Ivy Lee and Others
Ivy Lee, master mind among American publicity experts, who has represented the Rockefeller's, the Pennsylvania Railroad and other important American interests, admitted in a statement before the Congressional Committee that he had counseled the Hitler government on major questions of policy. He did this through the powerful German Dye Trust which had retained him for several years and which increased his pay to $25,000 a year since Hitler came into power. According to Mr. Lee's testimony, he conferred with Hitler, Goebbels, von Papen and others last January in Berlin, but said that these conferences were confined to a discussion of how German-American relations could be improved. Mr. Lee advised the Nazi government, through his client the German Dye Trust, on armaments, the Jewish question and the problem of debts.
There is no doubt that Mr. Lee did quite as reprehensible a campaign against its outrageous anti-Jewish policy. As a brilliant publicity director, sensing public opinion, he knew that the savage methods of the Nazis in dealing with the Jewish question would only serve to alienate the sympathy of the American people, and he advised them to give up the war against the Jews. Mr. Lee may have given this advice as an American opposed to racial and religious discriminations rather than as the paid publicity agent of the German Dye Trust. But it seems to us highly improper for an American to sell his services in a round-about way to a foreign government and to offer advice regarding questions of armaments and debts at a time when the American Government has been dealing with these very problems. The advice that Mr. Lee gave the Hitler government, through his son in Berlin, and through the German Dye Trust, was designed to strengthen the position of Hitler and his policy carried within it the seeds of hate and a new war. While Mr. Lee's suggestions with regard to the Jewish question were disregarded, his counsel regarding rearmament was heeded to a considerable extent.
But the case of Mr. Ivy Lee is not quite as reprehensible as that of Carl Eyoer, the Jewish publicity agent, who entered into agreement, through Mr.

Poultry Slaughterers Charge Wholesalers' Drive on Them

Slaughterers of kosher poultry that abated desperately all day yesterday for salvation, charging that poultry wholesalers, having settled with the commission merchants, turned upon them in a campaign to discharge slaughterers, cut wages and force them to speed up slaughtering.
During the day a delegation from Shochet Union Local 440, the organization of slaughterers, visited City Hall, Arthur Simon, Health Department investigator in charge of Kashruth, and the Degel Hachaimin, organization of Orthodox rabbis.

Unable to see Mayor LaGuardia, the delegation placed in the hands of Mayor Dunham, the mayor's secretary, a statement protesting against the speech of Market Commissioner William Fellowes Morgan Jr. last week that slaughterers and market workers are being overpaid.
Next, the delegation, which in

Schneider Hails Foley's Attack On Fake Rabbis

Bronx Federation Acts To Curb Mushroom Synagogues

Satisfaction was expressed by Max J. Schneider, president of the Bronx Federation of Jewish Congregations, over a warning issued by District Attorney Samuel J. Foley against attending holy day services in "mushroom synagogues."
Schneider, who has been active in combatting racketeers who represent themselves as rabbis before the holidays and who conduct services in movie theaters and dance halls, told The Bulletin yesterday that "the Bronx Federation will put this thing to the limit."

Hopes for Prosecution
Schneider revealed that he has been presenting the matter to district attorneys of all five boroughs and he hopes they will prosecute these racketeers to the limit. Foley appointed Assistant District Attorney Martin Kraus to investigate reports that these dance hall synagogues are being opened.

The campaign against these synagogues was given impetus by the bill introduced by State Senator Lazarus Joseph in Albany on April 20 of this year and subsequently signed by Governor Lehman, making it a misdemeanor to sell tickets to services in "non-legitimate places of worship." This

Trumpelder Youth Charged With Killing Former Zionists

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, July 12.—The Jewish State Party, formerly the Revisionist group, reported today that a member of their youth organization Brith Kanai, Joseph Chaimowitz, was stabbed to death at a meeting of the group by a member of the Brith Trumpelder, militant youth organization of the Revisionist Zionists. The stabbing took place at a meeting in the township of Nowykorczyn in the Kielce district.

England Votes Loan Program For Palestine

Jews' Fight on Move Defeated as King Signs Bill

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, July 12.—King George V today signed the bill authorizing the Palestine government to float a £2,000,000 loan to be used for public works in Palestine, for the educational system, for the resettlement of Arabs alleged to have been dispossessed from their land by Jews and for all other purposes to be decided upon by the Palestine authorities.

Earlier in the day the bill authorizing the loan had been passed for the third time by the House of Lords. Before its introduction in the upper branch of the British legislative body, the bill had been passed by the House of Commons after a stormy debate which was provoked by Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, independent member of Parliament, who had just returned from an extended stay in Palestine.

Jewish Palestine bitterly opposed the issuance of the loan and fought the passage of the bill through the British legislature. Palestinian Jewish leaders declared

Nazis Given Respite as Inquiry Turns Spotlight on Communism

The McCormack Congressional Committee to Investigate Nazi and other Un-American Propaganda Activities in the United States yesterday ended four days of public hearings in the Bar Association Building by lending an attentive ear for an hour or so to evidence of Communist activities in the United States.

Archibald E. Stevenson, a New York attorney, was the only witness called to testify, although depositions made by Communist leaders during previous executive hearings of the committee were read into the record.
Stevenson called the attention of the committee to Communist

South Africa Bars Hitlerism; Expels Leader

Propaganda Found in Hands of Nazi Imported From Reich

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JOHANNESBURG, July 12.—The South African government today prohibited the Nazi movement and the Nazi Hitler youth groups in the Union of South Africa and in Southwest Africa, formerly a German colony. Herr von Lommler, German imported leader of the Nazi movement in South Africa, was ordered to leave the country when authorities forbade the Nazi movement, which in recent months made enormous strides among Germans in the former German territory. South African Jews protested to the government against the campaign of anti-Jewish incitement carried on by the Nazis.

Will 'Purge' Jews From Reich Life

'Aryan Clause' to Be Carried Out in Wide Drives

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
BERLIN, July 12.—The only change in the present Nazi policy toward the Jews of Germany will be the suppression of violent acts against them, a high ranking member of the Nazi government, who is also prominent in the Nazi party, informed the Jewish Telegraphic Agency's special correspondent today.

At the same time the Nazi official declared that the government would continue its campaign against the economic, political and cultural life of Germany, but since it was desired to deprive foreign opinion of opportunities for anti-Jewish propaganda, the elimination would be conducted in a quiet manner. It was emphasized to the correspondent that despite the unsensational method to be adopted, the complete ousting of the Jews from German life would be none the less, effective.

Drive for 'Aryan Clause'

The present racial policy of the Nazis is also to be continued and the Nazis will embark on a campaign to carry out the "Aryan clause" to the fullest extent.

Minister of Propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels today issued the monthly list of six new books approved by the regime as being the finest flower of Nazi culture. Two of the books deal entirely with the race question in the approved Nazi manner.

Minister of War General von Blomberg today issued an order that civilian employees of the army must prove that they are "Aryans."

Johnson Tells Press It Need Not Fear Nazi Censorship

(Special to the J.T.B.)
WATERLOO, Iowa, July 12.—In a speech here today, Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator declared that recent events in Germany had shown him "more clearly" why American newspaper publishers have insisted into writing into their codes a clause saving their constitutional rights.
He said that although writing a free press clause in the publishers' code was "pure surplusage" because the Constitutional rights of the people cannot be signed away.
"Stories about subversive influences in our Government are just plain bunk," he added. "If there were any it should be among the first to know them and to shrink to high heaven about them."

