Hardware Man Explains Reich Merchandise Is 2 Years Old

Pickets bearing signs protesting the sale of German-made merchandise paraded before Charles I. Silbermann's Hardware Store Co., Inc. 27 Ludlow street, and the Terminal Hostry Co. establishment at Broadway and Thirty-fourth street yesterday afternoon.

"A roughneck, who said he was a member of the Anti-Nazi Minute Men, came into my store a few days ago," Silbermann said, "and accused me of having received a shipment of hardware from Germany."

"I told him I buy all my goods from jobbers here, and any purchase I made in the last two years have carried Japan or Sweden labels."

"I admitted I have about $100 worth of old German stock on my shelves, but I can't afford to throw it out."

"The roughneck called me a liar. I ordered him out of my store. The picketing has been orderly and business has never been interrupted."

David Levy, president of the Terminal Hostry Co., admitted his firm is selling Nazi-manufactured goods of the groves.

"I am not in a position right now to discuss my German stock," he said. He would not explain further.

Philadelphia Seeks 5,000 New Zionists

Rabbi Max Klein Heads Z. O. A. Membership Drive

(Special to the J.D.B.) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Following an address last night by Louis Lipsky, in which he stressed the increasingly significant part of Palestine and the Near East in the future in the life of world Jewry, Rabbi Max D. Klein, chairman of the Philadelphia branch of the Zionist Organization of America, volunteered to head a special committee to conduct the Zionist Roll Call here.

"An effort will be made by Rabbi Klein and his committee to obtain an enrollment of 5,000, the quota set for this city as a part of a national drive for a registration of 250,000."

In his address Mr. Lipsky deplored the satisfaction certain elements of the American Jewish community derive out of mere palliative relief and expressed the hope that the day is not distant when the forces in the American Jewish community will be strong enough that a considerable portion of the money expended on palliative relief, if invested in Palestine, would prove of more permanent benefit.

Prior to the annual meeting, Lipsky was the guest at dinner of a smaller group of leaders in Zionist activity who pledged wholehearted cooperation in the Zionist Roll Call.

Resolutions were adopted welcoming the peace pact between the Histadruth and the Revisionists and recommending harmonious action in the appeal for Foreign Relief and Palestine rehabilitation. Election of officers resulted in the following: Rabbi Max D. Klein, chairman; Robert M. Bernstein, Louis M. Levin, B. L. Zarf, David William M. Wynn, and L. Arthur Greenstein, vice-chairmen; Jacob Ginsburg, treasurer, and Jacob E. Hoffman, secretary.

Cleveland Rabbi Addresses 6,000 Delegates to Teachers' Parley

(Special to the J.D.B.) ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 12.—Saying that the new deal is under way all over the world as an inevitable process that will go on for more than a generation, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of the Temple, Cleveland, drew applause as he spoke before six thousand delegates assembled here today for a convention of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association.

Rabbi Silver warned that this "change cannot succeed unless the rising generation is prepared for it intellectually and spiritually." He urged that teaching emphasis be shifted from the old "self-made man" fable to new deals of civic cooperation and sportsmanship.

Deutsch, Whalen, Steuer Speak at Affair Held by Hospital

Aldermanic President Bernard S. Deutsch, former Police Commissioner Grover Hahn and Max D. Sachs, who organized Israel Sachs Sunday night at a dinner given in his honor by the Beth David Hospital at the Hotel Commodore, the dinner launched the hospital's drive for $100,000 to defray the cost of taking title to the new building it has purchased at 161 East 90th street, a nine-story structure that will increase the hospital's capacity to 250 beds.

The present hospital is located at Lexington avenue and 113th street. During the first nine months of this year it has granted 24,000 free hospital days to the needy sick as compared to 21,000 free hospital days for the same period in 1933.

The new Beth David Hospital, according to Arthur L. Lewin, president of the organization, will be "a wedding of the old and the new—continuing to observe the Jewish religious tradition, and at the same time thoroughly equipped with the most modern and scientific apparatus medical science has to offer, and will continue its policy of making free hospitalization to whoever requires it, regardless of race, color or creed."

