Jews Protest Tax Revision In Palestine

Proposed Single Levy on Land Finds People Up in Arms

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—Jewish Palestine was up in arms today against the taxation of land proposed by the government which may seriously affect the future of the flourishing Jewish citrus industry in Palestine.

The government proposes to abolish the fifteen per cent tax on all income derived from real estate, known as the "verko," and the ten per cent tax on all income derived from agricultural land, known as the "osher."

A single land tax is proposed to replace the two separate taxes, consisting of a levy of one to two piastres (five to ten cents) on each dunam of land used for ordinary agricultural purposes, and a tax of eighty-two piastres ($4.10) on each dunam of land used to grow oranges.

The World Zionist Executive announced its opposition to the proposed new land tax and asked a commission of lawyers for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the measure.

A delegation of prominent Jewish leaders was appointed to visit High Commissioner Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope and ask him to postpone the introduction of the land tax.

The proposed tax, in the opinion of Jewish leaders, will place a heavy and unfair burden on the flourishing citrus industry which has contributed materially to the present prosperity of Palestine.

The government, it was pointed out, has been strict in enforcing the tax on real estate incomes, but has been very lenient in collecting the "osher." In the past year the tax was not collected on the ground that the crops of the peasants were poor.

Trades Union Congress Issues Appeal Till Reich Lifts All Restrictions

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Dec. 30.—An appeal for a complete boycott of Nazi goods and rail and shipping services was issued yesterday to British labor by the British Trades Union Congress.

The appeal called on British labor to boycott German goods and services in every possible manner so long as the Hitler regime persists in its policy of suppressing of the German labor movement and oppression of racial and religious minorities.

Leaflets bearing the appeal were distributed among thousands of British workers.

Tel Aviv Gives Weizmann Title of Honorary Citizen

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
TEL AVIV, Dec. 30.—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former president of the World Zionist Organization and chairman of the Zionist commission for settlement of German-Jewish refugees in Palestine, tonight was unanimously elected an honorary citizen of this all-Jewish city by the municipal council. Even the Revisionist members of the council, who are bitterly opposed to Dr. Weizmann, joined in the tribute to the noted scientist who recently celebrated his sixtieth birthday.

Polish Naras Placard Shops, Renew Drive

Outlawed Party Comes Out Openly in Wilno and Warsaw

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, Dec. 30.—A new anti-Semitic campaign flared up in Poland today as the Nara anti-Jewish and anti-government party, suppressed last July after a brief but hectic existence, emerged into the open again in various sections of the country and incited the population against the Jews.

Centering activities chiefly in Wilno and Warsaw, the Naras smeared the doors of Jewish lawyers' and doctors' offices with signs of "down with the Jews," while Jewish shops, street lamps and the walls of buildings were placarded with glaring anti-Semitic signs.

Anxiety was expressed in Jewish circles lest the new Nara campaign culminate in a series of bloody riots similar to those instigated by them last spring and summer. At the same time hope was expressed among the Jews that the government was fully aware of the Nara menace and was prepared to cope with the hooliganism of the anti-Semitic bands.

Reich Warns Jews Against Breaking 'Law'

Stringent Anti-Semite Edicts Still in Force, Orders State

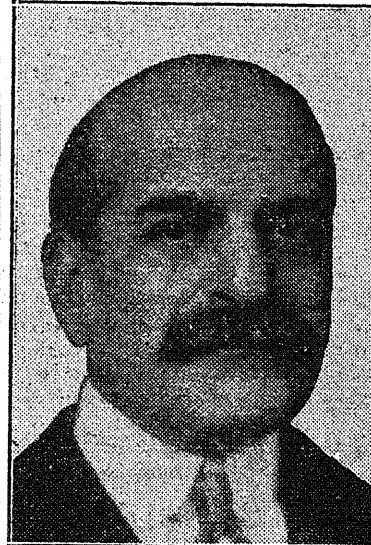

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
BERLIN, Dec. 30.—New orders issued yesterday sharply reminded the Jews of Germany that discriminatory legislation set in motion in the early days of the Hitler regime is still strongly in force and are to be obeyed.

The first order pointed out that schechita, the Jewish ritual method of preparing meat, is forbidden by law everywhere within Germany. It warned the Jewish population that any transgression of the anti-schechita laws, even including importation of kosher meat from adjoining countries, is punishable by a fine of 10,000 marks.

The second order struck a cruel blow at the "non-Aryan" lawyers debarred from practice by Nazi decrees "purifying" the administration of justice. It forbade them to advertise themselves as "former lawyers" and to seek positions in that capacity. The standing which many of the "non-Aryans" enjoyed in the legal profession brought them, despite disbarment on racial and religious grounds, many clients seeking advice in cases which would not require appearance of the attorneys in court. Reiteration of the ban on these former lawyers calling themselves "former lawyers" is expected to deprive them even of this amount of patronage, since now they cannot identify themselves at all with their former calling.

Enforcement of this order is expected to work grave hardships on these men and to aggravate further the problem of furnishing relief for former professionals.

World Leaders Attend Parley In New York

Jewish Position in Holy Land to Be Discussed at Conference

The economic and political situation in Palestine and the financial status and problems of the Jewish Agency will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting of the administrative committee of the Jewish Agency which opens at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Federation Building. The meeting will be attended by thirty-five members and deputy-members.

The first session will be opened by Neville Laski, K.C., chairman of the administrative committee, and president of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, who will preside.

Felix M. Warburg will deliver the address of welcome.

A series of reports and discussions on political and economic questions concerning Palestine are expected to occupy the first two days of the meeting. The last day, Wednesday, will be devoted to a discussion of the internal problems and organization of the Agency.

Important resolutions dealing with the various aspects of Jewish life in Palestine are expected to be adopted by the committee, after the two days of discussion of questions concerning Palestine industry, agriculture, employment, immigration and colonization.

The question as to why the Jewish Agency in Palestine does not check speculation in the country may also be considered, since this question has become very acute.

One of the subjects to be brought up for discussion at the meeting of the committee will be the problem of Arab-Jewish relations. The recent invitation extended for Jewish colonization in Syria may also be considered.

The present session of the committee is the first gathering of the Jewish Agency to be held on American soil. It will not be open to the public.

A dinner for the foreign guests who arrived last week to participate in the conference was tendered Friday by Mr. Warburg at his home.

Palestine to Act On Problem of Arab Squatters

To Map Program to Curb Trespassing on Land Owned by Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—High government officials shortly will confer with police representatives to consider measures to prevent trespassing by Arabs on Jewish-owned land, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency was informed tonight.

The trespassing, chiefly by wandering Bedouin tribes, has been the source of much friction and has given rise to disorders on a number of occasions. Recently, a watchman over a Jewish-owned plantation was imprisoned because he fired on Arabs who were despoiling the property. Today, Arabs (Continued on Page Eight)

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Clothing themselves in the authority of the Executive of the Jewish Agency which they control, the leaders of the Histadruth, the Labor Party within the Zionist movement, have issued to the press a statement on behalf of the Jewish Agency, making it clear that a news service from Palestine to compete with the Jewish Telegraphic Agency will be maintained with the support of the Executive because the Jewish Telegraphic Agency has re-

Syrian Settlement Details Outlined

Land Recovery, Plans for Entry Are Revealed

Whole Land to Be Opened for Immigration of 10,000 Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
PARIS.—The admission and settlement of Jews in Syria, as announced recently by the French government, will probably be permitted throughout the whole of the land.

