

Move on Jews In Rumania Perils Parties

Dissolution May Result; See Dr. Vaída-Voevod Stepping Down

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) BUCHAREST, March 8.—The growing anti-Semitic movement in Rumania, which assumes threatening proportions and is against the will of King Carol, may lead to the dissolution of all political parties in the country, it was stated here today.

At the same time it was announced that Dr. Vaída-Voevod, ex-Premier and the present leader of the anti-Jewish movement in the country, may have to resign from the National Peasant party in view of the opposition by leaders of his party to his anti-Jewish campaign.

The conservative elements in the Peasant party, as well as in other parties, are very much alarmed by the demands of their extremist groups, which are directed both against the Jews and against the present regime and which are not in the interests of the country, the Morgenblatt reports today.

The paper indicates that the implied threats to dissolve the political parties is another reason for growing alarm in the ranks of the conservative elements in the existing parties.

Election Delay By Congress Is Confirmed

New Date to Be Fixed at May Meeting, Says Executive

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) PARIS, March 8.—An official announcement was issued today by the executive committee of the World Jewish Congress, stating that the elections to the Congress will be postponed.

The announcement declares that the elections may yet take place in 1935, their exact date will be fixed at the next meeting of the executive, which will be held in May. The announcement is confirmation of a story released last week by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

"The postponement of the elections is necessary for technical reasons arising from reorganizing the election machinery, but the elections are absolutely possible at a later date," the committee statement declared.

Chief Rabbi Fajans Of Bialystok Is Dead

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) WARSAW, March 8.—David Fajans, Chief Rabbi of Bialystok and prominent leader of the Polish Mizrahi group of Zionists, died here today. His age was 78. The funeral will be held on Sunday, it was announced.

Appeal to Roosevelt Gets Warsaw Jew Visa

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) WARSAW, March 8.—An appeal to President Roosevelt resulted today in the granting of an American visa to a Polish Jewish legionnaire, Zadok Mendelsohn of this city. Mendelsohn had for months unsuccessfully applied for a visa. Having four brothers in the United States who are willing to guarantee that he will not become a public burden, the legionnaire sent a direct appeal to President Roosevelt. Today he was summoned to the consulate and was given his visa.

Polish Jewish Deputy Assails Voting Change

Rottenreich Requests Fractional Plan Be Retained

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) WARSAW, March 8.—An appeal to the constitutional committee of the Polish parliament to preserve the proportional election system in the new constitution, which gives the Jews an opportunity to be represented in the Parliament, was made today by the Jewish deputy, Dr. Rottenreich, at a session of the committee.

Dr. Rottenreich emphasized that proposed changes in the constitution "will make it impossible for Jews to elect representatives to the Parliament." Three million Jews would be made politically dumb, he pointed out.

The changes in the constitution are aimed at strengthening the position of the Pilsudski government against opposition groups. The Jewish population, though dissatisfied with the government's anti-Jewish attitude and the system of overtaxation, is nevertheless supporting the present regime. The constitutional changes, however, would make it impossible for Jews to be represented as a national minority. Jewish deputies, if elected, would be representing the government bloc.

'B' Group Here Calls for War Upon Zionist Leadership, Lists Program

A call to war against the administrative committee of the Zionist Organization of America and the Executive of the World Zionist Congress was issued yesterday by the American Group "B" of General Zionists.

The call, issued over the signatures of Isaac Abner, Jacob de Haas and Rabbi Louis L. New, with invites Zionists everywhere "to cooperate in the formation of a call at the forthcoming World Zionist Congress, which will bring to an end the present intolerable dictatorship of the movement by one party."

League Gets Danzig Data On Terrorism

Commissioner Hands In Long Report on Situation

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) GENEVA, March 8.—A lengthy report on the political situation in Danzig and on the growth of the anti-Semitic terror there was submitted today to the Secretariat of the League of Nations by Sean Lester, the League's High Commissioner for the Free State of Danzig.

