Puts Burden Of Exile Cost Upon League

McDonald Tells Refugee
Body it Must Finance
Work of Settling

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Feb. 12.—A demand that the League of Nations directly finance the settling of Jewish and other refugees from Germany and the Saar was sounded today at a meeting of the committee which the League of Nations has established to cooperate with James G. McDonald, the High Commissioner, in his work.

At today's session the committee approved of Mr. McDonald's plans to investigate the possibilities of the settling of refugees in South American countries. Mr. McDonald will reach South America early next month for the purpose of studying the immigration question there.

Addressing today's meeting, Mr. McDonald, as well as representative of the French government, emphasized that efforts to settle the refugees in various countries must be concentrated under the direct supervision of the League of Nations. This attitude was also supported by Lord Robert Cecil. "It is clear that the responsibility for the care and the settlement of the refugees must rest on the League," Mr. McDonald said in his address. "It is only through the League that the work can be effectively done. Hasn't the time come for the reaffirmation in the most unequivocal manner that the League is inescapably responsible in this whole matter of refugees?" Mr. McDonald asked.

Appeal Land Decision

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—An appeal to the Palestine High Court was lodged by the Palestine Jewish Colonization Association today, against the decision of the District Court in the land dispute between the PICA and Hedera Arabs.

Dr. Weitz Dead at 61

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—Dr. Naphtali Weitz, one of the oldest Jewish physicians in Palestine, died today at the age of 61. He came to Palestine as a pioneer many years before the World War.

Reveal Glasgow Realtors Bar Jews in Government Houses

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Feb. 12.—Revelations that anti-Jewish discriminations are practiced in Glasgow against tenants residing in buildings established with government funds were made in the House of Commons today by Col. John Buchan, M.P.

The British Parliamentarian wanted to know what steps had been taken by the government to prevent the repetition of such discriminations and whether it were true that the owners of the build-

100 Call Hunger Strike In Jerusalem Prison

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—More than a hundred Jews who were arrested for illegally entering Palestine went on a hunger strike at the Acre jail today, demanding a speedy trial.

The strikers demand either swift deportation from the country or permission to remain. They protest being kept in jail without standing trial since conditions there are unsanitary.

Attacks Upon Jews Continue In Vienna Press

Open Anti-Semitism of Nazi Paper Rouses
Apprehension

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
VIENNA, Feb. 12.—Apprehension was felt in Jewish circles here today because of severe anti-Jewish attacks which have appeared in a number of Nazi newspapers, publication of which is now permitted in Austria.

Fears arise from the fact that the Austrian government is now quite indifferent to the anti-Semitic propaganda which the Nazi press continues to feature. In their attacks today the Nazi newspapers demand a complete boycott against Jewish lawyers.

Today's anti-Jewish articles are published in papers subsidized by Dr. Walter Riehl, leader of the Nazi party in Austria. Dr. Riehl, in a signed article, writes that "anti-Semitism is naturally permitted in Austria and is not considered a movement against the government."

Predict King to Pardon Palestine Rioters of '29

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—Government amnesty for twenty Arabs and two Jews who were imprisoned for participating in the Palestine riots of 1929, in which many Jews were massacred by Arab mobs, is predicted in today's Hebrew press here.

The amnesty will be declared on the occasion of the silver jubilee of the King of England, with the intention of promoting peace between Jews and Arabs.

Arabs Seek To Cut Power Of Auster

Ask Third Vice-Mayor
as Ruse to Control Jerusalem Council

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—Further complications in the municipal council arose today when it became known that Daniel Auster, the Jewish vice-mayor, may not automatically replace Mayor Khalidi during his absence. At the same time Arab leaders submitted a demand that a third Christian Arab be nominated as additional vice-mayor in order to create a non-Jewish majority.

The demand for a third vice-mayor was submitted to District Commissioner of Jerusalem Campbell today, despite the fact that the Palestine government has officially promised that there would be two vice-mayors, one a Jew and one an Arab. It is predicted here that the government will reject the Arab demand.

A tacit agreement between the Jews and the Arabs that Auster was automatically to replace Mayor Khalidi during his absence has been ignored in the new by-laws referring to the mayoralty. These by-laws reserve to the High Commissioner the right to nominate a deputy during the absence of the Mayor.

