Nazis Quit Parley Of League Unit

Brussels Action Follows Decision to Discuss Jewish Question

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BRUSSELS, June 11—The German delegation to the Congress of the Federation of League of Nations Societies walked out today in protest against the decision of the president that the Congress take up the question of Jewish persecution in Germany.

The question was submitted by the Palestine League of Nations Society which is represented at the Congress by Ben-Zion Mossenson and Dr. Nahum Goldmann.

An extraordinary meeting off the Executive of the Congress was called immediately after the German delegation left the hall. At this meeting the German delegation was represented by Dr. Kirchhof. The Palestine delegation was represented by Mossenson and Goldmann. Viscount Cecil represented the British delegation.

Delegates Not from Reich

The German delegation at the Congress does not represent the present Nazi Germany which is no longer a member of the League of Nations. It represents chiefly the German minorities from the Polish part of Silesia and from Czechoslovakia. This delegation is understood, however, to be under the control of the Nazi government and its activities are even said to be subsidized directly from Berlin.

A fight with regard to the question of whether the Federation of League of Nations Societies should take up the present Jewish problem in Germany had developed at a previous Congress.

The Jewish delegation announced at that Congress that it would not participate in the sessions if no resolution against the anti-Jewish persecutions in Germany were adopted. The German delegation, on the other hand, threatened to leave the Congress if the Jewish question was taken up.

The Federation of League of Nations Societies has been in existence for fifteen years and was founded for the purpose of upholding and disseminating the ideas and the work of the League of Nations.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

The strikers warned the administration of the hospital several days previously that the strike would be proclaimed if better food were not served.

Quiet Restored In Polish City; Riots Probed

Grodno Jewish Schools, Closed Several Days, Are Reopened

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

WARSAW, June 11—Complete order was restored today in the city of Grodno, Poland, where sixty Jews were injured in anti-Jewish attacks last week and where tension has prevailed until yesterday.

The Jewish schools were reopened today after having been closed for several days in fear of renewed anti-Jewish excesses. Thirty Poles and eight Jews are under arrest in connection with the riots and the self-defense which the Jews organized. The investigation is being continued.

Discuss Sejm Seats

Negotiations were started today between the Government Party and members of the Jewish Parliamentary Club in connection with the number of seats to be given to Jewish representatives in the next Parliament under the new electoral law.

The Government Party, it is understood, is offering six seats to the Jews in the Sejm. Some of the leaders of the Government Party are inclined to offer seven places to the Jews. The negotiations are being conducted in behalf of the existing Jewish parties in Poland, with the exception of the Bund and other Jewish Socialist parties.

House Gets Bill to Aid Alien Exiles

Measure Lifts Bars to Victims of Racial Persecution

(Special to the J.D.B.)

WASHINGTON, June 11—A bill demanding that no alien be excluded or deported from the United States, if a refugee for political, racial or religious reasons from the country of his origin, introduced into Congress this week by Representative Marcantonio, was referred today to the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization.

The bill specifies that no alien be deported from America if he is a fugitive from his native country because of his racial origin or because of his political or religious beliefs.

Bars Deportation

Similarly, the bill would bar deportation of aliens who might be subjected in their native land to persecution or social and economic discrimination on account of their racial origin.

The bill provides that Section 4 of the Immigration Act of 1924, referring to the admissibility of immigrants, shall be amended by adding thereto a new subsection to read as follows:

"An immigrant who is admissible to the United States as an alien who is a refugee for political, racial, or religious reasons from the country of his origin; or is a fugitive from that country because of his political or religious beliefs

Urges Speed On Bureya Work

Soviet Asks Comzet to Investigate Delays in Building Projects

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

MOSCOW, June 11—The Soviet government today urged the Comzet, the government commission to settle Jews on land, to speed up and strengthen activities with regard to settling Jews in Biro-Bidjan, the Far Eastern Soviet district neighboring Manchukuo, which is to be proclaimed an autonomous Jewish republic.

The Commissariat of Agriculture has allocated 1,600,000 roubles for the building of 150 dwellings in Biro-Bidjan and 200 farm buildings. The local administration of Biro-Bidjan has so far not been efficient enough in providing timber and other materials for the building work. As a result, the Comzet was instructed by the government today to look into the matter.

