The Prelude
The Nazi Minister of Agriculture, in an article in the Deutsche Zeitung, Berlin, declared that all political parties before the rise of the Nazis to power had been founded by Jews who made "their political marriage" in a dance for selfish Jewish ends. He explained that Conservatism, Marxism and Liberalism had all been established by Jews, and that Liberalism is nothing else than "the Jewish enlightenment of egoism."
The antithesis of all this egoism based only on Jewish conceptions is Nazism," he declared. "And Nazism is proclaiming the principle of blood and soil in the agrarian sphere, where the Jew profits from every crisis."
General Goering, in his new book, "Germanic Reborn," explains how the Nazi government has won the support of the fourteen million supporters of Communism and Marxism, most of whom "were good Germans led astray by insane theories," and have now been "rescued from error and brought back once more into the embrace of the German people."
General Goering writes:
"It was just as necessary to take strong action against the deliverers, agitators and chiefs themselves. And so the concentration camps were set up, to which we had sent first of all thousands of officials of the Communist and Socialist Democratic Parties. It was only natural that in the beginning excesses were committed. It was natural that here and there beatings took place: there were some cases of brutality. But if we consider the greatness and justify the excesses the beatings and the brutality resorted to in bringing about 'one of the most bloodless and most disciplined of all revolutions in history.'"
This is how the Nazi officials define the causes of the "revolution for freedom" and justify the excesses the beatings and the brutality resorted to in bringing about "one of the most bloodless and most disciplined of all revolutions in history."
The Jews of Germany, numbering less than one per cent of the German population, are credited by the Nazis with having established the Conservative, the Marxist and the Liberal parties of Germany. The Jews of Germany are also blamed by the Nazis for having secured the election of the president of the German Republic, Paul von Hindenburg.
The "revolution for freedom" is indeed unjust, it has suppressed the Conservatives, the Marxists, the Liberals. It has suppressed freedom of the press, freedom of the courts, freedom of conscience. It has resorted to force and violence, and is particularly persecuting the Jewish element of the German population with ruthless cruelty. The only freedom

Polish Court Backs Terms For Endeks Participated in Riots of March, 1933; Raided Shops

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, April 15.—The Polish Supreme Court has confirmed sentences imposed on Endek rioters, ranging from three years to four years four months imprisonment, for having participated in anti-Jewish riots in Zyrardow, Krakau province, in March, 1933, it was learned today.
On March 16, 1933, a mob of Polish peasants, incited by Endek, anti-Semitic anti-government political parties and members, raided Jewish shops in Zyrardow and with the object of looting them. Police, who were called hurriedly, fired on the rioters, killing one and wounding several.
Later police arrested Endek leaders responsible for the riot. The arrests extended to the cities of Krakau and Bialsk. Most of the Endeks seized by the police were found to be heavily armed and stores of arms were reported to have been discovered.
The lower court, which heard the case, convicted the whole group arrested by the police, but the cases were at once appealed to higher Polish courts.

Warburg Appeals for Unity To Assist Jews of Germany American Jewry Must Bury Differences, He Declares

The Jews of America must bury all differences of opinion and unite to stem the disaster that has befallen the Jews of Germany and which may also seriously effect Jews everywhere, Felix M. Warburg, noted philanthropist and banker, declared yesterday in a statement setting forth the reasons which moved him to accept the chairmanship of the $5,000,000 United Jewish Appeals.
The aim of the appeal is to provide funds for the relief and rehabilitation of Jews in Germany and other lands and for the settlement of Jews in Palestine. Associated with Mr. Warburg as co-chairmen are Paul Bearwald, Louis Lipsey, Morris Rothenberg and Rabbi Jonah B. Wise.

Jewish Ideals Faith Parley Must Be Kept, Slated at Yale Lehman Avers On Citizenship

Judge Addresses Meeting of Theological Seminary
"There are no real universities left in Germany, because there is no real university where there is no freedom of thought," Judge Irving Lehman of the State Court of Appeals declared yesterday afternoon in his address before the organization meeting of the New York Society of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.
Judge Lehman maintained that German Jews, who have for generations contributed to their country's development materially, intellectually and spiritually, still love their country. Many of them, the speaker pointed out, don't want to be Jews but they are told by the Nazis that they "must be Jews."
"Since the tragedy of Germany and German Jews, Jews everywhere are redefining themselves," Judge Lehman continued. "They are asking themselves what their duty is to Judaism and to their country."
The answer, as Judge Lehman sees it, is that "there can be no fair weather Jews and no foul weather Jews." They are Jews at all times. "When they are faithful."

