Nazi Race Purity Drive Sits Data Of All Families

Files Check Persons With Jewish Blood, Names, Faces

(Jewish Telegraph Agency)

BERLIN, Jan. 28—Jews and descendants of Jews in Germany are being carefully checked through the regular records of the department of the Ministry of the Interior, in an official move by the Nazi government to ascertain the Jewish composition of the population. The authorities are checking the Nazi newspaper, the Berliner, which is being used by the Nazis to spread false reports about the Jewish community.

This is the first time that such a campaign has been launched in Germany. In the past, the Nazis have relied on rumors and propaganda to drive a wedge between the Jewish and non-Jewish communities.

Immigration Board Drops Anti-Nazi Drive To Aid NRA Program

Diastele Charges Councils Re- laxed, starting at noon From Berlin

Temporary suspension of the anti-Nazi campaign of the immigration board, announced by its chairman, was announced on Friday night by Representative Samuel Diastele.

The head of the board, who is in charge of the general service of the German Jewish Congregations in the United States, was quoted by the Associated Press as saying that the board would not begin any new anti-Nazi drives until the move was fully approved by the War Department.

The move was made because of the urgent need for more funds to fight the war in Europe, the head of the board said.

News of the move was welcomed by many Jewish leaders who have been fighting the anti-Nazi drive.

The board's action was taken after months of work to organize the drive, which was launched in September.

President Diastele said that the move was made with the understanding that the board would not try to fight the war itself, but would use its resources to help the military effort.

Wisecracks Cautioned On Roots of Hitlerism

"Hitlerism will pass—but will the root of Hitlerism pass?

This is a question Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of the Free Synagogue, di- rected to the 100,000 people who listened to his address at the Metropolitan Conference of Jewish Community Centers, in an address last night, and it is the exact question which will determine whether the Jews of the World will face a new era of freedom and peace.

"Hitlerism will pass only if the root of Hitlerism in Germany is in the most tragic experience we have had in a thousand years," said Dr. Wise.

"The task of those who have attempted to fight Hitler is to be- come the martyr for the cause of Judaism.

"Blinded by Hitler, and the Jewish Choral Society in a rendition of "Hallelujah" from Beethoven's "Ero- lido," the selection was the finale of the oratorio, otherwise known as "The War oratorio," which Rabbi Henry Rosenthal officiated.

III. Sad Plight of the Shopkeepers

Jews in Small Towns

Hard Hit by Boycott

Of All Their Wares

D. Bernhard Points Out How

Ban on Jewish Goods Is Still Effective

(From Bernhard, one of the most famous journalists of the German Jewish press in America, and one of the leaders of the Viertel Zeitzung, is now an exile from Germany living in Paris where he has been for a year. The following is the last of three articles which appeared in the Jewish Daily Bulletin.)

By DR. GEORG BERNHARD

The idea of the boycott which had in the early part of the National-Socialist regime penetrated but gradually into the smaller towns until the next day, began to create monstrous strides in these places after May 1, however. Now the total boycott method of organization. The turnstiles were erected in front of all stores and other big businesses owned by Jews, as given in the above-quoted figures, showed that very few Jews at all, if any, were buying there. The next day the turnover was still worse.

Dr. Georg Bernhard

The movement was started in that in some small places the towns and villages where there were not enough Jews for an effective boycott, the boycotters made no headway in the small places. Most of the Jewish shopkeepers are there men and women whose families have lived in the district for generations. They cooperated with the non-Semitic population of the town.

The boycott was started in the Jewish quota. It has been a success and has led to a decrease in the number of Jewish businesses. The boycotters were successful in getting a large percentage of the Jewish businesses to close down or to sell their businesses to Christians.

The boycotters were not successful in getting the Jewish businesses to close down or to sell their businesses to Christians. But the demand for the boycotters to stop the boycott, because of the Reichsbank decree that it could not raise all the money that would be called for to cover these advanced salaries, was met by the German banks who refused to put up with this. The Jews who had not yet been suppressed, and the National Socialists did not want Jews to insist on their demand. Nevertheless, when the day of the boycott arrived, a large number of Jewish businesses were closed.