The settlement of Soviet Jews in Biro-Bidjan is proceeding slowly, according to complaints in the Soviet press today. This is due to the fact that the younger Jewish generation has no difficulty in finding employment in any part of Soviet Russia and is thus unwilling to proceed to the distant territory of Biro-Bidjan.

Oldest Rumanian Jew, Never Ill, Dies at 109

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BUCHAREST, June 11—The oldest Jew in Rumania died today in the township of Ollossoyu, Old Rumania, at the age of 109.

He is Mendel Levi, a merchant. His children have said that he was never sick in his life.

Jews Reported Leaving Turkey For So. America

Wide Emigration Move Centers in District Of Smyrna

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

ISTAMBOUL, June 11—A large Jewish emigration from Turkey to South America is reported today from official government sources, as a result of the economic difficulties which the Jewish population here is facing.

Most of the Jews leaving Turkey are Greek citizens living in the Smyrna district. Not being admitted to any other country and having no prospects in Greece, they leave with their families for Buenos Aires, where immigration is open to persons between the ages of 21 and 36.

The immigration regulations in Argentina, where most of the Jewish emigrants are proceeding, provide that any person up to the age of 36 can freely come into the country as long as he produces a document from his native land that he has no criminal record.

Persons over 36 years of age are not admitted to Argentina unless they have affidavits from close relatives to the effect that they will not permit the immigrant to become a public burden. All immigrants admitted can bring their families with them.

The Jews who are migrating from Turkey to Argentina intend to settle on land owned there by the Jewish Colonization Association. The offices of the Jewish Colonization Association in Istanbul are facilitating the emigration of the Jews from the country.

Actors Balk At Edict By Dr. Goebbels

Close Up Club in Berlin Rather Than Let Out Jewish Members

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, June 11—A revolutionary act against Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda, was carried out today by the German Actors Club here, which had been instructed by Dr. Goebbels to dismiss all its "non-Aryan" members.

Rather than obey the Goebbels order, the executive of the Actors Club decided to close the club altogether.

This courageous decision is the first open demonstration by an important organization in Germany against the anti-Jewish persecution in the country. Dissatisfaction with the anti-Jewish discriminations has been growing continually among the German population here but no institution has until now dared to given open expression to this feeling of resentment.

Actors Hard Hit

The Actors Union in Germany has especially suffered since the advent of the Nazi regime despite the fact that many "Aryan" actors received better opportunities for employment because of the elimination of the Jewish actors. This elimination has resulted in the closing of many theatres and in a sharp decline in the theatrical life of the country. Unemployment among "Aryan" artists has therefore grown despite the fact that they no longer have Jewish competitors.

The Voelkischer Beobachter, Hitler's chief organ, is now making a study of the question whether Jews are dying out in Germany.

"Our past censuses," the paper writes, "unfortunately give no real picture of the numbers of the Jewish race in Germany, because they deal only with those Jews who describe themselves on the census sheet as belonging to the Mosaic faith.

"These Israelites," the paper continues, "numbered 564,379 in 1925 and 499,682 in 1935. The conclusion was therefore drawn that during these ten years there was a decline of 64,697 Jews in Germany, partly as the result of emigration and

Rules Czech Jews Must Pay Taxes to Meet Pre-Slump Debt

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

PRAHA, June 11—A verdict issued by the Czechoslovakian court today ordered the Jewish community of the town of Ungvar to hand over the collection of the Jewish community taxes to a Praha building firm, to which the community owes 258,000 kronen.

All the possessions of the Jewish community were recently attached by the company in payment of the debt, which was incurred during prosperous times when it planned an increase in the communal activities.

The depression and the decline in the income of the community forced it to default in its payments.

The default resulted in the company's taking over all the assets of the Jewish community and it will now collect all the taxes due the community to cover the amount still in arrears.

Austria Permits Mass Visit To Herzl's Grave on June 16

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

VIENNA, June 11—A mass pilgrimage June 16 to the grave of Dr. Theodor Herzl, the father of political Zionism, was permitted by the Austrian authorities today.

The permit was issued on condition that no uniforms are worn by the pilgrims, also that there will be no mass formation. Such a pilgrimage was not permitted last year because of the disturbed political conditions at that time.

The office of the Jewish Unemployment Relief Bureau in Vienna issued a report today disclosing that 4,020 Jews are completely dependent on relief. Most of them are white collar workers.

