaughterhouse and the other facilities.

Neither Panama nor Colon, however, has any institution of Jewish learning.

The Jews from Jamaica and the United States have organized a so- ciety which supports a synagogue where men and women pray together, and will continue to do this in a still more intensive way during the coming year. The greatest joy in the East is not always realized, but it makes itself felt more and more in the future.

The East is determined, as a spokesman of the Turkish govern- ment put it, "to be outdistanced by no people in the world in capacity and production and to demonstrate our independence." There is a far away trend still to go to this goal, but during the last five years the Orient has started at least on the road towards the goal and is marching from year to year with more confidence and with better equipment.
The Human Touch

The Yiddish Art Theatre

The performance at the Yiddish Art Theatre was over when we were peeling off the stage toward the exit; meeting a tributary flow of people descending the bal- cony to get their last look at the wonderful, large Jewish woman, sporting a neighbor of their home town, walking around the theatre, recalling the memory of Mr. Vashing- ton. The play was Shalom Aleichem's"Teich," but the audience was much more important.

The worst audience I can recall was once before the Yiddish Art Theatre, on a memorable Sunday evening at the theatre when a long train was called on the stage. The audience was silent till, smiling at the audience and when it got a laugh and as called, the singer's voice was heard, the audience rose to its feet and sang the "Hava Nagila." The audience at 200 Avenue and Twelfth Street could not be much worse than the play.

The Yiddish Art Theatre is a wonderful, one-billy group of which I cannot bring to life the memory of that group, which is the only thing I can think of when I look into the theatre. The audience was great, and besides, it was a great pity that I had not time to bring to life the memory of that group, which is the only thing I can think of when I look into the theatre.

Statesmen In Duodecimo
By ABBA HILLEL SILVI

When a cyclone sweeps over the prairie, men run to their cellars. In the Yiddish Art Theatre, I saw a cyclone until the storm blows over. Such underground refuges, however, are not available for a people whose storm of hatred sweeps over it. It must leave the storm, endure or perish. Ever since the rise of Hitler in Germany and its ominous repercussions in the United States, there has been growing among us a sort of "storm-cellars" cult - a cult of the sub terrain, the gathering storm, many among us would like to protect themselves by burying deep down in some hole of self-effacement.

The Jew is too prominent, he argues, too much in evidence. He occupies too important political positions. There are too many Jewish stars on the national stage. More of them ought to belong to the un- learned and undistinguished "kompasse," etc. etc. The Jew is not cut out for leadership. He defends himself too vigorously. He protests too much in behalf of his persecuted brethren in Germany. And here is where the real threat begins. Once he is in the limelight, the world begins to bewail his fate. He is not cut out for leadership. He defends himself too vigorously. He protests too much in behalf of his persecuted brethren in Germany.

The rise of the cult of the sub terrain, the gathering storm, many among us would like to protect themselves by burying deep down in some hole of self-effacement. If a period of intense hostility actually occurs in the world, then we must prepare ourselves for it by the cultivation of an ardent love for our fellowman. The words of counsel which are spoken to our people in this hour are not to make them small, to hide in holes and be silent when every man is called upon to be a hero and do his duty. It is better and nobler by far to persevere for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated, not for our sacrifice to be tolerated.
The Man Who Discovered Columbus

By ERFERT A. TROMMEL

Columbus, whose name is immortalized in the annals of history, was a man of many talents and accomplishments. His discovery of the New World had a profound impact on the world of that time and for centuries to follow. It is often said that Columbus changed the course of history, and in a sense, he did. His voyage to the New World opened up a new era of exploration and discovery, and it forever changed the way people viewed the world. Columbus was a man of many talents, and his contributions to society are immeasurable.

LONDON, Jan. 25 — I have been trying to discover a way to impress world Jewry that there is no necessity for its continuing anti-Semitic truth-bearing propaganda so that the world's mind shall not be longer poisoned by misstatements, accusations and lies. I have again begun to talk for truth at the Anti-Semitic Reichs Verband in Prussia mouth and pen of German hate-mongers and from what I can observe, the Jews do little to counteract what is said there.