Industrialists, engineers and artisans, besides agriculturalists, are included in the categories to be permitted settlement.

The admission of agriculturalists the bulk of the new settlers, will entail a preliminary colonization organization. This preliminary work is essential in view of the fact that settlement is envisaged in the Valley of Ghab in the Haut-Oronte, where with a moderate investment 100,000 hectares of land (approximately 247,000 acres) can be cultivated.

Other tracts available for Jewish agricultural settlement include sections in the north of the Republic of Lebanon outside the Palestinian frontier, and the upper Euphrates and the Oronte.

Will Adapt Immigrants

Negotiations which finally culminated in the permission for 10,000 Jews to settle in Syria and Lebanon were initiated by the Committee for the Defense of Jewish Rights in Central and Eastern Europe, of which Senator Justin Godart is president.

This Committee has worked out a plan for selecting immigrants, under control of the French administration and by the High Commissioner of Syria, and for their adaptation to the customs of their future homes and for their obligatory study of Arabic and French.

Drainage of the Valley of Amouk and the creation of a society for the study of Franco-Syrian relations, to further the increased progress of French industry in the deserted territories of Syria, in collaboration with French and Syrian personalities, is supported by the Committee.

Drainage Envisaged

According to the plan of the engineer Joseph Loewy, under consideration at present, drainage of both the Valley of Amouk and the Lake of Antioch can be accomplished by a direct flow through a tunnel bored through the Beilan Mountain and exiting into the Mediterranean Sea. This feat will recover for settlement 300,000 hectares of land approximately (740,000 acres).

Small model self-supporting farms for the settlers, hardly dependent upon local exports and entirely independent of the world market, is envisaged by the Committee.

The development of Jewish immigration into Syria and Lebanon, it is believed, will bring a moral rapprochement between the Jews and Arabs which may have a great influence outside the Syrian States.

Local Conditions Explained

The diverse character of the inhabitants of the four Syrian States and of the autonomous Sandjak of Alexandrette, which has about a dozen churches of different sects, undoubtedly will facilitate the acclimatization of the Jewish colonists to local conditions.

It also promises to frustrate aims of extremist leaders who seek to foment discord between Syrian and Lebanese workers, on the one hand, and Jewish immigrants on the other.

Misunderstandings and difficulties arising from a confusion between the work of political Zionism in Palestine and the modest problem, although of vital necessity, of the admission of Jews to the Levant States, trailed negotiations for a long time. Last April Count Martel, High Commissioner for Syria, announced it was impossible to admit any number of Jews to Syria or Lebanon.

Further study of the question and continued negotiations, headed by Senator Godart, Baron Alfred Goinzbourg and Boris Gourevitch, the latter two members of the Bureau and secretary general, respectively, resulted in a change in the attitude of the Quai d'Orsay, the High Commissioner and certain notables in Syria and Lebanon, who had opposed Jewish settlement on a large or medium scale.

On October 30 the Committee for the Defense of Jewish Rights in Central and Eastern Europe made an official request to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Pierre Laval, for the admission of Jews to Syria and Lebanon.

On November 19 a letter of good will, in the name of Laval and signed by Alexis Leger, secretary-general of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, informed Senator Godart that the request had been communicated to the Syrian High Commissioner for his opinion as to the practicability of the scheme, with the results outlined above.

Jewish Salesmen Hounded in Austria

Many Report Police Confiscate Licenses and Stocks Under Recent Trade Law

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

VIENNA, Dec. 30. — Itinerant Jewish merchants and salesmen seeking trade in the provinces are being harassed and maltreated by the gendarmerie, a number of the tradespeople reported here today.

Under pretext of enforcing the new licensing decrees, police are taking away licenses held by peddlers and salesmen and are confiscating their stocks of merchandise, according to protests made to the authorities.

Several cases were reported in which the victims had been insulted by police and told that "there are enough Christian merchants. We don't want Jews."

Arabs Seek Loan To Forestall Jews

Want $500,000 From Government to Buy Land From Bedouin Tribes

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, Dec. 30. — The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Effendi Hussein, is negotiating with the Palestine government for a loan of $500,000 to be used in buying from Beersheba Bedouins land they threaten to sell to Jewish buyers.

A delegation of Beersheba sheikhs visited Jerusalem on Dec. 7 and conferred with the Grand Mufti, members of the Arab Executive and other Moslem leaders. The Bedouin chiefs threatened, it was learned, to sell their land at once to Jewish purchasers if the Moslem leaders did not come to their aid.

Lodz Artisans Oust 2 Jewish Officials

Removal May Affect Number of Working Certificates Granted to Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LODZ, Dec. 30. — The last two Jewish officials in the Lodz chamber of artisans were unceremoniously ousted from their posts yesterday.

The chamber of artisans is an important factor in the life of this industrial community which has a large Jewish population. Recently, an anti-Semitic coalition secured control of the municipal government but a split over procedure jeopardized its existence and a new election is expected to be ordered.

Since the chamber has the power of granting certificates enabling their holders to work at the crafts, the removal of Jewish officials, it is feared, may affect the number of certificates granted to Jews.

4-Day Parley On Welfare Aid Opens Jan. 3

Delegates From 50 Cities to Attend N. Y. National Council Sessions

Representative Jewish social workers from over fifty American cities, both lay and professional, will meet here beginning Thursday at the four-day conference on Jewish welfare sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds. The conference, which will open with a luncheon meeting at the Temple Emanu-El Community House, One East Sixty-fifth street, is under the general chairmanship of Felix M. Warburg.

Addresses at the luncheon will be made by Dr. Solomon Lowenstein, executive director of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies of New York City, Paul U. Kellogg, editor of The Survey and member of the Committee on Economic Security, and Samuel A. Goldsmith, executive director of the Jewish Charities of Chicago.

Prominent Speakers

Speakers at other sessions will include James G. McDonald, High Commissioner for Refugees from Germany; William J. Shroder, of Cincinnati, president of the National Council; Dr. Samson Benderly, director of the Bureau of Jewish Education in New York City; E. Charney Vlodeck, general manager of the Jewish Daily Forward; Professor Morris R. Cohen, of the College of the City of New York; Rabbi Mordecai M. Kaplan, leader of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism; Morris Rothenberg, president of the Zionist Organization of America, and Mrs. David de Sola Poole, president of the New York chapter of Hadassah.

Ira M. Younker, vice-president of the Council, in summing up the purpose of the conference, said that "events of the past several years have brought an ever-increasing burden of responsibility for welfare activities to Jews throughout the United States. The scope of such responsibilities has widened greatly and the nature of the responsibilities themselves become more complex."

"It is the purpose of the conference," he continued, "to throw added light on these problems, to consider the means by which federated and unorganized groups may deal with them and how individuals may relate themselves to such programs."