The next step was to organize official responsibility for these activities. An effective method was discovered. The boycotters were asked to show their licenses to work with Jews, and the license was revoked. The shopkeepers who complained about this were dismissed not only that Jewish employers should be dismissed, but also those Jews who had important executive positions, and most of all the Jewish directors. The procedure in all cases was the same. When the firm complained to the Nazi district leaders, or even to the proper economic authorities, the action of the workers was conditioned, and often the strike was actually ordered not to be called off, but in the end it always came about that after a time the Jewish directors and the Jewish employees had disappeared. The movement was very carefully organized. The strikers were not, as the National Socialist press contended, spontaneous outbursts of people that had long been dormant in the minds of the Christian empres.

The strikes had been ordered by the National Socialist econ.. They had been directed to order the National Socialist economic in the particular concern. Every non-Jewish employer had to order the workers to obey the order, even if he hated doing so and was afraid to lose his job, and they went on in a concentration camp as well. The Non-Jewish employer did not act on his own account, but obeyed secret instructions from headquarters.

"Hugenberg's Stand"

These roundabout methods were adapted because Hugenberg, the German National leader, was still the true Minister of Economic Affairs, and he stood out against the wholesale dismissal of Jews, and the National Socialists did not yet fade strong enough to remove him. His Minister of Economic Affairs, who had been director of the Alliance Insurance Company, Herr Dr. Schmitt, agreed as little as Hugenberg did with this movement to dismiss all the Jewish employees. He had even had individual Jewish National Socialist leaders arrested to put up a strong prison for dereliction of duty by undertaking aggressive action against Jewish enterprises in contravention of Hitler's official orders. But mean-while half the Jewish employees in the country have already lost their employment. It goes merely on the basis of how it is.

Officials Law Extended

The notorious officials law has been extended to all business concerns and individual contact with the governments of the Reich, the States, or any public bodies. To realize the effect of the employment of Jews we must bear in mind that there are in Germany an exceptionally large number of stock companies and limited companies, apparently private concerns but actually belonging to the governments of the Reich, the States, the Provinces, or to the Municipalities. There are other that areubs.

LEAGUE BODY SOUGHT FOR JEWISH PROBLEMS

A demand for the creation of a special League of Nations commission to deal with the Jewish question in countries where Jews reside is the first demand which will be given by the Workmen's League for the Jewish World Congress, an organization formed here to ensure the participation of Jewish working men and women in the Jewish World Congress scheduled for autumn of this year.

The Workmen's League further states in its platform that the denial of the Jewish Homeland in Palestine is a main cause of all the anti-Jewish riots and the anti-Semitic activities. The Workmen's League demands the establishment of a Jewish League to deal with the Jewish question in the Jewish Homeland.

In their Platform, the Workmen's League demands the establishment of a Jewish League to deal with the Jewish question in the Jewish Homeland.

"Let There Be Air"

"Let There Be Air" is a recent political song written by Arne Nordahl and set to music by Fredrick O. Jackson. It was written in response to the efforts of the Nazi government to control the media and restrict the freedom of speech. The song's message is a call for freedom of thought and expression, and a reminder of the importance of maintaining a free press.

These photos show two parties of Jews, one in the East and the other in the West, engaged in the boycott. The pictures show the boys in their usual attire, while the girls are dressed in their best. The weather is clear and bright, and the location is a park in a city.

"The Chocolated Laxative"

"The Chocolated Laxative" is a book written by the famous American author, Henry James. The book is a collection of short stories that explore the themes of love, relationships, and the human condition. The stories are written in a very elegant and sophisticated style, and are known for their depth and complexity. The book was first published in 1909 and has since become a classic of American literature.

Theatrical and Cinema

As it can work four or five shows a day there is no reason why a reviewer can't make the same number as another. But in a firmly mind old Fredly spent the afternoon doing his anything around town from picture house to cinema palace. The result was that he was looking for the corner running eyes and a strange idea of how humans act in dramatic situations.

"YOUR FRIGHTENING PEOPLE!" This is Cecil B. DeMille's latest which is showing at the Paramount, where the production of the play by Rachel Crother and although the picturization is not as good as as average film. Comedy is the dominating note and the cast headed by Warner Baxter and Catharine Doucet take full advantage of the possibilities. Yes you remember the story about the play of the play which a two American players who have a fall in love with two foreigners.