The question as to whether Auster should occupy a special office in the municipal building has also not been settled and has created serious dissatisfaction among the Jews, in view of the fact that the vice-mayor's status has not yet been completely clarified.

Meat Control Plan Hits Polish Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, Feb. 12.—That Jews may be eliminated from livestock and fowl trading in Poland was held likely today when the government announced a project to control meat industries by the initiation of special licenses which will probably be issued through the industrial chambers.

Find New Fertilizer For Use in Palestine

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—Palestine Potash, Ltd., of which Moses Novomejsky is the principal director, yesterday announced the discovery of a new method of preparing sulphate potash for fertilizing Palestine soil.

The discovery will eliminate the need of importing chemical fertilizer from Germany for the orange plantations here, for which Palestine spends at least $100,000 a year.

Magnes Resumes Duties

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—Dr. Judah L. Magnes, Chancellor of Hebrew University, today returned to his duties, fully recovered from an operation which he underwent in Tel Aviv. He was away from the University for a month.

Poland Obligated To Guard Rights Of Minorities

Simon Tells Commons
Pact Repudiation
Is Invalid

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Feb. 12.—Rights guaranteed to national minorities in Poland under the League of Nations will have to be observed by the Polish government despite its repudiation of international treaties, Sir John Simon, British Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared in the House of Commons today.

The declaration came as a reply to an interpellation made in the House of Commons with regard to the announcement which Polish Foreign Minister Beck made before the League of Nations in Geneva last Autumn that Poland would

Palestine to Get Huge Cement Plant

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 12.—Establishment of a new cement factory with a capital of $1,200,000 was announced here today by a group of Polish-Russian Jews. The announcement states that 3,000 dunams of land have been acquired by the group as a site for the factory. The manager of the company is proceeding to Poland to complete the final arrangements.

Halt Streicher Medical Publicity, Reich Health Leaders Ask Hitler

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
BERLIN, Feb. 12.—A strongly worded complaint has been lodged with Adolph Hitler against Julius Streicher, notorious Nazi Jew-baiter, for his public demands that no medical inventions by Jews be used in Germany, it was learned here today.

The complaint is signed by the Health Commissar of the Reich and by health commissars of five German states. The health officials point out in their protest that while Streicher may be correct in

Jabotinsky Sees Zionist Pact Violated

Holds Executive Blocks
Entry; Scores Tel
Hai Warning

Charging the World Zionist Executive with "deliberate infringement both in spirit and in letter" of the peace pact signed between himself and David Ben Gurion in London, Vladimir Jabotinsky, leader of the Zionist Revisionist party yesterday announced that "any further peace negotiations with the present Zionist Executive alone would be futile." Mr. Jabotinsky demands in his statement that a round table conference of all Zionist parties be called. Otherwise, he warns, "peace within Zionism is in greater danger than ever before."

The charges of the Executive's breach of faith are founded on Jabotinsky's contention that obstacles are still being placed in the path of Revisionists who seek immigration certificates to Palestine. Mr. Jabotinsky also contends that the warning recently issued by the Executive against supporting the Tel Hai fund which the Revisionists have established is a violation of the London agreement. Another charge which Mr. Jabotinsky makes is that the Zionist Executive intends to change the printed text of the "shekolim." The reason for this projected change, Jabotinsky asserts, is to convert the shekel into a narrow partisan membership and thus make Revisionist participation in the next Zionist Congress impossible.

Text of Statement

The text of Mr. Jabotinsky's statement follows:

"One of the three agreements concluded in London, at Mr. Rutenberg's initiative, between Mr. Ben Gurion on behalf of the Zionist Executive and myself on behalf of the Revisionist Union, stipulated that both sides should suspend certain reprisals against each other, namely:

"1.—The Zionist Executive should suspend the ban on Betar certificates, restoring all the rights of the Betar with regard to Hachshara and Aliya;

"2.—The Revisionist Union and the Betar should suspend the boycott of the Zionist Funds.