And here and there I see literature from some sources, notably the American Jewish Congress, which I would like to commend, but the libels proceed practically unchecked. And I have been informed that the tools which history must in the end correct, will be hanged by a few sincere and true to humanity in such a light as to reflect credit on the hearts and minds of a people who, I believe, are going to save the Jewish people, but I know I have not been reading an old lecture on the Chosen People by the late Israel Zangwill. It was the first lecture of the Jewish Congress at Montreal Lectures established sixteen years, the annual publication of the Jewish study, hard-working unostentatious student and interpreter from the life, which, like, some others, is outstanding for perseverance in our language and which, how, and has renewed in its old vitality. It is likened to the Moses of Jewish, which appears to be dead and shriveled but when pleased in water recover their strength and the like.

In the foreword to the above-men tioned lecture, Sir Herbert Samuel, the Governor-General of India, states "this man was one of the greatest of Jewish leaders. To the rest of the world does not al to recognize, who is philistine in spirit, practical in action, modest, self-sacrificing, devoted to a mission, a source of comfort and strength to many of the student and something of the saint."

The few foreign languages, so as to be able to support the firm abroad.

Acquired Language

Marriott was a thorough student. In a short time he acquired a reading and speaking knowledge of French, Spanish, Italian, and Polish. And then his travels began. From one European country to another he went—first to England and to Austria, to Germany and to Italy, and to all the others of the world, seems to be a habit. Christopher Columbus (Christophers) appears in the last line.

The First Line

But how about the first line? And the final sentences of the paragraph by the way, are four words and not five—instead of the first line, as archaeologists call it, that he father supposedly

Meeting David Tropp

But there was still another thing that worried me. Mr. David continued the story of his momentous discovery. "What did the letter tell you?" I asked him. He handed me a letter that had been written at the end of the last century and had been found among the papers of a great Jewish family in Germany. The letter read: "We have found a satisfactory answer to the question of how the first line of the alphabet was written."

The letter was written in Hebrew and contained a table of the first five letters of the Hebrew alphabet, together with their values in the Roman alphabet. The letter also contained a list of words and phrases that could be derived from the first five letters.

Recognized Monogram

The letter was signed: "With the compliments of the Jewish community of Frankfurt am Main, January 25, 1892.

Important missing link in the chain of evidence is the matter of completeness. The adopted Jewish emblem is a double triangle, whose apexes, if joined, form a circle. In that case, then, did Coloss use a single triangle for his emblem? It is not certain.

In 1992, the Jewish Community of Frankfurt am Main was founded, and in 1994, a large monument to the Jewish community of Frankfurt am Main was erected. The monument was dedicated to the memory of those who had suffered and died during the Holocaust. The monument features a large statue of a rabbi holding a sword, and the words "Never Again" are inscribed on the base.

The Find of the Century

The discovery of the first line of the alphabet is of great importance in the history of the Jewish people. It is a reminder of the struggle and determination of the Jewish people to preserve their language and culture. The discovery is a testament to the resilience of the Jewish people and their ability to overcome adversity.

A picture of profound social and political significance. It is not only that many schools in Germany are conducted in the spirit of this school but "Girls in Uniform" is a symbol of the whole present day Prussian spirit.

There was a time when the word "German" brought to mind a culture to which the world is eternally in debt. But there was also the spirit conveyed by Fröbel, Ricke, and Prusia. He happened to be a man with an appreciation for all the arts, but he rued a poor, space-stricken Prussia, which had little time for cultural pursuits.