"BELOVED" is the new musical romance starring John Boles and Glenda Farrell. It is set around the Rosy. Four generations of the story is the main theme of this somewhat lengthy but nevertheless a successful film. The lead male character who comes to America in 1848, serves through the Civil War, and settles in New York to raise a family. The story is good, the acting is good. It is a story of a young man who is the protagonist and he is at the foot of his descendant. His son, a rank of a parlor, is killed in the Span- ish American War. And although he has no musical talents, it gets a country.- The young man finally finds happiness when a symphony orchestra plays his composition, which is the first act in acting competent, but the whole affair is offset by the overabundance of movie sentiment.

"THE WOMEN IN MY LIFE" is an inferior story that even a cast coming to it is as good as Otto Kruger, Una Merkel, and Roscoe Karns couldn't save. As for the story, it is about a lawyer who drinks and his clients who get into all sorts of trouble, ones who are anything from busybody and Whiskey. The story is the best, if a man of melodrama a Hollywood company can come when they really try to entice.

MUSIC

By Lawrence H. Lipkin

It is with considerable satisfaction that I can report that the Metropolitan Opera has seen fit to discard the highly objectionable, bur- ellasque aspects of the Five Jews in its production of Richard Strauss' "Salome." If you remember, I an- nounced Strauss for assembling aucus- tottstes, fashionable dress, and the pit- torial, the story of the love of the dance, and all that which gives me an easy ride. The Metropolitan Opera is a more dignified institution, but I think I shall be able to give it a critical examination after some days of it's music.

Paul Hindemith, the German, whose music is always of interest, figured prominently in two major events of recent days. The League of Com- positors' concert at Town Hall, de- voted to two Strauss works and Hindemith's, Kammersymphonie, Op. 26, (No. 4, Op. 11) and Klassik-Konzert, Op. 36, No. 1, found Fritz Reiner, the Chicago conductor, gave the re- mark which is his due, conducting a distinguished orchestra, composed of the finest American musicians. First of the first - flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, horn, trumpet, string bass, trombone and per- cussion; the Gordan String Quartet; the Juilliard String Quartet, and the Al- labelin Explosive Band. The orchestra and the director of the Juilliard String Quartet, the Juilliard String Quartet, and the Al- labelin Explosive Band. The orchestra was under the direction of Dr. Eugene Ormandy, the director of the Philadelphia Orchestra. The program was a success, and the music was well received. It was a new experience for me to hear the music of Hindemith, but his audience's desire for entertainment, when the pianist, Dr. Hindemith composed the Introduction of Hindemith and William Bernt's Variations on a Pianistic Tone — "A Will in the Wind," in the 16th Century.

Reich Jews Can Have No Say About Second Jobs, Says Borchardt

Political Conditions to Direct Choosing of New Vocations, Jewish Leader States

(T.A. Special Correspondence)
BERLIN, Jan. 17—The selection of vocations by German Jews nowadays be decided on the basis of social-political conditions and necessities rather than on personal wishes and predilections, which previously were conclusive, Director Borchardt said today at a gathering of Jewish leaders, and that this would equate them sufficiently to their livelihoods, been found inadequate," he said, "because the Jews have seen that the right course of action is to work in factories and workshops, and to avoid any attempt to work in trade or commerce."

The Central Committee has decided that this is the best way to give a thorough training to a smaller number of people, and to enable them to undertake the mass production of adequately trained artisans.

The budget at the disposal of the Central Committee for the work of Jewish communities in Germany, and giving training to the new vocations, is now being redoubled, and the Jewish communities will themselves have to make the decision towards this work, Director Borchardt said.

In conclusion, there is something that can only be undertaken by responsible Jewish bodies, to obtain funds from the Central Committee on the point of utilizing such training possibilities.

Without letting sight of the need of doing useful work in Germany, the work for Palestine will be of great importance to the future of the country and to the life of German Jewry, he continued.