The report was immediately communicated to the members of the Council of the League of Nations. Its contents will be kept secret until the May session of the Council.

It is believed here that the future of the Danzig Jews will be decidedly affected by the contemplated change in the Danzig constitution.

Foreign observers in Geneva are surprised at the passive attitude taken by Poland with regard to Nazi activities in Danzig, which affect the Polish population of Danzig.

It is pointed out here that the Nazi movement in Danzig has reached a point where it infringes upon the rights of the Polish citizens of Danzig, which are secured by the statutes, the constitution and the Polish-Danzig agreement.

Forsake Finance, Rome Paper Urges

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) ROME, March 8.—An editorial demanding that the Jews be eliminated from Italian financial life was published in today's Il Regime Fascista, daily newspaper.

The editorial pointed out that this demand was not made because of Jewish economic motives. The action would only be for the good of the Jews themselves, the article said.

Report of Grant For Palestine Schools Denied

Talks With Government for $500,000 Continue

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) JERUSALEM, March 8.—The report that the Palestine government has granted $500,000 to build new Jewish schoolhouses in Palestine was denied today in a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency by I. Ben-Zvi, president of the Vaad Leumi, the Jewish National Council of Palestine.

"Mr. Ussishkin, the head of the Jewish National Fund, was under an erroneous impression when he announced yesterday to the press (Continued on Page Eight)

Purpose Will Be to Spur Migration from Reich

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) LONDON, March 8.—A fresh drive against the Jews in Germany is to be expected in the very near future, the London Times writes today in a cable from its Berlin correspondent.

There is evidence that a fresh underground anti-Jewish campaign is going to be resumed here," the Berlin correspondent of the Times says. "A new wave of panic will be spread among the Jews in the nearest days."

The correspondent of the Times asserts that the entire secret police in Germany as well as the Storm Troopers will be ordered to participate in this anti-Jewish campaign. The purpose of the campaign, the correspondent explains, is to frighten the Jews in order to increase Jewish emigration from Germany.

At the same time the Central Verein Zeitung, a Jewish newspaper published in Berlin by the German Citizens of the Jewish Faith, in its issue of today asserts that the general situation of the German Jews may be ameliorated. In an article in this publication, Dr. Alfred Hirschberg, one of the leaders of the Central Verein, expresses the hope that the Jewish economic position in Germany will be stabilized by the government.

Cites Schacht Speech
"On the basis of the address delivered by Dr. Schacht at Leipzig Fair this week, we may hope for a stabilization in the Jewish economic life in Germany. This may be the starting point for the amelioration of the general situation of the Jews in Germany," Dr. Hirschberg writes.

The conflicting reports of the London Times and the Berlin Jewish publication are a result of the difference of opinion within the Nazi party with regard to the policy towards the Jews. It is stated here that while Dr. Schacht insists on the moderation of the anti-Jewish policy, Rudolf Hess, the German minister of propaganda, demands further restrictions against the Jews, with a view to force more Jews out of Germany.

The excretion of these are very much perturbed by the fact that German Jewish refugees are beginning to return to Germany. In order to discourage the return of Jews to Germany, the new drive is contemplated, it was learned here today from authoritative sources.

Vandals Damage Reich Synagogue

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) BERLIN, March 8.—In an effort to drive the Jews out of the township, local Nazis invaded the synagogue in Honnef, in the Rhine-land, and discouraged the building. The vandals tore up all the prayer books in the synagogue and stole all the money in the collection boxes there, which was intended for religious purposes.

CAPITAL COMMENT

BY NATHAN KOENIG

WASHINGTON.

A propaganda campaign to cajole and coerce the United States into renewing trade relations with Germany so that the Hitler government may be supplied with sorely needed American cotton, has been uncovered here. The drive follows on the heels of the collapse of the German cotton barter program recently approved by Secretary of State Hull and finally disapproved by President Roosevelt.