To Discuss Relief

The opening session will be devoted to a consideration of Jewish welfare problems and facilities on the American scene. A general session, in the afternoon, will discuss problems of relief abroad, with Paul Baerwald, chairman of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, presiding. Thursday evening Mr. Warburg will preside at a dinner, where the program of the National Council will be presented. Here, also, Mr. McDonald, Professor Albert Einstein and Raymond Moley, as guest speakers, will speak on the subject of racial and religious tolerance.

A general morning session will open the conference on Friday, at which the topic will be "Jewish Cultural Activities," with addresses devoted to the Jewish community center movement, cultural work among the youth in colleges, and the Jewish education movement.

General Business Saturday

The luncheon, Friday afternoon, will be devoted to round-table discussion of various problems and tendencies in the federation movement.

Ambitious Schedule Faces Laski, Dynamic Leader of British Jewry

Eastern U. S. and Canada to Hear Him After Agency Sessions

By H. WISHENGRAD

Take a high-g geared American business executive of the top flight, multiply him by two and you have a pretty fair thumbnail impression of Neville Laski, president of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, in New York to attend a series of conferences of far-reaching import to world Jewry.

In America for the first time, Laski, pacing restlessly to and fro in his fourteenth floor room at the Hotel Commodore, seemed thoroughly at home. Although impressed by the architectural magnificence of New York, by the traffic jams, by mid-Manhattan's mazda brilliance and symmetrical street layout, the distinguished leader of probably the world's most influential body of Jews didn't seem in the least miffed by it all.

Strenuous Schedule

Mr. Laski is taking New York—and a considerable slice of the East and Canada—in stride. And what a stride! He has mapped for himself one of the most ambitious schedules a visitor to these shores has ever undertaken. The day he doesn't participate in at least three or four conferences with American Jewish leaders—such as Paul Baerwald, Felix Warburg, Dr. Gottheil—deliver a like number of speeches at luncheons, dinners and conventions, Mr. Laski will probably feel as if he's loafing.

And the youthful British leader—he spent his forty-fourth birthday on the boat-train from London—didn't come here to loaf and invite his soul, despite the counsel of the Irish poet, George Russell (AE).

The pace at which he is driving himself during his fortnight's stay here is characteristic of the handsome, ruddy-faced, nattily-dressed Briton and reflects the life he has led during the past two years.

Surveyed Jewish Plight

"I haven't had a holiday in two years," he told The Jewish Daily Bulletin reporter who was struggling helplessly to keep up with his clipped, rapid-fire flow of words.

"I've traveled all over Europe surveying the Jewish situation. Besides scores of crossings to France, I've been to Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Danzig, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland."

"And now," he added a bit ruefully, "here I am in America spending my twentieth wedding anniversary. Celebrate it? I'll probably send a cable."

By avocation a leader of British Jewry—and by inheritance as well, since his father was long treasurer of the British Board—Mr. Laski by profession is a barrister, having attained the highest rank in that field, King's Counselor.

"You want a personal slant?" he repeated the reporter's query. "What is 'slant'?"

When the term was properly defined, Mr. Laski smiled and gave unstintingly of the desired "slant."

Saw War Service

"They might like to know that I've been a soldier," he said. "I served with the Lancashire Fusiliers in Gallipoli, the Sinai Desert and in France during the war."

"You look like an athlete," the reporter prompted, "what are your hobbies?"

"Haven't had time for hobbies in the last two years," he countered. "But I do enjoy walking. I'm fond of collecting books. And I collect stamps, all unused."

NEVILLE LASKI

two boys and two girls. One of the girls, 19, is at Oxford and has been presented at Court. His wife, who is equally active with him in Jewish circles, is the daughter of Chacham Moses Gaster, venerable English rabbi of world renown.

Discussing the role of American Jews in the crisis being faced by the Jewries of other countries, Mr. Laski was enthusiastic in his praise of the work of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee.

Praise for U. S. Aid

He recommended that this body continue its efforts along the same lines it has followed. The appreciation of English Jewry for the work of the American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress and other American bodies was also conveyed by Mr. Laski. He suggested that the non-Zionist section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine "enlarge the ambit of its membership."

One of the first missions undertaken by Mr. Laski after his arrival last Tuesday was a visit to the Jewish Theological Seminary, of which his friend, Dr. Cyrus Adler, is president.

His visit to the institution on Broadway and 122nd street was made, he said, "to emphasize that in my view Judaism still means so much to Jews that it was important to perform this symbolic act."

He found the seminary thoroughly charming in its atmosphere, architecture and spirit.

After the visit to the seminary Mr. Laski was taken to a session of night court at which Magistrate Jonah Goldstein was presiding.

Relays of Secretaries

Practically the only relaxation, aside from those two visits, which Mr. Laski is permitting himself during his stay here is attendance at a theatre sometime during the week. He hasn't selected the play he wishes to see. It would be the first time he's been in a theatre in six months, he said.

During his stay here Mr. Laski is being assisted by the American Jewish Committee, which has provided him with relays of secretaries, whom he is finding as efficient and capable as his own in England.

Following is a brief resume of the schedule to be followed by Mr. Laski until he departs for England on January 9:

Conferences with Paul Baerwald, Felix Warburg, Dr. Gottheil. Meetings with James G. McDonald, League of Nations High Commissioner for German Refugees. Beginning December 31 and lasting through January 2 he will attend meetings of the administrative committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, the principal tional Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Agencies. That evening he will attend a reception to Commissioner McDonald, who will be awarded a gold medal for his services to Jewry during the past year.

Veteran of World War, He Spent 44th Birthday on Way Here

On Friday, January 4, he will discuss general Jewish problems over a national hookup of the Columbia Broadcasting System. The following day he is slated to speak at a luncheon of the Harmonie Club on "Jews in the World Scene." That same afternoon he will address a meeting of the Hadassah.

The following morning, January 6, he will attend the annual meeting of the American Jewish Committee. That same night he is down for a speech at a dinner of the Philadelphia Federation of Jewish Charities. On January 7 he will be in Buffalo for a luncheon of the Jewish Community Center there. In the evening he will attend a meeting of Canadian Jewish leaders in Toronto.

He will have breakfast on January 8 with leaders of the Canadian Jewish Congress in Montreal. From Montreal he skips down the same night to Boston for a dinner engagement and speech before the New Century Club. On January 9 he speaks at a luncheon in Baltimore and in the evening will appear at a dinner of the Judeans. He sails for England the same night.

And that, Mr. Laski said, isn't the half of it. Much of his schedule he refrained from mentioning and much of it is being changed and added to momentarily.

BUILDING ON ERRORS

By a Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW

The first conference of Soviets in the Jewish autonomous region of Biro-Bidjan, which recently concluded there, has attracted wide comment in the Soviet press and much discussion of the methods employed in settling Jews there.

Criticism of the measures taken in the past to attract Jewish settlers to the Far Eastern area and of the functioning of the agencies involved in the work is freely voiced.

The Emes, organ of the Yidish Communists, devoted two full pages in a recent four-page issue to a discussion on Biro-Bidjan. It contains articles by M. Chavkin, secretary of the organization bureau of the Jewish autonomous region; Tadgieff, secretary of the nationalities council of the all-Union Central Executive Committee; P. Sprach, assistant editor of the Emes, who has spent some time in Bureya, and Hersch Brill, Comzet representative in Biro-Bidjan, all dealing with questions under discussion at the conference.