"It now appears that the Zionist Executive has failed to carry out its obligations: unsurmountable

The Daily News Letter

The Troubles of Rumania

By Our Bucharest Correspondent

BUCHAREST.

Since the Autumn of 1928, when the National Peasant Party, led by Dr. Maniu, ousted the Liberals, after the first free elections the country had experienced since the war, Rumania has lived through three further elections, twelve Governments, the return of the King, and a severe economic and financial crisis.

Today, although the income of her 17,500,000 odd inhabitants is less than half that of 1928, and although public finances, owing to chronic budgetary deficits, are in a parlous state, Rumania has hardly any unemployed. The number of persons without work is only about 20,000. Four-fifths of her inhabitants are practically self-supporting peasants, and many of the remainder could probably go back to the land.

The late Government's policy of maintaining the price of grain at a level which yields a moderate return to the producers has given reasonably good results, and since the peasants have also had their debts reduced by half and made payable over a period of seventeen years by law they are now much better off than they were a year ago. Recovery in the towns has, however, been much slower, and more disaffection exists there than in the village.

Most of the malcontents—hard hit creditors, unpaid government contractors, employes whose salaries had been reduced, and disgruntled politicians belonging to Opposition parties—are too ready to attribute their troubles to the political system, the government of the day, the predominance of Jews in business, the camarilla, and even the King. This attitude is not altogether reasonable, as the reduction in the national income and all its attendant ills are misfortunes largely outside government control. Nevertheless the frequent changes of Ministry and official mismanagement have not improved matters.

It is true that the country has better towns, roads, railways, and other public services than it had in 1928, but it is equally true that if successive governments had invariably put the country's interests first even better results could have been secured. None of the administrations from the Autumn of 1928 on can escape the charges of extravagance, corruption and even dishonesty. Recent budgets have been modest in relation to the size and population of the country. Nevertheless some of the money which has gone to the exchequer could either have been used to better purpose or taxation could have been reduced in proportion. The practice of giving party supporters government jobs, which are often specially created, has brought into being an unnecessarily unwieldy state apparatus. At least 50,000 of the 225,000 government officials could be discharged without loss. About half the present budget is spent on salaries.

The more energetic of the malcontents of all classes continue to swell the ranks of the Extreme Right and the Extreme Left. The numbers of adherents of these movements are difficult to estimate, since the Iron Guard, representing the Extreme Right (the remaining political groups of the Extreme Right being of small account), and the Communist Party, representing the Extreme Left, have been driven underground and are not legally recognized as official political bodies. In any case, the Communists could count at most on the support of some of the industrial workers and perhaps a few peasants. The Iron Guard, if it came to action, would probably have to rely almost entirely on its following of students and unemployed intellectuals.

Although the censorship has on some occasions served the purpose of cloaking official shortcomings, the late government appeared to be doing its best in the face of great difficulties. A substantial reduction in the service of the Rumanian external debt (amounting to an effective saving of 1,313,000,000 lei, during the current financial year) had been obtained, but only time will show whether it will result in a balanced budget, since besides a deficit of some 3,000,000,000 lei, the revenue now being collected is still short of requirements. Constant borrowing from the National Bank and postponement of payments to contractors cannot continue indefinitely, and although the projected internal loan may afford relief drastic measures may have to be taken to avert disaster.

It is to be hoped that the simplification of the state apparatus and the so-called revision of state officials, which the late government had initiated, may be carried on. The object of this reform is to dismiss all civil servants who have been appointed contrary to existing regulations. The revision of officials would be a step in the right direction, if it were impartially applied and party interests were disregarded.

Between the Lines

By B. SMOLAR

The End of an Armistice

Jews interested in Palestine, whether Zionists or non-Zionists, will study carefully the statement made yesterday by Vladimir Jabotinsky, breaking off further negotiations for peace with the present Zionist Executive and demanding a round table conference of representatives of all groups.

Whether one agrees or disagrees with Mr. Jabotinsky's theories, the charges which he voices against the Executive are grave. Mr. Jabotinsky accuses the Executive of violating the peace pacts signed recently in London and thus throws upon the Executive the blame for destroying the possibilities for Zionist unity.