Dr. Schmerler, head of the bureau, appeals in the report, to Jewish employers to provide work for their co-religionists. He emphasizes that an increase in Jewish unemployment is to be expected as the situation in the professions is growing worse from week to week.

The Daily News Letter

The Bene-Israelite Tribe in India

By a J.T.A. Special Correspondent

BOMBAY, INDIA.

Are the Bene Israelites of the Jewish faith?

This question has been the subject of heated discussion in India. Recently, the Rangoon High Court decided in the affirmative in a case brought by the Bene Israelites to prove that they are eligible for election to the board of trustees of a local synagogue in Rangoon.

The case concerned the meaning of the words "the Jewish faith and community" as used in the clauses three and eight of the plan for management of the Musmeah Yeshua Synagogue. Clause three provides that no person shall be eligible to be elected as a trustee unless he is a male person of the Jewish faith and community who has attained the age of 25 and has ordinarily resided in Rangoon, for a period of at least five years. Clause eight restricts the voters' list to persons of the Jewish faith and community, who have attained the age of 18 and have ordinarily resided within the limits specified in clause three for a period of at least one calendar year.

again according to her own choice. It was admitted by the defendants that the modern Jew refuses to marry his brother's widow and openly disobeys the Mosaic law in this respect.

A Jew whose brother has died and left a childless widow now prefers to submit to the procedure implied by the word halissa. The consequence is that the odium which formerly attached to the refusal of the surviving brother to marry his sister-in-law no longer exists, and the halissa ceremony has been so modified that it is now carried out in a manner which entails no unpleasant consequences to the unwilling brother-in-law.

Tribe's History Traced

The Bene-Israelites are confined to India, and to a large extent to the western side of India, their greatest strength being in Bombay. When they first came to India is uncertain. Their own tradition places their settlement in India some fourteen hundred years ago, but those who have investigated the history of the tribe and are entitled to speak with authority, place the date much later.

What, however, is quite certain is that the Bene-Israelites settled in India many years ago, and in the beginning freely intermarried with the inhabitants of India and adopted many Hindu customs.

Came in 6th Century

Though there is no certainty as to the date when they came to India, it seems probable that it was in the sixth century. Their own tradition, for they have no records of any kind, states that they came to India about fourteen hundred years ago from the north, and that they were wrecked off Navgaon, a little to the north of Thal, at the southern entrance to the Bombay harbor, and only fourteen—seven men and seven women—were saved.

Several centuries ago, a Jewish priest, David Rahabi, coming to Bombay from Arabia, heard of the Jews in the country close by, and going among them, won them back from many Hindu observances and taught them the chief tenets and practices of the Hebrew faith. He also introduced the knowledge of the Hebrew language.

13 Principles Accepted

It was conceded by the defendants that the Bene-Israelites now accept the thirteen fundamental principles of the Jewish faith, that they insist on circumcision, and that they observe the Jewish law, except in the three respects already mentioned. As has been pointed out, modern Jews disregard the Mosaic law so far as yibboom is concerned and consequently it cannot be said that failure on the part of the Bene-Israelites to observe this law would make them unorthodox.

The issue was, therefore, reduced to this: Do the Bene-Israelites refuse to follow the Jewish law with regard to divorce and halissa and, if so, what is the affect?

Barred as Candidates

An election of trustees took place in the year 1926. In respect of this election the then trustees included vote at the election the names of the Bene-Israelites possessing the qualifications with regard to age in the list of those Jews entitled to and residence. The Bene-Israelites

Restoring the Nazis in U.S.A.

The Nazi movement in America has during recent months suffered a tremendous setback. Split into three divergent groups, it has lost considerable ground.

But it seems that the Nazi government in Berlin is interested in seeing the Nazi movement in America strengthened. Nazi emissaries from Berlin have arrived in the United States for the express purpose of restoring the Nazi movement here.

Organizers and Funds

With the arrival of organizers in the United States, it may be expected that the Nazi activities here will increase. There is no doubt that these organizers have not come empty-handed. They have undoubtedly brought with them not only plans but also funds to carry out the plans.

In view of all this, it would be well for our central Jewish organizations in America, which are engaged in combating Nazism, to be on their guard. The central point of the Nazi propaganda in America is anti-Semitism. An increase of anti-Jewish propaganda may therefore be expected, if no preventive measures are taken in time.