First evidence of the campaign came to light when members of Congress, received a seven-page mimeographed statement from Walter Gaus, Stuttgart. The statement, entitled "America at the Cross-Roads," is of German text, but has every appearance of having been written by a foreign country on paper which is not common to the United States.

The first few pages of the statement deplores the American cotton policy. "Looking from the European standpoint at the present American cotton policy," the statement says, "it appears that it will develop into a catastrophic policy for the South." The document calls attention to the recent increases in production of foreign cotton and points out that "a further and very serious danger for the cotton acreage of the U. S. A. and its farmers is the invention of artificial cotton. . . . German and Italian efforts to develop this cotton substitute are reviewed. It is pointed out that the demand for this cotton substitute "surmounts the supply of American cotton as well as the intentions for expansion of this industry will have been carried out and the projected, enormous factories, for which the buildings have already partly been started, take up their work, the sale will considerably increase to the detriment of the American cotton."

But from here on, the German's statement becomes bitter. It resumes with threats of reprisals. There is an underline of danger which is carried in between the lines. Although not making any definite accusations, it is quite clear that the statement seeks to blame the Jews of America for this country's failure to fall for Germany's cotton barter scheme.

Germany's position in the field of foreign trade is deplored in the statement. It is pointed out that "Germany has been entirely destroyed and harter for American cotton which she needs. All this for America's sake. Herr Gaus says as follows:

"Even if under the present circumstances the output of the textile fibre factories does not suffice for the entire supply of textile industry and natural cotton is still required, there will, by force of the foreign currency calamity, still be a change as regards raw cotton purchases from the U. S. A. in favor of those cotton producing countries of the world which are ready to take up German industrial goods in an increasing way. Bartering, the basis of the world's trade in close times, before the invention of money, has already started in Germany. Many states are already willing to secure the German market for their natural products and to accept in return German goods by excluding any payments in money. If this mode of bartering Germany may no more be an outlet for American cotton and other raw products of the U. S. A. and it will easily be possible, if such new ways will answer, that also other European states will take up this method to the disadvantage of the American cotton districts."

"It is in the interest of the American farmers and other raw product suppliers that I refer to these dangers. . . . If the American Government would permit that a regular trade with Germany will be possible again, then it will not lead to the last consequences. Germany supports the protection of culture and civilization against the blood-red danger of Bolshevism, will fulfill its obligations, and will not want any other way will remain a large buyer of the U. S. A.; having however no gold, its purchases and obligations can only be balanced by supplying Germany highly qualified goods. If only the American people would be ready to take from the diligent German workman the work of his hands and his own money for the re-establishment of a freer trade and a freer way of payment, so that the German workman would again be in a position to take up the produce of the American farmer, grown under the sun of God's own country for working it up industrially. Thus the eternal circle course of the trade would create a new sincere, honest and truth full world peace! World peace and blessed prosperity of the nations are not achieved by hermetically closing the national frontiers, but only by cheerfully working together in the world's affairs, by uplifting and helping each other and by mutual assistance between the nations for the benefit of humanity, as it is meant by God. Only with God's blessing will be upon it."

Thus Herr Gaus continues at some length, pointing out that "The Christian nations of America and Europe should see clearly before the hand of God lies upon them and puts them aside to make room for other nations to take their place."

Striking at the United States, Herr Gaus says, "It is not the high mission of the American people to destroy the German people and then to retire fastidious to come, also not to accumulate all the gold of this earth and heap up treasures."

ures of this world, which, lying about unused, would only be a prey for "moths and rust." The mission of the great, proud people of the U. S. A., in whose hands not only their own welfare is at stake, but also that of Germany and of the whole white race, is the duty to make good again the damage of the war, to build again the broken up bridges and to appease and connect the different nations.

"Urgent help is wanted! A further delay may be the going down of the white race. A victory of Asia over Europe would change the character of the whole world, including America."

Old Noah Webster is having an uncomfortable time in his grave, and living grammarians are having fits. The greatest deluge since the first Noah is under way—a deluge of lascious slang, cock-eyed grammar, mixed metaphors and political argot. In short, General Johnson and Senator Long are having a public spat. Between Hugh and Elihu there is, philologically speaking, little to choose.