Chavkin deals mainly with the mistakes made in the work in Bureya in the past, and new methods to be applied. Describing the plan of operation for the coming year, he points out that the absorption and consolidation of the new settlers is one of the chief tasks involved, presenting many problems to be dealt with. As evidence of the unsatisfactory state of this phase of the work, he declares there has been tremendous re-emigration from Bureya.

During the last four years, from October 1930, 20,000 people emigrated to Bureya and 10,000 re-emigrated. In 1932, 6,000 out of 9,000 arrivals re-emigrated, and in 1933, the number of re-emigrants was larger than the number of arrivals.

"This huge re-emigration movement," he states, "is entirely due to the inadequate manner in which preparations were made for the reception of the arrivals. This is proved by the fact that it is not the old settlers who go back, but the new arrivals who leave generally within a few days of their arrival. It is only to be expected that after a journey of some thousands of kilometres, the new settler expects to be received decently and provided with accommodations and with essential needs. If he sees that there is not even an attempt made to do this, he goes into a panic and runs back.

"The Regional Party organization has now taken the question of settlement in its own hands, and has given the secretaries of the party committees personal responsibility for dealing with the settlement of each emigrant family and each single new arrival.

Definite Plans for Handling Settlers

"A definite plan has been worked out for settling the trans-migrants in 1935, at specific points and in specific enterprises in the region," he declared. "The time has also been definitely fixed for the arrival of each group of emigrants in order to arrange for their reception and settlement, accommodations, work and food. Strict measures will be taken to see that the selection of the emigrants is carried out properly."

Chavkin also stresses the importance of having industrial construction work completed on schedule so that settlement of the new arrivals may be linked up with the realization of the industrialization plans.

There will be a great deal of attention paid to artisan co-operatives which are to produce goods to the value of eleven million rubles, during 1935," the writer revealed. "The area under cultivation will also be increased during the year, and there will be considerable development in the sphere of cattle breeding.

"There are still considerable difficulties to be faced in the work in the Jewish autonomous region, he concludes, but the fact that the entire country is interested in this work and helping to promote it, that the Soviet government and the Central Executive Committee are giving a great deal of attention to its development, and that the leader of the Far Eastern Party Organization, Lavrentieff, is personally engaging in the work, is a guarantee that the Jewish autonomous region will, in the shortest possible time, be in a position to absorb masses of Jewish workers who will build up a strong Socialist economic life of powerfully developed international culture, and will convert the region into one of the most flourishing areas in the Far East."

Finds Grandiose Schemes Resulted in Failure

Hersch Brill complains of the hasty emigration carried on until recently and the insignificant number of settlers despite the most grandiose plans. According to the schedule for the past six years in which the work of settlement has been going on, there should now be at least 50,000 settlers in Bureya. There are hardly 10,000 now, he points out.

"It is not enough to want to settle Bureya with Jews," he declares. "In addition to the desire, there must also be provision for houses and food, enterprises in which to work and machinery. There must be conditions for settling the region. Also there must be more attention paid to settling the immigrants. It must not be thought that so long as the immigrant is on the spot that he will settle himself. There was a network of various fantastic plans from Moscow to Bureya. There was a line of emigrants hurrying to and from Bureya.

"These unreal, inflated projects, the gigantomania on the one side, and the irresponsibility of putting plans into effect and the negligence of bureaucratism in the settlement of new arrivals, drove thousands of settlers back from Biro-Bidjan and did tremendous harm to the whole project.

Our plan must be less sweeping but well carried out. We must do better than prepare

Between the Lines

By B. SMOLAR

Enter 1935

The new year which dawns upon the world tomorrow promises to keep Jewish leaders very busy.

Besides fighting Hitlerism, Jewish organizations must mobilize forces to better protect Jewish rights in Austria; for a stronger fight for Jewish existence in Poland; for helping Jewish refugees from Germany remain in France; for combatting the anti-Jewish measures in Latvia and in Lithuania; for finding new territories for the immigration of oppressed Jews.

The first to suffer with the new year will be the five thousand Jews of the Saar. Exactly two weeks from today they will have to take their belongings and begin the exodus from their homes, if the Saar plebiscite on January 13 will turn this territory over to Germany.

Jewish Perspectives

Next to the Saar Jews come the Jews of Danzig. They too, will have a difficult year, since Danzig, though a Free City, is gradually coming under the control of a Nazi administration, despite the presence of the League of Nations High Commissioner there.

The most difficult problem for world Jewry during the coming year will, however, be the question of helping the Jews of Poland and Austria. Everything points to the view that the Jewish situation in Poland in 1935 will develop to a point where Jewish diplomacy will have to be changed to open aggression.

The picture in Austria is similar. The government says one thing and does another when it comes to Jewish rights. Mere representations to the Austrian government probably will not be sufficient in 1935.

The silence which Jewish organizations abroad have maintained during 1934 with regard to growing anti-Jewish economic discriminations in Latvia and Lithuania may be changed to open protest in 1935. The governments in these two countries, rapidly falling under the influence of anti-Semitic elements, may have to face a strong Jewish resistance.

New Territories

Simultaneous with the fight for Jewish rights, Jewish leaders will find themselves occupied in 1935 with the problem of settling Jews on new territories in addition to Palestine. There is no doubt that a migration of Polish Jews to Biro-Bidjan will start on a substantial scale. Thousands of Jews may also take advantage of the invitation to settle in Syria. Others may proceed to Brazil, in accordance with a plan now under consideration.

The year of 1935 also will be full of outstanding events for Palestine. The Iraq pipeline, which will add to Palestine's importance, will begin operations early in 1935. The doors of Transjordan may be partly opened in 1935. The Legislative Council may be proclaimed in 1935. The World Zionist Congress is scheduled for 1935.

As to American Jewish life, the year 1935 promises to be much brighter than its predecessor. There is good ground to believe that anti-Semitic propaganda in the United States will show a great decline since the economic situation here is on the road to recovery, and

Patrick Henry's Words

To the Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin:
The recent letter of Ben Frommer is worthy of commendation. Critics will not forbear in saying that it is easy to counsel courage to the Jews of Germany from the safe distance of three thousand miles from the focus of danger.

Yet it cannot be denied that the imagination is fired by deeds of valor to which the Jew has not been stranger. Mr. Frommer's letter was most timely, coming as it did so close to the celebration of the Maccabean victories. Here was a band that did more than "take it" from the Hitler of its days.

Mr. Frommer's sentiment is expressed in an old Nordic dictum: Treu leben, todtrotzend kaempfen, lachend sterben (to live faithfully, to fight death-defyingly, to die smilingly).

Then again, how modern are the lines of Patrick Henry: "Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me,

Commends Church Fight

To the Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin:
In your edition of Dec. 26 there appeared an article by Eugene Lyons in which occurred the expression, "The audacity of the Catholic Church is staggering." The object of the article was to criticize what was termed an arbitrary condemnation of certain motion pictures.

I think the expression was extremely ill-advised.

