JEW WOUNDED AS RIOTING IS RENEWED IN CZESTOCHOWA SUBURBS

CZESTOCHOWA, Poland, June 22. (JTA) -- A Jew, Leib Birnbaum, was seriously injured today as rioting was renewed in the suburbs following three days of disorders within the city.

The situation in Czeszochowa remained threatening. All Jewish shops and most Jewish factories were closed. The Jewish Community has so far registered 200 Jews who suffered material damage during the disorders.

In Kamiensk, near here, many Jewish houses and shops were demolished in rioting last night.

The job of clearing streets of debris left by three days of anti-Jewish rioting began in this Western Polish city while the Jews, six of their number seriously injured, remained tense with anxiety.

Strewn glass, broken boards and planks, and even feathers from bedding thrown out of houses littered the principal streets of this city of 120,000 inhabitants. Not one Jewish shop in the streets in the center of the city escaped damage.

The property destruction was greatest in Garnszarska, Nadrzeczna, Garibaldi, Narotai, Kosciusko and Wolnos Streets. Crosses and sacred images still stared from non-Jewish shops and houses to distinguish them for the benefit of possible anti-Semitic attackers.

Windows of most Jewish houses were barricaded with planks and barbed wire. Steel-helmeted police patrolled the streets.

Meanwhile, new disorders broke out in the towns of Klobuck and Krzepice, near here, in which many Jewish shops were damaged.

BUCHAREST BAR ELECTIONS POSTPONED AFTER NATIONALIST BOYCOTT

BUCHAREST, June 22. (JTA) -- Nationalists yesterday boycotted elections for the Council of the Bucharest Bar Association as the Government surrounded the Palace of Justice with strong detachments of police and gendarmes to prevent a recurrence of last year's election anti-Jewish rioting.

Because they realized the possibility of defeating the democratic, pro-Jewish list in a protected election. The balloting was postponed indefinitely.

Meanwhile, a conference of the National Jewish Party of Rumania demanded that the Government take measures to protect the rights of the Jews and called upon the Jewish population to unite against anti-Semitism.

A resolution adopted at the conference expressed anxiety over the situation of the Jews in Rumania because of tendencies to oust Jews from trade, commerce and the professions.

Protesting against "the hate propaganda of anti-Semitic parties," the Jewish delegates expressed determination to defend Jewish rights and resist attempts to introduce legislation discriminating between sections of the population.

SWASTIKA HELD NO POLITICAL EMBLEM BY RUMANIAN COURT

SWEDEN REQUIRES STUNNING OF ANIMALS BEFORE SLAUGHTER

STOCKHOLM, June 22. (JTA) -- The Swedish Parliament has passed a law requiring stunning of animals before slaughter, which, Jewish leaders said, has the effect of prohibiting slaughter according to the Jewish ritual.

The law, which was published in the official gazette, goes into effect July 1. It does not apply to poultry slaughter. Rabbinical authorities have held that the stunning of animals before slaughter violates the Jewish ritual.

PARIS, June 22. (JTA) -- A resolution urging the Fifteenth International PEN Congress to protest anti-Semitic legislation and persecution in European countries was laid before the congress executive today by its Jewish delegates.

PARIS, June 22. (JTA) -- Georg Bernhard, former editor of the Pariser Tageblatt, was fined 200 francs for libel in a French court today and ordered to pay 10,000 francs moral damages to Vladimir Poliakov, publisher of the German emigre paper, for declaring that Poliakov had sold out the paper to Nazi interests.

Dr. Bernhard was also ordered to have published, at his own expense, the verdict in five newspaper chosen by Poliakov.

The court declared that Dr. Bernhard had acted in bad faith when he charged Poliakov with having sold out the paper to the Nazis.

In June, 1936, the staff of the Tageblatt resigned, publishing in the paper charges that Mr. Poliakov had sold out to Nazi interests. Dr. Bernhard, who was then in New York, supported the charges in a statement to the press.

In March of this year a German refugee journalists' committee which investigated the case declared that Dr. Bernhard had acted in good faith in leveling the charges against Poliakov, although a minority filed a report accusing Dr. Bernhard and his associates of bad faith.

Previously, a committee of Jewish leaders, headed by the late Dr. Henry Sliosberg, had cleared Poliakov of the charges against him.

Dr. Bernhard is now the editor of the Pariser Tageszeitung, an anti-Nazi newspaper which he founded in association with former staff members of the Tageblatt.

NAZIS USE ELABORATE RULES TO BAR JEWS FROM ARMY

PARIS (JTA) -- Elaborate rules for making absolutely sure that no recruit with the slightest suspicion of Jewish blood shall slip into the German army or labor service, are published in the French magazine Races et Racisme.

The new recruiting regulations, reproduced from the Magdeburgische Zeitung, provide that officials must explain to each recruit "the definition of the word Jew," and that he must then sign the following declaration:

"After careful investigation I have been unable to discover a single fact which permits any supposition that I am a Jew. I have been sufficiently well instructed on the significance of the word Jew. I know that I can expect to be instantly discharged from the Labor Service of the Reich and expelled from the army, if this declaration is found to be false."

In doubtful cases, the regulations call for additional evidence, requiring the recruit to produce the marriage or birth certificates of his parents or even of his grandparents. Police are authorized to investigate his racial origin or to call upon the Central Office on Ancestral Research for assistance.

While the investigation is under way, the article says, the recruit is to be called for military and labor service until his origin is correctly determined.