It's lusty stuff. Shakespeare might not understand much of it but he would relish the flailing, exploding, tomtom spirit of the thing. None of your old-fashioned diplomatic innuendo and circumlocution, my friends, but insults as thick as German sausages and seasoned with gall and garlic.

"Elihu couldn't hold a candle to Huey in the art of the old Barnum balldoon," said Hugh of Huey.

"You're just a screwdriver in the hands of Barney Baruch," said Huey to Hugh.

"If Father Coughlin wants to engage in political brawling with Huey Long it's only a fair first move to take off his Roman caesock," Hugh winked.

I recommend the front pages of the last few days to teachers of English in our schools. Why waste time on the King's English when they can have the Kingfish's American. It's the official language of the near future, despite formal text-books. And maybe it's the government of the near future too.

The first serious revolt against Mussolini has just been publicly recorded. It appears that contrary to his express orders, and despite the diligent efforts of all good Fascists, the women of Italy have not been middle-aged. As the rape planned for them. Had the Italian bride remained what it was in 1922, when Fascism was in its glorious and prolific youth, the country would now have 2,377,140 people more than it has. Sabotage is a mild word for those loafing on the job.

"Nearly two and a half million individuals unborn during twelve years," the official newspaper complains, "signifies a slice four times as thick than that taken from our people during the world war."

In other words, Italy might have fought four more losing world wars with the cannon fodder unproductive females have failed to produce.

It is a curious and significant fact that all dictators want more people to whom to dictate. Both Hitler and Mussolini make large claims almost obligatory and prolific as a patriotic duty. Even in Russia, where birth control is available, the official propaganda is for more offspring. All of them are breeding for Mars.

A fairly well-known author, Maxwell Bodenheim, made the front pages this week. He applied for home relief and obtained a tiny government hand-out. Bodenheim has contributed some good poetry and some not-so-good novels to American literature. Whatever one thinks of his style, however, there are no two ways of thinking about his poetry, for a special system that reduces gifted writers to beggary.

The Moscow authorities called together representatives of the chief producers of the world, had them show their best products, then voted all the orchids to the Soviet Union. Without minimizing the activity of Russian pictures, the proceedings seemed to me just short of sportsmanlike. At least the judges should have been international in character, rather than all-Soviet with a dash of acquiescent French.

Hollywood received a left-handed compliment and was damned with faint praise by an award of third prize to Mickey Mouse. That satirical gesture was worthy of Gogol.

Personally I think it was all a set-up. I thought as when the international motion picture festival was announced. For Soviet officials to admit that capitalist art is equal or superior (in any sense except "technically") to their own is utterly inconceivable.

Had the decision been left to a secret ballot of the Soviet masses the results would have been quite different. The superior judges took into consideration such solid ingredients as social contribution, realism, etc. The ingredient they did not consider—and the one on which movie fans the world over including Russians base their judgment—was entertainment value.

Despite the self-glorification (modesty is not especially a Bolshevik virtue) the Soviet audiences as yet prefer the cheapest foreign film to their native products.

Council Women In New Orleans For Convention

Delegates From 200 Cities to Discuss Debt to Future

(Special to the J.D.B.)

NEW ORLEANS, March 8.—Under the slogan "What Do We Owe to Our Next Generation?" the triennial convention of the National Council of Jewish Women opens here on Sunday at the Hotel Roosevelt, in the presence of delegates from 200 cities throughout the United States, including sixty from the sections in the New York area.

The National Council, which is now in its forty-second year, has a membership of 40,000, and has long been active in social welfare, sponsoring legislation for better economic and social conditions, promoting the peace movement, adult education along Jewish and cultural lines, and improved racial relations.

Talk on Racial Situation

The convention will among other things hear a report on the activities of the National Council with regard to the Jewish situation in Germany. Miss Cecilia Razowsky, in charge of the aid to Jewish refugees from Germany, will make the report.