In my opinion the Catholic Church deserves commendation for its initiative in an endeavor to clean the screen. It is true that other faiths have fallen in line with this endeavor, but to the credit of the Catholic Church be it said that it seized boldly upon the proposition and made a forthright endeavor to solve it. I would have wished that the Jewish pulpit initiated the movement rather than be a follower. However, it has fallen in line with the proper spirit and energy and I hope with a determination to see the fight through.

I doubt whether there has been

While I would be loathe to commend an arbitrary selection by any one faith of pictures to be commended or condemned, yet I would much prefer such a way of handling the matter than to permit the freedom and license heretofore indulged in by the motion picture producers.

The fact that any church or group condemns or commends pictures does not take away from the public at large its own freedom of choice as to what it wishes or does not wish to see.

The Catholic Church should be praised for its feeling of responsibility as the guardian and, if possible, preserver of decent thinking and acting at least among the youth of its group.

There is much besides the motion picture in the daily lives of our young that the various religious groups should make their earnest endeavor to adjust and bring into a more healthy moral attitude. I need not enumerate what they are, as anyone who has eyes to see and ears to hear is sufficiently qualified to

BLACK on WHITE

By GENE LYONS

The picture now being painted by the Soviet press—the picture of an organized, desperate terrorist machine with Fascist and Trotskyist gearing—seems to me most unconvincing. The effort to pin the murder of Sergei Kirov, directly or indirectly, on Leo Kamenev and Gregory

EUGENE LYONS

Zinoviev leaves me especially unimpressed. I venture to guess that most other foreigners intimately acquainted with present-day Russia are quite as unconvinced, whatever they may say or write publicly for policy's sake.

The most dissonant streak in the picture, of course, is the fact that more than five dozen alleged terrorists were executed within a few days after Kirov's assassination, before there had been sufficient time to investigate such an organization as is now implied by the Russian press. The wholesale executions, unfortunately, came first and the charge of organized terror limps far behind.

A friend and well-known defender of the Kremlin, rather shaken up by the recent events in Moscow, attributes the situation to the "frayed nerves" of the Soviet leaders. They are so overworked, so deeply concentrated on industrial and military problems, that the death of one of their most trusted men acted as a shock. He credits the extensive executions without trial to a sort of unconditioned reflex.

Perhaps he is right. The tragedy of the business is that the reflexes, conditioned or otherwise, should repeatedly take such extreme forms. There is clearly a call for the services of a Professor Pavlov to untangle those nerves.

But over and above these considerations, anyone aware of the temper of Russian dissidents at this juncture, even the bitterest of them, can not readily credit the existence of organized terrorism. The process of suppression has been much too thorough and effective.

Unorganized discontent, individual acts of desperation, smoldering resentment there may be plenty. But the type of underground activity familiar under Tsarism has long ago been stamped out. What is probably the most comprehensive system of mutual espionage in all history (certainly for its size) has been functioning for seventeen years.

I do not say that there are no underground movements. I merely assert that for anyone who, like myself, has lived in the new Russia many years it requires an impossible stretch of the imagination to believe it.

This I do know: that if such a movement has taken root in recent years, Zinoviev can have nothing to do with it. In the whole length and breadth of the Union of Soviets there is not another man so completely beaten, meek and conforming as Zinoviev. Crawling his repentance, physically a wreck and psychologically shattered, Zinoviev no longer has the stamina to think unorthodox thoughts, let alone organize terrorist acts.

Even if he were to confess publicly to having instigated the killing of Kirov, I should still know that he had nothing to do with it. Less than two years ago, I re-

Digest of World Press Opinion

An Irish View On Nazi Methods

The Irish Times of Dublin, in an editorial on the Jewish situation in Germany, says:

Last week's report, that a proposal to make peace between Germany and the Jews had been rejected by Herr Hitler, suggests that the Nazi movement is continuing its campaign against non-Aryans with unabated vigor. Little has been heard of anti-Jewish demonstrations in Germany for some months past, since it seems that the Ministry for Economics has frowned on any further attempts to interfere with the trade—and particularly with the banking institutions of the Reich; but the anti-Jewish propaganda is just as strong as ever it was.

Surely, there must be a limit to the Nazis' folly. Already the hostility of Jews throughout the world is beginning to make itself felt in Germany. Possibly, Herr Hitler and his colleagues are indifferent to world opinion; but if they continue to prevent non-Aryans from earning a livelihood in their native country, they will forfeit the sympathy of every enlightened people.

Some Mosley Higher Mathematics

Admitting that the proportion of British Jews who fell as war heroes is larger than the proportion of other citizens of the Empire, John Beckett, one of the leaders of the British Fascist party, publishes in the Blackshirt, Mosley's official organ, the following:

Enormous play has been made of the fact that a considerable number of Jews resident in this country served during the war. I am therefore greatly obliged to my colleague, Mr. G. K. Chesterton, for the following figures:

There are 62,000,000 white citizens of the Empire of which 975,000 were killed; a proportion of 1.65.

There are 420,000 Jews of whom 2,425 were killed; a proportion of 1-173.

Apart from congratulating the Jewish population on their good fortune in incurring a much slighter ratio of casualties than their fellows, there does not seem to be much call for comment on these figures. I have yet to hear of an reason why privileged guests, enjoying full rights and doing very well should not turn out and fight with their hosts when an attack comes. It is certainly stretching the long bow to suggest that because they did help to preserve the roof that sheltered them so comfortably they should afterwards have the right to interfere in their hosts' domestic affairs.

Cyprus Competes With Palestine

That Cyprus is becoming a competitor to Palestine in the export of citrus fruits is emphasized in a report in the Near East and India. The report states:

The export of early season oranges is now in full swing. A steamer of the German Levant Line is taking the fruit direct to Germany and Scandinavia. Cyprus oranges penetrate as far north as Stavanger, in Norway. The price is good at thirty-four shillings per thousand, in comparison with twenty-seven shillings at this time last year. The present shed accommodation at Famagusta Harbor is proving inadequate, and the construction of the new £8,000 shed proceeds very slowly.

It is being built with dressed stone, to harmonize with the old Venetian fortifications. The roof is supported on buttresses independent of the walls to allow for sinking. The large, rough oranges, unpopular in England, are being shipped to Yugoslavia. Curiously enough, Cyprus fruit pays a penny a case more landing charges in England than Palestinian.

Radio Sales Gain In Palestine

The London Times, analyzing the exports of the British radio industry, reports:

In Palestine excellent progress is being made by British makers. In the first four months of this year, 3,246 sets were sold, compared with 3,701 in the whole of 1933. Other countries, however, are also going ahead, and America's total sales are more than double those of Great Britain. The market in Palestine for radio sets generally is expanding rapidly owing to the trade recovery and to the arrival of Jewish immigrants, many of whom are comparatively prosperous and look upon a wireless set as a normal possession. When the new broadcasting station in Jerusalem is completed next year receiving sets will be required to a still greater extent.

It is probable that all-wave apparatus will be most in demand, for in addition to short and medium wave stations Jewish immigrants desire to keep in touch with the long-wave transmissions of such stations as Warsaw and Brasov. The path is not, of course, easy for British makers, but they have certain advantages over foreign rivals, not least of which is the fact that Great Britain is the largest purchaser of Palestine's chief export, citrus fruit.