Waiting for a Reply

We still have to hear what the Executive has to reply to Mr. Jabotinsky's charges. From a distance it is difficult to establish whether there is any justification for the complaint that the Revisionists are still not receiving immigration certificates for Palestine, to which they are entitled under the London agreement.

Similarly, very little is known in this country as to the intentions of the Executive with regard to changing the printed text of the Zionist shekel, which Mr. Jabotinsky asserts "will be converted into a partisan membership card."

Party Funds and J. N. F.

Somewhat clearer is the complaint about the warning issued by the Executive against the Revisionist Tel Hai fund. This warning coincided with Mr. Jabotinsky's arrival to America to stimulate a campaign for this particular fund. The Executive is, therefore, open to the suspicion of having to spoil Jabotinsky's mission to the United States.

It was perhaps unfortunate that the Executive issued its Tel Hai statement at a time when all groups in the Zionist movement were on the road to unity. After all, the Jewish National Fund and the Keren Hayesod are little affected if the Revisionists, in addition to supporting these two funds, also indulge in their own partisan collections. Such collections have been made for years by the Mizrahi and by the Laborites and have not harmed the Zionist Funds in the slightest.

War Again?

With the sessions of the Actions Committee scheduled to take place next April, it would be wise for leaders of the various Zionist factions to acquaint themselves fully with Jabotinsky's charges against the Executive, in order once and forever to bring definite recommendations to the Actions Committee. There is a good deal to be said in favor of the suggestion that the negotiations which the Executive is carrying on with various Zionist groups be turned into round table discussions. The Actions Committee can decide whether this should be done. It would be a grave mistake for the committee to permit the internal party strife to flare up again in a much stronger form than ever, particularly with the next Zionist Congress only a few months off.

One Year Ago

LONDON.—Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, warned that Great Britain would oppose any attempt to interfere with Austrian affairs.

Arrest Students Who Besieged Wilno Offices

Used Spectacular Means in Asking Community Pay College Fees

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

WILNO, Feb. 12.—Several Jewish students were arrested today on charges of leading a demonstration before the offices of the Jewish Community, demanding that the Community pay tuition for Jewish students in Wilno University, from which numerous Jewish students had been ousted for non-payment of fees.

The demonstrators besieged the Jewish Community offices and stationed guards at every entrance to the building. A delegation of ousted students then appeared before the Community officers and informed them that they would not be permitted by the demonstrators to leave the building until the matter of reinstating the ousted Jewish students in the university was settled satisfactorily.

The police, who arrived at the place of the demonstration, dispersed the demonstrators and arrested all of those who were found in the building. A special police guard was then placed before the offices of the Jewish Community in order to prevent any possible clashes.

Medical Diplomas To Be Denied Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—No Jewish student will henceforth be permitted to graduate as doctor or dentist in Germany, it is reported today in the Frankfurter Zeitung.

The Zeitung reports that Dr. Frick, German Minister of the Interior, has issued new regulations which will not permit any non-Aryan to take final 'diploma' examinations in the universities. These restrictions are to be applied especially to those non-Aryan students who wish to receive diplomas for practicing medicine and dentistry, the regulations provide.

Louis Moreau Gottschalk, nineteenth-century American musician, wrote some of his most important compositions at the age of sixteen.

Urges Posts Here For Exiled Scholars

The establishment of endowed chairs at American universities for Jewish scholars ousted from Germany is urged in an article published in The New Republic, entitled "Jews Out of Germany":

Mr. McDonald estimates that some 4,500 professional men and women, teachers, technicians and students, have left Germany, but that of this number less than 2,000 have found permanent posts, a number of them, oddly enough, in Turkey, where the government is seeking to establish a modern educational system. Although many of these professional people are distinguished scholars and eminent experts in their fields, it is difficult to fit them into academic and professional circles in other countries. University and research budgets are strictly limited in these days and to give a post to a German scholar usually means that the native scholars have to make up his salary by reductions in their own.

As Professor Norbert Wiener cogently points out in an article in The Jewish Advocate, this is not a method of helping German refugees but of spreading anti-foreignism and anti-Semitism. The remedy is enlarged endowments (though Dr. Alvin Johnson has done a notable piece of work with limited funds at the New School for Social Research, New York City), and those who would like at one stroke to aid the refugees and advance learning could do no better than back The Jewish Advocate's campaign to establish endowed chairs at American universities for these emigre scholars.