The convention program has been planned with the further development of the Council's social service, welfare, legislative and educational program in view. Soundings the keynote will be Prof. Lindeman, at the opening session Sunday evening. On Tuesday the convention will hear an address by Dr. Lurie, who will speak on "Economic Adjustments of the Jew." Dr. Lurie will speak on "Translating Our Jewish Heritage." Winding up this phase of the program will be Dr. Abram L. Sachar, national director of the Hill Foundation in American Universities. He will speak on "The Jew in the World Today."

RABBI AARON EINHORN

Will Stimulate Faith Activities In Small Towns

Rabbi Einhorn's Tour for Temple Group Starts Monday

Stimulation of religious activity in the smaller Jewish communities on the North American Continent will be the purpose of a campaign launched by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, it was learned Friday.

Rabbi Aaron Einhorn, field secretary of the union, in whose hands this work has been placed, will leave local headquarters at Yeshiva College tomorrow (Monday) to start out on a tour which will carry him to the most isolated localities where Jews reside.

As a starter, several weeks of his itinerary will be devoted to visits among the Southeastern gran, there will also be a seminar on racial relations conducted by the National Conference of Jews and Christians. The seminar has been arranged by Dr. Everett R. Clinchy. Taking part in the seminar with Dr. Clinchy will be Rabbi Louis Binns of Temple Sinai of New Orleans and Monsignor Peter M. H. Wymhoven. The seminar will be the culmination of a tour through several southern cities to be made by the three clergymen, under the auspices of the two organizations.

The Council is headed by Mrs. Arthur Brin of Minneapolis, who was named one of the ten outstanding women of the year recently by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. She has been especially active in peace work and during her presidency, the peace program of the Council has grown and been strengthened. The Council is one of the first organizations in this country to carry on an active peace campaign and is one of the members of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War.

The opening session on Sunday evening will have as speakers Dr. Lindeman, Mrs. Hanna G. Solomon, founder of the National Council; Mrs. Brin, Mayor T. Semmes Wainwright of New Orleans, and Mrs. Leona Nelson, president of the New Orleans section of the Council.

THIS WEEK'S EVENTS

By BORIS SMOLAR

The movement to settle foreign Jews in Biro-Bidjan came to the forefront again this week with the announcement that the ORT is undertaking to raise a loan of several million dollars for settling twenty-five thousand Jewish families in this Far Eastern Jewish autonomous district. The families to be settled are German-Jewish refugees and Jews from Poland.

Negotiations for raising a loan for Biro-Bidjan on a large scale have been going on for some weeks. Various projects were considered, including one by which the administration of Biro-Bidjan itself was to issue bonds which foreign Jewish relief organizations were ready to place on the markets in America and in European countries. These bonds were to be guaranteed in part by the Soviet government and were to be redeemed within a period of fifteen years. The natural resources of Biro-Bidjan were to serve as the basis for the loan.

Lovitch Plan Is Simple

Now this project seems to have been replaced by another which Dr. Lowitch, the leader of the ORT, carried along with him this week when he proceeded to Moscow. The plan of Dr. Lowitch is a very simple one: providing for a loan for Biro-Bidjan by the ORT, on condition that the Soviet government guarantees to repay the principal and the interest within a number of years.

There is reason to believe that the Soviet authorities in Moscow will agree to a plan in which Dr. Lowitch will discuss with them. This proposal is modeled on the ten million dollar loan which the Soviet government several years ago for Jewish colonization work in Biro-Bidjan is also to be repaid by the Soviet authorities in foreign currency on a gold basis. The loan is being repaid by Moscow in the best of faith.

ORT to Start Work at Once

Should the negotiations between Dr. Lowitch and the Soviet authorities conclude successfully, the ORT will immediately undertake the work of sending Jews from Poland and German-Jewish refugees from other European countries to Biro-Bidjan. The cost of settling a family will not exceed two hundred dollars. This will also include the cost of the immigrants to the Soviet frontier.