Self-Aid of Reich Jews Is Lessening Montefiore Urges Unity In Struggle Against Hitlerism

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, April 15.—There is hardly a Jewish family in Germany without some destitute member, Leonard Montefiore, president of the Anglo-Jewish Association, declared today in a speech delivered at the annual meeting of the Board of Deputies of British Jews.
The British Jewish community provided help for 23,000 destitute Jews of the city in 1933, Montefiore said, and added that many Jewish hospitals and communal institutions have already been closed or are on the verge of closing. Only 15,000 of the 60,000 Jewish children of school age are attending Jewish schools, and it is imperative to establish more Jewish schools in Germany to protect the children from the bullying they receive in the general German schools, he declared.
"In view of the embittered attack against the Jews, not only in Germany but throughout the world, I am unable to understand the policy of selfish isolation advocated in some quarters," Montefiore said.
Honor Demands Help
"This is an attack against Jewry as a religion and as a race. Whatever sort of Jews we are, Zionist or non-Zionist, rich or poor, however slender is the chain binding us to Judaism, honor demands that we help this conflict," he concluded.
In his presidential review of the year's activities of the Board of Deputies, president Neville J. Lastki declared that the period had anxieties too numerous to mention, but the outstanding anxiety was the situation of the Jews in Germany.
"Hitlerism, not content with discriminatory measures against the Jews in Germany, has created agencies throughout the world through which false and malicious (Continued on Page Eight)

Polish Officials Ban Revisionist Parade; No Reason Is Given
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, April 15.—Polish authorities today prohibited a Revisionist Zionist street procession called to further the appeal for signatures for the world petition being circulated by the Revisionists. No reason was given for the ban on the parade.
The petition being circulated by the Revisionists, right wing Zionists, is aimed against Great Britain, mandatory power for Palestine, and against the government of Palestine, for having adopted an immigration policy barring mass Jewish immigration into Palestine.

New Regulations Hit Reich Jews Doctors, Dentists, Chemists Applying for Licenses Will Suffer
(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
BERLIN, April 15.—New regulations announced today by Reich Minister of the Interior, Hermann Frick provide that doctors, dentists and chemists applying for licenses to practice will not be taken into consideration if suspicion exists about their national and moral trustworthiness.
It is held here that the new regulations are the previous another reason whereby the Nazis will be able to prevent Jewish graduates from entering the professions mentioned. According to the regulations the Nazi examiners will be the sole judges and the Nazi regime has held that Jews cannot be "true Germans."

Rabbi Mendes Celebrates 82nd Birthday by Assuming Pulpit

The Holy Bible in its present form does not promote "the poetry of life," according to Rabbi H. Pereira Mendes, minister emeritus of the Dutch-Portuguese Congregation, 99 Central Park West, who stepped into his old pulpit Saturday morning in celebration of his eighty-second birthday.
Dr. Mendes, who retired as active rabbi in 1920, revealed in his sermon that the ensuing fourteen years were the "most active and wholesome in my career."
"I understood my retirement in the Bible sense. It meant only retirement from ritual duties and from the responsibilities I took to mean an opportunity to assume the higher duties of the ministry," he said.
The 82-year-old minister revealed that he has been working (Continued on Page Eight)

Brooklyn Fed. Gave $588,444 For Family Aid

Justice Nova Disloses
Report—Hospitals
Helped Many

More than half a million dollars in cash was distributed in the last twelve months to 5,300 Brooklyn families comprising approximately 25,000 individuals, was disclosed last night by Supreme Court Justice Mitchell May, president of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities, in the annual report.

This sum, $588,444, was given out by the United Jewish Aid Societies, family welfare division of the Federation and the twenty-five affiliated agencies included in Justice May's report. The report revealed that material aid and financial assistance was given in volume of service performed by the Federation during the last year, with medical care at its hospitals and clinics in second position.

Coincident with the annual report, County Judge Algoner I. Nova, pointing out that more than 500,000 Brooklynites, 150,000 of whom are under twenty-five years of age, are dependent on work, issued an appeal to residents of all boroughs to assist the Brooklyn Federation in its "effort to help the needy and that is the concern of the entire city."

Jewish Hospital Leads
In the medical division Justice May stated, the Jewish Hospital led the field with a record of 5,762 patients, about fifteen percent more free service than any other non-municipal hospital in Brooklyn, amounting to more than forty percent of the total work done at the hospital.

The Beth Moses Hospital had a total hospital days' occupancy of 65,607 in 1933, and 40,698 days of care, about fifteen percent more free service than any other non-municipal hospital in Brooklyn, amounting to more than forty percent of the total work done at the hospital.

Outstanding in the child-care branch of the Federation was the work accomplished by the Brooklyn Hebrew Orphan Asylum, which last year cared for 1,273 orphans. The Asylum expended $417,374 in giving the children a home, excellent training and a liberal education.

Other Institutions
Other institutions included in Justice May's report were: The First Hebrew Day Nursery and Neighborhood House; Brooklyn office of the United Jewish Welfare Council; the Council House for Jewish Girls; Hebrew Free School of Brownsville; the Glory of Israel Hebrew Institute; the Hebrew Talmud Torah; the Hebrew National School; the New Hebrew School of Brooklyn; The Hebrew Educational Society; the Jewish Community House of Bensonhurst; the Young Men's Hebrew Association; the YMHA of Borough Park; the YAT-YWHA of Williamsburg; and the Brooklyn Free Loan Association.

