

daily news bulletin

Published by Jewish Telegraphic Agency 163 West 46th St. New York, N.Y. 10036

Contents copyright: Reproduction only by previous arrangement

Vol. XLII - 58th Year

Thursday, November 13, 1975

No. 215

RABIN, DULZIN ANNOUNCE EMERGENCY MEETING OF WORLD JEWISH LEADERS IN JERUSALEM NOV. 27-29 TO PLAN A MAJOR ZIONIST INFORMATION CAMPAIGN

By David Landau

JERUSALEM, Nov. 12 (JTA)--Premier Yitzhak Rabin and Leon Dulzin, acting chairman of the Jewish Agency and World Zionist Organization Executives, announced today the convening of an emergency meeting of Jewish leaders here at the end of this month to plan ways of combatting the anti-Jewish and anti-Zionist attack launched at the UN by the Arabs and their supporters. The leaders of Jewish organization around the world and the leaders of the major diaspora communities will be invited to attend.

The meeting, announced in a joint statement issued by the offices of Rabin and Dulzin, will take place at the Knesset in Jerusalem from Nov. 27 to Nov. 29—the anniversary of the 1947 United Nations resolution establishing the Jewish State. Giving details at his office this evening, World Zionist Organization Director General Moshe Rivlin said a joint planning committee of the Premier's office, the Foreign Ministry and the WZO was already meeting to map out details.

Only 100 top Jewish leaders would be invited, Rivlin said. The relatively small number was deliberate—to keep discussion practical and avoid speechmaking. The aim of the meeting is twofold: to express and strengthen Jewish solidarity and to plan a major international information campaign explaining to the world anew what the Zionist ideal means. Of the 100, some 30 would represent the U.S. and three or four each representing other Jewish concentrations. Rivlin did not say how the invitees would be chosen.

Rabin and Dulzin will address the opening session Nov. 27. Two more sessions will be held that day, a long session Nov. 28, an "oneg shabbat" the night of Nov. 28 during which delegates would discuss the spiritual meaning of Jewry's tie to Israel, and a closing session the night of Nov. 29.

FORD DEPLORES ANTI-ZIONIST RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (JTA)--A White House spokesman said yesterday that President Ford deplored the anti-Zionist resolution adopted by the General Assembly Monday as "a wholly unjustified action" but did not know if the President planned any concrete action to show his displeasure. The spokesman replied "no" when asked if the U.S. contemplated leaving the United Nations.

Responding to questions by reporters, White House Deputy Press Secretary William Greener read the following statement: "The United States representative at the United Nations has already expressed the United States' official reaction to the General Assembly vote. As you know, the President has previously spoken out on this issue and in the aftermath of last night's General Assembly vote, re-emphasizes his views of the deplorable nature of this wholly unjustified action."

Greener disclosed that in the course of a 20-minute meeting the President held at the White House yesterday morning with seven visiting members of the Israeli Knesset who are here as guests of Congress, Ford affirmed "his belief that adoption of the resolution undermines the principles on which the UN is based." Greener said that at the meeting with the MKs, the President also "reaffirmed his strong commitment to maintaining the momentum of negotiations aimed at a just and durable settlement in that area (the Middle East) and to the survival and security of the State of Israel." (See separate story on the MKs.)

DAYAN DOES NOT CONSIDER NOV. 10 A BLACK DAY FOR JEWS, ZIONISTS

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (JTA)--Israel's former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said here last night that he did not regard Nov. 10 as a "black day" because of the series of anti-Israel, anti-Zionist resolutions adopted on that date by the United Nations General Assembly.

"I don't think it was a black day for Jews or Zionists because we are experienced with problems and we have practiced handling hostility and misunderstanding for 4000 years," he said. Dayan added that "The future of Israel will be decided on the farm, fields, and if necessary, on the battlefields of Israel; the fate of Zionism will be decided in the hearts of the Jewish people."

Dayan spoke at a press conference here prior to addressing a private major gifts meeting initiating the 1976 campaign of the Jewish United Fund of Metropolitan Chicago. The meeting, attended by 93 local Jewish leaders, raised $6.25 million, a record sum and a record attendance for such a kickoff meeting according to United Fund chairman Harry Fox.