The Stuermer as "Baggage"

One of the preventive measures desirable, is to see to it that the anti-Semitic literature which is being shipped from Germany to the United States on a large scale by way of German steamers is not permitted into this country. The authorities are very ready to cooperate in this respect, if proper action is taken by the interested Jewish organizations.

The good will of the authorities in this respect, was displayed in recent weeks when thousands of copies of the notorious Stuermer, published by the Jew-baiter, Julius Streicher, were not permitted to be unloaded from the German steamers on which they were shipped. Checked by the federal officials, this "baggage" had to be taken back to Germany by the same steamers which had brought them to the United States.

The Order from Berlin

The watchful eye of the authorities however, is not always in a position to prevent the smuggling of anti-Semitic literature from Germany into this country. With the order from Berlin to strengthen the Nazi movement in America, this filtering in of the Stuermer and other anti-Semitic publications may be expected to increase.

The anti-Jewish propaganda upon which the Nazis now intend to concentrate will not be limited to the spreading of leaflets and notorious periodicals. As the trial in New Brunswick disclosed, the Nazis have a definite plan for injecting anti-Semitic propaganda in colleges. This system of propaganda among the American youth is much more dangerous than the spreading of the Stuermer or any other obscene Nazi publication.

Correct Estimates Necessary

It is certainly undesirable to overestimate the Nazi forces in America, when they are on the decline. But it is equally undesirable to underestimate the efforts which are now being made from Berlin to unify the Nazi groups in America and to cement them into one solid united organization. Backed by finances from the Ministry of Propaganda in Germany, these efforts may lead to a revival of the Nazi activities here, even though this revival, too, may be short-lived.

World Press Digest

Reich Nationalism Held Repulsive

Winston Churchill, writing in the London Sunday Chronicle on Germany says:

It is in Germany that nationalism presents itself in its most repulsive form. The bitterness of defeat has produced a monstrous reaction.

A whole people, the most educated, the most scientific, and one of the most gifted in the world, has cast away every vestige of constitutional law and liberty. It has repudiated the whole liberal civilization of the nineteenth century.

It has plunged back into the Middle Ages, with Jew-baiting and official murder as the vaunted features of its national life. It proclaims in ludicrous defiance of historic fact its possession of a racial purity, in the name of which it conceives itself entitled to drive from its bosom every strain of alien blood.

Christianity itself is made to march at the goose-step. The swastika replaces the Cross. The Bible is rewritten so that the Jordan becomes the Rhine, and Jerusalem Berlin — or perhaps Munich. The Eternal Father of mankind and Creator of the universe must become a tribal god.

This is a terrible reversion. It can be explained only by an inferiority complex which has rendered one of the greatest branches of the human family singularly unsure of itself.

Palestine Viewed As a Crown Colony

The Near East and India, discussing the possibility of converting Palestine into a crown colony, says:

It is not the first time that the suggestion has been made that international authority, through the League of Nations, be sought for obtaining a Colonial charter. Jewish circles particularly are in many cases keenly interested in removing the present anomalous juridical condition of this land, on the ground that the political and economic disadvantages of this loose link with Great Britain far outweigh the benefits of a mandatory régime, and that it would be far more meet to go the whole way to become "another jewel in England's colonial diadem," to use the common metaphor.

If Palestine, with its unusually important value for British Imperial communications (the air and land routes to the Far East, the Iraq Pipeline, the fine harbor base at Haifa, and other unique strategic interests), were to be taken formally into the family of the Commonwealth, it would bring about significant economic changes for the benefit of local export trade. For not only could Palestine be included within the ring of Imperial preferential tariffs, but it might also escape the present drawbacks of mandatory life in the free trade maintained by other countries which have considerable import business into Palestine, without any hard-and-fast reciprocal export arrangement. The growing adverse trade balance of the country is giving cause for alarm in commercial quarters. Last year it is estimated that there was a margin of some ten or eleven million pounds between imports and exports, the former at £15,000,000 and the latter at some £4,000,000.

There are others who foresee a breakdown of the Mandates system of the League owing to the increasing nationalism among the European nations. From many points of view, the annexation of Palestine is thought to be coveted by certain Powers; and it is to forestall any sudden manoeuvre, should the exigency arise, that many believe in the wisdom of formal inclusion in the British Commonwealth.

were, however, all excluded from the list of those eligible to stand for election.