The Federation, continuing its twenty-fifth Anniversary campaign for $500,000 to meet the budgetary needs of its twenty-five affiliates this year, will hold its first report meeting tomorrow night at the Unity Club, Bedford avenue and Dean street, Brooklyn. Former United States District Attorney George Z. Medalle will speak. Representatives of the more than twenty trade and professional groups comprising the Trade and Community Council, the Federation's money-raising organization, will make their reports showing the amounts raised thus far.

PREACHED IN CITY PULPITS

Extracts from sermons preached during the weekend follow:

A Reply to Judge Cohan
RABBI LOUIS I. NEWMAN, Congregation Rodef Shalom, 7 West Eighty-third Street—Justice Daniel F. Cohan's remarks regarding the alleged influence of American citizens of the Jewish faith are regrettable, and fail to give the proper perspective with respect to the relationship of non-Jews and Jews in the United States.

It is true that a few Jews have risen to eminence in the commonwealth, but their influence is exaggerated out of all proportion to its scope. Justice Cohan seeks to show that the 20,000,000 Catholics in this country are relatively without power, but surely he does not intend that this statement shall be taken seriously.

The most superficial student of American political life, particularly in the metropolitan centers, notices the large number of officials of the Catholic faith, and rejoices in this fact, when these public servants are seen fulfilling their responsibilities in accordance with the ethical dictates of their faith, and the basic requirements of the community's welfare.

It is a mistake to make invective comparisons between the role played by Catholics, Protestants and Jews in the commonwealth, inasmuch as such a procedure involves comparison of apples with oranges, which cannot be helpful to the cause of religious peace and fellowship.

Student Pacifism

RABBI JOSEPH ZEFFLIN, Temple Anshe Chesed, West End Avenue at 100th Street—Many high school, college and university students have given expression to their earnest desire for the preservation of peace. In the spirit of this sentiment, they have absented themselves from class in order to let the authorities know what their attitude is towards warfare.

We all agree that war is damnable and abhorring to civilized man, but we ought to recognize the fact that the means employed to fight war should not be militant methods. If our purpose is "peace," then our means of attaining that ideal should be in the spirit of that goal.

Disrespect and rowdiness may fit in with the pro-war parties at some of our universities, but it is for those who are prepared to guide themselves with peaceful conduct.

Civic-Minded Jewry

RABBI SAMUEL BUCHLER, New Peoples Synagogue, 96 Clinton Street—Among the Jewish people the continuity of political activity has been almost unbroken. They always occupied themselves with the solution of the civic problems of their respective communities.

The Jewish spirit of country-building in theory and practice has been recorded in the history of all nations.

I know of no country where Jews failed to produce type like Joseph, Isaac, Daniel and Lasker. Without exaggeration it may be asserted that in spite of their homelessness and the loss of their land, we have successfully occupied ourselves with public affairs, stood unflinchingly in the service of political ideas and ideals, originated many great achievements in the countries of our adoption, and aided the uplift of nations with high-minded disinterestedness.

Desire for Solitude

RABBI ISRAEL GOLDSTEIN, Congregation B'nai Jesurun, Eighty-eighth Street west of Broadway—There are times when we crave solitude, hoping that in solitude we may be able to discover our inner selves. We would run away from the tumult of the crowds where we fear lest our soul be drowned in the din. No man can live alone. No man's life is an isolated phenomenon. From birth, it became conditioned by the lives of others. We scarcely realize how much the lives of our fellowmen are the threads by which the fabric of each individual life is woven.

Manners and morals, thought and culture, the physical conditions of living, even the language we speak, are social contributions which come to every man from the moment of birth. If one born and reared in the twentieth century is above the savage, it is only because of the social heritage by which he benefits.

The craving for solitude is usually only a temporary reaction against the excessive gregariousness and concentration of our large cities. The problem of life is to achieve that delicate balance between the right to one's own soul and the duty toward the social code.

Poverty, Race Hatred and War

RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE, Free Synagogue, Carnegie Hall, Fifty-seventh Street and Seventh Avenue—The truth is, although we do not at first grasp it, the three (poverty, racial hatred and international war) are bound up with one another. If we have war we could not be without the other two, for they make war inevitable, or are caused by the same things that make war inevitable.

If Judaism were a church or only a church, it would be easy to cite dogmas. But we have no such laws; we are not a church organization in any sense of the word. There is only one criterion of Jewish judgment—the reaction of the Jewish people.

The association of the Jew with protest against poverty, racial hatred, and international war has moved the world to stigmatize the Jews as the protestant or revolutionary people. There is a disproportionate number of Jews who are ready to strive and even die so that there may be an end of the three crimes against civilization.

The three will be vanquished, they will together overcome us and put an end to the era of human civilization.

Judaism has a wonderful record in respect to protest against poverty. Because a few Jews have heaped up riches, the world imagines that we are satisfied with the present order, when one-half the Jews of the world live in abject poverty.

The Jew protests against poverty because of his teachings, his suffering, and his Messianic hope. The Marxian teaching is the mightiest modern protest yet made against the crime of poverty.