The former Defense Minister commented on a variety of subjects. He said the Palestinian problem should be solved by resettlement of the Palestinians in the Arab countries and Israel would pay compensation to them for any land and property left behind. He contrasted this with the 800,000 Jews from Arab countries who resettled in Israel with no compensation whatsoever for the property they left behind.

Dayan said he was not concerned with improved relations between the U.S. and Egypt as long as that was not at Israel's expense. He said Israel wanted to purchase Pershing long-range missiles from the U.S. in order to have a second strike capability, meaning the ability to hit back at Cairo or Damascus should the Arabs attack Israeli civilian centers with their Soviet-made "Scud" missiles. Dayan said Israel had no intention of arming the Pershings with nuclear warheads.

KISSINGER: U.S. WILL NOT TAKE ECONOMIC REPRISALS AGAINST STATES THAT VOTED FOR ANTI-ZIONIST MEASURE

By Joseph Polakoff

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (JTA)--Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger indicated today that the U.S. has no intention of taking economic reprisals against the countries that voted in favor of the anti-Zionist resolution in the General Assembly Monday, despite statements by himself and President Ford deploring that resolution.

"We have made no final decision. We must keep the American reaction in some balance," Kissinger said at a press conference this morning in Pittsburgh where he had addressed the Foreign Affairs Council last night. He termed the anti-Zionist resolution an "emotion of the day."

Kissinger told the press conference, "I believe it is important in the present world situation to keep an eye on fundamental issues that must be solved and those issues will not go away. One of these issues is the relationship between the developed and developing countries. We cannot have the world divided between those who have advanced industrial know-how and those living on the edge of poverty."

The Secretary warned that such a situation could lead to "chronic civil war" in 10-15 years and "therefore we have to conduct our foreign policy today, whatever the immediate irritations, in such a manner that the possibility of a cooperative world remains open."

Congress in Bitter Mood

Kissinger's remarks seemed to raise the likelihood of a confrontation between the Administration and Congress where the mood is one of anger and bitterness over the General Assembly vote. Several key members of Congress, notably Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D.Wash.) have already proposed curtailing American aid to the African, Asian and Arab-bloc countries that supported the resolution equating Zionism with racism.

Rep. Philip Crane (R.Ill.) introduced a resolution in the House that would reduce U.S. funding of the United Nations from the present 25 percent of the world organization's budget to 5 percent.

Raps Anti-Zionist Measure

Kissinger spoke out strongly against the anti-Zionist measure in the UN. He said it was "really a form of moral condemnation of the State of Israel and not simply an abstract vote on Zionism," and that "the linkage of Zionism and racism smacks of some practices that it would be better for mankind to forget."

But while he asserted that "the UN vote has certainly added to the tensions, the rifts and the distrust" in the Middle East diplomatic situation and was "extremely unhelpful and highly irresponsible," Kissinger said the U.S. will "have to decide on the votes on an individual basis before deciding what specific action we will take toward the various countries."

Aid Cut-Off is Counter-Productive

Kissinger's views were echoed by other Administration officials here who strongly defended the $4.7 billion military aid program and warned that it would be counter-productive if the U.S. were to cut off aid to countries that voted for the anti-Zionist resolution. Seventy percent of the Administration's aid package is earmarked for Israel and other Middle Eastern countries.

Administration spokesmen noted that military and military-related aid was aimed at protecting American interests, and one official was quoted as saying, "Our own interests are the ones we are concerned about."

When Rep. Lee Hamilton (D.Ind.) suggested, during hearings by the House International Relations Committee yesterday that it was "premature" for the Administration to offer an aid program to Syria which has not yet said that it would renew the presence of UN peace-keeping forces on the Golan Heights when their mandate expires at the end of this month, Assistant Secretary of State Alfred Atherton replied that holding back on aid would not affect Syria's decision.

KNESSETERS HINT ISRAEL WILL NOT BREAK WITH THE UNITED NATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (JTA)—Seven Knesset members, visiting here as guests of Congress, indicated yesterday that Israel was not about to break with the United Nations but stressed that the world organization has lost its moral authority as a result of the pro-FLO and anti-Zionist resolutions adopted by the General Assembly Monday.