The next election took place in 1929. Here again the names of the Bene-Israelites possessing the necessary qualifications were included in the list of persons entitled to vote, but were excluded from the list of those who were eligible to stand for election.

Synagogue Set-up Changed

No protest was made on either occasion against the exclusion of the Bene-Israelites from the list of those qualified to receive nomination. The plan for the management of the Synagogue was amended by the Court when the period of office as far as the trustees are concerned was changed from three years to five years. The next election, therefore, was not due to take place until 1934. It was in fact fixed for January 21, 1934.

On January 3, 1934, certain Bene-Israelite residents in Rangoon asked the trustees to include in the list of persons eligible for election the names of those Bene-Israelites possessing the necessary qualifications with regard to age and residence in Rangoon.

This request was denied and further, the names of all Bene-Israelites were excluded from the voters' list, which action resulted in the recent court action and subsequent victory for the Bene-Israel members of the Synagogue.

Peace Marks Algiers Voting; Jews Victors

4 Councillors Elected in Constantine, Scene of Riots Last Year

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
ALGIERS, June 11—Results of municipal elections held throughout Algeria simultaneously with the elections in France and the other French possessions, have now been compiled.

Fears that anti-Semitism would play a prominent role in the campaigning because of resentment against the Jews, who more or less hold the balance of power among the various factions, proved groundless and the elections passed off quietly with only a few minor incidents, none of them anti-Jewish in nature.

In the city of Algiers, the election list of the so-called "national front" was completely victorious. The list included no Jews.

In Oran, the list headed by Abbe Lambert was elected by a large majority. There was a strong Jewish vote for this list which contained the name of a popular Jewish figure, a wounded war veteran.

In Constantine, scene of bloody disorders last year, and where anti-Semitism is still very strong, four Jews were elected to the municipal council of thirty-two. The Jewish electorate in Constantine comprises almost one-third of the total.

One or two Jews were elected to municipal councils also in Bone, Setif, Tlemcen and Ain-Beida.

Nazis Attack Jewish Waiter; Union in Rio de Janeiro Sues

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
RIO DE JANEIRO—The Waiters Union has instituted suit against a number of Nazi waiters for attacking a Jewish waiter, Boris Pomp, who has been working in a German restaurant here. The attack provoked great excitement in Rio de Janeiro.

The Jewish waiter came to Brazil seven years ago. He mastered several languages, including German and Portuguese, the latter being the language of the country.

Looking for a job, he applied to the German restaurant Paneuros without disclosing that he is a Jew. Because of his mastery of German he was immediately employed by the owner, who happens to be a Nazi. The waiters of the restaurant are also members of the local Nazi group. After the tourist season was over, Pomp left his job and disclosed his identity.

Enraged by the fact that "a Jew dared to work in a German restaurant," the Nazi waiters in the Paneuros telephoned him the next day that the owner of the restaurant wished to see him. When later he entered the restaurant, the waiters attacked him with iron bars, inflicting serious injuries.

"This is in return for your audacity in working with Germans," the assailants told him.

Ill Must be Transferred Elsewhere, Commons Is Informed

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON. — Captain Strickland asked the Colonial Secretary in the House whether he is aware that inhabitants of Tel Aviv in need of hospital treatment must in many cases be transferred to hospitals in other parts of the country because of lack of available beds in the Municipal Hospital; and whether he is yet in a position to state if the government has decided to accede to the request of the municipal authorities of Tel Aviv to be permitted to provide the necessary additional and improved accommodation.

Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister replied: "I am not in a position to confirm the statement contained in the first part of the question. I have communicated with the High Commissioner for Palestine but I have not yet received information as to the intentions of the government regarding the proposal of the Tel Aviv municipality for financing the enlargement and improvement of the Municipal Hospital. I should add that during last year, this hospital, to the cost of which the government contributes, was enlarged from 125 to 134 beds."

Captain Strickland then asked if the Colonial Secretary was aware that at present beds are being put up in the corridors of this hospital, and that patients have to be sent elsewhere because there is not room in this hospital. He asked if he would urge on the High Commissioner the need for dealing with this matter with some expedition.

Sir Philip replied: "Certainly. I am forwarding the suggestion and statement to the High Commissioner. I am sure we can rely on the High Commissioner to give all due weight to all relative considerations."

Mr. Janner asked whether the Colonial Secretary will point out that in his opinion it is not correct to say that there should be no provisions for maternity cases and that it is not correct that there should be only two beds for every one thousand of the population, and that 184 for the population of 124,000 is wholly inadequate.

Sir Philip said: "It would be very unwise for me to forward exparte statements to the High Commissioner, who as the House knows, missioner, who as the House knows, gives most careful considerations to these matters."

"This calculation does not tally," the Nazi paper asserts, "because the largest number of Jews were not counted as belonging to the Mosaic faith, but described themselves as 'Konfessionslos,' Protestants or Catholics, and were not added to the number of religious Jews. Actually the number of Jews in Germany is much larger."

The paper comes to the conclusion that about 80,000 Jews emigrated from Germany since the Nazis came into power and that there are still 535,000 Jews left in Germany.

Clears Woolworth of Selling Nazi Goods

Didn't Violate Wald Act, Court Rules; Case Brought By Bronx Girl

Charges that the F. W. Woolworth Company is selling German-made goods and is violating the State Wald Act which prohibits the sale of merchandise with the name and place of manufacture erased, were dismissed yesterday by Judge George B. DeLuca in Bronx Magistrates Court for lack of evidence.

The charges were brought by a Bronx Jewish girl, Thelma Grossman, and by her attorney, Samuel H. Reis. Miss Grossman said in court that she was a member of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi yeague. She stated that she purchased in a Woolworth store three cans of Golden Harvest fish food and that one of the cans was marked "Made in Germany."

Philip S. Goldshall of the Brookman Manufacturing Company appeared as a witness and testified that the cans of fish food were marketed by his company. He assured the court that his firm has not bought anything from Germany since the beginning of the Jewish persecutions in the Reich under the Hitler regime.

Zionists Hold Palestine Alone Can't Solve Problem in Reich

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN—The Juedische Rundschau, official organ of the German Zionist Federation, takes up in a leading article the suggestion made in the Voelkischer Beobachter that Zionism provides the solution of the Jewish problem in Germany through wholesale emigration to Palestine.

"Large sections of the Jewish youth will have to look for a place in Palestine," it writes. "We do not underrate the importance of the transformation created as a result of this in the life of the individual. But, however much we may desire to win over the strongest and most valuable part of the Jewish Community for the tremendous upbuilding work in Palestine, we do not overlook the fact that it is a long and a far road that we have to go to attain the goal. It cannot be achieved at one blow."

Sees Difficulties

"This fact," the Rundschau article continues, "brings consequences in its train, both for the State authorities in regulating emigration in a way that will avoid misconceptions, and in regulating Jewish affairs in other respects, and also insofar as it affects inner Jewish differences."

"There is no longer any section of German Jewry that fails to recognize, under the force of circumstances, the importance of Palestine, but they will not see that the fact that every young Jew is a potential Palestine immigrant, fundamentally influences the entire formation of Jewish life and the conception of the Diaspora. It must become the basis of all educational training and of Jewish life."

"It is therefore no cheap exploitation of the situation on the part of Zionists when we ask that we should have an influence on all those branches of administration which have to deal with these matters.

Refers to Program

"If people say that the Zionists do not take into sufficient account the interests of the Jews who live here in Germany and will remain in Germany, we declare that so far as the Jews living in Germany are concerned, whatever their Jewish views may be, their interests must be equally protected, and a program along these lines was laid down in this paper two months ago, set out in the manner of four points.

"It would be too primitive to attempt to present the situation as if our aim were simply 'emigration.' It means the acceptance of Judaism, and of the consoling realization that something new is in the process of growth which imposes big demands upon Jews."

"Jews will have to continue to live together with other people," the Juedische Rundschau declares. "Jewish history in the past has often been a history of emigration. In recent times we have experienced the emigration of millions of Russian Jews to America. When we realize the emigration need of the pauperized masses of Polish Jewry and the slight openings for immigration that exist, we see how acute the present crisis is. We are constantly hearing tales of the misery in which the Jewish emigrants live in other countries, and a return of even totally non-political emigrants from Germany is not desired."