The Soviet government, besides granting land and dwelling places to the Jewish settlers, is also ready to take care of them from the moment they reach the Soviet frontier. They will be provided with transportation, with food and with all they will need until the moment they reach Biro-Bidjan. In Biro-Bidjan they will have to settle in Jewish colonies.

Agro-Joint Still Working at Once

Meanwhile the Agro-Joint has not yet dismissed the question of settling Jews in Biro-Bidjan. Dr. Lowitch and the Agro-Joint, who is now back in Moscow, is also considering certain plans for experimenting with settling Jewish families from Poland in Biro-Bidjan.

The need to consider Biro-Bidjan as a Jewish colony is also being considered by the Soviet government. The need to consider Biro-Bidjan as a Jewish colony is also being considered by the Soviet government.

DR. HJALMAR SCHACHT

Bidjan seriously as a place for settling not only Jews from Poland but also German-Jewish refugees became clear this week when German-Jewish refugees were arrested on mass in Germany upon their return to Berlin in the belief that the Nazi leaders are embarking upon a policy of modifying their anti-Jewish propaganda.

Exiles Culled by Reports Of Eased Policy

Encouraged by the reports abroad that the Nazis would agree to maintain a status quo with the Jews and not to discriminate any longer against them, in order to increase Germany's exports abroad, many German-Jewish refugees decided to return to Germany. Tired of two years of suffering in exile, these refugees naively believed that nothing would happen to them upon their return to Germany now, so long as they had remained loyal to the Reich during the time of their being abroad.

After proving to the German consulates that they have not conducted any anti-German propaganda in the countries of their exile, scores of Jewish refugees re-entered Germany, ready to start their life again under the Nazi regime and to adjust themselves to the restrictions imposed upon the Jews in Naziland. Some of them who have their capital left in Germany were contemplating commercial ventures which are as far still free to Jews. Others were figuring on artisan work, and were ready to face a hard struggle in some rather than suffer privations in exile.

Put Faith in Schacht Attitude

In their plans for starting life anew in Germany the returned immigrants—all of them German citizens—laid their hopes chiefly on the light which Dr. Schacht, the economic dictator of Germany, is conducting to make Hitler see and that the anti-Jewish legislation is responsible for the boycott of German goods abroad. Stimulated by letters from relatives who remained in Germany, these emigrants were under the impression that since Dr. Schacht is so anxious to restore friendly relations with the Jews, he would turn out to be justified. The first groups of German-Jewish refugees who returned to Germany were arrested by the Gestapo and sent to a concentration camp. No charges were made against them except that during the two years of their absence from Germany they had conducted anti-Jewish propaganda.

Told to Quit Reich Or Stay in Camps

An ultimatum was put to the arrested Jewish refugees to the effect that they were either to leave the country at once and go back to their countries of exile, or they would be kept in the concentration camps "until they acquire the spirit of the country." Among those arrested are women and aged Jews who are treated just as any other prisoners held in the concentration camps.

Jewish leaders in Germany

The differences of opinion between Dr. Schacht and Dr. Leers are typical of the division of opinion existing in Germany in the leading government circles. These German statesmen who were interested more in the economic development of Germany than in the Jewish problem, are leaving the Jews as they are, in their present position. The other group of Nazi statesmen, who are primarily interested in carrying out the principles of the Nazi party, believe that the campaign against the Jews must not be stopped.

Many Groups Here Reply to Lippert

The American Jewish Congress, the American League of America and the American Federation of Labor, in messages this week to the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin, have expressed their protest against the boycott of German goods in the United States will continue until all citizens are restored to their rights. The messages were in reply to an address delivered by Dr. Lippert, Nazi Commissioner for Berlin, in which he appealed to America not to support the boycott of the Jewish boycott. It was this address by Dr. Lippert that was considered the first official indication that the Nazis intended to soften their anti-Jewish policy in Germany.

expect to make representations to the government in behalf of the arrested victims. It was the ambition of the German-Jewish leaders to make the German Jews abroad feel that they were still a part of the Jewish community in Germany. The Federation of Jewish Communities in Prussia was endeavoring to keep in cultural contact with all German Jewish refugees in order to make them feel with the hope that these refugees would eventually return to Germany, their native land.