Director Borchardt laid special emphasis on the need of continuing the work of raising funds. To have the various organizations all working independently, each trying to raise its own funds separately is contrary to the intention of the National Socialist government. The Jewish public must, therefore, be made to realize the importance of helping the Jews from other nations which are appointed for the purpose of fulfilling the wishes of the Central Committee for Aid and Construction, which was established with the Central Committee for Aid and Construction shall be continued, in view of the fact that only 50,000 Jews are to be held.

In the opinion of the opinion that is beginning to be expressed in Jewish quarters, that the work for German Jews may be cut down or left entirely to the Jews themselves, it must be said very clearly, Director Borchardt said, that "the construction Spain Germany has an exceptionally big and difficult task before it, and Germany, which always helps generously in the past whenever necessary, has a right now to demand assistance from the Jewish abroad."

Fertile Peruvian Terrain as Asylum for Refugees Offered by Lima Government

(T.A. Special Correspondence)
LIMA, Peru, Jan. 12—The Asylum, a large agricultural territory in the province of Huacachina, Peru, has been offered by President Fischer, honorary president of the Union Jewish, for colonization for Jewish immigrants from Europe. The offer was made by Dr. Juan Biscalter, Peruvian official in charge of the territory.

The management of the land in question is promised to co-op or use the fertile region to immigrants and promises them very favorable terms and considerable government aid. The experiment is regarded as the beginning of a lasting Jewish coloniization or private, as well as on government land in Peru.

Jewish organizations here are studying the colonization possibilities of the Huacachina province and are regu-lizing with the FICEM (Hispano Jewish Colonization Association and Rezligioso) in Palos concerning the facilities of the immigration of Em-ropean and especially of Jewish refguees to Peru.

It is said that the probabilities for the success of the plan are many, since in Peru the Jews are regarded as a desirable and useful element of the population.

ATTACKS DEFENSE OF MACY'S

I am quite surprised that Mr. B. H. Macy has not paid more attention to the solicitation of his customers and the public for the purpose of raising money for the Hebrew Home. As far as I can see there is a distinct lack of any real effort on the part of the public to support the Hebrew Home.

It is rather a weak excuse that the company hopes to raise money by selling its goods to the public American public. Mr. Struss seems to be willing to continue buying German-made goods as long as people continue purchasing Haitz. Perhaps he doesn't realize that the American buying public usually mentions the fact that he is buying very little from Germany because he is unable to openly support Hitler by buying Nazi-made goods.

It is rather curious that no self-respecting Christian is buying a piece of furniture from R. H. Macy which is made in Germany. Yet, the Jewish race, which has been openly attacked by Nazi Germany, is willing to be lamb and pay considerably more to go to Germany.

As M. P. Frye notes, it is a unfortunate that because of lack of a united front among the Jewry, the power is not used. It is not the lack of a united front among the Catholic Jews that is the real problem. It is the lack of a united front among leaders in industry, finance and business who forget that the thing that Israel has on its side is the support of the American public.

To combat the present Hitler menace in America the Jews of all races of life must unite and finally fight the Nazis both in America and in Germany.

Let us hope for our great Jewish leaders will remember they are Jews and before America becomes a country for by the Nazi's.

Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin:

In today's issue of the Jewish Daily Bulletin I read a letter from T. S. K. of Tidexis. He states that he wants to comply with usages of the Talmud. His Chbudence Ha-Ben is, and has appealed to President Roosevelt to have it cancelled. The idea he may use gold coins "with their face value as the coin is necessary for the rite.

What I cannot understand is that a civilized American Jewish father gets his information, or where they, in past generations had trouble?

It is a public commandment for every Jew to redeem his son who is the first-born of his Jewish mother. The time is equivalent to 1235 "maxes"—equiva tant to 30 "drachms" of refined silver. Silver is inferior to the gold in the Shekel, for silver is unstable, is in a way the same value (with certain exceptions).

Perhaps, however, the Minneapolis' Jewish gentleman does not believe in the Shulchan Aruch. Surely, then, he will take the Bible itself as dual authority. Let him then refer to Chapter 18, verse 16, of Numbers: "And those that are to be redeemed shall be redeemed according to this estimation, for silver . . ."

Don't think that our Presid tent has sufficient weighty problems to be bothered with questions of this type which are absolutely contrary to the ideas held in the Jewish faith. There is still legal in our United States— and is still held in the Jewish faith. Let the Shulchan Aruch prescribe for the Tidux Ha'Ben ceremony.