Strauss Boy Flier Who Landed on Drive Suddenly Sets Palestine as Future Goal

Heart Attack

Will Be Buried Today; Was Prominent Philanthropist

Mrs. Nathan Strauss, prominent Brooklyn philanthropist, died suddenly yesterday morning of a heart attack at her home, 401 Park Place.

Mrs. Strauss had not previously been ill and celebrated her forty-ninth birthday last Tuesday. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Minnie Goldstein, widow of Elias A. Goldstein, and a daughter, Helen, who is Mrs. Joseph Hamburger of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Strauss was president of the women's auxiliary of the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn from 1927 to 1932. She was a director of the Hospital Training School for Nurses, past president of the Suburban Aid Society, past president of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth El, director of the women's division of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities, and active in the Federated Jewish Women's Club.

Funeral services will be held today.

Lazare, Founder, Quits Blue Men Group to Join The Anti-Nazi League

Ben Lazare, national commander and organizer of the National Blue Men of America, Inc., yesterday announced his resignation from that organization. He stated he is joining the Anti-Nazi League of which Samuel Untermyer is president.

Under the leadership of Lazare, the National Blue Men of America have been one of the most active forces in opposing the German chandise made in Nazi Germany. The Blue Men have picketed stores in Brooklyn, Manhattan, and the Bronx in efforts to discourage the purchase of Nazi goods. They are credited with having "purged" entire districts of Brooklyn of Nazi wares.

Lazare expressed the opinion some time ago he could work more effectively in cooperation with the larger organization.

Anti-Nazi League Hails Hull's Reply to the Reich

Secretary of State Hull's reply to the German debt moratorium note and his rejection of the theory that the United States and the rest of the world are responsible for Germany's present bankrupt state is hailed today by Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, vice-president of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, in an editorial in the July number of the Economic Bulletin, official organ of the League.

All He Needs Is a New Plane, Alexander Loeb Suggests Hopefully

By G. H. ARROW

Alexander Loeb, eighteen-year-old aviator, whose fine was paid by two anonymous donors, stated he was about to begin a thirty-day sentence on Welfare Island for landing his rebuilt plane on the swamps of Rye, N. Y., when he was to fly to Palestine, Dr. says.

Hardly out of the clutches of indignant police, who arrested him for landing in the city area because of a falling motor, Alexander is already winging plans for a gascolator on his second-hand Curtiss-Wright Junior to stop further forced landings on inhospitable lavas, the accumulation of more hours in the air, and a trip to Palestine.

Loeb, who is short and dark, is a student at the Hebrew School in this country, coming from Rumania. He had been fooling around with gliders since he took an aviation course at the school. When he was fifteen Frank Hoff, his instructor, took him to Teterboro Airport in New Jersey and taught him to fly a plane. He has been flying for three years now, and obtained a license at sixteen, the minimum age.

Loeb plans for $500. He keeps his rebuilt plane in a hangar at Floyd Bennett Field. He bought it for $500 and rebuilt it with the help of a mechanically-inclined schoolmate. It lacks a gascolator, but for three years it has run on gasoline in his engine burned him down once in a while in unexpected places. He is working on a gascolator now, and he hopes to be going to wipe out the Charles Levine incident from the history of Jewish aviation.

"Flying is the most expensive sport," he says, "but the reason the question as to why he couldn't pay his $50 fine, rather than leave the plane in Riverside Drive, when he was home for the summer."

"If anybody has any money to throw away," he suggested, "he should get in touch with me. A school boy wouldn't do anything everything up. And it wouldn't cost so much either. After a while I would be able to pay it all back. But of course the Curtiss Wright Junior wouldn't fly for such a flight."

Studies Aviation at Night

Alexander works for the Whitehouse Furniture Company by day and at night attends a course in Aeronautical Engineering at N.Y.U. The police were pretty kind to his plane after he was caught on a gascolator on Riverside Drive for three days and three nights. But they wouldn't let him fly it off the Drive after he got back. His boss had to come with a truck and take it away piece meal. Then it had to be reassembled again at Floyd Bennett Field. The plane keeps on flying all the time. As a matter of fact, he is afraid he will have to give up the course at N.Y.U. after this term.

Loeb lives with his mother at 230 West Ninety-ninth street. He was born in Colate, Rumania, in 1916, on July 1. July 1 is the day of his birthday on Riverside Drive, but he forgot it was his birthday during the excitement. The magistrate thought it was intentional because the Drive is done to his honor. Alexander continued he had to do it in order not to land in the Hudson and lose the plane.

6,000 More Jews Trek to Biro-Bidjan

Increased Migration Told By Max Levin in Lecture Here

More than 6,000 additional Jews from various parts of the Soviet Union are expected to settle this summer in the Biro-Bidjan region, Max Levin, national chairman of the ICOR Association for Jewish Colonization in the Soviet Union, said in a lecture last night at the Hotel Newport. Biro-Bidjan is a settlement being developed by the Soviet government in which Russian Jews are to set up an autonomous government. The lecture was presented under the auspices of the Friends of the Soviet Union, West Side branch.

Mr. Levin discussed the industrial, agricultural and cultural developments, as well as the possibilities, in the Biro-Bidjan settlement. He pointed out that since 1928, when the region was first settled by 25,000 Russians the population has been increased by 22,000.

Mr. Levin prophesied that "in the near future" at least 10,000 Jews from foreign countries will be permitted to settle in Biro-Bidjan.

Samuel S. Fels Gives More Pay To Employees Under New System

(Special to the J.D.B.)

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Samuel S. Fels, Philadelphia's foremost philanthropist, has just inaugurated a new wage system affecting the 500 employees of his soap company by virtue of which they will receive weekly five "half days' pay for five days' work."

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, congratulated Fels on his "vision and fine sense of responsibility" when the announcement of the new pay schedule was made.

"This decrease of the work-week with any reduction in pay," wrote Johnson, "still further exemplifies your policy of fair dealing."

In his announcement Fels said his action was in line with his efforts "to go beyond the letter of the New Deal requirements and carry out to every extent possible, the spirit of the President's program."

Fels recently expressed his business philosophy in a book, "This Changing World," in which he expressed a "conviction that the manufacturer who is fair to his employees will receive a similar treatment from his customer."

Born in 1860, in a little North Carolina village, the manufacturer entered the soap business when he Vioreck, with the German Tourist Bureau for the purpose of creating favorable public opinion in the United States for Nazi Germany. Undoubtedly Mr. Boyer, too, urged the Nazis to modify their anti-Jewish policy. But as long as Hitlerism and anti-Semitism are identical, any praise for the Hitler system is a direct endorsement of anti-Semitism.

As for the American authors and journalists who accepted free transportation from the German steamship lines and other favors in exchange for favorable articles on Nazi Germany, it is interesting to note that practically no important and responsible American writers are included in this shady arrangement. The writings of the people enumerated before the Congressional Committee as having received favors from the Germans have failed to influence public opinion even before it was known that the authors were not objective and unprejudiced observers. Now these articles will be adjudged as nothing else than ordinary propaganda.

Delirious the Goods

According to George Sylvester Vioreck, author and poet, Kaiser and Nazi propagandist, Adolf Hitler conspired to ensure that he did not persecute the Jews, but that, on the contrary, the Jews persecuted him. Mr. Vioreck knows well enough that this statement is as stupid and cowardly as it is false.