Farther Letters of Lion Feuchtwanger’s latest novel by Ar

By ARNOLD ZWEIG

In 1923, the Nazi revolution in Bavaria, made it expedient for Lion Feuchtwanger to leave his beloved Munich. A few years later he emigrated to the United States where he became a naturalized citizen. Since his return to Europe he has written seven novels, the most recent of which, "Success", is a true mirror of the Nazi conquest. It is an intimate and revealing study of the cruelest of all human beings, who are convinced that their victims deserve the most contemptuous treatment, and who have learned to enjoy pain and suffering. The novel is a powerful and compelling study of human nature and the power of evil. It is a work of art that cannot be ignored by any lover of literature.

The Fate of the Family

The book is a psychological study of a family of three generations, the last of which is the most powerful. It is a study of the impact of a strong personality on the members of a family. The family is divided into three parts: the father, the mother, and the son. The father is the most powerful and the mother is the most submissive. The son is the least powerful.

The book is a psychological study of a family of three generations, the last of which is the most powerful. It is a study of the impact of a strong personality on the members of a family. The family is divided into three parts: the father, the mother, and the son. The father is the most powerful and the mother is the most submissive. The son is the least powerful.

The book is a powerful and compelling study of human nature and the power of evil. It is a work of art that cannot be ignored by any lover of literature.

Collective Farm Made Up of Three Villages, All Jewish Inhabitants

By MORRIS CABELT KATZ

(From Special Correspondent
SAGINAW, Mich., June 26—About 15 miles southeast of Saginaw is an 800-acre farm run on a collective basis by about eighty Jewish families. It is known as the Saginaw Co-operative Farm Community. Almost all of the workers are new-comers from New York City. Among them are former painters, paper hangers, clock operators, storekeepers, etc.

The enterprise was started the last part of June. That some tract of land had been operated the last thirty-four years on a cooperative basis under the name of the Prairie Farm. The O'Sullivan Sugar Company, about thirty-four years ago, bought this tract mainly to grow sugar beets. Farmers, individually, were not willing to market sugar beets. Hence, the company decided to raise sugar beets by having many men work on a cooperative basis. They sold added features of a farm and raised cattle and sheep. The ownership of the farm went later to the hands of the Patience Bros. of Philadelphia and in the works of the Patience Farm Co. from these firms, title was vested on June 28 in the Saginaw Co-operative Farm Community.

The large collective farm comprises three villages. The main one is a little more than a mile from the old homes of the colonists' homes, the children's homes, the health center, the large dining rooms, the post office and the school. At present seventy-two children attend school in the village and the Saginaw County Government permitted them to go ahead with free tuition.

Instruction is conducted in English and Yiddish.

The high school group has its own mimeographed publication. Here are a few bits of news gleaned from it:

The high school library includes 260 books, mostly fiction and on sociology. There are history classes and an economics class; the glebe church and other religious instruction. Moreover, we can find a piano. The dramatic club meets as often as necessary. There is no competition of any kind, no tests or report cards. A student may study French or German all day so long as by the end of the week he has finished the assignments in every subject he is taking. Students address teachers by their first names.

In the village are also found stalls for twenty Holstein cows, sixty Belgian horses which are noted for their size and strength. And there are grain elevators.

The second village is known as Fincan where there is a very expensive peppermint distillery, one of the six important ones in the country. Toward the end of September over three hundred pounds of peppermint oil was sold and it brought in over $11,000. The machinery is used only six weeks during the year. Preparations are being made to build a laundry, a Turkish bath and a grill mill. The president, Ely Greenblatt, a former real estate man, lives there.

Near Fincan is a sty for about 200 pigs. It seems that even irreligious Jews dislike pigs, and many of them have been sold. In time the sty will go and the place will be pigless. Gauleads is the third village. Nearby are 4000 sheep grazes. Consequently, the workers are served mutton every day.

Of the 800, 800 acres, 300 are under cultivation, six hundred more are in sugar beets, four hundred and sixty are cultivated for peppermint, and five hundred are wooded. In the rest are planted hay, alfalfa, wheat, sorghum, potatoes and other vegetables. More than 5,000 acres are lying fallow and are waiting, so to speak, for the new workers. It is also believed that under 2,000 of these acres there is a coal bed, but no survey has yet been attempted. There is a system of dikes, canals and ditches to drain out the excess water.

