TUNISIA RECALLS AMBASSADOR FROM EGYPT; ANTI-BOURGUIBA RIOT IN MADRID

LONDON, April 29: (JTA) -- The Government of Tunisia announced today the recall of its ambassador to Egypt after his residence was set afire this week by demonstrators on the spreading struggle in the Arab world over Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba's proposals that the Arab states recognize and negotiate for peace with Israel.

Arab student demonstrations against Bourguiba broke out today in Madrid. The Tunisian embassy there was stormed by Arabs shouting "Down with Bourguiba;" At a meeting of delegates from 12 Arab countries in Cairo representatives of the Palestine Liberation Organization submitted a note "categorically rejecting" Bourguiba's conditions for Arab-Israel talks which provide for the readmission of Palestine Arab refugees to Israel.

Although there have been press reports that the Arab League might expell Tunisia, a League spokesman said here today that none of the member states had raised that issue.

Bourguiba's Son Discusses Arab-Israel Impasse in Washington

WASHINGTON, April 29: (JTA) -- Foreign Minister Habib Bourguiba, Jr., of Tunisia, said today that he touched "only very lightly" on President Bourguiba's proposals for Arab-Israel peace when he met with Secretary of State Rusk and other State Department officials.

The foreign minister, son of the President, voiced hope here that other Arab nations would heed Tunisia's call for a reasonable settlement of the Arab-Israel impasse based on his father's proposals. "I hope we will not be alone," he said, adding that he felt other Arab countries would display "wisdom." The purpose of his mission to Washington, however, was to seek assistance for Tunisia's four-year economic plan to be launched next year.

SENATE COMMITTEE REPORT TAKES NEGATIVE STAND ON U. S. AID TO EGYPT

WASHINGTON, April 29: (JTA) -- The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today issued its official report on the Foreign Aid Bill, in which it called for severance of aid to Egypt.

The committee considered recommending an "absolute prohibition" on aid to Egypt. But it finally substituted an expression of Congress that all aid should be ended to any country following "officially incited or unrestrained mob action" against U.S. embassies and other properties and not be resumed until the foreign government takes "appropriate measures" to prevent recurrence. The report said the committee "is emphatic in its view that under present circumstances, no aid should go to these countries" although it was felt the President should have flexibility since the situation can change rapidly.

Meanwhile, State Department sources said today that plans for arms shipments to Iraq have been deferred while arrangements with Israel, Jordan, and Saudi Arabia have progressed. The Iraqi negotiations are believed to have struck a snag over the presence in Iraq of Egyptian troops. The Department is reportedly concerned about the intimacy of Iraqi-Egyptian military ties.

PREMIERS OF BRITAIN AND ITALY ESTABLISH IDENTITY OF VIEWS ON MIDDLE EAST

ROME, April 29: (JTA) -- Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain told a press conference here, in reply to a question, that he had discussed Middle East problems with Italian Premier Aldo Moro.

The question apparently was raised because there was no reference to the Middle East in the communique issued here by the two Premiers. The British leader said that the omission was irrelevant and probably due to the large identity of views between the two leaders.

Discussing specific aspects of problems and dangers in the Middle East, Mr. Wilson mentioned the plans of the Arabs to divert headwaters of their territories of the Jordan River and thus deny the Jordan River water to Israel. He reiterated his opinion that Israel should take the water issue to the United Nations, rather than resort to force.

PROSKAUER ADDRESSES CHURCH DIGNITARIES IN ROME; CONVEYS JEWISH VIEWS

ROME, April 29; (JTA) -- Top ranking Catholic Church dignitaries headed by the Vatican's Secretary of State Cardinal Amleto Cicognani, today honored an American Jewish philanthropist, the late Henry Kaufmann of Pittsburgh, at ceremonies dedicating a hall in his memory at Pro Deo University here. A bust of Mr. Kaufmann was unveiled at the ceremonies.

Pope Paul VI, in an Apostolic Brief, warmly praised efforts toward "links of brotherhood" by men of study and action from different nations and different social and religious backgrounds, and has established an International Pro Deo Union to work for these aims.

Judge Joseph Proskauer, honorary president of the American Jewish Committee, dedicating the Kaufmann Hall, termed as "Anni Mirabili" the year in which the United Nations Charter promoting respect for fundamental human rights was adopted, and last year, when the Ecumenical Council approved in principle the declaration on Jews. The ideals and accomplishments of Pro Deo, he declared, were in these very same directions.

Emphasizing that he speaks as a fighter for human brotherhood, Judge Proskauer told the distinguished audience that Jews had welcomed the Ecumenical Council declaration rejecting charges of deicide as an act not of favor but of justice. He voiced the prayer that "the God of all of us will bring to all of us the realization that the preservation and implementation" of the declaration would be "the greatest possible step forward for the cause of human brotherhood."