A year before Hitler came to power, he was predicted on February 25, 1933, the Nazi storm troopers' song was quoted in the Reichstag. The last verse read as follows:

"Wenn der Sturmsoldat ins Feuer zieht,
Dann hat er frohen Mut,
Und wenn die Judenbait vom Messer spritzt,
Dann geht's noch mal so gut....
Wir werden fliessen, knusperl-hagelnd,
Wir werden auf die Freiheit der Judentumrepublik."

Translated this means: "When the storm trooper goes to the firing line, he is in happy mood, and when Jewish blood drips from the knife, it is twice as good. Blood must flow, as thick as hail; we whistle at the treason of the Jew-republic."

This is the refrain to which Hitler marched to power. The "Protocols of the Wise Men of Zion" were his armor. And the anti-Jewish boycott in April, 1933, was the fulfillment of his promise to the Nazis.

George Sylvester Vioreck knows all this, but as an apologist for the bloody Hitler, drawing his commission for the Carl Boyer contract, and his pay from the German Zionist Center in April, 1933, he had to "deliver the goods" to his master.

lated as a pitiful and ineffectual youth, torn between the grim thlessness of Goering's exhortaons on the one hand, and the ingness of the man who cattled him into power on the ner.

The morphine addict's iron fist is too much for him. He attempted to procrastinate, by sending Ernst Roehm, chief of staff, and the entire body of storm troops on vacation. He promised to investigate Goering's allegations that a plot of rebellion was brewing. He tried weakly and unsuccessfully to put off the day of reckoning.

Goering said no. Goering said immediate action was imperative.
Ernst died.

Karl Ernst died in the belief that he was being killed by enemies of Hitler. How many of those others turned to their deaths with the same conviction in their minds never will be known.

There is one man who has not died, however, who might well have entertained similar suspicions.

That man is Adolf Hitler.
The newspapers of a few days ago described Dr. Fuehrer's "screams" on the night when Dr. Goering lay on Roehm's armchairs at the storm troop leader's aside home.

When a person is convinced he is standing on the edge of a cliff or country, he does not scream. It is only when his mind and his conscience are assailed with doubt if he finds it necessary to whip himself up into a fury of righteous dignation.

Little Adolf Hitler was only an actor that night. Hermann Goering was the producer, the director and the star, with all the rest of the profits accrued from that grim theatrical coup.

In a war of rodents the sharp teeth which strike first carry the victory and devour the rest.

Today the "second revolution" has all the aspects of the notorious Valentine Day wholesale gang slaying in Chicago some years ago, when a band of thugs, masquerading as policemen, lined up a small army of fellow mobsters against a concrete garage wall and mowed them down with machine gun bullets.

Yesterday's New York Times, in an account "purporting to present the side of the executed storm troop captains" and obviously written by someone in whom the air of resentment has not been quenched, contains the following significant paragraph:

"But," says the account, "we underestimated Goering's lack of inhibition and learned of the impending events a few minutes too late to defend ourselves."

The implications here are obvious. It was too late to save the live ones whose heads were doomed. It was not too late, however, to plan a counter-attack.

Every newspaper possesses what in some circles is known as a "morgue" and what in more effete journalistic parlance is referred to as a library. The reference libraries contain masses of material relative to persons whose names are frequently in the news.

When one of these front-page figures seems likely to die soon, members of the staff are set to work preparing an obituary story about him, so that it will be ready to set up in type when the short and incomplete account of his death reaches the news columns.

The Jewish Daily Bulletin is arming itself against the near future. Biographical material describing the lives and works of Adolf Hitler, Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Joseph Goebbels, and others high in Nazi councils are now in course of preparation.

The Motion Picture
To the Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin:
In your editorial remarks in the issue of July 11, do you not unintentionally do Rabbi Goldstein an injustice by saying that your paper's own quotation of the Rabbi's words.

I think that a careful perusal of the Rabbi's quoted remarks would point to one thing, and insofar as any Jews or for that matter any non-Jews who are in any degree of control by virtue of ability or money, in either the concealment of evidence, or contribution or any essential phase of the moving picture industry, that thereby such individuals take upon themselves a heavy degree of responsibility and duty to see to it that the decencies are observed, especially so when many tender and immature minds are exposed to the advertisement of their rottenness of not a few productions.

Because there are quite a number of clever ones among us people that choose to play strongly on the powerless sex instinct for profit does not justify an utter disregard for moral standards.

Morton Medenwald, alien resident of the United States for more than fifteen years, and editor of the weekly paper published in Chicago by the German-American Citizens' League, was the Nazi who assailed Levinson. Medenwald is notorious in Chicago because of his vehement attacks against the American government and his refusal to become a citizen of this "swinish land," as he characterizes it.

He declared that Levinson is a "racketeer" and so are all con-committee. He said it would be a good thing if they (the Nazis) could compile a list of all connected with the committee to save for future reference so that these in-when the Nazis have the upper hand. His tirade lasted more than half an hour.

More Screen Murders

The late Edgar Wallace was very popular in Hollywood. This prolific Englishman, who was able to turn out thrillers with the ease with which a small boy demolishes a plate of ice cream, made a lasting impression on the producers of films. An idea would be presented to him in the morning and before supper he would deliver a completed script. So popular was Wallace that he was able actually to keep ahead of the demand for stories. He has been dead more than a year and works from his typewriter are still coming from the studio.

The latest is playing at the Rialto this week and it is called "Return of the Terror." It was made by First National. Mary Kay, John Halliday, Lily Talbot, Frank McHugh and Robert Em-met O'Connor are the leading players and manage to give you a mildly exciting evening. The late Edgar Wallace takes his one is pretty routine and wooden.
It concerns the mad happenings perpetrated in a sanatorium. John Halliday as Dr. Bodemann plays the role of a scientist who, to escape an unjustifiable charge of murder, plays insanity. He escapes from an asylum and returns to his own sanatorium determined to find out who is guilty of the series of murders that have been committed. The picture then shows you how the incident resulted with the aid of a reporter finally track-down the culprit. If you use the old favorite method of suspecting only those who appear to be completely innocent, you can, guess the winner.

Jewish Opera Singers Play Starring Roles

(Special to the J.D.B.)
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 12.
—Albera, a grand singer, Madame Bertha Berliner, Jewish opera singers, will be starred in a presentation of "Blossom Time" by the San Antonio Civic Opera Company, Tuesday night.

Mr. Rappaport, who will be heard as Franz Schubert, central figure of the operetta, is a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera Company.

Madame Berliner is cast as La Bella Bruna, one of the two female leads of the play. She has recently returned from Italy.

the usual score or so of bloody screams, accompanied by a countless number of killings, in fact the solution nearly becomes a case of survival as the greater part of the cast is done in with neatness and dispatch before the picture ends.

Call It Luck

For "Luck" which is playing at the Mayfair Theatre these cooler days. It is the work of Dudley Nichols who was a few years back one of our better reporters and George Marshall. Neither writer can afford to pat himself for the effort here portrayed.

The plot, with a capital "P," concerns the turbulent career of a London caddy (Herbert Mundin) who wins a sweepstake and finds himself possessed of a mere $100-000. Confidence men soon take him in tow and sell him, among other things, a broken down race horse, represented to be the winner of the sweepstake winner. The caddy enters the plot for no reason at all. "Pat" Patterson supplies the sex interest in the role of a night club singer in love with a Harvard boy who drives a taxi. Her seduction of the caddy, which she sings are way under par for that sort of thing.

At best "Call It Luck" is grade C entertainment and fit only to make up the second half of a "Two Feature" bill.