JULIUS STREICHER

Streicher Race Drive Widens

(Continued from Page One) retain their Jewish customs. The Nazi papers made a joke of the affair saying: "The Jews are permitted to sell kosher milk to Jewish families. We Nazis taught the Jews to use only kosher products." Another blow was struck at Jewish artists by the Reich Chamber of Culture, which today forbade a number of prominent Jewish painters as well as a few non-Jews suspected of being "non-Aryans" to practice their art on the ground that they do not belong to the Chamber. Of course "non-Aryans" are forbidden to be on the staff of the Chamber of Culture. The order vitally affects a number of the most prominent artists in Germany, whose names cannot be recalled owing to the danger in which it would place them. They have even been forbidden to sell their works abroad.

Yebermann Exempt

Only Yebermann, eighty-seven-year-old German Impressionist painter, was exempted from the order. In Franconia, Streicher, in a speech before a congress of leaders of industry and commerce, declared it is highly important to create an administration in government and industry completely free of Jewish influence. Tolerance of Jews is an indication of slavery to international Jewish finance, he asserted.

"Jewry," Streicher said "polluted German blood for centuries until National Socialism ended slavery to the Jews."

Tighten Reich Boycott Lines, Plea at Exile Home's Opening

Dr. Freund, lecturer and writer on philosophic subjects and active in communal affairs in Germany until his flight from the country this summer, said the anti-Nazi boycott is the only logical sequence to the acts of Hitler.

Assaults Trade Plan

He assailed the decision of the National Foreign Trade Convention to renew trade relations with Germany. "If," he said, "noteworthy business men point out that commercial interests are endangered, that foreign loans can only be recovered by nations that comply of American public opinion should be that it will support every action in the interest of German foreign investments in Germany every when that country is governed by persons deserving condence.

Tel Aviv Hears Dr. Weitzmann Eulogize Baron

10,000 Join in City's Greatest Memorial Meeting

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) TEL AVIV, Nov. 12.—A crowd of 10,000 turned out in the largest memorial meeting ever held in Palestine to pay tribute to the memory of the late Baron Edmond de Rothschild, eighty-nine year old Jewish philanthropist who died in Paris recently.

The work of the Baron, who founded the first modern Jewish agricultural colonies in Palestine and who spent $60,000,000 on his work in the Holy Land, was eulogized by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former president of the World Zionist Organization, and Berl Katznelson, Laborite leader.

Baron de Rothschild paid his last visit to Palestine in 1925. At that time he expressed gratitude for having been allowed to live to see the development of Jewish life in Palestine, a cause he had championed when it seemed extremely visionary.

In a telegram of congratulation to Harry Zeitz, dinner and ball chairman, Justice May thanked him for his efforts and said "we need more money this year than we ever needed to complete the 1934 budget of $500,000. Apparently we have realized the $90,000 from the dinner and ball that we had planned on raising."

A special Manhattan committee, under the chairmanship of Morris W. Hasel, has sold more than 200 reservations to residents of Manhattan.

Rabbis Unable To Stand Firm

(Continued from Page One) work or not, were slaughtering in East Side markets. The rabbinate, however, was unanimous at the Hotel Pennsylvania that "New York Jewry will remember those who defy the issuer." He catalogued the plan brought forth by the rabbinate of the Bronx and Brooklyn for decentralized supervision on a borough basis. It must be centralized in the hands of the Kashruth Association, he said.

Expressing satisfaction with the progress of the issuer, Judge Rosalysky said, "Rabbis who do not address the problem of the market will find it difficult in the future to exercise influence over their congregations and the Jewish community."

More than 140 markets have agreed to accept Kashruth Association supervision, it was reported.

Presumably acting on Judge Rosalysky's exhortation, the New York rabbinate yesterday planned excommunication services for violators of the ban. The rabbinate proposed to hold a meeting for the rabbi, and tear their coats as though he had died.

Support for the rabbinical issuer, however, was voiced Sunday night at a meeting in the Bialystoker Center, East Broadway and Clinton street, attended by about 300 rabbinate laymen. Resolutions were adopted favoring formation of an East Side branch of the Kashruth Association to "energetically help in carrying out its plans."

Business people were asked to support the issuer, and it was proposed the posters be placed in stores warning urging Jews to buy kosher. While urging Jews to buy kosher, the Kashruth Association only few bow before the Kashruth Association leg-bands.

In the meantime, opposition to the issuer remained unabated. Bronx rabbinate meeting for tonight at the Hunter Point Palace at which the butchers will be urged to boycott poultry bearing the leg-bands.

Bromwich market owners were yesterday to have signed a contract with a group of rabbis headed by Rabbi Raphael M. Baruch providing close supervision without attachment of the leg-bands.