Doubt Success Of Representations

Whether the representations of the Jewish leaders will be successful is highly doubtful. Dr. Schacht or no Dr. Schacht, boycott or no boycott, the Nazi leaders do not wish to see German Jews returning to Germany. They want to have as many Jews as possible abroad. They do not wish to increase the Jewish population within Germany. Hence it is logical to believe that the efforts of the Jewish leaders in Germany will hardly bring any results.

While the German-Jewish refugees were being arrested in Germany, the American Jewish Congress, in a campaign launched a campaign this week against the Nazi leaders to let the Jews in Germany stay in the concentration camps. Dr. Schacht again launched a campaign this week against the Nazi leaders to let the Jews in Germany stay in the concentration camps. Dr. Schacht again launched a campaign this week against the Nazi leaders to let the Jews in Germany stay in the concentration camps.

Expert Dr. Leers Pushes Fight on Jews

Dr. von Leers, the Nazi "expert" on the Jewish question, has not at once agreed with Schacht's argument. Addressing a meeting in Dusseldorf, Dr. Leers stated that the ousting of Jews from state employment is the only step in the campaign against the Jews. The war must be continued, he urged. Anti-Jewish propaganda must not stop.

What Bulletin Readers Say

See Youth Awakening

To the Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin: I had the pleasure of attending the mass meeting staged by Avukah last Saturday at which Vladimir Jabotinsky spoke. This was a great event for me as a Jew to do any business on the Jewish Sabbath and holidays.

I got a great thrill out of observing how hundreds of our intelligent youth were drawn to the cause of this sort. Of course, it is true, as our rabbis say, that large numbers of our children are indifferent to Jewish matters. And perhaps for just this reason I was so glad to see that some at least are awake and interested.

Religious Observance

To the Editor, Jewish Daily Bulletin: I was shocked to read where ten people were injured in Tel Aviv, Palestine, on account of a Sabbath observance in an all-Jewish City, in the Land of Israel, should at least have some respect for their people, if not for their religious and national business closed on their Sabbath and holidays.

The riot is a national blot on each and every Jew, the world over; for what would the Gentiles

Yishub for immediate settlement. The Labor Front is hindering the needed progress of the Yishub in the following way:

(1) It is fomenting the class struggle in Palestine.
(2) It is utilizing its control over immigration certificates to exclude Zionists not accepting its party doctrine.

Abuses Control
(3) It is utilizing its control over Zionist funds to entrench its own party, and also it raises special funds in Palestine and the Diaspora to establish a bureaucracy in its own interests.

(4) The Histadruth has stepped out of its role as a labor union seeking the protection and welfare of the workers, and has arrogated to itself the functions of a political party, exalting class interests above national welfare.

(5) It is conducting a political offensive in the Diaspora, with the acquiescence of the W. E. O., which is placing at its disposal the press and periodicals which should be devoted impartially to the interests of General Zionism.

(6) It is spreading propaganda to the effect that it is the sole champion of social justice in Palestine, and through misrepresentation is seeking to create the impression that to all other elements, opposed to its bureaucracy, are reactionary.

(7) It is seeking to employ, through its control of the W. Z. O., disciplinary measures against its opponents, which tend to exclude them from participation in the Zionist Congress.

Outlines Program
"As against these evils and abuses, we propose the following constructive program:

(1) Palestine must be built, not on any one class or economic group, but for the welfare of all-Israel.