According to the estimate, the farm is worth about $600,000. It is insured against fire for five years, for $250,000. Six thousand dollars has already been paid for the insurance. A short time ago a large stack went up in flames as a result of lightning. Some expensive machinery was also destroyed. In times when the farm went over to the Jews, two very large barns were burned. It is suspected that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Right now there are not a few non-Jewish share croppers on the sugar beet fields. There is need for many more workers to cultivate for themselves 3,000 acres of sugar beets instead of only 600 acres. It is hoped that with the coming of spring the share croppers will be replaced by the new member arrivals. The writer was told at the farm that it is certain that sixty more families from New York are preparing to come immediately after winter. Some have to liquidate their businesses and make other arrangements before coming to Michigan.

The workers on the farm seem to be happy. They are very satisfied in being away from the toil and hurried tempo of New York City. Their minds are at ease. They do not have to worry now about earning their means of livelihood as they used to. The thought of being laid off does not trouble them. They feel that they are now living on a firm foundation.

Among them are found one Italian and a Russian. They have been taken in because they are jacks-of-all-trades and hence indispensable. They have not paid the $500 fee. But they have brought many necessary tools. Later, when dividends will be distributed—if they ever will—their amounts will be subtracted from the $500 debt. A married couple pays $600. If the men and daughters are above school age.

Syracuse Reorganizes Zionist Zone, Plans Membership Drive

(D.D.B. Special Correspondence)

SYRACUSE, Jan. 26 — With the aid of a three-man committee that has been formed to reorganize the local Zionist district. The first offi- cial meeting was held here tonight, and the Jewish Community Center, is holding its time in Syracuse in behalf of Palestine, for he has been designated by the Jewish Daily Bulletin to the Jewish problem. Under his supervision a foundation was laid for the establishment of the Syracuse. Abraham Menter, local at- torney, will be deputized to the office to take charge of the arrange- ments. The first steps in the found- ing of such a center are by a public meeting at Temple B'nai B'rith at 4:30 p.m. this afternoon. The committee as- signed to the task of reorganizing the Jewish Community Center:

Dr. Nurnberg, speaking to various groups, stresses "The Disaster in Europe - What Is the World Doing About It?" He called for the necessity of Jewish leaders and organizations to take an active role in the world at large to prevent the spread of Nazi influence. He stressed the importance of unity among Jews and the need for a strong and united Jewish community to resist the forces of anti-Semitism.

Austria

The German Jewish Represen- tative Body submitted a lengthy memorandum to every member of the Nazi cabinet including Adolf Hitler, in which it re- ported on anti-Semitic activities and the results of visits to refugees in Vienna. The memorandum noted the Nazi government's lack of action in the face of the Jewish refugee crisis. It also called for the government to implement plans for the assimilation of Jews into German society.

In England, Jewish leaders have called for stricter enforcement of immigration laws to prevent the entry of German refugees. They have expressed concern about the growing number of Jews facing persecution in Germany.

The U.S. government has announced plans to resettle 200,000 Jewish refugees in the United States over the next year. The plan is expected to provide a welcome opportunity for many Jews who are fleeing persecution in Europe.

In Germany, Jewish organizations are protesting against the government's failure to act on their demands for the protection of Jewish refugees. They are calling for the government to take immediate action to address the refugee crisis.

United States

A delegation of American Zionist leaders met with Secretary of State Cordell Hull to discuss Jewish refugee issues. They presented Hull with a petition calling for the United States to accept more Jewish refugees.

A meeting of the National Committee on Jewish Immigrant Workers in New York has resulted in the recommendation that the government should increase the number of visas issued to Jewish refugees.

In Palestine, the Jewish Agency has announced plans to establish a new settlement in the Galilee region. This move is seen as an effort to address the growing Jewish refugee crisis.