Would Encourage Migration to Syria

Should Jews be encouraged to settle in Syria?

The Philadelphia Jewish Exponent, in an editorial, answers this question in the affirmative. The paper writes:

The report from Beirut to the effect that German refugees and possibly Jews from other parts of Europe, will be permitted to settle in Syria, though not altogether unexpected, is, nevertheless, welcome. Investigations conducted in recent years in neglected parts of Europe, in South America, in other parts of the world, have shown that with few exceptions the Near East affords the best opportunity for Jewish settlement. Palestine is doubtless the ideal place. Official reports from that ancient country reveal the extraordinary fact that the absorptive capacity of the land appears to become greater as its Jewish population increases.

It is natural that the adjoining countries, Syria, Iraq, Transjordan, should desire to join in the progress and the development of their neighbor. Jews unable to go to Palestine are willing to settle in these countries. They should be given every opportunity to do so.

We knew extra richness would make milk more popular with everyone. That's why we worked for months in the dairy country to make possible this superior milk. We demanded that special "cream-producing" cows be added to the herds. We insisted that all cows must be tuberculin-tested. We increased our staff of veterinarians so that these Golden Crest herds could be under our constant scientific supervision. The result is a milk that gives Borden's Golden Crest customers greater value for every penny they spend.

Reich Art Body Absent at Rites For Liebermann

Academy Not Represented at Great Artist's Berlin Funeral

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
BERLIN, Feb. 12.—Not a single representative of the German Academy of Art was present at the funeral yesterday of Max Liebermann, famed Jewish artist and former president of the Prussian Academy of Art, who died last Saturday at the age of 87. Professor Liebermann was buried at the Old Jewish Cemetery in the Schoenhausen-Allee.

The funeral was attended by about 100 persons. Among them were Professor Saurbrunn and his wife and the former vice-president von Kardorff. No representative of the German authorities participated in the last rites.

The Jewish Community of Berlin was represented at the funeral by Dr. Stahl, president, and Dr. Klee, vice president of the Community. A wreath was laid on Liebermann's grave by the union of Jewish War Veterans.

Karl Scheffler, outstanding German art critic, delivered a short eulogy at the grave. "Professor Liebermann," he said, "was the distinguished beacon which directed the course of German art. With Liebermann's death now, a distinct period of cultural life is disappearing. The deceased will be remembered by all art lovers in Germany and by German artists."

Rabbi Dr. Warschauer delivered a eulogistic sermon. Among those attending the funeral services were also Dr. Max Friedlaender, Jewish director of the State Museum, and Max Osborn, well known German-Jewish critic.

Reich Press Pays Tribute to Artist

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—While the Voelkischer Beobachter, Hitler's organ today termed Professor Max Liebermann "as a Marxist artist," other newspapers in Germany paid high tribute to Liebermann's memory.

The Frankfurter Zeitung carries an article by the famous art critic Ernst Benckard, that Professor Liebermann's works will last and his name will never be forgotten as one of the greatest exponents of German art.

The Voelkischer Beobachter describes Professor Liebermann's works as "remote from racial conception" and as "over estimated." The Nazi paper asserts that in recent years Professor Liebermann's paintings became "increasingly empty." The paper also claims that Professor Liebermann opened the Prussian Art Academy to decadent influences in art at the time he was president of the Academy.

London Times Gives Liebermann High Praise

LONDON, Feb. 12.—"Few lives could more vividly reflect the change in Germany than that of Professor Max Liebermann," the London Times says today, paying high tribute to Professor Liebermann's memory.

The paper devotes a full column to the analysis of Liebermann's works, praising him highly for his "monumental contribution" to the world of art.

Warsaw Jobless Storm Community

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

WARSAW, Feb. 12.—Shouting for food, hundreds of Jewish unemployed stormed the offices of the Jewish Community of Warsaw today, demanding that its leaders save them and their families from hunger.

The disturbance attracted large crowds of foreigners and non-Jews. The Executive of the Jewish Community announced that the community was compelled to close its free kitchens for lack of funds.