(2) We heartily commend the achievements of all elements of Palestine's immigration, but regard accelerated mass colonization at this time as being dependent upon the successful economic settlement of middle-class Jews, who through their private investments, receiving a fair return, socially-influenced and constructively utilized to increase the opportunities for Jewish labor, and who through their organization, on the principle of class co-operation, in a balanced economic life, can uphold the Jewish Homeland at a pace and on a scale commensurate with the needs of Jewish today.

Hate Speculation
(3) We condemn speculation in land, the unwarranted increase of rents and the inflation of other economic values, yet we recognize that the checking of these hurtful practices cannot be accomplished by any one particular group, but by the whole Yishub, exerting pressure upon the Palestine government, both municipal and central, to enact appropriate legislation.

(4) We recognize that social justice in Palestine, involving fair treatment of all elements and all classes, and a due regard for all interests concerned with the upbuilding of the land—agriculture, merchants, manufacturers, professional and financial groups as well as manual laborers, cannot be achieved merely by the activity of labor unions, through collective bargaining on behalf of wages, hours of work, working conditions and the like. It can be achieved only through the required scale only through the welfare legislation of the Palestine government which controls the land, and the labor there demand that the Zionist Organization and the Jewish Agency, in cooperation with the Yishub, bring pressure upon the government to introduce into Palestine adequate welfare legislation.

Suggests Measures
(5) We believe that a truly representative Zionist Executive, reinforced by the moral pressure of Jewish public opinion throughout the world, could influence the Mandatory Power to adopt the following measures:

a. To facilitate the close settlement of Jews as small-holders on the land, by the grant of state lands as reserves, in accordance with the Mandate.

b. To devise an adequate governmental policy of irrigation and preparation of the soil for Jewish colonization on both sides of the Jordan.

c. To encourage Palestine industry and commerce by adequate trade treaties, the development of home and foreign markets for Palestine-made goods (Totterel, ha-Aretz), looking towards a favorable trade balance; and the creation of a taxation policy which does not discriminate against Jewish industry, commerce and agriculture.

d. To assist public peace by larger representation of Jews in the police and defense forces of the country.

e. To recognize the dire necessity of millions of Jews throughout the world, and to open the gates of Palestine on both sides of the Jordan to mass immigration.

f. To fulfill all its pledges in the Balfour Declaration and the Mandate for the creation of the Jewish National Home by enabling Jews to become the preponderant element of the population.

Free of Conflict
(6) We declare that Jewish education in Palestine must be kept free from the teaching of class-conflict and class-hatred, and must maintain deference for basic Jewish ideals of faith and practice.

(7) We believe that the official Zionist press and news agencies must be emancipated from the domination of the Labor Front, and that both in its news and editorials, should conserve the essentials of General or Herzlian Zionism.

(8) We declare our allegiance to the Zionist Congress as the supreme authority in Zionism, if being understood that the program and procedure of the Congress shall be such as will not make impossible the cooperation of any group or party in the movement. With these policies and principles, espousing liberalism and democracy in Zionism, we declare our determination to struggle for the redemption of the Jewish movement from autocratic and machine control; and as American Group B we call upon Zionists everywhere to cooperate in the formation of a bloc at the forthcoming World Zionist Congress which will bring to an end the present intolerable dictatorship of the movement; by one party, to the injury of the Jewish people in its present extremity."

Likens Masaryk to George Washington

Rabbi Wise Speaks at Dinner Honoring President of Czechoslovakia

President T. G. Masaryk of Czechoslovakia was likened to George Washington at a testimonial dinner held at the Waldorf-Astoria Thursday night in connection with his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary. President Masaryk is the only chief executive that Czechoslovakia has had since it became a sovereign nation fifteen years ago.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue, saying that he spoke "for Jews everywhere," paid a tribute to the venerable President as one who "cannot be seduced from the highways of freedom into the tortuous paths of oppression and enslavement or self-enslavement."

Rabbi Wise told of the creation of a fund for the establishment in Palestine of a colony which will bear Dr. Masaryk's name "in recognition of his deep and life-long sympathies with the Jewish people." The Jewish National Fund is to provide the land.
