Testimony

LONDON, July 11—Public hearings into Nazi terrorism in England and in other countries were opened today under the chairmanship of Hector Hughes, member of the King's Court. The hearings are sponsored by the Bishop of Birmingham, and by a special commission consisting of Prof. J. B. S. Haldane and a number of members of the British Parliament.

The principal witnesses at the hearing today were Mrs. Berthold Jakob, wife of the German-Jewish journalist who was kidnaped by the Nazis in Switzerland, and Mrs. Theodor Lessing, widow of the German-Jewish professor who was assassinated two years ago by Nazi agents in Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Jacob Collapses

Mrs. Jacob collapsed as she was testifying at today's hearing. She was not able to continue her testimony, in which she related the details of a visit paid by her father-in-law to the kidnaped journalist in Berlin jail. Mrs. Jakob's story is the first public intimation that Herr Jakob is still alive. After his kidnaping it had been reported that he had been beaten to death in a concentration camp.

Mrs. Lessing calmly related the details of her husband's assassination by Nazi agents in Marienbad in 1933, a few months after he left Germany as a political refugee.

The committee which instituted these public hearings has examined

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

PRAHA, July 11—A message of good will to the Jews of the world concluding with a Hebrew phrase expressing hope for universal peace was sent today by Cardinal Verdner, papal legate to the Czechoslovakian Catholic Congress, to Rabbi Samuel Funk of Pressburg in reply to the rabbi's felicitations to the congress.

The telegram concluded with the Hebrew expression, "Venatati shalom baaretz," meaning, "And I shall grant peace in the land."

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

SAO PAULO, Brazil, July 11—The government of Sao Paulo today issued a decree which will facilitate a larger immigration into this State. The decree aims to increase colonization in the State.

Racial and religious freedom for the entire population was guaranteed in the new constitution proclaimed yesterday by the government of Sao Paulo.

At the same time it became known today that 101 Integralistes, members of the anti-Semitic Fascist organization of Brazil, most of whom are Germans, left for Germany in order to study Nazi methods on the spot and return later to Brazil as trained Nazi agitators.

Mucio Carneiro Leon of the Journal de Brazil of Rio de Janeiro, and Vaz de Barros of Estado Sao Paulo, left on the Graf Zeppelin for Germany upon special invitation sent to them by the Nazi Party headquarters in Berlin for the purpose of mapping a program of Nazi propaganda in South American countries.

The Brazilian newspaper, A Manhã, published a statement that the entire Integraliste expedition is financed by Hitler agents in Brazil.

In connection with the growing Integraliste movement the Navy Department of the Brazil government issued an order forbidding its personnel to belong to the Integraliste party. It is expected that the Minister of War will extend this order to the army.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 11—The hope that Palestine will in the near future be settled with three million Jews and that it will become as important a strategic and economic base as Singapore, was expressed here last night at a banquet attended by more than 600 of the most outstanding Jews in England.

The banquet took place at the Guild Hall and was arranged in conjunction with the campaign now being carried on in England to enable the planting of a forest in Palestine in the name of King George, whose Silver Jubilee is being celebrated throughout the United Kingdom this year. Lord Melchett was chairman.

"With three million loyal and devoted Jews to protect it," Lord Melchett said, "Palestine can become the most valuable link in the great trading route to the Near East and other British possessions. It certainly can be as important to Great Britain as is Singapore at present."

Urged Palestine Restoration

Sir Herbert Samuel, first High Commissioner in Palestine, disclosed the fact in his speech that he advocated the restoration of Palestine to the Jews under British auspices while the World War was at its height.

Soon after Turkey entered the war, Sir Herbert said, he was the first to draw the attention of the British Cabinet to the significance of acquiring Palestine and aiding the Jews to establish their national home there.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

RIGA, Latvia, July 11—The Jewish Parents' Union was closed here today by the Minister of the Interior. The reason given is that the existence of this group is "detrimental to the interests of the State."

The action is part of the general policy of the Latvian government to suppress Jewish activities in the country. The Union did not indulge in any political work, limiting itself to Jewish educational activities.

The Union was composed of parents who do not send their children to strictly religious Jewish schools. The present policy of the Latvian government is to entrust Jewish matters only to the Agudath Israel, the extreme orthodox Jewish party.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

COPENHAGEN, July 11—A satiric review lampooning Hitler and his regime in Germany, which was to have been performed at the Royal Theater here, was today banned by the government of Denmark.

The Socialist Minister of Education stated that the reason for banning production of the review is that it attacked the head of a neighboring friendly State.

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

BERLIN, July 11—Members of the Nazi party heard saying in public that "the Jews also belong to the white race," will be put on trial as untrustworthy elements, the Voelkischer Beobachter, chief organ of the Nazi party, warns today.

"The swastika," the paper writes, "is the symbol representing our fight with the Jews."

The Nazi paper harangues at length against those Germans who do not approve of the anti-Jewish persecutions. "To those who claim that there are also decent Jews in existence in Germany, we say that our party is not concerned with decency or indecency of the Jew but against his damaging influence on the life of the German people," the paper writes.

In warning the Nazi members against saying that the Jews belong to the white race, the Voelkischer Beobachter declares that such an allegation is tantamount to admitting that the Jews are blood relations of the "Aryans."

Prof. Martin Wolff, internationally known law authority and most popular professor at the Berlin University, was dismissed from his post today because of his Jewish descent. Only one Jewish lecturer, Prof. Rabel, is now left in the Berlin University.

The administration of Bad Duerkheim, one of the largest resorts in Germany, posted a large red sign today reading: "Jews are not ALGIERS, July 11—The trial of a group of Mohammedans accused of organizing the anti-Jewish pogrom in Constantine last August, during which scores of Jews were killed and many injured, concluded here today. Six of the accused were sentenced to hard labor for terms ranging from three to fifteen years. Three were acquitted.

ORAN, Algeria, July 11—Clashes between the anti-Semitic "European Political Party" of Algeria and other organized political groups broke out today in Tiaret, near Oran, resulting in the serious wounding of one person and light injuries to another.

During the clashes, a Jew, it is charged, fired his revolver. The police intervened in time to prevent the clashes from developing into a serious outbreak.

The police authorities in Oran, disturbed by the fight in Tiaret, have started an investigation into the causes of the disturbances. The authorities in Algeria are anxious to check any possible outbreaks in order to prevent anti-Jewish riots on a large scale similar to the one which took place last year in Constantine and in other sections of Algeria.

The French Governor General of Algeria communicated with the authorities in Oran asking for a detailed report on the clashes in Tiaret.

Novick, Washington; Rabbi Mordecai Stern, Rabbi Harry Wohlberg, Max Hagler and Mrs. Bessie Gotsfeld, Jerusalem.

'Aryan' Law Proves Boomerang;
Hitler Aide's Relative Out of Job

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

PRAHA, July 11—At least one important Nazi has had a boomerang experience with Nazi race laws and non-Nazi circles in Berlin are still chuckling over the incident.

Herr Arthur Greiser, Hitler's devoted lieutenant in the free city of Danzig and president of the Danzig Senate, has a Jewish brother-in-law, Dr. Kochmann, living in Germany. Dr. Kochmann, unable to claim the privileges of a front-fighter, was recently deprived of his panel practice. His wife appealed to her brother, Greiser, to help them, but Greiser was unable to get the order rescinded, according to the Praha press.

Dr. Kochmann and Mrs. Kochmann, nee Greiser, are now en route to Shanghai, where they hope neither the "Aryan" race-laws nor membership in the family of a prominent Nazi will interfere with their means of livelihood.

Palestine Farmers Get Visas
To Bring in Kin as Laborers

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

JERUSALEM, July 11—Direct negotiations between the Jewish Farmers Association and the Palestine government have resulted in an announcement today that the government will shortly grant a number of immigration certificates to Jewish farmers who wish to bring over relatives from other countries for the purpose of placing them in manual work in Palestine agricultural enterprises.

This innovation will have very important results on the work of the present labor shortage in the Jewish farms in Palestine," the Farmers Association explained in making the announcement.

The statement declares that a certain number of immigration certificates for the Farmers Association and other similar bodies will be reserved by the government in the next labor schedule of the Jewish Agency. Those who receive these certificates will have to give a guarantee that, upon reaching Palestine, they will not settle in the

An Experiment in Microcosm

By J.T.A. Staff Correspondent

DANZIG.

IT HAS BEEN the proud boast of Danzig's Nazis that, forbidden by the treaties to rejoin the Reich and surrender its status as a Free City under League of Nations auspices, Danzig has nevertheless been a Germany in miniature, that the Nazi program in Germany has been duplicated in Danzig in microcosm.

To an extent that has been true. Danzig's Nazi rulers gave the city a reign of terror restrained from reaching the limits it did in Germany only by the League's High Commissioner and Poland's Commissioner - General. They brutally crushed all minority opposition at the same time paying lip service to the Danzig constitution. They adopted Nazi measures throughout. Non-Nazi administrators and civil servants were unceremoniously ousted to be replaced by Nazis. The Danzig Senate became a helpless replica of the Reichstag. The public debt increased alarmingly, trade decreased, commerce had to submit to strangling restrictions as the Nazi regime struggled to save the gulden and keep the city from bankruptcy.

been torn by Poland's demand for a gateway to the sea, brought many lovers of Germany into the Hitler fold—to repent later. Dr. Rauschning, the first Nazi president of the Senate, is a case in point.

DR. RAUSCHNING, an honest

Danziger, tried to enforce the equality provisions of the Danzig constitution. Disillusioned and shelved by the zealous Nazis, he had the courage to come out openly in the last elections against the Nazi Party ticket. He is now a refugee from Danzig, but he is an example of many honest Danzigers who once supported the Nazis only to have recovered their senses since.

No one can estimate the position of the Danzig Nazis with certainty today. But I have heard competent observers state that were an election to be held tomorrow, the Nazis would not get the plurality necessary for control, let alone a convincing majority.

Germany's citizens have not yet reached this point. But the experiment in microcosm points the way.

SINCE Dr. Rauschning's ousting, more than 100 Danzig Nazi leaders have left the party. They represent the moderate element, the Danzig burgher. Most important was the resignation of Herr von Wunck as president of the Danzig Diet and as member of the Nazi Party. His resignation was accompanied by a statement of lack of confidence in the Nazi policy pursued in Danzig and his refusal to sanction illegal expenditures for armaments and political purposes.

The Nazi Party in Danzig, even the most loyal members will assert, is in a serious position. The "respectable" element is rapidly quitting it, leaving it to such typical Nazis as Arthur Greiser, the Senate president, who can solemnly swear adherence to the constitution at Geneva and hasten home to violate every clause in it guaranteeing the rights of individuals.

The same process, I am convinced, is being duplicated in Germany, but more slowly and, of course, far less spectacularly. One does not announce disagreement with Hitler and openly resign from the party unless one is tired of life or prefers a concentration camp to the amenities of home.

Today Danzig is struggling with a full-fledged currency crisis such as only Dr. Schacht's prestidigitations have been able to stave off in Germany. The gulden has been devalued. A "banking holiday" has almost ruined Danzig's commerce and currency regulations stricter than Germany's are spelling the doom of hundreds of Danzig commercial enterprises.

ONE result of Nazi methods in meeting a crisis forced by the Nazi program has been to arouse Poland to reprisal measures. If Danzig merchants are not allowed to pay Polish merchants for Polish merchandise, then Polish merchants must be paid in Poland in advance for shipments to Danzig. If Danzig debtors are not to be allowed to pay Polish debts, then they can have no more credit.

And a Danziger travelling to Poland on business, finds that a ticket bought and paid for in Danzig will only take him as far as one of five border towns. Danzig's dictators won't allow the prop-

Syria Again

The French government has again invited Jewish organizations to promote settlement of Jews in Syria. This time the invitation is extended by none other than the French Colonial Under-Secretary, M. Candace.

When the French High Commissioner in Syria extended a similar invitation to the Jews several months ago he attached certain reservations to it. He demanded that the Jews who settle in Syria first of all refrain from spreading Zionist propaganda. He stipulated that the settlers must learn the Arabic language. He warned that no Jewish settlement will be permitted in the Syrian regions neighboring Palestine.

The invitation by the French Colonial Under-Secretary contains no such reservations. On the contrary, the French official makes it clear that his government will assist Jewish immigration and colonization in Syria along the same lines as the British government does in Palestine.

Large Acceptance Doubtful Nevertheless, it is doubtful whether a substantial number of Jews will take advantage of the French invitation. Much as the present immigration to Palestine does not consist of idealists, there is, however, the hope entertained by every immigrant to Palestine that sooner or later this country will become a Jewish National Home.

No such hope can, however, be entertained with regard to Syria. Jews settling in Syria will feel themselves strangers there for a long time. They will be settled in Syria but their eyes will be turned toward Palestine, the neighboring country, where Jews feel themselves perfectly at home in every respect.

But Offer Is Not in Vain Although the inducement for settling in Syria is not exceptionally attractive it would, however, be a mistake to think that the repeated offer of the French government will be entirely in vain. There may not be a large Jewish immigration to Syria but certain groups of Jews, especially German Jews, will no doubt be interested in the French offer. Some of them are already interested.

There are today groups of German Jews who are seriously considering plans to develop certain industries in Syria and to invest their capital there since they find no fields for investing in Palestine. A group of German Jews is already publishing a German-Jewish newspaper in Syria. This newspaper, a supplement to a local Syrian-Arab daily, is devoted entirely to Jewish life in Palestine and in Germany and is sold even among German Jews in Palestine.

Stimulating the Palestine Govt. The invitation by the French government—whether or not it is accepted by some Jewish groups—may well spur the Palestine government, which is anxious to prevent the transfer of Jewish capital from Palestine to Syria, into taking a greater interest in developing Jewish agriculture and industry in Palestine. Partly, this is already being done by the Palestine government, which is now seeking ways and means to secure favorable trade agreements with other countries.

It is not a secret any longer that the Palestine government is ambitious to develop four large cities in the Holy Land, each of which would have a population of 250,000. These four cities are to serve as the industrial backbone of the country. Three of these

Even Newsboys Must Be 'Aryan'

The London Times, commenting on the revival of anti-Jewish activities in Germany, says:

The fact that the publication of the special anti-Jewish number of the Westdeutscher Beobachter was understood to have been delayed until after the visit of Sir John Simon and Mr. Eden to Berlin suggests that the revival is not entirely unconscious. A hitherto unrecorded development is that, the Reich Press Chamber having deprived even "non-Aryan" newsvendors of their livelihoods, the Reich Chamber of Writing (or Literature) recently informed several thousands of Jewish writers that they were not fit to write or publish books in National-Socialist Germany.

'Non-Aryans' Come To London to Wed

A British marriage clerk relates in the London Daily Express how Germans come to marry from Nazi Germany to England "non-Aryans." He writes as follows:

"Germans or any other nationals may qualify for marriage in this country to fifteen days' residence put in by one of the parties to the marriage in the area where the marriage is to take place.

"After establishing fifteen days' residence, and as long as the other party to the ceremony is in England, a declaration may be made, and the marriage take place by license within one clear day.

"I have personally married scores of German couples. They have told me that because of Jewish blood in a grandparent they have been forbidden the right to wed in Germany.

"Immediately after the ceremony they have left again for Germany.

"The word seems to have gone round in Germany, for there are hotels in my district and in others catering specially for German bride visitors. An interpreter is always available, and the preliminaries are accomplished with his aid."

the future of the orange industry and, to assist it, hints at possible compulsion to force Arab and Jewish growers to cooperate in marketing their produce. It asks the government to consider whether Palestine should not impose a sort of retaliation against those countries whose imports from Palestine are small by introducing import quotas, and harps again on the desire to include Palestine within the Imperial Preference system. The impolicy of placing all one's eggs in one basket is, however, realized, and the government is further urged to take active steps for the development of mixed farming. Finally, while expressing its gratitude for the transfer of the Huleh lands to Jewish hands, it presses again on the government its duty to assist the Jewish Agency to acquire large stretches of land on which large numbers of Jews can be settled.

This is the tale of the Jewish Agency's principal claims and demands.

Lord Cecil Reviews Plight of Refugees

Lord Robert Cecil, in an article in the Daily Herald on the situation of the refugees from Germany, writes:

No fewer than 79,300 people, mostly Jews, have fled from Germany since the National Revolution. By a most unfortunate concession to German official susceptibilities, these fugitives were not entrusted to League machinery, but to a special High Commission for which the League assumes no responsibility and to which the governments—with the honorable exception of Sweden—have refused any financial support.

Over 25,000 of the exiles from Germany are still without any security of home or work; 7,000 are in urgent need of the elementary necessities of life.

Boycott Slashed Reich Exports Here 49%

Steep Decline In Sales to U.S. Dates 3 Years

World Exports in Same Time Off 37%, Anti-Nazi Body States

German export to the United States have slumped forty-nine per cent in the last three years.

The Reich's world exports have taken a dip of thirty-seven per cent in the same period.

These are, in brief, the fruits of the boycott which anti-Nazis throughout the world have waged against the regime in power in Germany today. The results of the boycott are covered in a statistical report made public yesterday by the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, covering German trade for 1932, 1933, 1934 and the first part of 1935.

The report reveals that German exports of cotton textiles have dropped seventy-five per cent. But other figures are even more startling.

Toy Trade Hard Hit

For instance, the once thriving German toy export trade has been cut by eighty-five per cent.

German fur exports have suffered a sixty per cent decline.

In a statement accompanying the report, the Anti-Nazi League says: "These figures amply prove the success of the boycott. If more proof is needed, it is furnished by Mr. Schacht himself, the financial dictator of Germany, who has openly admitted that Nazism stands or falls with the success or failure of Germany's export trade.

"He has resorted to means which no government has been known to use during peace-time, that is, depriving the industries of the entire country of their profits for the purpose of raising an export fund of one billion marks, avowedly in order to subsidize the efforts of German manufacturers to dump their products abroad at any price.

"It seems, however," the statement continues, "that Mr. Schacht omits one fact from consideration. He may succeed in taking all the profits from German industries and have the export industries attempt to sell their goods at any price. However, he may scarcely expect to succeed in finding outside of Germany a sufficient number of people who would be willing to bargain their reaction to the Nazi system of barbarism for cheap goods."

Hitler Years Compared

In the report, for the purpose of comparison, the first four months of 1932, the pre-Hitler year, are compared, the first four months of the subsequent years.

The total exports for that period in 1932 were $28,000,000. In 1933 there was a precipitous drop to $20,500,000 and in 1934 there was what superficially appeared to be a rise to $25,750,000. But, it was pointed out, the United States meanwhile went off the gold standard and the figures for 1935 and 1935 represent devalued dollars.

Allowing for a forty per cent devaluation, the corrected export figure for the first four months of 1934 is $15,500,000, showing an actual drop in exports from the 1933 figure. And in that period in 1935, there was a further decrease to $15,000,000 (corrected figure).

Included in the report is a long list of export commodities, practically all of which show decreases between 1932 and 1935. In some

Conference to Plan Colonization Body

Jewish Organizations to Meet In London July 21 to Map International Unit

(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON, July 11.—A conference for the purpose of creating an international organization to promote Jewish overseas colonization in countries presenting favorable conditions for large-scale Jewish settlement, will be held here July 21-23.

Sponsors of the so-called "Fraternal movement" will meet at the conference to seek a common basis for operations and the creation of an international organization. Among the organizations participating will be the Jewish Territorial League of Poland; the Ligue de Colonization Juive, of France, and the League for Jewish Colonization of England.

For instance, in the first four months of the pre-Hitler year, 50,000 reichsmarks worth of mineral phosphates were exported. By this year, that item had completely disappeared, as far as exports were concerned.

Clover and feed exports sank from 613,000 to 5,000 reichsmarks.

Consumers throughout the world used 2,318,000 marks worth of German vegetable fats and oils during the first four months of this year as compared with 6,516,000 worth in the year before Hitler began to rule Germany.

Even German beer suffered more than a fifty per cent cut (in amount of exports, that is) over the three year period.

In order to keep up a favorable trade balance, Germany effected drastic cuts in her imports—even in imports of life necessities. And even so the favorable trade balance last May was only 4,400,000 reichsmarks.

Danzig is face-to-face with bankruptcy and a worthless currency. Her citizens face impoverishment as a result. They now look to their leaders with suspicion and a grim hope that the men and principles which led Danzig into the morass, may find a way out. And they are beginning to feel that Nazi Germany is morally obligated to help them out. If Dr. Schacht can find a means to repair the economic damages suffered in Danzig by Nazi misrule, then he may save Danzig for another while for the Nazis. If not, Danzig is lost to the Nazi cause. An experiment in microcosm, Danzig points the way for the Reich.

LONDON.—The Very Reverend W. R. Inge, familiarly known as "the gloomy Dean," has at last found something to be cheerful about.

After assurances that "I am neither a Fascist nor a Nazi. I do not approve of concentration camps, or of Jew-baiting, or of sabre-rattling," Dean Inge, in his weekly article in the London Evening Standard, reports the following blessing in Germany:

"The strong point in Nazism is the abolition of class-jealousies. From all accounts, the employers and employed fraternize in Germany as they never did before. When we remember the extreme bitterness of German Socialism, this is a great achievement. The people are really in good heart after many years of despair and misery. And they have made a great effort to clean up certain unsavoury corners of their moral stable which had long been a reproach to German civilization."

The Dean likewise finds nothing alarming in German rearmament since "they are by no means secure against attack either on their eastern or western front."

Expressing the pious hope that the Nazi regime may not go on much longer, he nevertheless finds it necessary in order to preserve the peace.

"But what will follow Nazism I cannot even guess. The fate of all Europe depends on the preservation of peace."

cities but will work on the land. The Palestine government, it was learned here today, is arranging that the Jewish Agency also set aside a number of immigration certificates from its forthcoming labor schedule for the Revisionists, the Agudath Israel orthodox non-Zionist organization and other groups which complained to the government that they are not receiving sufficient certificates from the Jewish Agency. Figures on the shortage of labor in Palestine and on the absorptive capacity of the country are now being compiled by the immigration department of the Jewish Agency in connection with the demand which the Agency is submitting to the government for immigration certificates for the next labor schedule which is to be granted in October.