Tel Aviv Plans Fund For Delinquent Youth

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

TEL AVIV, Feb. 12.—A special fund to take care of delinquent children in Tel Aviv will be established under the name of Keren Hayesod, it was announced here today by the municipality. About one thousand donors to this fund are expected to contribute sixty dollars each. The fund will be under the supervision of the municipal council.

Jail Polish Editor For Libeling Jews

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

WARSAW, Feb. 12.—Stanislaw Dolacki, editor of a National Democratic anti-Semitic newspaper, was sentenced today to four months imprisonment for an article in which he accused the Jews of deserting the Polish army during the Soviet invasion of Poland in 1920.

Jabotinsky Sees Zionist Peace Pact Violated

Holds Executive Blocks Entry; Scores Tel Hai Warning

obstacles are still being placed, almost in every country, in the way of the Betar Halutzim applying for certificates.

"On the other hand, the Jewish Agency has issued a statement calculated to obstruct the success of the Tel Hai Fund—an obviously unloyal act since we have, under the agreement, stopped all attacks of the Funds of the Zionist Organization.

"At the same time, the Zionist Executive has announced its intention to change the text to be printed on the Shekalim, thus attempting to transform the Shekel, created by Herzl as a symbol of adherence to the Basle program, into a narrow partisan membership card. There are, moreover, soon to be expected further steps in the same direction, deliberately calculated to render participation in the Zionist Congress inconsistent with the political conscience of Revisionists, and so to ensure forever the domination of the Socialist wing. And all this is being done in a hurry, before the resumption of the peace negotiations so solemnly promised, with the obvious intention to make such negotiations useless and impossible.

Further Talks 'Futile'

"These deliberate infringements by the Zionist Executive of both the letter and the spirit of the London agreements are conclusive proof that any further peace negotiations with that Executive alone would be futile; and that the only hope of reaching some kind of stable accord between the various Zionist bodies is to convene a round table conference of all Zionist parties, especially as the present Zionist Executive does not represent such important groups as the Mizrahi and the section 'B' of General Zionists.

"I warn all those who are sincerely anxious for a united Zionist front that, unless they all join in protest against these tactics of unloyal sabotage and in the demand for a round table conference, peace with Zionism is in greater danger than ever before.

"As to the Tel Hai Fund, whose reorganization was only completed in the middle of last year's Spring, its first annual report will be published after Passover; and it is more than unfair on the part of the Jewish Agency to insinuate, before such a report could be presented, doubts as to the Fund's activity in assisting the upbuilding of Palestine.

Upholds Palestine

"The Fund, despite all the handicaps inherent in any period of beginning, has already spent not inconsiderable sums in equipping the Kapat Cholim of the National Labor Union, in constructing dwelling - barracks for National workers in several colonies, and in several other directions; and a reserve gradually and steadily increasing, has been set aside for building the Union's headquarters at Tel Aviv as soon as a plot for this construction will, as we hope, be granted by the municipality. This has been done apart from the Fund's original function—the support of courses and camps training the Betar youth in the Diaspora to protect their people against pogroms; courses and camps from which, up to date, some four thousand sport instructors have graduated.

"The Tel Hai Fund enjoys great sympathies among the neutral Jewish masses in Eastern Europe. A striking example is the decision of the Vilna Jewish community to include into its budget a subsidy to the Keren Tel Hai—an example which will find followers.

Scope of Tel Hai Drive

"The next Tel Hai drive will be carried out, in Palestine, Europe and South Africa, in commemoration of Trumpeldor's death on Adar 11th. The drive will last from March 15th to March 18th. The following appeal to all members of the Revisionist Union, the Brith Trumpeldor, and the Brith Hachayal (Veterans' Union) has been issued in this connection:

"Prepare for exceptional 'Giyus' (mobilization) with regard to the 11th of Adar. The bulk of the collected sums will be used to strengthen the National Labor Union in Palestine which we intend to develop into the decisive factor securing the principles of arbitration and class partnership within the Yishuv.

"To the Jewish Agency's attack on the Tel Hai Fund you will answer by establishing a record of collections never reached by any other fund."