Finds That Jews Are Like Neighbors

Are Jews different? The Hebrew Union College Monthly, answering this question, says:

Maybe some Jews are, but the Jews we see daily are not essentially different from their neighbors. We don't like to believe this because we've been brought up on a tradition of difference. But it was a tradition that was based on wish and not fact. The only real difference which the Jew reveals is a nervous self-consciousness which comes from being a persecuted minority. Remove the factor of anti-Semitism, and even this will disappear. As it is the Jew is a worker or a capitalist, an abstainer or a drunkard, a spendthrift or a hoarder, a moral or immoral person, just the way his neighbor is.

Glasgow News Compares Jews and Scots

The Glasgow Evening News, making a parallel between the Scotsman and the Jew, says:

The Jews were the Scots of Western Asia, and the Scots the Jews of North-West Europe. Both were threatened and persecuted. Had the English Edwards, Henry VIII, Mary Stuart, and the last two Stuart monarchs had their will of the Scots, they would have been enslaved, tortured, and finally dispersed.

At one time there were 30,000 Scots in the army of Gustavus Adolphus, and 30,000 or more Scots in business in Danzig and Poland. Their numbers and success aroused the jealousy of the German merchants, who obtained an edict against "Jews, Scots, and other vagabonds." The strange story of the Scots in Poland is recounted by a Scotchophile German, Fischer.

Thus were those enterprising peoples fellow-victims for a time in the same persecution, which, so far as the Scots were concerned, was largely on religious grounds. Most of the Scots merchants in Poland were Protestants; and Poland, after its capture by the Jesuits became the most bigotedly Roman Catholic country in Europe. In 1724, long after Christians elsewhere in Europe had ceased to kill each other for the love of God, several leading Protestants at Thorn were executed by Polish troops.

Crime Wave Hits Busy Palestine, Gives U. S. Reporter Nostalgia

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—Palestine, now in the throes of a boom, is also contending with a miniature crime wave. During the past month the Tel Aviv police have been informed of no less than three automobile thefts. And in Haifa local police are investigating the mysterious disappearance of £1,000.

Your correspondent, possessed of American roots, was reminded of his police reporting days by the latest turn of Palestinian events. To him, as to several of his fellow-reporters, it was a true in-

The Haifa crime was especially intriguing; there was something particularly American about it. While £3,000 was being transferred from the Mount Carmel branch of the Anglo-Palestine Ltd. to the Haifa City branch, £1,000 mysteriously disappeared. Between departure and arrival one parcel containing the £1,000 vanished from the taxicab that served as the means of transportation.

All that remained to complete the feeling of nostalgia was for the Haifa dispatch to conclude "Local police, investigating the..."

Steuer Quota Sys. By Univers

But Would H. to All National Says in Sympo

"I am unreservedly in a quota in every educational institution in this country," Steuer, attorney, yesterday declared before 1,200 congressmen at the B'nai B'rith West Eighty-eighth street. Steuer, who represented the profession in a symposium "Jews and the Professions," strongly condemned racial discrimination in colleges but advocated a quota for all nationalities.

Hints Law School Quota

In his opening remarks, the attorney said that up to the present time there has been no problem in law schools. "That does not mean that in the future will not be one," he warned.

Although emphasizing that schools are free from the racial prejudices, Steuer pointed out that "discrimination" today and has existed in schools.

To prove his point he cited the case of a Yeshiva College graduate who was graduated with a cum laude degree and whose father was unimpeachable, but excluded from every medical school in New York.

Never Denied Jewishness

"I have never denied my Jewishness," he said, "and I never found any difficulty because of that with any Gentiles."

Dr. S. J. Kopetsky, speaking in the medical profession, painted a gloomy picture of the situation and agreed with Steuer that "quotas are necessary should not be opposed by us."

Deplored the fact that there are too many Jewish students studying medicine, Dr. Kopetsky stated: "our Christian neighbors do not seek Jewish doctors. They call Christian doctors."

"So far we may as well continue," that the Jews must find his clientele among co-religionists."

He urged the assembled assembly to teach "their children the value of labor."

Newman Denounces Pact On Saar Rights Issue

Jews should never abandon battle for survival, Rabbi Louis Newman declared yesterday in a sermon at Temple Rodeph Shalom, 7 West Eighty-third street.

The present German government, he said, rests upon "bloody bayonets" which, he predicted, "having been used once, will be used again."

Dr. Newman denounced the recent agreement on the Saar between France and the Reich whereby the Nazis "promised" to protect the Jews for the period of one year.

"After the twelve months," speaker asserted, "we may anticipate the deluge—a deluge of blood, violence, expulsion and death."

Referring to the Russian purges following the assassination of Sergei Kirov, high Communist official, as a development which "brought a sense of horror to Western peoples," Rabbi Newman said: "America should learn lessons from Russia and Germany. While it may be unjust to humanitarian Russia with its insane Nazi leadership, nevertheless many Americans will be minded to say 'Tweedledum Tweedledee.'"

"There is no room in this world for petty or grand tyrants, for marauders, for..."

NRA Butchers' Code Goes Into Effect Today

10,000 Meat Dealers to Be Affected Throughout Country

More than 5,000 kosher meat retailers in Greater New York and an equal number in various cities throughout the country are affected by the NRA code for their industry which becomes effective today by executive order of President Roosevelt.

Enforcement of fair trade provisions of the code marks the end of a long period of cut-throat price slashing which drove many butchers out of business, according to David S. Andron, counsel for the Federation of Kosher Butchers, who was instrumental in framing the code and gaining its approval.

The code forbids malicious price-cutting, misrepresentation of the quality of meat, and sale of non-kosher meat as kosher. It also specifies that meat prices may be fixed "in an emergency." It further provides that kosher butcher shops must close on Saturdays and Jewish holidays.

A national conference to elect a code authority and work out details of administration will be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania on January 8 and 9, Charles Cohen, president of the Federation of Kosher Butchers, announced yesterday. He said thirty regional code authorities will be set up throughout the country.

The code was approved by NRA authorities last month and signed by President Roosevelt on December 21 after one and-a-half years of negotiation during which chain groceries and the food code authority bitterly opposed a separate code for the kosher butchers.

Order Seeks 2,000

The Order Sons of Zions yesterday announced through its secretary, Heinrich Abramowitz, that it is inaugurating a national drive for 2,000 new members.

Order day, which will be celebrated on March 17, will conclude the drive.

spread abroad that Zinoviev had died. With infinite difficulty I managed to reach him on the telephone. His was a frightened, quivering, pitiful voice. He was nearly scared into making that report good by the fact that a foreigner was phoning. He begged not to be quoted and refused either to confirm or deny that he was still alive. "I can't say anything," he whimpered, "until I consult my... until I consult Somebody."

I have not the space here to describe that "interview" in detail. But it left me with an ineradicable impression of the man's utter collapse. He was dead, indeed, in a more tragic sense than physical death.

To interpret certain official attitudes in Russia at this time it is necessary to take cognizance of the current demonology. There are two sets of devils and they serve for all occasions—sometimes singly, other times in double harness. The first is kulaks, the second Trotskyists. They may take curious forms, operating at times in the guise of "kulak mentality" or "Trotskyist mentality" rather than in the flesh.

The superstitious peasant used to blame the "house devil" for all his disasters. Zinoviev and his associates are the house devils of the present.

Delegates From 500 Groups Attend Meeting at Broadway Central Delegates representing five hundred Jewish organizations, societies and lodges yesterday attended the seventh annual convention of the Hebrew Protective Religious Association at the Broadway Central Hotel. Jacob Shapiro presided.

Resolutions calling upon the United States to open its doors to persecuted European Jews and to support the boycott of German-made goods were passed. The party also condemned restrictions against Jewish pre-medical students.

Magistrate Jonah J. Goldstein, principal speaker, urged the assembled delegates to be more tolerant of each other's ideas.

Palestine Revokes Yevin's Citizenship

Revisionist Serving Jail Term Will Be Given Chance to Defend Self

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—Revocation of the citizenship of Dr. I. Yevin, Zionist Revisionist serving a fifteen-months' jail term for membership in an alleged secret terrorist organization, Brith Habiryonim, was announced today by the Palestine government. Dr. Yevin will, however, be given an opportunity to show cause why his Palestine citizenship should not be revoked.

Similar action was taken by the government recently in the case of Aba Achimeier, who is serving eighteen months for the same offense.

Following the murder of Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff police uncovered the Brith Habiryonim group and made widespread arrests throughout Palestine.

Thrilling Soccer Story

January 1, 1916, is a memorable date in the history of the gallant East Surrey regiment. A war correspondent of a famous news agency, writing of the magnificent action when the 8th Battalion charged towards the German trenches at Contalmaison, kicking footballs before them, said:

"The Captain of one of the companies, a Jewish officer, had provided four footballs, one for each platoon, urging them to keep up a dribbling competition all the way over the mile and a quarter of ground they had to traverse. As the company formed on emerging from the trench the platoon commanders kicked off and the match against Death commenced, the gallant Captain himself fell early in

Student's First Letter Won $25 In Contest as Interest Grows

Inveterate Theatregoer, Stanley Pearl Will Make Good Use of Money

Stanley Pearl, 18-year-old City College student who was awarded first prize of $25 in the Sixth Biggest Jewish News of the Week Contest, won with his very first entry.

Stanley, who lives at 1179 East Seventeenth street, Brooklyn, will probably use the money to see all the good shows in town. He is an inveterate theatregoer, dividing his time between seeing the best Broadway productions and studying. He is majoring in education and plans to teach English in high schools.

Because of his deep interest in Jewish activities throughout the world, he has become a constant reader of The Bulletin. Lack of time prevented his entering the Biggest News contest prior to last week. His excellent, understanding letter on the Nazi split in New York City won for him the blue ribbon collegiate award—first prize of $25.

STANLEY PEARL

Will Attend Convention

Stanley concluded an interview with The Bulletin reporter by saying: "I want to take this opportunity to commend your paper for its thorough handling of vital Jewish matters."

Miss Rose Berman, Adelphi College junior who placed second in the collegiate division last week, has been submitting letters on the Biggest News for the last three weeks. This is the first time she has won. She was very much surprised when the Contest Editor informed her early Friday morning of her good fortune.

"Hooray," she said, "now I can attend my sorority convention in Philadelphia next week. You don't know how much I appreciate winning the second prize in this contest. I entered the third contest purely as a lark, but when my letter didn't even merit honorable mention from the judges I was peeved. I received special commendation from the judges two weeks ago, but to tell the truth I never thought I'd actually win a prize.

"I began reading your paper last September. I bought it at a newsstand one day chiefly through curiosity. I was amazed. I read it daily now. My father likes it better than the Forward now."

In the Sixth Biggest Jewish News of the Week contest no previous winner repeated a former success. Victors in the last contest were all new. Miss Sabina D. Cohen, of Rochester, N. Y., who received a $25 award in the general reader division, was given first prize for her initial effort.

Plot of Embryo Hitler Bared at Probe

Wall St. Man Planned Coup, Says Captain

$700,000,000 Said to Back 500,000 in This Move

(Special to the J.D.B.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—A Fascist plot to set up a dictatorship in the place of American democratic government, with Jackson Martindell, Wall street financial counsel, as Fuehrer, was laid bare today in the record of the House committee investigating Nazi and other un-American activities.

An army captain, Samuel Glazier of Baltimore, in charge of a Civilian Conservation Camp at Elkridge, Md., gave the investigators the testimony concerning the dictatorship plan.

Captain Glazier said that Martindell had discussed with him the formation of the "American Vigilantes," comprising 500,000 men, and backed with $700,000,000 to turn out the administration and set up Martindell as dictator.

According to the testimony, which was made in a recent executive session in New York and withheld, the scheme was closely modeled on German Nazism, with the Jews singled out for the role of scapegoat.

Hitler Methods

Captain Glazier told the committee Martindell said Adolf Hitler's rise to power started by the broadcasting of promises of employment to the jobless young men. Similar tactics were planned in this country, the witness reported the Wall street man informed him. The would-be American Hitler, Captain Glazier stated, betrayed "a particular antipathy against the Jews."

Martindell and Captain Glazier first met last October, when the New Yorker arrived at the Elkridge CCC camp with a letter of introduction reading as follows:

"This will serve to introduce the bearer, Mr. Jackson Martindell, and party, who will be shown every courtesy by you.

"By command of Major General Malone.

"A. P. SULLIVAN,

"Captain, Adjutant General's Department,

"Assistant Adjutant General."

Forced Labor

Martindell, the army captain's testimony revealed, talked of a scheme for forced labor in industry to end the unemployment problem and later invited him to Martindell's Bernardsville, N. J. estate. Captain Glazier went after receiving approval from corps area headquarters.

"I called up in order to verify his particular status," the witness said. "They said he was a personal friend of General Malone's; that he was a very rich man, and that anything I had to say would be at my own discretion . . .

'Drive Out Jews'

"While we were eating lunch there was conversation and during the conversation I noticed in his sister and himself a particular antipathy against the Jews . . .

"He went on to state that there were a lot of people, particularly the Jews, that they were going to get out."

Solomon Bernich attracted much attention in the late seventeenth century in Rotterdam where he created interest by his prodigious memory of the classics, knowledge of languages and ability to improvise verse.

Ex-Mayor of New Haven, S. Campner, Is Buried

(Special to the J.D.B.)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 30.—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for Samuel Campner, 47, former mayor of the city and prominent as an attorney for the last twenty years. Mr. Campner died early Saturday.

Leading city and state officials were honorary pallbearers at the funeral. Rabbi Edgar E. Siskin officiated at the services. Interment was in Mishkan Israel Cemetery.

Says Laborites Use Agency Selfishly

Agency, reveals that Jacob Landau, managing director of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, during his recent stay in Palestine, proposed an agreement to the Executive and declared himself ready to disseminate through the J.T.A. also the news of the service established in order to avoid a clash in distribution. He contended that it was not the province of the Executive to enter the business of selling news to newspapers.