The Fascist Rocket — by PAT McGRADY Author of Fascism in America

Fulliam Boasts to Christians Of Publicity Accomplishments

Correspondence Suggests Iowa Supporter of Crusader Chief Has Many Motives—Writes
Mayor Led Klan Paraders

The following is the sixth of a series of articles, "This Fascist Rocket," by Mr. McGrady, exposing, from the inside, the workings of a typical Fascist organization here, and revealing, through publication of the Fascist "chief's" correspondence, how and in what manner these racial rockets are operated. The series appears daily in the Jewish Daily Bulletin.

VI

By PAT McGRADY

It is difficult to pass lightly over the correspondence between George W. Christians, commander-in-chief of the Crusader White Shirts, and his foremost supporter, C. F. Fulliam, regional leader of the Germanischer Bund with offices in Muscatine, Iowa.

The correspondence reflects the manner in which many demagogic Fascist leaders succeed in leading on their henchmen in various parts of the country, who are motivated in their support by some pet peeve, religious or political slant, desire for power, or for such profit as may be found in the movement. Fulliam's purpose in aligning himself with Christians appears to embrace all these motives.

In preceding articles revealing the early correspondence between Christians and Fulliam, portrayed the development of this relationship. Although Fulliam has a wholesome disrespect for many things ranging from the use of commas to policies of the present administration, he really has a heart sympathy for the man he can readily discern from extracts from his correspondence. Fulliam by this time serves Christians as Minister of Propaganda.

Pat McGrady

On May 8, 1933, Fulliam wrote Christians as follows: "Attached is a clipping from Muscatine Journal of May 5th containing letter from a German to his brother-in-law in Muscatine praising Hitler and giving opinion as to Jewish propaganda. There is a strong sentiment and population in Muscatine and vicinity and Lutheran clergy and all they are certainly sore as to their opinions no matter what. I have seen 25,000 KKKK in their robes with the mayor of the city at their head in his robes on a parade. I have seen a chief of police leading a parade down the main streets of the city and I have heard Senator Hefflin here speak at our public park before a big throng and I have seen Catholics parade and have their speakers here and just as they speak with publicity as the other side."

Explains Plagiarism

Indicating that his propaganda efforts had been rewarded to some extent, Fulliam wrote his leader about the same time that you will please find clippings of an article that I had in Muscatine Journal of May 4th. This article was a review of a crowd of people and from some letters of Mr. Arpa together with some ideas of my own. The main idea in my opinion about these things is that people no matter how, if I took down something over your signature they would not print it but over my signature they would be so easy to refuse so if I borrow from any of your communications it is for a purpose and the purpose is to get things better known."

After absolving himself from plagiarism in the above manner, Fulliam must have reflected that he should have a few of his own ideas of his own, so on May 10 he wrote Christians in part as follows:

Ideals and vision that is necessary to arouse the American people... The spirit of the American Revolution must be brought back to us. We have some stirring and appealing music with four or five verses to it for our marching song."

Four-Page Letter "Hot"

The letter was long built. It was in much the same manner. Fulliam drew a picture of the halcyon times to come under the dictatorship of Christians and, despite the apparently fine oratory of his own letter, called upon the leader to furnish him with "a number of fine statements" which he might use to influence the masses."

On May 12 Christians replied in part as follows: "Your letter of the 10th is plenty hot. You certainly have the spirit. This is a Holy Crusade, and I am glad to have you propagating it as such. For the present at least, you must afford to pose as a prospective dictator. This doesn't prevent me from issuing blunt statements, and the Mussolini ministry of propaganda. Try to carry this fight to the Chicago papers by the same tactics. This is going to be fun. We have seen the development of this relationship with Fulliam. Correspondence between the Chattanooga headquarters and the Mussolini ministry of propaganda had been intense during the last year. But there has recently been an abrupt break occasioned by the failure of Fulliam to write. Christians has been worried. During my visit to the White Shirt headquarters, a single telegram from Fulliam in response to an urgent wire by Christians assured the White Shirt chief that all was well with him, but he did not explain his non-participation in the Holy Crusade."

That the connection between the Crusader White Shirts and Nazi elements extends beyond the relationship between Christians and Fulliam, who serves as regional head of the Germanischer Bund and the Minister of Propaganda of the crusader "government" can and will be proved in the next of this series of articles.

Roosevelt as "Dictator"
"Your recent letters have troubled me considerably. In the first place I have no desire to be a dictator; in the next place, it is an impossible objective; third, I think it will hurt our cause to promote the idea of Roosevelt as a dictator. We give us all we want to dictatorship. We can do better by pointing him out as a horrible example of what dictatorship does to American institutions and American ideals of liberty. Personalities are important, however, and the people do want a leader, but let's stop at that. I think you can be far more effective if you sell me as a leader with an idea and ideals that are open and aboveboard for everyone to see."

George W. Christians and his son forgetting temporarily the great economic crusade.

On May 15, 1933, Fulliam introduced a plaintive note into his correspondence by reporting the rejection of a manuscript. He wrote: "Collins sent me back the article on Crusaders—I expected they would. See their attached letter. The day will come when they will be glad to print what they can find out about Crusaders." The enclosed note, indicating the malice and prejudice of the "Conspiracy of Silence" leveled by the American press against Christians' ideals, read as follows: "This article has been read with interest but we regret to report that we cannot use our space for this article for Collins, chiefly because we are so loaded up with non-fiction."

"Blunt Statements"
On the same day Christians wrote to the Muscatine literateur: "You wanted some blunt statements. Here are two pages of them. If they are published send me about a dozen copies of the paper. I shall have someone else point out the misstatements in Dale's article, which I ignored. These attacks are exactly what we have been working for a long time. No one but the Communists and Technocrats have been foolish enough to give us these opportunities. This letter of mine, if it is published, would open up the fight in good shape. Go after them. Try to carry this fight to the Chicago papers by the same tactics. This is going to be fun."

We have seen the development of this relationship with Fulliam. Correspondence between the Chattanooga headquarters and the Mussolini ministry of propaganda had been intense during the last year. But there has recently been an abrupt break occasioned by the failure of Fulliam to write. Christians has been worried. During my visit to the White Shirt headquarters, a single telegram from Fulliam in response to an urgent wire by Christians assured the White Shirt chief that all was well with him, but he did not explain his non-participation in the Holy Crusade."

That the connection between the Crusader White Shirts and Nazi elements extends beyond the relationship between Christians and Fulliam, who serves as regional head of the Germanischer Bund and the Minister of Propaganda of the crusader "government" can and will be proved in the next of this series of articles.

Fulliam Letters Next

Correspondence between Oscar C. Pfau of Chicago, national leader of the Germanischer Bund, will be published. This correspondence contains in it elements that may prove damaging to Pfau. The reporter expressed some reluctance to present the true state of affairs with Pfau, who is not an American citizen and who may have compromised himself with the government.

Pfau is a poor man, as his correspondence readily shows. He is bent on the destruction of American Jews and a revolution of the sort that Christians advocates. But for all his bigotry and revolutionary tendencies there is something pitiful about his plight. When I asked Christians his motive in incriminating this apparently misguided individual, he merely shrugged his shoulders.

"Do you think it is right to let down an ignorant but loyal fellow like Pfau?" he was asked.

Christians responded that he had offered to open his files to the reporter and that he did not feel impelled to ask for mercy for the Chicago Nazi. He did, however, suggest that Pfau's most recent address be withheld from publication to give him "a running start."

The same relentless unscrupulousness with regard to his followers Christian indicated in all his dealings. This peculiar quirk of his nature once caused his "Minister of Economics," Higgins to remark to me:

"Christians is the most ruthless man I have ever met. He doesn't have a heart. I'll bet that if he were to learn that I had been shot down while crusading, he wouldn't bother about me at all. He'd run to all the newspapers to see if they wouldn't give the story a big spread and mention the Crusader for Economic Liberty in the headline. He'd hope I was shot dead, because it would be a bigger story for the Crusaders."

Christians professedly builds his organization on the lines that motivated the original crusaders about the turn of the millennium. If my memory of history serves me rightly, there was then an expression common to the enemies of the crusaders with regard to the department of the invading host with one another. It went, "These Christians love one another."

Jewish Professionals in Reich Pauperized, C. V. Zeitung Says

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
BERLIN, June 27.—The bleak, hopeless outlook for Jewish professional in this country is given a startlingly frank portrayal in the current issue of the C. V. Zeitung. That once prosperous doctors, lawyers, teachers and journalists are sinking into a state of abject pauperization, with all its attendant misery of starvation and despair is revealed in an interview a Zeitung writer had with a thirty-year-old but already gray-haired doctor whom he chanced to meet.

"Just outside the Gesundbrunnen Station," says the writer, "I came across a man with three small boys. He had iron-gray hair and almost hollow cheeks, but he laughed and strode along with his sons as if he were still a boy himself. Although their clothes were neat they seemed to have been worn a long time. Their shoes were dusty. As they came near, I recognized them. The last time I had met the man was two years ago; in the meantime his hair had turned grey. He is in the early thirties. A doctor. When his turn came to go to the front in World War I, he said, 'And so my panel practice is gone,' he said.

Private Practice 'Slack'
"I asked him about his private practice: 'Very slack.' But how do you live?' He confessed at first hesitatingly, that his wife did work of some kind. Sometimes he even had envelopes to address. 'When we manage to earn 120 marks on top of our rent, we can get enough to eat. But in these last ten months we haven't always managed.' But the advantage is, you see, that I can pay more attention to my boys. We've just come from Niederschoenhausen Park. We have an outing every day. 'But suppose a patient comes while you're out?' He laughs a trifle artificially. Obviously he bears a burden more heavy than he admits. 'No,' he says, 'I am no exception. It is rather the Jewish doctor who can still live decently who is the exception. There is no sense in concealing oneself!'

"No, our Gesundheitsdienst is no exception. Discharge necessarily involves pauperization; and when these Jews, slowly or quickly but inevitably sinking into poverty, still bear up, still starve and suffer their way through without running away, without doing anything desperate, although the knife is against their throat, when they do not parade their distress and despair, it is before the world, let no seeing and thinking man believe that the Berlin Jewish intelligentsia is not in dire want.

Lawyers in Worse State
"Even worse off than the Jewish doctor, who earns scarcely a fraction what he needs, is the discharged lawyer; while a discharged doctor can still practice privately, a discharged lawyer can do nothing. I have been through the courts in Moabit and Charlottenburg; I have spoken to lawyers who can still practice, and to lawyers whose title has been taken away. I have spoken to legal lights, recognized for their talent as speakers; and when I put questions to them, they were silent, and their silence was clearer and more devastating than words and figures.

"On fine days, on the park benches, in the center of Berlin, one can meet numbers of Jewish teachers who have lost their places. What do the teachers do? They know it to ask them. One only knows them by sight. Last year I often saw some of them appear in the Jewish Library or the State Library; then they came daily. After a few weeks many of them came no more. One thought: 'The red-haired fellow who always sat over there has found work.' Now one realizes that he had only got tired of reading and studying in the void, without prospects. . . . One knows oneself how hard it is not to get tired.

"And what of the writer or journalist? Today, practically no Jewish author earns anything from German papers, and the Jewish papers are too few, too small and limited in their interests to make up for a fraction of what ten times as many papers with a hundred times the circulation, appearing ten times as often with three times the role of payment, could take from Jewish authors.

"Near the Hallesche Bridge is a concern where non-Aryans are allowed to address envelopes. For addressing 1,000, one earns enough to live for a day (according to the official cost of living figure). But at most a person can address only 700 envelopes in ten hours. The concern is not unsatisfied with its Jewish casual workers. They are intelligent people, I am told, writers, actors, professors, and they do their work quickly, neatly and silently. . . ."

First Jewish Parley Weighs Chile Outlook

Delegates at Santiago Give Support to World Congress

(J.T.A. Special Correspondence)
SANTIAGO, June 12.—Problems of Jewish education and those of the fight against assimilation were the principal topics discussed at the first All-Chilean Jewish Congress, held here today.

One hundred and sixty delegates were present, ninety of them chosen by direct ballot and the rest sent as representatives of the various Jewish institutions in Chile. Circulo Israelita, oldest Jewish group in the country, was represented by only two delegates, neither of whom committed the Circulo to any of the decisions adopted by 'he congress, except provisionally.

After considerable debate, two resolutions were elected, one to fight assimilation and the other to prepare educational projects. Resolutions emphasizing the need of national areas such as Palestine and of rehabilitation of the Jewish masses in the countries where they now are were also adopted.

Support of the coming Jewish World Congress was expressed by the delegates. Because of the cost involved, however, Chile will not be represented at that gathering. In stead, a complete report on Chilean Jewry and the immigration possibilities of the land will be sent to the world convence. Plans for the creation of a permanent body to represent the whole Jewish community of Chile were also initiated.

The general press and press agencies followed the congress activities closely.

Adjusting Our Lives

By DR. HERMAN FRANK

Training College Youth for Jewish Life and Leadership
For ten years now the lives of many thousands of the flower of Jewish young manhood and womanhood have been affected in a way which portends lasting good to American Jewry.

In the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations, to be found in some ten of the larger universities in the United States, we have a cultural movement among a highly selected group of Jewish young men and women to prepare themselves for Jewish and general civic leadership. They are wider in scope than their Christian counterparts—the denominational foundations that exist in almost all American colleges and universities.

The Hillel organizations are Jewish cultural, social, recreational, and religious centers upon the campus. Under the direction of their own student councils, a Jewish cultural program of a high order is thus being planned by our students who are brought together in a congenial environment.

From year to year two thousand young persons come under the humane influence of the Hillel clubs. Now, as a result of the markedness. The old evasive, almost furtive, attitude of the Jewish student has completely disappeared. It gave place to a non-assertive, self-respecting pride to the awakened racial self-respect.

Through Hillel, Christian students, on the other hand, get first-hand knowledge of Jewish social ideals and ethical values. In this way, the incipient tendencies in the young Gentile man or woman toward bigoted prejudice against the Jew, propensities born of ignorance and credulity, are stifled. No wonder, then, that the group relations of the Jew and Gentile have greatly improved under the influence of Hillel.

Adjusting Personal Problems
Among many growing boys and girls on the campus, far away from their high school and adjustment problems arise. The Hillel movement is meeting this need of guidance and of a sympathetic understanding of the students' personal difficulties. It has become a pioneer in a very important field of constructive social-psychological education.

The director of a Hillel Foundation, possessing as he does more than the usual measure of good sense and a common background with the Jewish students, understands better than any member of the faculty how to approach them in a helpful way. In one case the Hillel organization laid the basis for a psychiatric clinic on the campus—a much needed social experiment for scores of cases of maladjustment that call for expert mental treatment.

Without a doubt, the attainments of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations are among the greatest gifts to American Israel in the past ten years.

(Dr. Frank's column appears in the middle of the page on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.)

Milwaukee Names Jews To Fund Committee

MILWAUKEE, July 12.—Three Jews have been named to the arrangements committee for this year's Community Fund drive for $115,000, opening Oct. 12.

The three are Stanley Stone, Circuit Judge Charles L. Aarons and Max Friedman. Major Jewish charitable organizations are now included in the Community Fund.

Boys Go to Camp

(Special to the J.D.B.)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The second contingent of boys leave here today for Camp Ta-wang, annual camp for Jewish boys and girls sponsored by the Jewish Community Center and the B'nai B'rith.

All in all, the results are remarkable. The old evasive, almost furtive, attitude of the Jewish student has completely disappeared. It gave place to a non-assertive, self-respecting pride to the awakened racial self-respect.

Zionists Sponsor Service at Selwyn Theatre—Shulman Presides

(Special to the J.D.B.)
CHICAGO, July 12.—A joint Herzl-Bialik memorial meeting was held here last night at the Selwyn Theatre under the auspices of the Zionist Organization of Chicago and the Jewish National Fund, all allied organizations.
Max Shulman, president of the Chicago Zionists and also the Middle West region, presided. Other speakers included Dr. A. E. Abramowski, Dr. M. M. Malmad, Rabbi Saul Silber, Judah Pileh, H. Steinberg and William Katz. Cantor Joseph Gilibichman sang.

Detroit Bialik Memorial

(Special to the J.D.B.)
DETROIT, July 12.—Local Zionist groups will hold a Bialik memorial meeting July 24 at the Philadelphia-Byron Hall. A speaker of national prominence is slated to deliver the principal address.

In a statement issued by Bernard Isaac, superintendent of the United Hebrew Schools, Bialik is lauded as an eminent author of Hebrew textbooks. He pointed out that the dead poet was "the first one to conceive of the idea of teaching the children the Bible not in its full unbridged form but in a specially prepared edition for schools."

Bialik Services in Syracuse

(Special to the J.D.B.)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 12.—Memorial services, which will also include a lecture on the life and writings of Chaim Nachman Bialik, will be held tomorrow evening at the Temple Society of Concord, with Dr. Emanuel Gansman of Cincinnati as the speaker.

Ready to Shift Tactics Follow German Treu Observer Finds

(Special to the J.D.B.)
CHICAGO, July 12.—Nazi activities in Chicago for some time now, and particularly since the "revolt," have been quiet, subdued and listless. Signs have been poorly acted and the enthusiasm of six months ago appears to be lacking.

It seems, according to an informed observer, that the bulk the Germans of Chicago who allied themselves with Nazi activities are adopting a policy of watchful waiting. They are ready to jump on the band wagon as soon as it is rolled out in Germany. If the monarchist affiliations; on the other hand, if the militarists are victorious, they'll appear as strong militarists.

Considerable ill-feeling exists here between Steil Helmet men and the Friends of New Get many.

Whether it's local, domestic or foreign, the Nazis are sure to be in the Jewish Daily Bulletin.

PLANTS OF SPORTS

By MORRIS WEINER

The A. A. U. Farce!
Did you ever get a pat on the back and a kick in the pants at the same time? That seems to be the way the question of American participation in the Berlin 1936 Olympic Games is treated. It's the old army game, where the bull and the donkey are dish out as beef stew a la mode.

On November 30, 1933, the American Athletic Union (sometimes called "Anteur") met at a convention in Pittsburgh and besides imbibing some forty-odd kegs of foam fluid protested vehemently against American participation in the 1936 Games. So strenuous were its protests that the Olympic committee, headed by the old maestro himself, yowhaw, Avery Brundage, took action on the resolution passed. The move on the part of the Brundage bunch was a grand slam. They led with their ace and played trumps throughout. In other words, everything that was done by the A. A. U. board at Pittsburgh was tabled the next day by the committee in Washington. Evidently somebody was playing the wrong end of the damn.

This was all well and good. Even the champ picker, your sports commentator himself, was taken in by the A. A. U. board. He believed that the committees on both sides of the fence were on the up and up and really legit. But their present actions are farcical. They protested against American participation because of the large evidence of racial discrimination against the Jewish athletes in Germany. Unless convincing proof had been offered, these resolutions would never have been passed in the first place.

Since last November the situation in Germany hasn't altered one bit. The fact that Germany is now the nation for Jewish athletes to enter in order to have them on hand when Brundage gets off the box next time has been laughed at by the press the world over.

The Crack Track Team
Last Saturday the crack track team of American athletes sailed for an athletic tour of four European cities, the athletes of England and Germany. We are not objecting to the fact that no Jewish athlete is represented on this crack track team. We are objecting to the fact that the Jewish lads themselves are the first to admit that the team selected was a "natural." However, the A. A. U. is responsible for itself to the fact that it can protest against American participation in the Olympic Games in 1936 and the fact that it is not willing to participate this summer? The two things do not add up. . . . and, pipes up a wag, they may hold something else other than the A. A. U. farce!

"Greatest Fighter Contest" Going Strong
At this writing letters offering nominations for the "greatest fighter of all time" are still pouring in. Benny Leonard is running far ahead of the field and many interesting letters have been received from the wrestling fan. Surprising as it may seem, Barney Ross is ahead of Maxie Baer, with Slapjack Maize trailing the last.

Go busy and send your letter to this department naming your "greatest Jewish boxer of all time." Eight prizes of tickets to the boxing and wrestling matches will be awarded for the best letters.

Alas and Alack for the Leaping Litvak
We wonder what has become of our one-time favorite Jewish ras-ster, the leaping Litvak, our own Abe Coleman. After playing head man in mat circles for several months he was bounced out on his head, his ear and other portions of his anatomy, with the result that many stories have sprung up about him during the past month.

Curley's offices, from whence issue orders that make or break a rasser, are silent on the whereabouts of the leaping Litvak. There is more here than that the former master of grunts, grimaces and belches has left the leave and lost game. In his desperation, any others, he has thrown discretion to the winds (according to records, the only thing he has thrown in three months) and has gone off to marry.

Mind you, we're still rooting for this fellow. He was good when he came East. He beat the cream of the running root and then did an about face and lost to every Gino, Tony and Primo who glared at him. Little Litvak, what now?

Our Complaint Department
"So you're a wise guy," writes one of our numerous admirers. "You pick the winners, do you? Personally I think you're a lot of cheese and very lucky in winners. If by the A. A. U. board at Pittsburgh you did pick them. That's what you're getting paid for. Why brag about the fact that you did select a fighter or a wrestler to win? It sounds like hooey!"

With due thanks to this writer for his interest, may we remind him that we picked the American League to come through the way it did. Don't mention it, boy, keep your chin up.

The Sporting Calendar
Coney Island Velodrome, Tonight
Emil Dusek, of the famous family of mat stars, faces a golden opportunity in the Coney Island Velodrome when he takes on Dick Shikat, Jewishweight, co-champion in the feature finish attraction. If Dusek can score over Shikat he will advance to a contendership position in the chair of the challenging Jim London as to a titular test. The engagement tops an exceptionally attractive card.

Narry Finkle, the hard Hebrew sensation of the Curley stables meets Hans Steinko, the German Oak, who already has grown accustomed to the Jewish stables. Blaise stock meets Zeleniak, the Russian man, and other matches are popular cards which will meet the fans' approval.