At a press conference held at the Capitol after a meeting with President Ford at the White House earlier in the day, Yitzhak Ben Aharon, a Labor MK, replied, when asked if Israel would quit the UN, that "At this stage it is too early to pre-judge a decision by the Israel government." He added, "But there is no doubt that the UN has lost its moral authority as far as Israel is concerned, in regard to Israel, to act for Israel or with Israel in any capacity whatsoever."

Another member of the Knesset delegation, Zerach Warhaftig, of the National Religious Party, said, with regard to UN peace-keeping forces in the Middle East that Israel was "interested" in seeing that it fulfills its tasks. "We are not going to depart from the services of the UN forces if they give us those services," he said.

Menachem Beigin, Likud leader, said the group's meetings with Ford and with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Congressional leaders had convinced him that there is "absolute unanimity in the U.S. government's unequivocal objection" to the "abominable evil" adopted by the General Assembly last night.

Positive Meeting With Ford

Yosef Tamir, another Likud MK, described their visit with Ford as "a very positive meeting." He said the President was given a list of Jewish "prisoners of conscience" in the Soviet Union and was requested to intervene with Soviet Communist Party Secretary General Leonid Brezhnev for their release and permission to emigrate to Israel. Ford said he accepted the request and pledged to do his best to achieve this aim, Tamir reported.

Yisrael Yeshayahu, Speaker of the Knesset, who heads the seven-member delegation of Israeli law-makers, noted that he was born in Yemen, a country where Jews were treated as second class citizens. Speaking in Hebrew, Yeshayahu said that the one million Jews who emigrated to Israel from Islamic countries did not leave because Jews refused to sell a radio to an Arab leader but because they were repressed and oppressed in the countries of their birth.

He was referring to the canard by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on his recent visit to the U.S. that Jews had controlled Egypt's economy until 1952 and once refused to sell him a radio because they took orders from the Zionists.

Df. Ari Ankorian, a Labor MK, expressed concern over Sadat's efforts to acquire more arms for Egypt during his recent travels in the U.S., Britain and France. He said such efforts "raise our suspicions that the road to peace is still distant." Chaika Grossman of Mapam remarked that "The world has yet to learn the lessons of the past because some people continue to say, 'I am not responsible for the Holocaust because I was born after it occurred.'"

In their 20-minute meeting with Ford, the Knesset delegation presented the President with a silver filigreed Chanukah lamp, Yeshayahu, who made the presentation, observed that "It is a symbol of life." The President replied, "I thank you very much and I assure you it will be prominently displayed in the White House." The delegation, the first Israeli parliamentary group officially invited by Congress, will visit Florida, Illinois, Nebraska and New York City before returning to Israel. (By Joseph Polakoff)

MORTON UNLIKELY TO BE FORMALLY HELD IN CONTEMPT OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (JTA)--Secretary of Commerce Rogers Morton is unlikely to be formally held in contempt of Congress for refusing to disclose information to a House subcommittee that he has received from American companies related to the Arab boycott.

Morton has resigned from his Cabinet post and will leave office by the end of the year. It is believed, Capitol sources told the Jewish Telegraphic Agency today, that House and committee actions remaining to execute the legislative procedures for the citation cannot be completed within the six weeks remaining before Morton's departure.

Morton was cited as being in contempt yesterday by a 10-5 vote of the House subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations headed by Rep. John Moss (D. Calif.). The group has been trying since last July to obtain documents on American companies believed to have complied with the boycott. Moss said that Morton's refusal to provide the information left him no choice but citation for contempt. Withholding the papers, Moss said, should not be tolerated by the Congress.

Rep. James Scheuer (D.NY) formally introduced the motion in the subcommittee against Morton. If he is cited by the full House, it is believed, Morton would be the first Cabinet officer to be held in contempt. The subcommittee action must be approved by its parent body, the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and then adopted by a majority vote in the House. Capitol Hill sources also told the JTA that should Morton not submit the information before leaving office his successor will be given an opportunity by the subcommittee to provide it.

"I would like to reiterate my personal opposition to the Arab boycott and my full accord with the policies and laws of the United States," Morton said in a statement to the subcommittee. He observed that Attorney General Edward Levi had told him he need not respond to the subcommittee's subpoena for the information.