The theory of race superiority brings us the unspeakable Nazism. Jews have always fought racial hatred. As for war, we have a glorious record. It may go hard with us if we change not in our protest against poverty, racial hatred, and international war, but "if I must die, let me die for this."

Rabbi Wolf Gold, president of the Mizrahi Organization of America, left Saturday night on a three-weeks tour of Southern and Midwestern cities in the interests of the Mizrahi Palestine Fund, it was announced yesterday. He was accompanied by Harris L. Glig, director of the fund campaign.

Steed Shows Figures Disproving Nazis' Cry of Jewish Dominance

12,000 German Jews Died for Land in War; In All German Cabinets From 1918 to 1933 Only Two Jews and Four Part-Jews Held Posts

William Steed, former correspondent of the London Times at Berlin, Rome and Vienna, and finally its editor, explains the true nature of Hitlerism and to what extent it was a racial policy. In his book, "Hitler, Whence and Whither?"

A series of articles, of which this is the sixth, will be published in the Jewish Daily Bulletin from the chapter, "Germanism and Jewry."

By WICKHAM STEED

If it be claimed that only Hohenzollern Empire was dominated by Jews or by descendants of Jews, the truth is that a few baptized Jews or men of Jewish extraction did hold high administrative or ministerial positions, but that, as a rule, they were debarred from official careers, and, except in Bavaria, were not allowed to be officers in the army.

It was not only during the War that some Jews were promoted to commissioned rank. In the War 1914-1918, the percentage being explained by the circumstance that the greater part of the German army was recruited from rural districts, whereas the Jews were mainly urban. Altogether 100,000 of the 565,000 German Jews were in the army; 78,000 served at the front, 85,000 were in the rear. Of the 800 promoted, more than 4,000 (exclusive of army doctors) were given commissioned rank, and of these officers 322, or 18 per cent, were in the field. Some 20 per cent of the Jewish soldiers were volunteers.

Soon after the War the editor of an anti-Semitic paper at Munich offered a prize of one thousand marks to anybody who could prove that there was even one Jewish family with three sons in the trenches for three weeks. Thereupon a Rabbi of Hanover furnished a list of twenty Jewish families from other communities which had seven or eight sons in the field, some of them having had to mourn the loss of three of these.

Charges Baseless

The pretension that, under the German Republic established in 1918, the Jews held leading positions, is shown to be baseless by the fact that in all the German Cabinets, from the end of 1918 up to the advent of Hitlerism on January 30, 1933, there were 250 Ministers of whom two were Jews and only four of Jewish extraction.

The proportion of Jews in the Administration of Justice was 1.2 per cent. Among professors in universities and high schools it was 4.7 per cent; and it is claimed that the percentages were much higher in the medical and legal professions, it must be remembered that for centuries the Jews had been attracted to medicine because they were excluded from other professions, just as many of them became lawyers because other learned callings were practically closed to them.

Among actors and musicians the percentage may have been as high as five. Politically the Jews belonged to all parties, except the anti-Semitic parties, but they were never predominant in Parliament.

Out of 608 members elected to the Reichstag in July, 1933, there were only one Jew and fourteen of Jewish extraction. Among the Socialist leaders were few Jews.

Invited By Ludendorff

The Hitlerite charge that, after the War, thousands of Eastern, Russian, and other Polish, and emigrating German trade and economic life by their malpractices, cannot be substantiated in view of the fact that only 12,000 Eastern Jews, out of the 150,000 or 160,000 who fled from Russia or the border States into Germany after the War, were granted German citizenship and acquired the right to remain in Germany. Besides, General Ludendorff himself had appealed to the Jewish Jews in the famous manifesto of 1914. The manifesto began "My Dear Jews," and declared that German banners would bring them justice and liberty, equal rights and more dangerous of faith, freedom of work undisturbed in all branches of economic and cultural life, and that Germany would develop new foundations for the Jews upon firm foundations—a seductive promise that did not prevent the German Military Command in Russian Poland from deporting thousands of Jews to Germany during the War to do forced labor in the mines, especially in the Ruhr district, where they were obliged to remain.

On many points, though perhaps not on all, this Jewish desire is cogent. Stronger still is it in recalling the services rendered to Germany by Walter Rathenau, who organized the German supply of war materials during the War, and Professor Franz Haber, the great chemist, who produced poison gas in the air, without which Germany would soon have run short of explosives.

Jerusalem Council Threatens to Boycott Community Election

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)

JERUSALEM, March 23. A sharp protest that the present constitution of the Jerusalem civic electoral committee has an unjust proportion of Jews compared with their numerical strength in the city, is made in a letter addressed by the Council of Jerusalem Jews to Palestine authorities.

It is pointed out that although the Jews outnumber the combined Moslem and Christian Arab rate payers, they have only been given two seats on the committee in defiance of the Municipal Corporations Ordinance stipulations.

Mosleyites Policy Rapped by Guardian

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, April 15.—Quoting a statement of Der Stuermer of Nuremberg, that Sir Oswald Mosley's English Fascists are anti-Semitic, the Manchester Guardian has commented that the Mosleyites would like to be considered anti-Semites in Germany, while in Great Britain they deny that they are anti-Semites.