A Jewish gentleman who is so zealous to follow the dictates of our religion as to refuse to enter the sanctuary because of certain restrictions of the law—why his Jewish law of Tidux Ha'Ben (and others of equal importance as well) were not followed.

Perhaps it was to this reference that the said gentleman who was quoted earlier in this column meant when he wrote: "I do more than that; I am not only a Jew, but a citizen of the United States; and I have a right to speak about it."

Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin:

I read with interest Rabbi Samuel Horowitz's opinion on a Catholic Bishop's "Biblical comparison" of the Spanish and Mexican persecutions with that of Hitler's in Germany.

With apologies to Rabbi Horowitza, I may be permitted to disagree with some of his assertions, which I believe are themselves altogether, and what is more, contrary to fact.

Rabbi Horowitz gives three reasons for saying that the Spanish and Mexican persecutions cannot be compared with Germany's; (1) Spain and Mexico only the "Catholic religion" is being persecuted, and not the Jewish religion; (2) Mexico is predominantly Catholic country, being composed of Catholic elements; (3) In Spain and Mexico the Catholic religion is being persecuted.

As to the first, how does one distinguish between a religion and one who professes a religion? If someone were to cut off America's food supply (by some miramions means) the American people would be the sufferers. In the same way, if you cut off the Spanish and Mexican people's "spiritual food supply", their religion, the people are the sufferers. No, no one can persecute a religion without hating its adherents.

The Catholic religion is being persecuted and so are also the Catholic people.

To further substantiate my statement that Catholics as individuals are being persecuted, consider this: In Spain, 2,401 religious institutions set up for educational and welfare purposes were closed, and this sufficed the work engaged in by 666,000 religious Sisters and Brothers (just for the number of Jews in Germany. Now why was the right taken from these six hundred-thousand thousand persons to teach and do welfare work? Were they not citizens, and should they not be allowed the rights of all other?"

Nazi Race Fury... Drive Intensified

names, and a list of those Germans who were accused of making all such statements were presented. The long list of those accused, who were described as members of the Nazi party, included a number of leading industrialists, bankers, and other prominent figures.

The Rehboch report described Goering's department as crowded with people asking for racial purity and the punishment of those who refused to conform to Nazi standards. The Jewish converts are refused such welfare benefits and assistance, and the desertion of the Jewish religion does not make them non-Jews.

According to Goehrke, Aryanship is sometimes declared by the appearance of a Jew.

The racial department explained that the date 1900 had been chosen as a reference point because before 1900 there was no incomming with Jews and Gentiles. At that time the Jews strongly observed their community traditions and principles and they were isolated in ghettos in the larger cities.

New regulations were announced today by the Ministry of the Interior which will make it more difficult for Jews to move to non-Jewish areas and to change them to German-sounding appellations.

Country-Wide Protest Scores Hitler's Year

Arthur J. Brown, chairman, Henry A. Aikens and Linley V. Gordon's committee for the conference of 1934, expressed his satisfaction with the progress made so far in the campaign and said that the next meeting would be held at a later date.

The protest movement was led by the Jewish Agency for Palestine, which is working to bring about the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine. The organization has been active in the fight against anti-Semitism and the promotion of Jewish unity.

Depositors Complain Bank U. S. Debtors Settled for Fraction

About 1,300 stockholders in the defendant United States, who are alleged to have settled debts to the United States in violation of the antitrust law, will be the defendants in a suit to be brought next week in the United States District Court in New York. The suit was filed by the government, which is seeking to recover the amount of the loans that were made.

It is believed that a full settlement would have been reached if the government had not cut down the amount of its savings, only about half of which has been salvaged.

Whether the stockholders are liable for the bank's obligations to depositors to the extent of the amount of the loans, which the government contends is due, is a question that will be decided by the court.

The suit, which was filed in the district court in New York City, seeks to recover the amount of the loans that were made to the defendants. The government contends that the average settlement accepted by the defendants was 30 cents on the dollar of the amount of the loans, and that the recovery of the loan money from the bank averaged fifty percent, and in some instances as much as 100 percent.