A pledge that the decree of canonical establishment of the International Pro Deo Union would be the basis for further future developments was voiced at the ceremonies by Father Felix Morlion, president and rector of Pro Deo University. The Papal Brief, he pointed out, called on Pro Deo to work towards "harmonization of the principles of the anthropological and social sciences and the principles of philosophy and theology" for helping solve spiritual and civic problems of our time.

Numerous Cardinals Attend Ceremony Dedicating Kaufmann Hall

Stressing Pro Deo's tradition for the active participation of the laity in religious civic action, Father Morlion singled out Judge Proskauer as one who--through his contributions to the Declaration of the United Nations on Human Rights and his defense of the first Catholic candidate for President of the United States, Al Smith, against bigotry and intolerance--"had practiced equality and justice and certainly can teach equality and justice."

Josef Cardinal Beran was also among the principal speakers. Among the notables attending the dedication ceremony were also numerous other cardinals several of whom were guests later in the day at a dinner given by Judge Proskauer.

The International University for Social Studies "Pro Deo," established in Rome 20 years ago, has a student body of 1,500, taking post-graduate courses in European, Latin American and North American studies, international law and politics, public administration, management and sociology. It maintains an Institute of Applied Social Studies endowed by Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston for the training of priests. More than half its post-graduate students are drawn from 42 nations outside Italy.

Henry Kaufmann, a major figure in American retailing history, was born in Germany in 1860 and emigrated to the United States at the age of 16. Together with his brothers he founded the department store in Pittsburgh, bearing the Kaufmann name. He died in 1955. During his life time he donated millions of dollars to charitable causes.

JEWS IN HUNGARY REPORTED KEEPING THEIR COMMUNAL ORGANIZATION INTACT

LONDON, April 29; (JTA)-- Despite some difficulties, the Jews of Hungary have managed to keep the communal organization intact, Col. Marcus Lipton, a Labor Member of Parliament who recently visited Hungary, reported today to a Poale Zion meeting here.

Col. Lipton who visited Hungary as a member of the British delegation to a meeting of Interparliamentary Union, said that the synagogue in Budapest was open and used and that the Government placed no obstacle in the way of religious observances. He also reported that the Jewish community has institutions in which students were trained for the rabbinate and that Jewish community leaders were allowed to visit western countries and make contact with their counterparts in those nations.

He explained that because the Hungarian Government has made Zionism taboo, Jewish religious teachers had difficulties in teaching religion to their pupils without mentioning Zionism or Israel. He added that the Government still allows a good many Jewish one-man businesses to continue. Col. Lipton also expressed the opinion that if Hungarian Jews were allowed to emigrate, many would leave and settle in Israel.

LARGE NEW YORK RALLY IN TIMES SQUARE MARKS WAR SAW GHETTO UPRISING

NEW YORK, April 29: (JTA) -- With a huge photographic reproduction of the granite monument on the Warsaw site of the former Warsaw Ghetto as a backdrop, Times Square, was the scene at noon today of an open-air rally commemorating the 22nd anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising. The famous thoroughfare was renamed "Warsaw Ghetto Square" for this day, which corresponds with the Hebrew date of the 27th day of Nissan, proclaimed as the annual Day of Remembrance. The rally was held under the auspices of the Zionist Organization of America and co-sponsored by 30 other national and metropolitan Jewish organizations, Principal speakers were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy; Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who read a proclamation designating the day as Warsaw Ghetto Day; Dr. Max Nussbaum, president of the Zionist Organization of America and chairman of the American Zionist Council; and Morris B. Abram, U.S. representative to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, who is president of the American Jewish Committee. The speakers dwelt on the glory of the 60,000 Jews, men, women and children, victims of the Nazi massacres in the Warsaw Ghetto, who were slaughtered by Nazi artillery, flame throwers and dynamite in their valiant resistance against their oppressors.

In his address, Sen. Kennedy, who twice visited the site of the Warsaw Ghetto, said: "We are here today to say that the 60,000 who died in the ghetto did not die in vain, for they have left us a rich heritage. Much of that heritage is in Israel. They directly helped to found the State of Israel. They will always be remembered by the millions to whom Israel is both a beacon and a refuge. But that heritage is not only in Israel, not only for Jews. All of us here--and all free men everywhere--share that heritage. In many ways the Ghetto was the beginning of the end of Hitler and the Nazis."

Dr. Nussbaum, in his address, made a strong plea for U.S. ratification of the Genocide Convention adopted by the United Nations in 1948, outlawing the destruction "in whole or in part of national, racial, religious or ethnic groups." Mr. Abram told the rally that destruction of the kind suffered by the Jews in the Warsaw Ghetto a generation ago would be impossible today, because of 20 years of human rights progress. He said that courage of the kind shown in Warsaw serves as a shining light for generations to come."

The meeting was sponsored by NYU and the N. Chanin Cultural Foundation of the Workmen's Circle. Some 500 persons heard that evaluation from Gus Tyler, assistant president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union: "Born in the ghettos at the turn of the century, this movement -- composed of Jewish immigrants who conducted their meetings in Yiddish -- soon moved into the mainstream of American life, economic, cultural and political," he said:
