Will Not Expel Jews, Schuschnigg States

Denies Anti-Semitic Policy in London Interview

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Feb. 27.—Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, Austrian Chancellor, prior to his departure for Vienna last night, issued a lengthy statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency dealing with the Jewish tradition in Austria and with the charges that the present Austrian government has adopted an anti-Semitic policy.

In his statement Dr. Schuschnigg declared that the Austrian government has no intention whatsoever of expelling East European Jews from the country, as has been reported.

Socialists Ousted

"The administration of the City of Vienna was quite justified in ousting certain elements from its system, but this was not done for anti-Semitic reasons. It was done chiefly because of the need to eliminate Socialists," Dr. Schuschnigg said.

The Chancellor denied that the measures which are now being taken by the Austrian government and which affect the Jewish population are aimed chiefly against the Jews.

"All measures taken have no reference at all to religion," he explained. "They were necessitated by political and economic reasons only."

Referring to the drastic anti-Jewish attacks now conducted in the press in Austria, Chancellor Schuschnigg said that "the Jews have their own press and are able to reply to these attacks."

"The government cannot be partial," Dr. Schuschnigg explained. "It acts regularly by confiscating the anti-Semitic newspapers when they overstep the limits in attacking the Jews. But the Jews have a right to hold public meetings and can reply publicly to the charges made against them by the anti-Jewish press."

With regard to the mass dismissals of Jewish doctors and other municipal and state employees, Dr. Schuschnigg denied

Rumanian Law On Jobs Target Of Protest Here

Society Tells Legation It Is Determined to See Justice Done

The United Rumanian Jews of America yesterday made representations to the Rumanian Legation in this country protesting the discrimination against Jews implicit in the new National Labor Law recently enacted in Rumania.

The organization addressed a communication to the Legation for transmission to Minister of Foreign Affairs Nicholas Titulescu. The letter, signed by Leo Wolfson, president, and Herman Speier, secretary, follows:

"The manner in which the law is being applied is deliberately seeking to take away the means of a livelihood from the Jews. It affects those who are Rumanian citizens in like manner as those whose status is that of Rumanian subjects. Although under the constitution and civil law of Rumania, their rights to work and earn a

'Miracle Rebbe' Gets Big Warsaw Send-Off

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
WARSAW, Feb. 27.—The Warsaw railway station was converted into a scene of exotic Jewish dances today when the famous Sochaczewer rebbe, the "miracle rebbe" of Poland, left for Palestine.

Thousands of Chassidim, the followers of the rebbe, came to the station to see him off and performed religious Chassidic dances at the station before the train pulled out.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

Deputy Moutet's speech was devoted chiefly to the question of anti-foreign propaganda which is now growing in France and which has been arousing considerable apprehension among Jews. M. Moutet declared that the bill would definitely establish the rights of asylum for political, religious and

2 Arab Papers Are Suspended

Penalized by Palestine for Charging Jews Store Weapons

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 27.—Two Arab newspapers were suspended today by order of the authorities for three months each for leading a vigorous anti-Jewish campaign and charging that Jews are acquiring arms and munitions in Palestine. The papers are Al-Wahda, a daily, and Al-Shabab, a weekly.

The Arab drive against Jews has assumed serious proportions during the last week. Threatening letters have been sent to every Arab land owner warning him that he will be killed if he sells his land to Jews. The government is taking measures to investigate the threats and to establish their source.

Several Arabs were arrested in Nablus today for possessing German rifles. It is assumed that the threatening letters are spread from Nablus, headquarters of the Arab Youth Federation which is engaged in conducting propaganda against Jews.

Sails to Spur Cotton Exports For U.S. Abroad

Johnston Will Confer With Agents of Germany

Oscar Johnston of Scott, Miss., sailed yesterday on the S.S. Manhattan for Europe as an official representative of the United States government to survey the possibilities of increasing American export trade. His activities will be concentrated on improving the export situation for agricultural products, principally cotton.

Mr. Johnston will first stop in London where he will confer with governmental and business representatives. Then he is scheduled to visit countries on the continent. It is expected that among the countries he is to visit will be Germany where he will survey the possibilities of increasing the sales of American cotton. In the event he does not visit Germany, it is definitely understood that Mr. Johnston will confer with representatives of German textile interests.

The efforts to increase American cotton sales abroad, particularly to Germany, follows on

May Announce That Jewish Problem Is Solved

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
BERLIN, Feb. 27.—An official announcement that the Jewish problem has been solved by existing governmental measures eliminating or curbing Jews in various walks of life is being considered in government circles, it was learned here today.

Such an announcement would bring to an end the incessant anti-Jewish agitation which is still being conducted against the Jews despite the various drastic measures which have been adopted against them.

It is pointed out that such an announcement is the maximum the Jews may expect. A reversal of Nazi policy cannot be looked for. Anti-Semitism is such a fundamental part of Nazi doctrine that any reversal would seriously embarrass and shake Nazi authority.

Would Pacify Jews Abroad

It is believed that such an announcement from the heart of the government would go a long way toward pacifying Jewish sentiment abroad. The Jewish population of Germany would be given opportunity to adjust themselves to the new conditions created by the Nazi regime and the cessation of anti-Semitic propaganda would allay the fears of Jewish communities abroad about the spread of anti-Semitism outside German borders. Such an announcement, it is hoped, would take the wind out of the anti-Nazi movement.

For some time past, certain official circles have disavowed the extreme anti-Semitic propaganda as indulged in by Julius Streicher, the Nazi chief of Nuremberg. It has been pointed out that the German government should not be held responsible for purely local activities such as those carried on by Streicher in Franconia. The various decrees and declarations issued by cabinet ministers against Jews in the field of business are more representative of the government policy than Der Stuermer, Streicher's violently anti-Semitic organ. The government is mainly concerned with curbing the political and cultural influence of the Jewish element, it is declared, and it is not anxious to deprive the Jewish element of its economic opportunities.

Economic Crisis in Palestine Is Predicted by London Times

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Feb. 27.—That an economic crisis in Palestine is imminent is predicted today in the London Times in a lengthy review of the Palestine situation.

The Jewish immigrants are arriving in Palestine faster now than they can be economically disposed of, the Times states. They are congesting the cities. At the same time land speculation in Palestine continues on the craziest scale, causing grave anxiety even among responsible Zionists.

The Times warns against the "inflated prices" which prevail in Palestine and declares that they are a serious handicap to the future development of the country.

"The Palestine government does not yet expect an economic setback in the country on account of the flow of capital, but it is nevertheless prepared with a program for public works in every eventuality," the article discloses.

The Times points out that it is noticeable that complaints against restriction of Jewish immigration into Palestine have been less vehement recently. The German Jews who arrive in Palestine have a stabilizing influence there, it observes.

The article concludes with a pessimistic note as to the possibility of solving the problem of Arab-Jewish relations.

Warburg Feted by Hebrew U.; Confers on Holy Land Problems

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
JERUSALEM, Feb. 27.—Important Palestine problems were discussed at a conference today between Felix M. Warburg, Jewish leader in the United States, and Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, High Commissioner of Palestine.

A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Warburg was given today by the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, of which Mr. Warburg is one of the chief sponsors. Leaders of all the central Jewish organizations in Palestine were present at the reception. M. Ussishkin, head of the Jewish National Fund, in a speech welcoming Mr. Warburg to Palestine urged that a Jewish agricultural college be established at Hebrew University.

Dr. Judah L. Magnes, dean of the university, conducted Mr. Warburg on a tour of the different departments. Mr. Warburg leaves today on an inspection trip of the Jewish settlements. He will also visit the Ruthenberg electric power plant. He will sail from Palestine on Friday.

Give Reasons for Third Appeal

By Our London Correspondent

LONDON.

Lady Erleigh and Leonard G. Montefiore, joint chairmen of the third appeal which is to be launched by the Central British Fund for German Jewry at an inaugural meeting to be held on Sunday, March 10, addressed a press conference here, at which they explained why a third appeal is essential.

"The position is that the money from the second appeal has been allocated although not all expended," Mr. Montefiore said. "We are obliged to find more money for the refugees, and it is appeal.

"The first charge is for the refugees in England, in respect of whom a pledge was given to the Home Office in the Spring of 1933 that no Jewish refugee shall become a public charge. We have been reminded of this pledge by the Home Office and it must be honored, not only for the sake of the refugees, but also for the honor of the Jewish Community.