Two San Franciscans Receive Appointments
(Special to the J.D.B.)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—John Dickinson, legal attorney and prominent in Jewish affairs, has been named as the representative of the Jewish community in Siam. His brother, Martin, has been consul of Siam for some time.

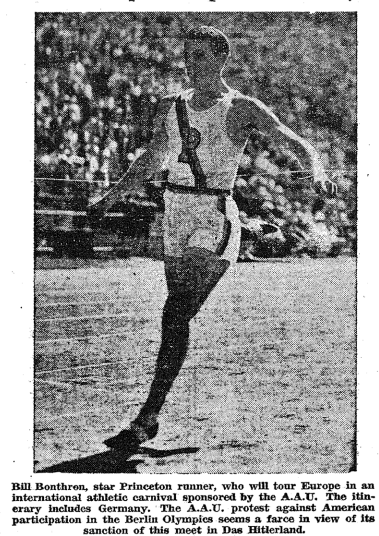

Another San Franciscan honored with an appointment is William J. Lazarus, attorney and son of Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus. He has been named assistant regional labor director of the NRA representative coming from President Roosevelt. He formerly was field advisor to the regional director.

Judge Rubiner Elected Detroit Center Head
(Special to the J.D.B.)
DETROIT, July 12.—Judge Charles Rubiner of Common Pleas Court has been elected president of the Jewish Community Center to succeed Meyer I. Prentiss.

He is the youngest man to hold this position and his selection is being acclaimed here.

The announcement was also made that Isidor Sobel of New York has been chosen to serve as executive director of the center.

This Champ to Compete in Germany

The Jew Must Battle Hitlerism Standing Up, Declares Golden

(Special to the J.D.B.)
SEATTLE, Wash., July 12.—The cry of "hush-hush" will never win Jewish's rights. No people fighting for its rights can ever hope to succeed by soft peddling. The Jew must fight with his mind, and with his heart. We must fight Hitlerism standing up—not take it lying down.

This militant message was voiced by one of the Pacific Coast's outstanding Jewish leaders—Judge Isadore M. Golden, just appointed to the Superior Court bench of California, and who, as first vice-president of the Constitution B'nai B'rith Grand Lodge, is second in command of the world's largest fraternal Jewish organization. He was a Seattle visitor.

"Jews should boycott German-made goods to the hilt!" declared Judge Golden, a tall, lean, energetic man, whose hair greying and who admits, when asked his age, that in my fifties—"that's close enough."

"The boycott is one weapon in our fight against the cruelty and barbarism of the Hitler regime. But it is not a Jewish weapon by any means. It is only natural that when the Nazis say, 'We will have none of the Jew; we will ghettoize them,' that any Jew with an ounce of backbone should answer, 'If the Nazis will have none of us, we will have none of them.' And that's all the boycott is—a defensive measure."

Not a Jewish Boycott
"This is not a Jewish boycott. It is a spontaneous protest movement that Christians the world over have joined, who are fighting a battle against medieval atrocity in Germany, where death is dealt out to the mere whim and caprice of the tyrant in authority. The Jew is not aimed at by the German people. It is aimed at the Nazi regime."

"The fight against Hitlerism is a fight for the Jew's life. It is more than that. It is a fight for the defenders of liberalism and against the proponents of iron-fisted despotism."

The duty of B'nai B'rith, Judge Golden declared, is "to speak the Jewish will, to mobilize the Jew." Jewishness the B'nai B'rith, declared the former grand president

Paper Drives Against Nazi Element in Chile. As Disloyal to Regime

(T.T.A. Special Correspondence)
SANTIAGO, June 12.—A Nazi leader spoke insultingly of a member of the board of directors of La Nacion, official newspaper of Chile, whereupon La Nacion began an offensive against the Nazis, instead of supporting them as heretofore.

The Nazi leader is Jorge G. von Mares. The director is Cornelio Savendra Mont. At a Nazi meeting von Mares spoke of Mont in a manner which displeased the latter, who challenged the Nazi to a duel. Von Mares did not reply and Mont took the case to court. Immediately after the incident La Nacion began a campaign calling for the extermination of Nazi activity in Chile as disloyal to the Chilean government, and aimed against the people of Chile.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Inducts New Officers
(Special to the J.D.B.)
DETROIT, July 12.—Fred M. Butzel will speak on "Is Jewish Unity Possible?" at the installation of officers of the B'nai B'rith Lodge of B'nai B'rith Monday evening.

The following will be installed: Aaron Rosenberg, president; Harry Yudoff, vice-president; Joseph L. Staub, second vice-president; Rudolph Meyersohn, secretary; Morris Shatz, treasurer; Nathan G. Weiss, assistant secretary; Ben Omos, assistant monitor; Benjamin Marcus, warden, and Dr. Harry Tanner, guardian.

The board of the B'nai B'rith Lodge adopted a resolution mourning the death of Chaim Nachman Bialik.

Ravind Eulogizes Bialik

Seattle Head Decries Puncity of Contributors

(Special to the J.D.B.)
SEATTLE, Wash., July 12.—"It is a discouraging fact that although $12,000 already has been raised toward the $15,000 quota for Seattle Jewish in the nationwide $30,000 drive to aid German Jewish refugees, this money has come from only 354 persons, although the Seattle United Jewish community numbers more than 15,000," said Sol Berfeld, vice-chairman of the Seattle United Jewish Appeal drive.

and their wives and brides must have an unsullied "Aryan" pedigree. Employees who fail to pass the test will be deprived of employment.

The newspaper attacks on the Jews was continued today by Propaganda Minister Goebbels' Der Angriff and the Deutsche Zeitung. Both Nazi sheets carried leading articles accusing Holland Jews of being responsible for recent unemployment disturbances in Amsterdam.

Goebbels' paper sent a special correspondent to the Dutch capital and featured reports that David Wynkoop and Louis Deviser, Jewish members of the Dutch Parliament, aided by a dozen other Jews, are the ringleaders of the unemployment drives through the widely-read Communist paper, the Tribune of Amsterdam.

Kristenings, well known German health resort, today posted huge signs forbidding Jews from using the sun baths or swimming tanks. A previous German arrested the session of the shadow Reichstag called by Chancellor Hitler for tomorrow evening. Criticism of the alleged revolt was not allowed. Disaffected storm troop friends of the slain Nazi leaders are known to be spreading their version of the alleged revolt. The official verdicts completely the official version.

Chancellor-Hitler is expected to issue the official "Aryan" clause of the "purge" and to take cognizance of Germany, which Germans feel was achieved in London during the alleged revolt. British officials and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France. The German Chancellor, it is understood, would again deny the role of the world in an attempt to swing German opinion behind him against the world and divert attention from the "bloody week."

The People's Court today suddenly called for Saturday a special tribunal which will deal with treason and political crimes of the session of the court follows immediately on Hitler's speech to the Reichstag on Friday.

Leipzig Court Decision Upholds Mixed Unions

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LEIPZIG, July 12.—The Supreme Court ruled here today that mixed marriages between "Aryans" and "non-Aryans" cannot be annulled. The court's decision was a surprise, as the party was ignorant of the other's Jewish blood at the time of the wedding.

Earle Sees Early End Of Nazis in Germany

To the long list of political observers to see signs of an early Nazi collapse was added the name of Earl Earle III, recently United States Minister to Austria and present Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, who relayed the word yesterday with the forecast that Hitler is due for a sad awakening shortly.

Nazi Persecutions 'Bag of Lies,' Says Nazi Consul at Montreal

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
MONTREAL, Que., July 12.—Sarcastically retorting to a delegation of the Youth Anti-Fascist Conference, Dr. Ludwig Kempf, local Nazi consul, today returned to his post here after a visit to the Vatterland, today boasted that there are "still 700,000 Jews in Germany who like the Nazi regime."

party, meeting in Cleveland, acted in a manner contrary to the Litvinov declaration.

Stevenson presented the committee with copies of the "Communist International," which returned to issue of February 21, 1934, in which it was declared that "a general strike and armed uprisings, constituting a revolution over which to conquer capitalism and establish the rule of the proletariat." The same issue attacked the "Fascist League" as "Fascism and war as objectives" and described the most effective counteractant as "proletarian revolution involving seizure of power."

Prior to Stevenson's testimony the deposition of Earl Browder, executive secretary of the Central Executive Committee of the Communist party, was read into the record. Browder described the organization of the Communist party, which it is a direct relationship to the Third International, which is a world Communist party.

Documents tendered by Browder to the committee included resolutions describing as "the only way out of the present depression a revolution similar to the October Revolution," which unseated Kerensky and established Communism in Russia in 1917.

Documents of James W. Ford, Negro, who ran as Communist candidate for the vice-presidency of the United States in 1928, were also read into the record, and it affirmed Browder's previous explanation.

Testimonies were attended by a number of Silver Shirts and others, all of whom had hoped to be called to vent their spleen on the "Red menace" of the "Roosevelt Revolution," which unseated Kerensky and established Communism in Russia in 1917.

The hearings, in the opinions of many who attended, were adjourned "subject to the call of the chair" prematurely. It was expected that representatives of the Silver Shirts and other groups considered as Fascists would be brought to testify.

Among the outstanding accomplishments of the committee's open hearings in New York, it is proof of the following: The "Aryan" clause of the relationship counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad and Rockefeller interests in the United States, Solvey of Belgium and the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, has been advising the Hitler government as to the type and manner of the "Aryan" clause, at a fee of $25,000 yearly.

That German concerns have provided American writers and lecturers with the "Aryan" clause, and Burton Holmes, with free

3 Anti-Nazi Pickets Arrested in Newark

(Special to the J.D.B.)
NEWARK, N. J., July 12.—Police arrested three pickets today following picketing of the L. Bamberger & Co. department store by the Anti-Nazi Minutemen.

Those arrested were Joseph Kaplan, 21, Jacob Stacher, 28, and Hyman Trugman, 20, all of Newark.

The protest was called after charges that Bamberger sold German-made goods.

Forty-six Jews were engaged in the services of the regular Revolutionary army of the colonials, twenty-four of whom rose to the rank of officers of the line.

Moscow Paper Berates Bialik as a 'Fascist'

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
MOSCOW, July 12.—Chaim Bialik, the famous Hebrew laureate, was attacked today in Emesa, Moscow Yiddish Communist daily, as a reactionary nationalist whose "royal ward Hitlerism." The paper paid tribute to Bialik's powers of expression as a Hebrew poet. The poem, "Schachit," said, "Masonen'rov," the paper said, expressed "the profoundest reactionary ideology of the Jewish nationalist bourgeoisie." Later, Emesa declared, Bialik became the active leader of the Jewish Fascist counter-revolution and headed the dollar inquisition agitation and became the central figure of Jewish Fascism.

Nazi Bombings Renew Fears of Austrian Jews

Recall Vividly Last Outbreak That Injured Scores

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
VIENNA, July 12.—Although the Nazi bombs that have been wreaking havoc in far-flung parts of Austria have at this writing affected Jewish communities, Jews in Austria are in a state of trepidation over the latest terror campaign of the Hitler sympathizers.

Following the last burst of bombings issued by the Nazis, the Jews were singled out for special attention. Jewish cafes were wrecked in the city, and many Jews were injured and more than a score of Jews received wounds ranging from light to serious.

With the memories of those outraged fresh in their minds, the residents of Jewish neighborhoods in Vienna and the outlying cities are fearfully anticipating a renewed attack directed against them.

The latest series of bomb attacks came as if in direct defiance of the warning sounded by Chancellor Dollfus yesterday that anybody caught with explosives in his possession would be visited with the death penalty. A few hours after an announcement had been broadcast throughout the country, the bombings began. In Salzburg, 16 persons were injured, and in Vienna, 10. The bomb demolition report owned by a member of the Dollfus "Fatherland Front" organization. Four of the wounded were taken to the hospital in Western Austria. It was reported that a bomb had damaged a priest's home.

cluded the executive of the Local, visited Simon, who has been called back from a vacation to help handle the complex difficulties of the situation.

With Simon looking on, the committee discussed the course to be taken. At this meeting, Charles Herbert, Simon delegate, reported that many were being merged in order to discharge slaughterers.

In one market, it was revealed, slaughtering is being carried on behind closed doors, and the number of chickens killed could not conceivably be killed in such a short time according to the kosher law.

No decision was arrived at, except that the delegation will visit City Hall as soon as possible, today and attempt to see Mayor

Fresh Evidence Seen Affecting Stavsky Appeal

Developments Reported in Confession of Arab Convict

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, July 12.—Fresh developments in connection with the confession made by Abdul Keffi incriminating his fellow convict, Yehoshua, a Palestinian, of Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff, have come to light and are likely to have material effect on the appeal to be made Monday before the Federal Appeals Court on behalf of Abraham Stavsky, convicted of the murder, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency was reliably informed today.

Efforts to obtain a postponement of the appeal on behalf of Stavsky were made by the Jewish community of Tel Aviv on the ground that the appeal, which is of great interest to all Jews in Palestine, will be heard on the same day that the burial of Chaim Nachman Bialik, Hebrew poet laureate, is to take place in Tel Aviv.

Kook Calls for Prayer On Eve of Stavsky Appeal

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, July 12.—Chief Rabbi A. I. HaCohen Kook today ordered prayers said for Abraham Stavsky, convicted in the slaying of Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff, whose case will be appealed Monday.

Asking that "God should open the judges' eyes," they are to be said after the customary morning prayers.

Defense Committee Visits Polish Foreign Office

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, July 12.—Members of the committee for the defense of Abraham Stavsky, whose appeal will be heard Monday, are charged of murdering Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff is to be heard in Jerusalem Monday, today visited the Polish Foreign Office to ask officials to intervene on his behalf with the British government.

The delegation also asked the Polish government to instruct the Polish Consul General in Jerusalem to secure special counsel for Stavsky, who is a Polish citizen.

England Votes Palestine Loan

openly that, according to the announced system of the British government, the Jews of the Holy Land would receive few benefits from the loan while they would be expected to pay most of it through taxation.

Allocation of the loan announced by the Palestine government while the bill was still before the House of Commons today, to counter Jewish fears. The Palestine government gave an outright grant of £20,000 to the Jewish education system, and the loan of the Vaad Leumi, but provided £40,000 for the erection of an Arab technical school, to be built and maintained out of the budget of the Palestine government.

Palestinian Jewish leaders also pointed out that most of the money be devoted to the loan was to be spent for public works and that few Jews were employed by the government owing to the low rate of wages paid the workers.

It was also pointed out that it was a strange thing that the Palestine government went to for a huge loan in London at the very time when the official surplus was announced by Palestine treasury of £150,000, which exceeded the amount of the loan.