Mr. Landau's offers were, however, declined by the members of the Histadruth who dominate the Executive and who are anxious to control the news from Palestine through their own news service only.

The statement by the press office of the Jewish Agency was ignored here today in the London press and did not appear in any newspaper except one which caters to the Histadruth. The Jewish Times, the leading Jewish daily in London, edited by Morris Myers, a member of the Executive of the British Zionist Federation, also ignored the statement, since it clearly indicates that it was issued by the Executive under the pressure of the Labor Party only, which does not represent the opinion of the entire Jewish community in Palestine and which is facing opposition on the part of other leading Zionist groups, including General Zionists, Mizrachi, as well as of the Jewish industrial and farm associations.

The fact that the Executive of the Jewish Agency is being utilized by its laborite majority for fighting the only existing impartial news agency in the world today received highly unfavorable comment in Zionist circles here. It is pointed out that the Jewish Telegraphic Agency has been serving Jewish interests for the past fifteen years, occupying an important position in Jewish life and doing important work for Jewish interests, not only in Palestine but also in all other countries. Criticism has been expressed here against the Histadruth for dragging the name of the Jewish Agency into an affair of which the majority of the Jewish Agency would certainly not approve.

Machinery in the mill was heavily damaged by the bombs and a large amount of grain was destroyed. A fire which broke out after the explosion also did heavy damage. There were no casualties.

'Over-Zealous' Picketing Laid To Nazi Party

Berlin Disapproves of Trade Effort, London Times Writes

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Dec. 30.—The recent resurgence of vigorous boycott activities against the Jews in Germany, particularly in the vicinity of Frankfurt-am-Main, was ascribed by German authorities to over-zealous obedience by Nazis to party orders. The London Times said yesterday.

The Times stated that the German authorities had so advised the British consulate general at Frankfurt-am-Main, declaring that the government disapproved of the measures because they interfered with the regime's economic program.

Nazi headquarters had ordered peaceful picketing of Jewish stores in order to warn Nazi party members against patronizing them, it was said. The pickets, however, exceeded their orders and interfered with the general public, creating much disorder when police sought to prevent this.

which carried the announcement, expressing however, in an editorial preface, its great dissatisfaction with the left wing of the Executive and emphasizing that the Jewish Telegraphic Agency is the only Jewish news agency which serves as an influential factor in molding public opinion.

Exposes New Service
"The left wing in Palestine," the Chwila writes, "has obviously been fighting through the Zionist Executive for some time, behind the scenes, the only Jewish news agency, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, which is an influential factor in forming public opinion. The first step in this fight carried on by the left wing was the establishment of the Palcor news service within the offices of the Jewish Agency."

Palestine to Act On Arab Problem

who had ventured on property near Acre owned by M. Soskin, a Jewish land-owner, were sentenced to two months imprisonment.

Wandering Arab tribes have made it a practice to settle on land owned by Jews, put up their tents or huts and defy attempts to evict them, claiming squatters' rights. Because of the possibilities of disorders resulting from this, the government has found it necessary to call a conference to study means of coping with the problem.

Zionist Gains To Be Reported By Canadians

24th Annual Parley Opens Jan. 20 in Toronto

(Special to the J.D.B.)
MONTREAL, Dec. 30.—The very considerable rise in Zionist funds in Canada during the past three years and the increase in the number of Zionist contributors are among the phases of Zionist activity to be reported before the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Zionist Organization of Canada in Toronto on January 20 and 21.

Reports of both the president, A. J. Freiman, and the executive director, Rabbi Jesse Schwartz, will review in detail the progress of Zionist activities in the Dominion during the past three years.

Regional reports are to be presented by H. S. Rosenberg of Toronto for the Ontario Zionists, A. M. Shinebane for the Western Zionist division and S. E. Schwisberg of Montreal for the Eastern Zionists.

Building on Errors In Biro-Bidjan

plans for tens of thousands, and absorb actually only two or three thousand; to choose settlers with discrimination, to receive them under good conditions, prepare homes and proper living conditions for them, to foresee things and to prepare for them—this is the most important part of the work now.

Biro-Bidjan Not A Soviet Palestine

Sprach deals with the political aspects of the question, cautioning against an exaggerated Jewish nationalism.

"We must not allow the Jewish nationalist region to color the relations of the Jewish masses with the national coloring which the Jewish national bourgeois abroad and also in the Soviet countries will certainly attempt to do," he warns. "There have already been such who have described Bureya as the Soviet Palestine, an idea which is organically foreign to us."

Jewish Republic In Basic Soviet Scheme

Tadgieff says in his article that establishment of the Jewish autonomous region was no accident, and does not represent merely a declaration on the part of the Soviet government. It is a definite part of Soviet nationalist policy, he declares. He enumerates a number of the republics in Central Asia created in the last ten years. The Jewish nation belongs to those peoples who were most oppressed under Czarism, and therefore the liquidation of their economic and cultural inequality, the legacy of the old regime, has been one of the prime

Jaffa Joins Tel Aviv Fight Against Rent

Court Holds Ordinance of Jewish City Applicable to Twin Town

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—The fight against high rents in Palestine was extended from Tel Aviv to Jaffa when the court in the latter city ruled yesterday that the same ordinance protecting tenants from exorbitant rents is to be considered lawful also in Jaffa, a city adjoining Tel Aviv.

The court has nominated special officials to fix the maximum amount of rent which landlords in Jaffa should be authorized to demand. The maximum rental per room in Tel Aviv is ten dollars a month. This fee will probably be much smaller in Jaffa, where the buildings are all old and where there are no modern improvements.

Revisionists Here Accept A.J.C. Bid

Decide at Initial Conference to Participate in Its April Elections

Participation in the April, 1935, elections for the enlarged American Jewish Congress was pledged in a resolution adopted yesterday by the first annual New York City Revisionist Conference at 122 Second avenue.

The two-day convention closed with a banquet last night at which Elias Ginsburg, chairman of the central executive committee, of the Revisionist Party, and Isaac Allen, chairman of the League for Jewish National Labor in Palestine, were to be the chief speakers.

Persecution of Zionists in Soviet Russia was scored in a resolution adopted during the day. Another resolution demanded the "unconditional release" of Aba Achimeier, imprisoned Palestinian Revisionist leader, and his friends.

The conference decided to undertake a city-wide drive for 5,000 new members and a campaign for Jewish national labor in Palestine.

Chernoff in Jerusalem

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—Victor Chernoff, leader of the Russian Social Revolutionary party, now in exile, arrived here today for a visit.

objects of the Soviet Government, he asserts.

The Soviet government, he writes, devoted itself from the beginning to questions of economic and cultural construction among the Jewish masses. As far back as 1918, it established a Jewish commissariat. Special land reserves in the Crimea, Ukraine and White Russia have been settled with 75,000 Jewish collective farmers; tens of thousands of Jewish youths work in industry there. The position of the Jewish workers in the small towns has been vastly improved. The writer also stresses the growth of Jewish schools, higher teaching institutions, theatres, clubs press and literature—all the result of the national policy of the government party. The intention of the Soviet government in designating Bureya as a Jewish autonomous region is to concentrate on a large area under favorable conditions compact Jewish masses, he declares.