POLL FAVORS DULZIN OVER ALMOGI

JERUSALEM, Nov. 12 (JTA)--Leon Dulzin showed a marked edge over Yosef Almogi as the man Israelis want to see heading the Jewish Agency, according to a public opinion poll conducted in mid-October by the Institute for Applied Social Research in Jerusalem. But the poll also showed that one-third of Israelis have no opinion at all on the Agency chairmanship election, now being vigorously contested by the two men. Dulzin is acting chairman of the Jewish Agency and World Zionist Organization Executives. Almogi, the Mayor of Haifa, has been nominated for that dual office by the Labor Party.

Thirty-nine percent of those asked thought Dulzin would be "better" for the job; 17 percent thought Almogi would be "better"; and eight percent thought they were equally suited. Thirty-five percent had no opinion. In answer to another question, 41 percent thought Dulzin was "more experienced and more acceptable to diaspora Jews"; 14 percent favored Almogi on those grounds; 11 percent felt they were equal, and 33 percent were "don't knows."

A substantial majority of those asked were opposed to the idea that the chairmanship was a fiefdom of the party in power. The two previous chairmen, the late Louis Pincus and the late Pinchas Sapir, were members of the Labor Party. Dulzin is a leader of Likud.

ROSEN URGES THAT ALIYA FROM RUMANIA NOT BE MADE INTO A PUBLIC ISSUE

By David Friedman

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (JTA)--Rabbi Moses Rosen, the Chief Rabbi of Rumania, today urged those concerned with the welfare of the Rumanian Jewish community and with aliya from Rumania not to make the question of aliya a public issue as it has been for the last six months. He said that during the 16 previous years in which there was silence on the issue some 300,000 Rumanian Jews emigrated to Israel, the conditions of the Rumanian Jewish community improved and there was an improvement in the relations between Rumania and Israel.

Rabbi Rosen's remarks were made in response to questions at a press conference at the office of the Joint Distribution Committee. "I refuse to give any statements on this problem," Rabbi Rosen said and urged "other people to do the same thing." However, he noted the policy of re-uniting families continues. Charges that Rumania had clamped down on Jewish emigration came up during the Congress' consideration of most favored nation treatment status for Rumania, Congress approved the MFN bill after emigration from Rumania reportedly increased last summer.

The Chief Rabbi said he is in the U.S. to appear Monday night at the "Dialogue '75" series at Congregation B'nai Jeshurun in N.Y. He said he will also be speaking for the United Jewish Appeal, the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, the JDC and the Canadian Jewish Congress and Mizrachi of Canada.

Brands UN Resolution A 'Shame'

The Chief Rabbi called the UN resolution a "shame," and said it was not only against Jews. He said to condemn Zion is to go against the word of God not only for the Jewish religion but for other religions that accept the Bible. He asked how could Jews be called racists since "we were the first victims of racism."

Rabbi Rosen also urged international Jewish organizations to help the Rumanian Jewish community survive. He praised the JDC for its financial contributions to that survival. But he said more than money was needed since the community lacked leadership and there were only three rabbis and 10 shocheim left in Rumania. He said there must be a responsibility among Jews to send rabbis and shocheim to Rumania.

Deposition About Trifa

Rabbi Rosen revealed that he had given this morning a deposition to a member of the Justice Department's Immigration and Naturalization Service about Valerian D. Trifa, the Rumanian Orthodox Bishop of America, who faces deportation charges on the grounds of denying his membership in the Rumanian Fascist Iron Guard and his participation in the murder of Jews in Rumania in 1941. Rabbi Rosen, who said he first raised the issue of Trifa with the Justice Department in 1961, said that for Rumanian Jews there is no question that "Trifa is a killer of Jews."

TEL AVIV (JTA)--United Nations nameplates were removed from streets and squares throughout Israel Wednesday in a wave of demonstrations against the General Assembly's anti-Zionist resolution. Commemorative UN street signs were taken down in Jerusalem; Tel Aviv, Haifa, Netanya and other towns. Demonstrations were held outside the Mexican and Brazilian embassies, both of which voted for the resolution.