"We still have in the United Kingdom about 3,000 refugees. Most of them are registered at Woburn House, but there are some who are not registered at Woburn House, but have been supporting themselves with funds they were able to bring over with them from Germany. As these resources become exhausted, they will register with the Refugee Committee at Woburn House.

A certain number have received permission to start in business, and they are considerably contributing to the prosperity of the country. Many things are manufactured by them which have not been manufactured here before, and they have given employment to British workers. When it is considered that they have to use food, materials, etc., in this country, it is seen that they put fresh money into circulation and are thereby helping industrial development.

"Many Jews in England may feel when they hear that there is to be a third appeal, that they are tired of the subject. But I would like them to read and hear what is being circulated in Germany about the Jews, all the calumnies and insults. Then they must feel that they must do something. If Hitler goes on persecuting the Jews, we must do our best. If the Nazi hatred is strong, our desire to bring out the truth must be stronger still.

Lady Erleigh said: "We could not put our feeling for Palestine before that which we owe to German Jewry. We may perhaps be misunderstood in some quarters. But we must put our work on a solid basis. We cannot tell what is going to happen in Germany during the next year.

"If we launch a third appeal, we do our duty to the German Jews. People here, who have children, especially those who have children at the universities, must think of the children in Germany without hope.

"For the young people, Palestine is the refuge in the first place. What will be the effect on young people who cannot work? They will become rebels or crooks. It does not do Jewry any good if a great number of them are turned from the path. We must give them the hope of a good place in Palestine and in other countries. The largest number of them have gone to Palestine, and there they feel at home, they are settling down, and feel happy. We need an organization in Palestine to put the right peg in the right hole. I think if it works, we shall have stopped a great chaos.

"We have decided to make one big effort for a certain period of time. We will make March the month for German Jewry. I want to stress this very much. Much preliminary work has already been done. I hope everybody will help. We have no guarantee that there might not be a fourth appeal. But the German community had its worst shock in the beginning. We hope to liquidate the position of the 30,000 refugees all over Europe."

At the same conference, Rev. M. L. Perlzweig said that the principal upon which the money is spent is constructive work. An amount for sheer relief in England and abroad has been necessary. But so far as possible the Allocation Committee has used the money for solving the problem.

"There is a matter of interest to Zionists," he went on. "When the preliminary list is published, it will be found that the Keren Hayesod for the coming year, in England, will receive—on account of a donation of one contributor—a larger allocation than previously. So far England is the only country where the income of the Keren Hayesod has remained stationary. But it is to be pointed out that the influx of German refugees into Palestine has added a greater stress.

"I would like to emphasize," he said, "that this is a united appeal, in every respect of the word. Zionists feel to the fullest extent their duty together with non-Zionists for fully carrying out the pledge. Every Jew must feel that it is not only a duty to himself, but that he must also induce his friends to give.

"The information we have received from Dr. Weizmann's Bureau is that since the beginning of the trouble in Germany about 20,000 German Jews have settled in Palestine. If we are supported enough in England, in the course of the coming year, we hope to settle 15,000 more—as a result of the work done all over the world."

Status Quo in Germany

The Jewish situation in Germany is again beginning to attract attention, this time because of the utterances of certain Nazi leaders that it is high time to consider the Jewish problem in Germany solved.

When the Nazi theoreticians included in their program the so-called "Aryan" paragraph, they wanted to oust the Jews from the government machinery and from the cultural and political life of the country. This, they claim, has now been achieved. Germany no longer feels any Jewish influence.

The only field in Germany in which the Jews are still active is the field of commerce. Here the Jews cannot be touched. The application of the "Aryan" paragraph to commerce would definitely lead to collapse of the entire German commercial system. It would increase the army of unemployed Germans. It would cause dissatisfaction among the middle class, which buys its goods cheaper in Jewish stores than in "Aryan" stores. It would hamper the development of German trade.

The Industrialist Pressure

Thus the leading industrialists in Germany, who practically control Hitler's actions, now consider it opportune to impress upon the Nazi leaders the necessity once and forever to declare that the Jews will no longer be molested in Germany. Once such a declaration is made, German industry will benefit not only within the country but also abroad. The boycott of German goods abroad will cease, German exports will increase. Jews will again represent German firms in foreign countries. The lost market will be recovered. Factories in Germany will again begin operating. Employment will increase. The world will learn to realize that the Germans are not as brutal as it had been assumed. More sympathy for Germany will be gained in international politics. Confidence will be restored to German credit. There will be more opportunity to obtain loans abroad. There will be no necessity to burden the German taxpayers with new taxes.

The pressure of the industrialists in regard to the Jewish question seems still to find opposition in the ranks of the Nazi party. This opposition is, however, daily growing weaker. It has especially diminished during the last two weeks when a German delegation returned from the United States with the disappointing report that no loans can be obtained from this country under the present state of affairs in Germany.

Milder winds are therefore to be expected in Germany as far as the treatment of the Jews is concerned. The notorious Julius Streicher will still continue his Jew-baiting publication with its libelous anti-Jewish accusations, but this will not be the policy of the government. The government press will restrict itself to a more dignified tone than that of Streicher's "Stuerner."

Armistice But Not Peace

The status quo situation with regard to the Jews in Germany is, however, far from being a solution to the Jewish problem there, and will hardly satisfy Jewish leaders abroad. It may be true that Jews in commerce will remain undisturbed, but that does not settle the question of those who have been ousted from their positions as doctors, lawyers, journalists, professors and scientists. What about the re-

World Press Digest

'More General Zionists, Less Zionist Generals'

The American Jewish Outlook of Pittsburgh, in an editorial entitled, "More General Zionists and Less Zionist Generals," states:

To get into Palestine today, it is not enough to be a Jew. One must be a Revisionist, a believer in capitalism; or one must be a Socialist, depending on which group happens to control the admission at the moment. Only recently did Jabotinsky, the Revisionist, and Ben-Gurion, the leader of the labor faction agree. Yes, they agreed on the uselessness of having any further meetings to bring about peace! This is the type of unity we have today. Even in the United States, where we should remain general Zionists instead of taking sides with stubborn factions, we find Zionism broken up.

Liverpool Daily Defines Duties of Judaism

The Liverpool Post, daily of Liverpool, England, writing on "Religion and World Problems," says:

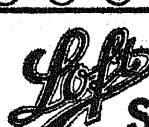

Morality was the first problem with which Judaism must concern itself. Today, when the moral standards that had come down in the traditions from the strictions with regard to Jewish students? What about the restoration of the Jews to their normal citizenship rights?

The Jews of the world can accept a status quo in Germany only on a basis for further negotiations to restore German Jews to full citizenship rights. Only as an act of armistice, and not as a permanent peace. Real peace between the Jews of the world and the Nazi Reich can only be achieved when the Jews in Germany will be given back those rights of which they have been deprived.

past had lost their authoritative character, it was necessary for them to think out anew the Jewish views of marriage and divorce. An old idea gaining new currency in the intellectual confusion of our time, that religion and ethics were completely separated, could have no place in Jewish teaching.

Religion must be concerned, too, with the social problem and peace problem, and must want solutions that would accord with its spiritual and moral principles. It must oppose all attempts at a solution which ignored these, and that was why Judaism, and all religion, must oppose Fascism and Communism, both of which denied the spiritual worth of man.

Avoid Mistakes Of Reich Jews, Einstein Warns

Speaks at Reception by AJC Women; 2,000
Attend

A warning that the Jews must learn a lesson from the Jewish situation in Germany was sounded at the Hotel Commodore yesterday by Professor Albert Einstein at a reception in his honor by the women's division of the American Jewish Congress, at which 2,000 persons were present. Mrs. Nathan D. Perlman, presided.

"At this time," Professor Einstein said, "the unity of Jews the world over and their mutual assistance is an unyielding law. Would that all Jews would learn from the mistakes of the German Jews during the last twenty years! For most of the German Jews there existed no international Jewish community. In their own eyes they were Germans and nothing but Germans. The Eastern Jew, the so-called 'Ostjude' was to them but a foreigner. When aid was given, it was administered to him with condescension. And the recipient of such charity was not too happy."

Copied Modes Slavishly
"Slavishly these German Jews copied the still foreign-to-them modes of life of the German people with the sole purpose of making themselves forgetful of their Jewish origin. How greatly did I suffer under this lack of pride and dignity on the part of these German Jews who were so lacking in self-respect that they were insensible to its loss."

"A single political upheaval was sufficient to destroy all their illusions," Professor Einstein continued. "In a single moment they lost all those insecure possessions whose acquisition was bought at the sacrifice of their inner dignity and their traditional historical individuality. Materially and spiritually broken, the help of those Jews abroad, who did not admit of such a ruinous course of assimilation, became their sole protection."

Urges Institution
"Learn from the destiny which has befallen the German Jews and preserve your independence by the creation of an appropriate institution which you will need in the hour of oppression. Do not trust that this hour will never come, but keep the international community of all Jews sacred and holy! In this way, you will serve best the interests of international relations, for integrity and honesty is sorely needed everywhere."

"With this consideration in mind, I greet with especial delight and satisfaction the unselfish work of the women's division of the American Jewish Congress in their establishment of a home for exiled Jews. All respect for the tireless work of Mrs. Stephen S. Wise who prepared the home with such love and sympathetic understanding. Everyone who is received there, will never forget what brotherly solidarity means for those Jews who remained steadfast and upright," Professor Einstein concluded.

Other speakers at the reception included Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Sholom Asch, distinguished writer, and Dr. Stephen S. Wise, honorary president of the American Jewish Congress.

$50,000 Outlay for Harbor At Haifa Approved by Britain

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
LONDON, Feb. 27.—The British Government has approved a $50,000 expenditure for further development of the harbor at Haifa, Palestine, it was stated today in the House of Commons by Sir Cunliffe Lister, the Colonial Secretary.

Detailed plans for extending the development of the Haifa harbor are now in the hands of the Colonial Office, Sir Cunliffe said.

The government is also cooperating with the Ministry of Industry on certain plans to improve the export of Palestinian oranges to other countries, the Colonial Secretary informed the House of Commons.

The House of Commons was also informed that extensive measures are under way to meet the requirements for storing citrus fruits in Palestine, which would be of great assistance to the Palestine export trade.

Reich Ponders Edict to Halt Drive on Jews

AJC, Anti-Nazi League Cable Replies to Lippert Speech

On the other hand, anti-Semitic activities in various parts of the country have again been on the increase lately. It is true that Jewish business men in certain branches have fared better than a year ago. This is true particularly of the textile branch, because of the scarcity of available raw material and of those industries which work for the German army. It is also partly due to the hidden inflation which characterize the monetary situation in Germany which induces many to make purchases in preference to holding on to their marks.

The various decrees which are cited in government circles do not necessarily represent a change of heart. The economic position of Germany is such that further measures against the Jewish business element would lead to new complications. Nevertheless Jewish circles here would welcome an official announcement that the Jewish problem is solved, bringing about a cessation of further anti-Semitic agitation. Such an announcement would be on a par with the government's proclamation that the revolution is ended. It would usher in a period of more calm and peace than the Jewish population has so far enjoyed.

AJC Refutes Lippert On 'Jewish Boycott'

The allegation made Tuesday by Dr. Julius Lippert, State Commissioner for Berlin, at a meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin, that the boycott against German goods in the United States is a "Jewish boycott" was denied yesterday in a cablegram sent to the Chamber by the American Jewish Congress and made public by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, honorary president.

"The United States boycott is a spontaneous reaction of the American people of all faiths and races to Hitler terrorism against all groups in Germany," the cable says. "Four million American associated with the American Federation of Labor have twice in the past two years reaffirmed adherence to the boycott. Members of the Catholic and Protestant churches practice boycott as rightful exercises of their abhorrence of a government which has returned to medieval barbarism. The office of the High Commission for German Refugees created by the League of Nations is an incontestable evidence of the ruin visited by Nazism upon many of its citizens. Jews from only small percentage of many millions refusing to do business with Nazi Germany."

U. S. Industry Gained

Referring to Mr. Lippert's statement concerning the loss to America, the cable points out that the leading department stores as well as the United States Chambers of Commerce affirm that American industry has shown a rise of from thirty to sixty per cent in new industries making products formerly bought from Germany.

"The statements by Dr. Lippert concerning conditions affecting Jews in Germany are brazenly Nazi," the cable continues. "The economic, cultural and political life of Jews is completely ruined in Germany by government acts. Even if the economic life of German Jews were not in danger, civilized nations would still rise up against an infamous injury perpetrated against the many Jews in the German Reich."

The cable concludes by stating that Dr. Lippert's and Dr. Schacht's statements are "typical of the Nazi policy of issuing molli-fying statements for foreign consumption while relentlessly pursuing oppression against liberals, labor, Catholics, Jews and all who cannot be imprisoned within Gleichschaltung."

The Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League of which Samuel Untermyer is president, also sent the following cable:

"Strongly protest Lippert's speech reported American press. Entirely unaccord facts. Boycott world non-sectarian movement supported labor, women, Masons, Catholics, Protestants, Jews. Economic conclusions fallacious, tendentious, misleading. American headquarters unwilling to risk chances further restriction exports. Find barter plan unsound, cumbersome, unsafe. Further press reports same date show complete hypocrisy Lippert's statement regarding position Jews, German industry, commerce."

The cablegram was signed for the league by George Harriman, secretary.

Speaks at Einstein Fete

Dr. Wise, speaking at a reception afternoon to Professor Albert Einstein, amplified on the statement in the A. J. C. cable as follows:

"Nothing could be false than to allege that there is a 'Jewish boycott' in the United States against Nazi goods and services, and this Dr. Lippert knows right well. If three per cent of the population of the United States, which is the percentage of the Jewish population, were alone in boycotting Nazi goods and services, Nazi Germany would not find it worthwhile appealing for the cessation of the so-called 'Jewish boycott.'"

"As for being a 'Jewish boycott,' organized labor in America, speaking through the American Federation of Labor and its leaders, William Green, has renewed its pledge to abstain from relations of every kind with the government of a people, which has ruthlessly and savagely destroyed its own labor front. Millions of liberty-loving Catholics and Protestants join with the American Federation of Labor in refusing to touch or use Nazi wares and services as long as the Hitler-Rosenberg pagan war against religion continues, with the sanction and blessing of the Reichsfuehrer and his Streichers."

"One thing more remains to be said. We Jews do not wish to be Hitler's 'favorites.' We would rather be numbered among the victims of the Hitler war against freedom and justice than be singled out for economic favor at the hands of those who now seek to hurt us as we have never been hurt before. . . . They do not know the Jews. They do not know America. They do not know and understand the heart of free men. America cannot be Nazified into compromise with these hell-born forces which would save themselves and ere they go down to death, seek to destroy the moral and spiritual foundations of life itself."

Urge Executive Not to Change Shekel's Text

General Zionists Adopt Resolution at Meeting in Jerusalem

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, Feb. 27.—An extraordinary session of the Central Committee of General Zionists in Palestine adopted a resolution today against the contemplated change of the text of the Shekel, which entitles Zionist members to vote for delegates to the forthcoming World Zionist Congress.

"The Zionist Executive must retain the old text if it wishes to keep integrity within the Zionist movement," the resolution says.

The resolution emphasizes at the same time that the General Zionists are in a measure opposing the attitude of the Revisionists in not submitting to the internal discipline of the Zionist Organization.

The proposed change in the text of the Shekel was decided upon by the Zionist Executive in London without inquiring of the different Zionist groups as to whether such changes should be introduced. It is pointed out that the change in the text, if made, will make it impossible for the Zionist Revisionists to participate in the next Congress.

racial refugees and that Jews need not worry over the fate of those Jewish refugees who are now in France, since they are not considered in the same category as foreigners who came to France willingly.

"The poisonous plant of anti-Semitism will not take root in France," M. Moutet assured the Federation. "Public opinion as well as the Parliament are well aware of the dangers of anti-Semitism. We do not plan to introduce any special policy against foreigners who seek refuge in our country."

livelihood is guaranteed, the Labor Law in substance, in effect and in the manner it is applied, ultimately aims to deprive these people of that right and actually forces them into a state of starvation.

"We are very much concerned over this state of affairs. We had hoped that your Excellency's intervention and the promises of the government would bar such a state of affairs from arising or existing. We are, however, faced with the facts, and we are sorry to say that we cannot and will not stand by in silence and see our fellow Jews annihilated in this manner. We will give them every possible assistance to see that justice is done, and that the rights guaranteed them by the Constitution are upheld and respected."