The Mosleyite director of policy, Thomson, in a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency declared: "I do not consider the Guardian rather far-fetched. We Mosleyites take no racial attitude, although we have had some difficulties with the Jewish community particularly in the matter of the boycott on German goods."

Goldstein Hits Armies, War Before Senate

Free Synagogue Rabbi Is Heard by Upper House

(Special to the J.D.B.)

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Rabbi Sidney E. Goldstein, of Free Synagogue, chairman of the executive committee of the War Resisters League of America in a statement which he presented at the hearing of the Judiciary committee of the Senate yesterday, asserted that "only by withdrawing man power from the service of the government."

The speaker warned against the "moral of militarism" which he said is "greater" than that was "twenty years ago."

"In spite of every effort to reduce armaments and to build up the processes and machinery of peace," continued Rabbi Goldstein, "the nations in 1934 are more heavily armed and more dangerous, only weakened than they were in 1914. The governments of Asia, North and South America are spending their greater money in maintaining and developing a war machine that can no longer defend their boundaries and that would bring only mutual destruction and death to the earth. We must either end war or suffer another catastrophe that may end civilization itself."

There is only one way in which we can end war finally and forever. Of one thing we must be convinced, war can never end war. If we saw the dragon's teeth we must destroy them to reap a harvest of disaster and death. War, however, cannot be fought without men. In spite of the decreasing importance of the army in the age of battleships, and the increasing importance of aeroplanes and chemical warfare service, men are still needed to invent weapons and control these instruments of destruction. As long as men are willing to fight, governments and their army contractors will use them in the prosecution of the war method of settling disputes. The only way in which we can end war is to withdraw man power from the service of the governments. Wars will cease only when men refuse to fight. The War Resisters of America are already convinced of this. It is the one way in which to end war that we hereby serve notice upon the government of the United States that the members of the War Resisters League of America refuse to have any part whatever in war, civil or international, or the preparation thereof.

Jews and Arabs Join in Greeting S. S. Jerusalem On Its Maiden Voyage

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)

HAIFA, March 21.—Jews and Arabs fraternized and exchanged friendly greeting on non-political ground, as one Arab guest remarked, when the S.S. Jerusalem of the Lloyd Trieste line, renamed from Crocavia, reached these shores on its maiden voyage. Leaders of the Jewish Agency, the Vaad Leumi, Keren Kayemet, Keren Hayesod, the Agudath Israel, and representatives of principal newspapers here were present.

The boat, an 8,500 tonner is white with a narrow grig of blue just below the upper decks, a subtle tribute to its future cargo—thousands of Jewish immigrants to Palestine.

The Lloyd Trieste recently renamed one of its boats to S.S. Tel Aviv.

Schein, president of the local B'nai B'rith and long prominent in Jewish communal affairs in Madison was a member of a committee arranging for a lecture here by Douglas Brinkley, who is touring this part of the country with lectures on "The New Germany."

When questioned about the report that he was one of Brinkley's sponsors, Judge Schein said:

"That is the first I hear of the matter. I know nothing about it." Judge Schein had been cited as representing the Steuben Society, of which he is a member, in arranging for the speech.

Isserman Warns on Pitfall of Barbarism

ST. LOUIS, April 16.—That religious Christians and religious Jews must seek a common ground to avoid a reversion to barbarism was the assertion of Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman of Temple Israel, speaking at St. Peter's Episcopal Church here.

"If Jews and Christians, if Catholics and Protestants keep on quarreling among themselves, they may seek an opportunity to turn into a common ground, the champions of the new barbarism who seek to uproot the Jewish-Christian standards and seek to plunge humanity back, not merely into the dark, but into the primitive ages," he declared.

New Jersey Rabbi Warns of Mental Stagnation Here

(Special to the J.D.B.)
BOSTON, April 15.—The return of the wilderness and a mental stagnation through inbreeding were the possibilities described by Rabbi Martin Ransau at the Twentieth Century Club yesterday. The Rabbi's subject was "Restricted Immigration versus American Greatness." Dr. Ransau is rabbi of Temple Shalom of East Orange, N. J.

"There is a central issue," said Rabbi Ransau, "that must be faced and settled soon if we are not to become a house divided against itself. The native stocks who got here first must realize that their legal title to the land and resources and mines and water-powers of this continent are to be theirs only to hold in trust, and for the provisional use of Greater America, rather than for the exaction of tribute."

GIANTS OF SPORTS

By MORRIS WEINER

Take Me Out to The Ball Game!

Besides a couple of Annie Oakleys, the baseball fans are taking water wings along with them to the ball games. A little over a week ago while the Giants were on the last leg of their northern junket, they were mowed under, Saturday afternoon the Yanks and the Dodgers were rained out. Luckily for the Ruppertians, who were far behind the Brooklyn boys, the game was called.

The metropolitan colleges have played a game on the same diamonds as is written. Very scheduled collegiate ball game has been a complete washout in the New York City and the U. S. City College and Columbia have yet to start their intercity warfare. However, City and L. I. U. have played out and have been successful in their premiere efforts. City trimmed Rutgers University and Clair Bessie's team.

They took the measure of the Princeton boys at the Old Nassau ball park. Wealth of Good Material in Met Area

We have watched the practice routine of all the college teams from Spuyten Duyvil to the Red Hook section. The shortstop position, the hot corner of the infield, the pitcher down to the outfield, every school but Manhattan and Fordham by a Jewish baseballer. Emil Friedman, of the New York University team, seems to stand out like a beacon light on a clear night over the other infield men in New York. Emil has been playing ball with the New York Yankees for over two seasons and possesses that speed, dash, and pep so essential to the hot-corner post. He is a senior up at the Harbison College, this year. Coach McCarthy is depending on him to lessen the influence of the jinx that he expects to trail his team. It is the N. Y. U.'s men's thirteenth season.

The Women's Track Meet

Two track records were made Saturday night at the Hotel Naval Battalion Armory in Brooklyn. The women athletes were superb in their championship performances. However, the young lady in whom we were particularly interested did not run.

Sybil C. Koff, Maccabi woman sprint champion, had and won the fifty metre hurdle race but failed to show up on time and was not permitted to enter the trial heats.

The men, who were special entrants at this meet, ran fine races but failed to come through with record breaking performances. The American national champion, who ran the two-thirds of a mile distance, was four seconds behind the world's record. Joe McCuskey was the fastest out of the gate, but ran the finish after a superb run.

Maccabi Moves

The Maccabi organization in New York City is moving along with tremendous strides. Work is being done in all branches of this movement and the results are really heartening.

The White, executive secretary of the association, announced that two track and field meets have been scheduled for May 6 and 13 respectively. The Maccabi athletes will also participate in the L. I. U. B'omer celebration to be held next month at the P. S. A. L. field in Brooklyn. Crack runners for the United States Olympic championships will present an exhibition and other Maccabi members will supervise the meet as judges and referees.

The organization is putting out a bulletin through which it intends to acquaint all members, present and prospective, with the aims, principles, and activities of this movement in America and abroad. Besides the sporting aspects of the organization, the cultural, ethical, and historical sides will also be discussed in this Maccabi newspaper which will be published every two weeks. Miss Jessie Poust, of the New York City office of the editor of this bi-weekly bulletin.

The California Bear

Max Baer who has been cutting capers across the country on his journey from Lake Tahoe on the coast to Atlantic City, is as promising as a Tammany precinct candidate. Besides a bit of sparring, bag-punching, and spaghetti gobbling, the California Bear takes time off each day to tell the press just what he is going to do to Da Preem on June 14.

Here is a dated report of Maxie's progress. The California Bear left his western training camp.

April 12.—"I'll lick Carna easy."

April 13.—"I'll have Carna groggery by the end of the tenth."

April 14.—"If I should accidentally reach Carna's club in the first round, I will sit over for the Italian campaign."

We're wondering if the Garden has taken out accident insurance for this fight and whether Baer's right will be considered a terrific punch or merely an "act of God." (Page Miss Helen Hayes.)

The Sporting Calendar

El Fischer, the cauliflower boxer, comes to grips with Saxon Szabo, Hungarian champion, in the semi-finals at the New York Coliseum tomorrow night. Jumping Joe Savoldi meets Casey Colum in the main event.

Wednesday night, El Fischer will take on Cass Colombo at the Ridgewood Grove, and Abe Coleman, Jewish champion, will grapple with Tony Colosano.

Mrs. Morgenthau and Mrs. Einstein Will Be Guests at Luncheon

Mrs. Albert Einstein and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr., wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, will be guests of honor at the annual luncheon and meeting of the Women's Division of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Education, which will be held Thursday at the Hotel Commodore, it was announced by Mrs. Sidney C. Borg, chairman.

Following the luncheon there will be a meeting of the "Social Work under the New Deal" with Mayor LaGuardia and Commissioner William L. Hodson as speakers. The luncheon will be followed by the main part of the symposium. A business meeting also will be held at which reports on the year's work will be submitted and officers elected for the ensuing year. Mrs. Paul Baerwald is chairman of the nominating committee.

Arrangements for the luncheon are in the hands of a committee headed by Mrs. Richard J. Bernhard and including Mrs. Abram I. Elkus, Mrs. Edgar A. Hellman, Mrs. David L. Himmelfarb, Mrs. Walter A. Hirsch, Mrs. Paul Klingenstein, Mrs. Joseph L. Lilienthal, Mrs. Henry Siebert, and Mrs. Nathan Straus Jr.

Plans for the Ivius Springtime Breakfast have been completed and the proceeds will go toward the Scholarship and Kindergarten Funds of Ivius, Mrs. Max Lazare, will be at the home of Mrs. William Heller, 275 Central Park West, on Wednesday afternoon.

Bronx 'Y' Hails 25th Birthday Next Sunday

Years of Service to Local Community Will Be Reviewed at Dinner

Twenty-five years of service to a Jewish community twice as large as that of Palestine will be reviewed by the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association of the Bronx at its anniversary dinner on Sunday evening, April 22, at the Hotel Commodore. Leaders in young men's and women's movements, representing all faiths, will be among the guests. A thousand are expected to attend. Speakers will include Cleveland E. Dodge, president of the Greater New York Y. M. H. A.; Martin Conboy, United States Attorney; Judge Irving L. Rosenberg, president of the Jewish Welfare Board and Bernard S. Deutch, president of the Board of Aldermen. Benjamin Solov, chairman of the Young Men's Committee, will present M. Baldwin Fertig, president of the Bronx 'Y,' who is to preside.

The association, membership increased to almost 3,000. The six and one-half story building at 171st street and Fulton avenue is too small to meet its expanding needs.

Plans for the establishment of a Y. M. H. A. in the borough were initiated by a group consisting of Julius Tobias, the association's first president; Professor Bernard D. Saxe, Jacob L. Markel, Max Rothschild, Louis Weinstein, Louis Gotschall, Jacob Shengut, Abraham L. Shengut, Louis J. Jarovsky and Moses J. Hess. Of this group Mr. Markel, treasurer incumbent has been associated with the organization since its founding.

Back In 1909

At the suggestion of Simon Gotschall, vice president of the 'Y,' discussion originally centered around the creation of a Bronx branch of the downtown organization. This plan was abandoned by unanimous vote in favor of an independent 'Y' to be founded in the borough with the aid and advice of the parent organization in Manhattan.

Opening night in May, 1909, was witnessed by an assembly of civic officials and social, philanthropic and welfare leaders who gathered to inspect the new gymnasium, reading rooms, shower baths and game rooms.

Mrs. Fertig has been president of the Bronx group since 1915. Other officers are: J. Saxe, president; J. Clarence Davies, second vice president; Maxwell L. Heller, third vice president; Abraham Kravitz, fourth vice president; Bernard S. Deutch, Jacob Markel, treasurer; Israel H. Zinovoy, secretary, and Abraham W. Rosenthal, executive secretary. Asks That Jewish Ideals Be Kept less Jews, we are not serving out country. Our ancient Jewish Ideals of peace, purity and justice we must preserve and keep.

In his report to the board of directors Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the seminary, called attention to the manifold activities of the seminary, which have in its department, the teachers institute, the college of Jewish studies, Israel Friedlander Classes, library, museum of Jewish ceremonial objects and the Institute of Jewish affairs.

Dr. Adler said: "All these activities have been carried on with a budget less than half as large as the college has at its disposal in 1929. In order to do this work we have had to practice the strictest economy in every direction." He concluded by saying that greater support will be forthcoming from those who appreciate the value and importance of the seminary.

Following a message of greetings delivered by Sol M. Stroock, chairman of the board of directors, Edgar J. Nathan Jr., rendered a report for the committee which has been organized by the New York Society of the seminary, and said that the purpose of the society is to bring the facilities of the institutions to more people throughout the metropolitan area. Borough chairmen will be named who will set up committees in their respective territories.

Those planning officers were elected for the new society: Mr. Nathan, president; Mrs. Raphael Korn, vice-president; Arthur Oppenheimer, treasurer; Jacob Montefiore, secretary. The executive committee consists of Hyman J. Reit, Bernard Bernstein, Jacob Friedland Jr., Samuel Minskoff, Louis Holzman and Sol Mutter-per.

Warburg Appeals For Jewish Unity

Warburg declared, "That, of course, would be so in the case of Jews and Christians, where the Jew is not a Semite. Semitism may be at large," he continued. "That would be equally so, in the case of Jews in minority anywhere in the world. It is in the interest and honor of the Jews of America, they have always felt it to be their sacred duty."

Lands American Jewry
The record of American Jewry in the past century is a record of golden days. They have poured out millions of dollars for the relief of their brethren in Eastern and Central Europe and for the reconstruction of their communal life and cultural and religious institutions. Even in the "hard times" of the past few years, the Jews of America have continued to show beautiful benevolence on behalf of those who have less than themselves—who have less opportunity than they to resist the effects of modern civilization.

"It must be so in the case of the Jews of Germany. Here we are a group of Jews who by their deeds, by the fields of conquest, by the land has demonstrated beyond all doubting by reasonable men, their utmost loyalty and patriotism. They have given the best to their country. They have spilled their blood in defense of the land. They had consecrated their talents in art, in science, in literature, their gifts in the fields of commerce and industry to enhance the prestige and prosperity of the land to which they were devoted."

Not Only German Tragedy
"Further, they had given of themselves with great generosity to the enhancement of Jewish cause. The glory they had won for Germany they were also for Jewry. The Jewish names written large in the history of Germany are as ten equally large in our own history. And in addition, they vied with American and British Jewry in the fields of commerce and the 'bered' in Israel. Proud, upstanding, creative and productive, German Jewry gave cause for pride to all Israel. Their tragedy is a tragedy for the Jews of the world. It is a general Jewish tragedy. And because the German Jewish tragedy is a tragedy for all the Jews, I feel as human being, to appeal to my fellow-Jews in this country to come to their aid with their characteristic generosity."

propaganda is being spread," Laaski said. "This propaganda is creating race hatred and prejudice between Jews and Germans, beyond Jewry and appeal to world opinion to fight this menace," he concluded.

British Labor Calls For Boycott of Reich Goods

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, April 15.—The British labor movement has made it clear that it is the duty of British citizens loving freedom and liberty to boycott all German-made goods, Herbert Morrison, former Transport Minister in the MacDonald cabinet and now chairman of the London County Council, declared in an address today at the Jewish Representative Council, meeting to further the boycott in England.

"We are not antagonistic to the German people," Morrison declared, "we must show the Jewish people the same. The methods have aroused the horror of the civilized world."

"Not only is it legitimate for the Jewish community in Britain to carry on a boycott against Germany, but it is the duty of all Jews loving liberty to support the Jewish people against Germany with all the means in their power," the Laborite leader declared.

Jewry in these hours of tragedy. It makes it possible for all of us to know that we can cooperate to make in response to this unified appeal will be a demonstration of our solidarity in the face of Jewish self-help.

Will Aid On Every Front
"It will enable us who have been charged by American Jewry with the responsibility of extending their aid to their German brethren, to do so on every front. It will enable us to co-operate with the leaders of German Jewry to save the 500,000 Jews in that country from utter destitution, and to help them to maintain their cultural and religious life. It will enable us to co-operate with the Jewish Agency for Palestine to settle large numbers of German Jews in that beautiful and flourishing country where such miracles have been achieved during the past twenty years. And, as a humanitarian, that splendid American, James G. McDonald in fulfilling his tasks as Refugee High Commissioner to locate many Jewish refugees from Germany in countries either of their own choice, or to which they may be willing to go if the doors to them are opened and the Jewish community opportunity for decent living."

NRA Poultry Code Signed By Roosevelt

President Aims to Bar Unfair Practices and Craft

(Special to the J.D.B.)
WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Roosevelt today signed the New York Poultry Code, fair competition which is designed to eliminate racketeering and unfair practices in the industry. It will go into effect April 23.

Drafted by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the code covers every person in the metropolitan area engaged in the poultry industry. Its language unmistakably indicates that its purpose is to wipe out graft and racketeering now existing in the industry and to remove such one of the main purposes of the code is to prevent the collection of unearned "fees" and "dues." It bans forcing members of the industry, through threats of violence or other means of coercion, to join or not to join "protective" and other organizations.

that the German "revolution for freedom" is a far cry from that of recruitment for a new war.

A remarkable book, "Hitler Over Europe," contains startling revelations of how Hitler, Goering and Goebbels have been financed by the German Government, the Ruhr, and of what preparations are now being made by General Goering for an overwhelming attack on the British Isles by every new device of aviation, chemistry and mechanics. The author of "Hitler Over Europe," Ernst Perle, writes:

"Goering has 10,000 aeroplanes—as many as the whole of Europe has today, and half as many again as the entire French group (including the Little Belgium, Poland and Belgium)—then he can go into the fight with a good chance. If Goering has twice as many as the whole of Europe, 2,400 German 4,800 Italian guns, France and her Allies—20,000 aeroplanes—then only a miracle can prevent Germany's victory in the air."

"Already in the autumn of 1933 the new German artillery park, limited by the Treaty of Versailles to only 292 light guns, numbered 2,400 heavy 4,800 Italian guns, Hitler's new secret artillery, being added to from day to day, after fifteen years of new experiments in an entirely different category from the artillery of the last war. The monstrous organization of German post-war industry, the best equipped industry in the world, is now producing this new war-mechanics of the Nazis."

And the author sounds this warning:
"Before Hitler can be stopped, he may shatter the world. . . . The voice of the wisest men of the instant hour; the decision can come at any moment."

Commenting on this warning, Wickham Steed, the eminent publicist, says that he would dismiss it as the ravings of an anti-Nazi fanatic, but he cannot do it, "nor, for that matter, can any man who knows 4,800 Italian guns go on in Germany today."

The policy of vengeance and extermination against the Jews, bolstered up with the aid of the mythical "voice of the wisest men of the instant hour," is but a prelude to the new war of revenge which Hitlerism is feverishly preparing.

Rabbi Mendes Has Birthday Lecture on a review of the Bible and Prayer Book which will enable parents to give their children a better religious background.

The lecture will be given by Rabbi Mendes who will promote the poetry of life and the human ministry. There are many passages in the Bible which through misinterpretation have been distorted. It is my aim to supply supplementary notes with reasons and authorities to make it possible for you to read the Bible with a new understanding.

With regards to the Prayer Book, I find few parents understanding the value of home worship or family prayer. The book should be read with the children. Only congregations of individuals use it, the rabbi maintained. It is not a factor in the development of childhood character, he said.

The Enneks, anti-Semitic government party, has an anti-Semitic program calling for the deportation of all Jews from Poland, and the extermination of the Jews. The party, however, is also fighting against the dictatorship of Marshal Pilsudski. The party is also fighting against the desire to devote all their time to anti-Semitism.
